Not this season please!! We are at present experiencing great difficulty in fitting in the current programme without adding more to it.

Generally speaking I think the proofs very good and should prove a popular ~~size~~ set.

I am no ornithologist and am not really qualified to criticize but I think the beaks of three of the birds are wrongly portrayed. The Gentoo is too pointed, more like a thrust while the Adelie and Macaroni are too hooked. I am no artist but have very roughly attempted to portray what I mean on the attached drawings.

5. B.A.T. PENGUIN ISSUE

BAT/2/1

The proofs submitted by the Crown Agents were viewed, and although the penguins were considered accurate in detail there was some doubt as to whether the Gentoo penguin inhabits the Antarctic. The background needs checking. It was decided that this issue should be looked at further with a view to linking it to a conservation theme for the three stamp-issuing territories.

Dear Doug,

I have taken a look at the new B.A.T. stamp issue on Conservation which illustrates different species of penguin.

I do not feel qualified to comment on two of the drawings, namely of the Emperor and Adelie penguins. I would however like to mention one or two points about the illustration of the Macaroni.

The colour of the crest is correct but feel the shape and positioning is wrong. In an effort to illustrate this point and to help the artist I have enclosed a small sketch.

The bill colouration and form could also be altered to show a much deeper shape and colour. In my rough drawing I have also brought attention to the "pink facial strip" This is quite a distinct feature of the birds bill and even ~~with~~ such a small reduction in the finished stamp I would think it might show.

I hope that the above is of some assistance to the artist.

Yours sincerely,

Ian J.Strange.

Dear Sir,

B.A.T. STAMPS - PENGUIN ISSUE

Thank you for your letter of 17th July. As regards the artwork for the Penguins Issue, we have the following comments, based on a viewing of the drawings by Ian Strange.

1. The colour of the crest of the Macaroni Penguin is correct but Mr. Strange feels the shape and position is wrong. He has kindly provided the attached sketch which should prove helpful. In particular the bill colouration and form could be altered to show a much deeper shade and colour and there is a "pink facial strip" which is quite a distinct feature of the bird's bill, which would show up even when the drawing is reduced to stamp size.
2. The only other comment we have concerns the background in the inset drawing for the Macaroni, Adelie and Gentoo penguins. We are not sure that this properly shows the type of terrain to be found in the Antarctic and I would suggest that these drawings should be shown to Mr. Stonehouse for his expert opinion.

Mr. Stonehouse, at one time, worked with the British Antarctic Survey and, as you probably know, is an acknowledged authority on penguins. I am not sure of his present whereabouts but a telephone call to B.A.S. Headquarters should enable you to locate him pretty quickly.

B A T STAMPS

I have been considering the stamp programme for British Antarctic Territory and my immediate concern is an issue for 1976 since no choice has yet been made.

2 There are three possibilities: "Penguins", "Seals", "Whales", and since the finished artwork for the "Penguins" issue has been prepared, I would suggest this as the best choice from the production side. Time is running short and in order to have stamps shipped before the Antarctic winter sets in we ought to be printing by Christmas.

3 In the meanwhile, the artist is preparing finished artwork for the "Seals" issue, and I look forward to receiving the rough artwork of the "Whales" issue.

Dear Dan.

Many thanks for allowing me to view the artists proofs for the above issue. ~~X~~ It would be wrong for me to comment on some of the species shown for I am not familiar with them. However, the Macaroni penguin I consider shows up as being the least accurate, but considering the final reduction in size, I would personally not advise the artist to attempt to correct the errors. The crest and bill of the birds are not quite right. ~~X~~

Perhaps there is a possibility for Dr Laws to view these proofs on their return to England. Not only is he familiar with the birds shown, but his comments as an artist would I am sure be very helpful.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY
PENGUINS STAMP ISSUE

I refer to your letter of 12 July, ref H1/BAT 4/34942 and return the four finished designs.

2. In case you wish to consider the views of Mr Ian Strange, he has commented as follows:-

"It would be wrong for me to comment on some of the species shown for I am not familiar with them. However, the Macaroni penguin I consider shows up as being the least accurate, but considering the final reduction in size, I would personally not advise the artist to attempt to correct the errors. The crest and bill of the birds are not quite right."

You will note that although there seems to be some slight reservation about the accuracy, particularly of the Macaroni penguin, Mr Strange does not recommend that an attempt be made to remedy the situation.

3. It has also been pointed out that the bills of the Gentoo Adelie and Macaroni penguins are not quite accurate, i.e. the Gentoo's bill is too pointed and the Adelie's and Macaroni's too hooked. To make assurance doubly sure will you kindly obtain the views of Dr R M Laws of BAS, Cambridge, on our behalf.

4. As regards the release of the issue, this should if possible be released as soon as possible during the forthcoming season and, again, it would be helpful if you would kindly liaise with British Antarctic Survey (BAS) Cambridge, about movement of ships to get the stamps to the Bases.

5. I will let you know as soon as possible what we think the values for these stamps should be.

6. Doubtless you have taken into account the views of Mr Stonehouse.

Yours faithfully,

(D R Morrison)
for Chief Secretary.

Dear Mr Morrison,

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY : PENGUINS STAMP ISSUE

I am pleased to advise that Mr Clapp has recently approved the design artwork for the four values subject to certain amendments as specified by some of the world leading authorities on Antarctic fauna. These amendments are in hand and we hope to be able to arrange printing of this issue shortly. Meanwhile, will you kindly advise when you intend to release this stamp issue and at the same time your local requirements for each of the values.

As regards the release date I suggest the very early part of the 1978/79 season. Subject to early notification of requirements we should be able to arrange printing in time to deliver by airfreight (unless a suitable charter vessel is available) to Stanley and thence to Signy per the BRANSFIELD on its return voyage back to the UK.

If immediate approval for printing is given then we may even be able to get the stamps out to you in early December to connect with the BRANSFIELD on its first voyage to the bases as we intend to do for the Coronation issue.

In either case this will mean we can cater for two issues in 1978 - Coronation and Penguins, followed in 1979 by one issue - provisionally commemoration Byrd's activities in the Antarctic which will support our efforts to widen appeal of BAT, S Georgia and Falkland Islands stamps in the USA.

I anxiously await your reply so that the necessary action can be taken to establish a workable production schedule.

Yours sincerely

Subject:- B. A. T. - Penguin Stamp Issue

Letter from Crown Agents dated 29th September refers.

(a) What authority has Clapp?

(b) This letter appears contradictory. Para 2 indicates release during the 1978/79 season while the remainder of the letter seems to indicate a much earlier release.

(c) As you know I do not favour these rushed up releases. Indications are that 1977/78 will be a bad year so far as communications with the Bases are concerned and we would appear to be fully committed with the Coronation Issue.

(d) I would suggest we aim to have this issue ready to come out on the first relief vessel next summer and release early in the 1978/79 season. The Byrd issue could then follow later in the season.

- 4.1 CAs had suggested a release in the present Antarctic season (March 1978)
From previous experience with late releases, if they missed the BAS voyage there was no further opportunity to send them down to the bases until the following summer. It was recommended that the issue should be released early in the 1978-79 season.
- 4.2 The designs are available for this issue.

Dear Mike,

BAT "PENGUINS"

Thank you for your letter <sup>(23)</sup> H1/BAT 4/34942 of 15th November.

The reason why we asked you to hold action on the Penguin issue was that if BAT participated in the Capt. Cook issue there may have been a clash of dates. His Excellency the Governor has asked me to write to Mr. R. M. Laws the Director of the British Antarctic Survey to obtain his views as to whether BAT should release stamps about Capt. Cook. Until we hear from Mr. Laws I'm afraid there is nothing we can do. The Falklands will not be participating; and it looks as if South Georgia shouldn't in view of the 1975 issue.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Mr Massingham

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY "PENGUINS - CONSERVATION" STAMP ISSUE

1 Thank you for your letter of 6 December explaining your reason for suspending action on this issue for the time being.

2 I am pleased to advise that Her Majesty the Queen has now approved the finished artwork subject to amendments of the title. "Conservation" as a title is considered to be inappropriate because only the Emperor penguin of the four penguins depicted is recognised as an endangered species by the World Wildlife Fund. Therefore, "Conservation" as an overall heading is unsuitable. It has been suggested that the title is simply amended to "Penguins" but no doubt you will wish to think this over.

3 We note your local requirements are as follows:-

8p - 6000
11p - 6000
25p - 6000

3000 First Day Covers

4 With regard to the First Day Cover, we will commission the artist Gordon Drummond to design the official cover when we receive your permission to proceed with production of this issue.

We now await your further advice in this matter.

Dear Mike,

BAT Penguin Issue

Thank you for your letter <sup>(25)</sup>PH1B/BAT 4/34942 of 4th January.

2. We held this up pending clarification about BAT's participation in the Captain Cook issue. As this has now been cleared i.e. BAT will not participate, we can proceed with the Penguin issue.
3. "Penguins" is an appropriate title and we agree on this; but I should be grateful if you would clear this with Dr. Laws the Director of the British Antarctic Survey.
4. I imagine that the 6,000 x 2p stamps in your paragraph 3 is a typographical error and that the denomination will be 3p.
5. Our telegram No. 293 of 28th October 1977 requested the stamps to be shipped by the first British Antarctic Survey vessel of the 1978/79 season: I should be grateful if you would confirm that it is possible to meet this given the fact that we have held you up.
6. The delay in replying is much regretted; I hope it doesn't inconvenience you too much.

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY "PENGUINS - CONSERVATION" STAMP ISSUE

At the present time we are researching suitable themes for stamp issues to be released in the next two to three years and hope to write to you shortly with full details of our proposals.

Meanwhile, we are concerned about the stamp issues planned for the 1978/79 season; the Coronation Omnibus set is to be released in June and since you have decided not to participate in the Cook Omnibus it would be advisable to proceed with the "Penguins" issue as a matter of priority.

Therefore, I would be grateful for your advice on the Penguins <sup>issue</sup> ~~Conservation~~ so we may proceed accordingly.

With reference to this stamp issue, I am writing to inform you of the current situation.

The four stamp designs incorporating amendments have now been approved by Her Majesty the Queen. The lowest denomination will be 3p and not 2p as stated in our letter of the 4 January - I apologise for this error.

I am now proceeding to obtain quotes from printers, and in view of the urgency for this issue, Mr Gordon Drummond has been asked to proceed straight finished artwork for the First Day Cover design. This will be forwarded to you in due course.

Dear Brian,

BAT Penguin Issue

Your telegram of 12th June refers.

We were pleasantly surprised for BAT to see that a cover project is being mounted which will net BAT thousands of pounds. From a financial point of view our needs are greater than BAT and I am wondering who or what sparks off an interest in certain stamp issues. In the case of the BAT Penguin issue is it the interest in Antarctic stamps or is it penguins? We have five species of penguins we could portray in a year or so if there is a particular interest in them. Perhaps you would let me know what you think about this at your convenience.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Brian,

BAT - PENGUINS

Thank you for your letter PH1B/BAT 4/34942/2 of 2nd June 1978.

We think it advisable that the Crown Agents should undertake the affixing of stamps to First Day Covers as it could be that we would be faced with a lack of time to prepare the covers. As you know we have to meet the infrequent sailings from Stanley of BAS vessels whose itineraries are subject to change sometimes at short notice. For this reason we think it better that you should undertake the preparation of the covers.

5 July 1978

Dear Dong,

Can I combine an answer to your two letters P&T/2/31 and 51 since the subjects overlap.

The reason for the popularity of the BAT Penguins issue is that it has been taken up by one of the big American first day cover sellers. This I think points up your whole problem. You can either issue the sort of stamps which are wanted by the stamp buyer or those which are wanted by philatelists. There is a vast difference between the two.

The stamp buyers are an increasing market and consist, in a large number, of people who buy interesting souvenirs which are pressed upon them by attractive advertisements appealing to other interests, wildlife, flowers etc. etc. The stamps are sold as incidental to these interests, to people who don't know a tete-beche from a bisect. The philatelists, who band themselves into insular little groups, are far more vociferous, usually because the members have contacts in the countries concerned and can through them cause problems to the Administration. I think part of the problem with philatelists is that the day of the classic stamp is always in the past and their only hope for the future is the rare variety. The souvenir collector on the other hand wants a well designed and printed stamp on an expensive looking cover with a clear cancellation mark, or perhaps an attractive souvenir sheet which adds to his collection of memorabilia on his favourite theme. To him an APS black blot means nothing and there is no evidence that it has ever deterred anyone from buying a set of stamps.

So you see the desires of the two parties can rarely be reconciled except by unsatisfactory compromise. In general Mr Sim's advice still holds good but in your case it would appear wisest to keep to the lower figure of ~~the~~ souvenir sheet per year and the Rowland Hill issue represents the best marketing opportunity in 1978.

I hope that this rather rambling letter is of some help. In the meantime I am going ahead with the designs for the Rowland Hill set, including a souvenir sheet using the 33p value.

Yours sincerely

Dorian Hawthorn

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY 'PENGUINS' ISSUE

I have pleasure in enclosing one colour proof of each value of the above issue. I hope you will agree that they make a pleasing set, but the printers have been asked to make some minor amendments before actually printing, as follows :-

- 3p - the wing of the left hand penguin should be picked out more clearly, in accordance with the artwork.
- 8p - (a) the blue "inner" background should match the artwork more closely.
(b) the mauve background should be lightened slightly to match the artwork, and should also be more even, especially along the top edge.
- 11p - (a) the "inner" landscape is a little too yellow and should match the blue of the artwork.
(b) there is a red dot above the eye of the left hand penguin, which should be removed.
- 25p - there is a black speck above the mountain peak which should be removed.

/On

Mr J Massingham

To: Mr J Massingham

On all values, the printers have been asked to pick out the details of the penguins' coats and their eyes more clearly. It will probably not be possible to achieve the same degree of fine detail as on the artwork, given the reduction in size, but the printers will come as close to the artwork as possible.

The production of First Day Covers is also in hand and I enclose a specimen for your records.

This issue will be ready for despatch by the end of August, and the despatch details will be confirmed in due course.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Hawthorne

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY "PENGUINS"

I have recently received running proofs of the above stamp issue from the printers, Walsall Security Printers Limited.

2 I have examined these running proofs on your behalf, and I find them to be satisfactory; I trust that you are in agreement, and enclose one set for your information and retention.

3 I would like to take this opportunity of advising you that 10,000 First Day Covers will shortly be despatched to you on the vessel "JOHN BISCOE". This figure is made up of the following quantities:-

3,000 for sale in BAT
5,000 for Stangib
2,000 for Crown Agents Stamp Bureau

4 At the moment, although these covers are now packed and awaiting loading, they are held up by an industrial dispute at Southampton docks. I will of course advise you as soon as they are shipped.

Yours sincerely

Dear Mr Massingham

BRITISH ANTARCTIC TERRITORY PENGUINS STAMP ISSUE

DCS: safe

... I have pleasure in enclosing herewith one further set of running proofs for the above stamp issue.

On this occasion, contrary to our normal practice, we called for an additional set of proofs from the Printer in order to ensure that the high standard required was maintained throughout the issue as the Printer had experienced ~~some~~ <sup>some</sup> problems with the production.

I trust our action meets with your approval.

Yours sincerely
