The original house on this site was one of the original “two roomed kit houses worth £50 each” that were shipped down on board the Victory which arrived in Stanley 13 October 1849. Eighteen cottages were built on Pioneer Row (or Upper Row as it was originally called and Upper Pensioners Row in the latter part of the 19th century) for the military pensioners who also arrived on the same ship. This house was originally 7 Upper Row and was allotted to William STOKES, a private and military pensioner from England, who had arrived with his family 13 October 1849 on board the Victory.

Mary DOOLAN, a widow and publican, was married to Willem JURGENS 16 June 1884 and on 1 September 1884 Willem signed an agreement relinquishing all claim to any monies or property which belonged to Mary previous to their marriage. [BUG-REG-3; 219]

Mary also owned 8 Upper Row or 23 Pensioners Cottage Allotments and the block of buildings were known as the Shamrock Hotel; which had a pensioners cottage attached to its west end.

On 6 December 1889 Mrs Mary JERGENS of Stanley, sole owner and proprietress of the block of buildings known as the Shamrock Hotel, agreed with Casimira PINAZO as follows:

Mary JERGENS died 26 October 1899 at Gallegos Chio, Patagonia and on 6 August 1890 her eldest son, John BEAN of Punta Arenas, leased the Shamrock Hotel to Casimiro for four years at an annual rental of £60 with a right of renewal and sold the furniture and goodwill to him for £350. [BUG-REG-4; 199]

In 1891, for tax purposes, the Pensioners Cottage was valued at £15 and the Shamrock Hotel was valued at £50.

Casimiro PINAZO, age 57 & a publican, died 4 October 1893 in a fire when the Shamrock Hotel burnt down. According to the Falkland Islands Magazine of October 1893 “The most destructive fire which has ever taken place in Stanley broke out in the Shamrock Public House at 12 o’clock on Tuesday night, Oct 3rd. Miss Lellman observed as she passed a window in her home what seemed to be a huge lamp burning in the bar, she immediately called her father’s attention to it; he ran up to the Shamrock and roused the inmates – Mr & Mrs Pinazo. Casimiro Pinazo remained in the house, saying that he would come out in a minute, but overcome apparently with the smoke he never did so. A small portion of the head, the body and one hand were found – where the bar had been – after the fire had burned out. It is supposed that he had gone back for his money. The latter – gold and silver – were found more or less melted near to where it was known he stored the same. B Wilmer on the first alarm ran down and rang the Dockyard bell, a gun was fired, and the Colonists turned out in large numbers, but the fire had by this time obtained complete mastery over the house, which was burned to the ground with the “Pensioner’s Cottage” attached to its West end. The latter had only been occupied a week before by Mr and Mrs Dix. All the furniture in the Shamrock was burned. The fire engine was brought out and willing hands set to work to save the adjoining houses – Mrs Ryan’s and Mrs Hockings’ to the East and Mr Clethero’s to the West. These houses received no damage whatever. It was a great cause of thankfulness that what little wind there was came from the SW and thus blew the heat and sparks across the road and gardens opposite. The burning house was a grand sight and lighted up the whole Settlement. The Shamrock and the furniture were insured. Such was the melancholy end of one who for many years has been resident in the Islands, 40 of them having been spent as a gaucho in the camps.” Casimiro was buried 6 October 1893 in Grave D 287.

On 31 August 1910 John BEAN of Punta Arenas granted to Albert Ferdinand LELLMAN of Stanley “All that parcel of land Referred to on Crown Grants 120 and 72 as numbers twenty three (23) and twenty four (24) Pensioners Cottage Allotments, and bounded on the North 120 links by a public road, on the South 120 links by Crown Lands on the East 250 links by Number twenty five (25) Pensioners Cottage Allotment and on the West 250 by number twenty two (22) Pensioners Cottage Allotment” for £100.
