To The Editor
F.I. Weekly News

Dear Sir,

For the better information of 'Seeker' and others truly interested in radio as a means of entertainment and culture, it is probably as well to trace the local history of amateur radio reception.

When wireless entertainment commenced shortly after the war, such amateur receiving sets as were available could not be of any service in the Colony as foreign signals were not strong enough. Government therefore declined to license their use which was quite right, as the sets could only have been used to intercept morse code messages.

However, radio advanced by leaps and bounds, and by 1924 many South American stations could have been heard here, and were in fact listened to by the wireless operators. By 1927 signals had greatly increased in strength and receivers had been improved and brought down in price so that there was no longer any need for the Colony to be behind any other part of the world in the matter of enjoying true radio entertainment.

Government, however, were obsessed with the idea that radio might prove a dangerous thing, so measures were taken to try and impose a local relay system on all and sundry. In fact efforts were doubtless made to try and stagnate local radio at that point, and the 10/- annual license fee for independent receivers was no doubt part of the scheme.

It was much cheaper to join the Government relay system on payment of £5.- plus £1.- per year subscription, than to pay 10/- license and £30 or £40 for an independent receiver, plus the cost of batteries which was also very considerable.

Nevertheless there was a small band of independent people who would not join the Government relay system and had no compunction in spending considerable sums of money in buying powerful sets, some paid the 10/- license, others did not, and we do not think that anybody who has so far refused to pay a license has been prosecuted.

The 10/- license is an unjustifiable imposition - a radio set today is as much part of ordinary home life as a kitchen range.

A radio set is an instrument of entertainment and culture. If it is to be licensed, why then not also impose licenses on accordions, banjos, pianos, saxophones, organs, musical box's, canaries - and - sopranos.

Yours faithfully,

Sgd. E.G. Rowe.

Press News.

For the benefit of those who are not blessed with the ownership of a radio, the Official News Bulletins which are kindly handed on to us by the Government, tell us that the wars in China and Spain are still very much in progress. The Japs seem to be getting the better of things, likewise the Insurgents in the Spanish war. General Franco is said to have promised to be a little more careful in regard to whose ships his bombers attack.

S H I P P I N G .

We understand the passengers who left here in the S.S. "Lafonia", arrived in England on the 3rd of July.

W E D D I N G .

The home of Mr. J. Bonner San Carlos, was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon when David H. McMullen son of Mr. & Mrs. Matthew McMullen, and Maggie Ann McKay daughter of James R. McKay were joined in marriage. The ceremony was performed by John Bonner J.P.

The Bride looked charming in a wedding dress of white satin, and wore a veil of embroidered net, with shoes and accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of fresh flowers. She was attended by Miss Hyacinth McKay who wore a very attractive costume of mauve taffeta. The Flower Girl was Miss Gloria McKay. The Best Man was Frederick Betts.

The weather was fine for the occasion, the sun shone brightly and it was possible to secure some fine snapshots.

After the ceremony many friends and relatives of the Bride and Groom gathered at the home of the Bride's parents to drink their health. At this reception a beautifully decorated wedding cake of four tiers which was made by Mrs. Hoekings, was cut by the Bride and distributed to the guests.

The Groom in honour of the happy occasion is giving his friends two nights Dancing on Friday and Saturday of this week.

We feel sure that our readers will join us in wishing health and prosperity to the newly weds.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 11

You have now had the opportunity of reading and studying ten Milestones on the subject of food. Briefly, you have been asked to pay attention to the subject of food from several points of view - Vitamin Content, Variety, Digestability, etc., - and you have also been asked to give special consideration to the value of MILK as a complete food, fresh vegetables and fruits, to endeavour to get your food properly cooked, and most particularly to chew your food.

The value of these excellent suggestions can be upset unless, besides giving them a proper trial, regular and restful mealtimes are observed. Those who carry their worries to the meal-table, or who eat too fast, or who instead of having regular meals eat snacks and drink cups of tea at any odd time will never be able to get the best value from food.

- Therefore:
- (1) Choose the best foods
 - (2) Cook them properly
 - (3) Plan regular meal-times
 - (4) Eat slowly
 - (5) Chew.

FALKLANDS.

FASCIST'S STRANGE DISCOVERIES !!!!!!!

"BY their language, their customs, their currency, and even their food, the inhabitants of the Falkland Islands are Argentines", was one of the many extraordinary statements made during a "Nationalist" meeting at the Marconi Theatre on Monday night.

The meeting was called by the "Alianza de la Juventud Nacionalista" to protest against the continued occupation of the islands by Great Britain, and the speakers divided their attention between the avowed object of the meeting and their pro-Fascist ideals. One of the speakers declared that the "Nationalists" preferred to be an avowed and proud minority rather than "mark time to the violent music of liberal propaganda."

On the stage a large sign had been erected bearing the inscription; "Falkland Islands, No; Islas Malvinas, Si" and a dozen youths in their shirtsleeves mounted guard."

The Library & Museum Board.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Library and Museum Board was held in the Library on Thursday afternoon July the 7th at 3.30. £15 worth of books were ordered, including some new books for the children. It was also decided to make a formal request to the Discovery Committee for some photographs for the Library and Museum. That is photographs taken by members of the Discovery on their various expeditions in this part of the world.

F.I.D.F. Miniature Rifle Club.

Except for a few individuals the shooting generally has not reached a very high standard, but last week a slight all round improvement was noticed in the boys, ladies and mens sections.

W.J.Grierson and W.Browning have averaged almost 93 out of a possible 100 and have set a fine example of consistency which might be followed by the other members. Mrs.Grierson is trying hard to catch her husband up closely followed by some of the other lady shots.

Some of the boys are improving nicely but a couple have not yet got the idea of how to find the bull.

Some detailed scores will be published weekly but for this issue we give the prizes won to date by the men found elsewhere in this issue.

12th July, 1938.

The Honourable Geo. Roberts.

The sailing of the S.S. "Fitzroy" on Thursday evening will see the departure for the last time of the Honourable Geo. Roberts and his wife and son Gordon. Mr. Roberts first came to the Falklands in 1921 for the Admiralty to supervise the construction of the Oil Fuel Depot. Upon the completion of the Depot he was seconded from the Admiralty in 1925 and became Colonial Engineer for the Government of the Falkland Islands. His first title was "Executive Engineer" in charge of the "Stanley Improvement Scheme", hence the nick name S.I.S. In 1928, Mr. Roberts obtained his present title - Director of Public Works.

The Stanley Improvement Scheme included, Water supply, Drainage and Sanitation, Housing, Roads.

In recognition of his long and faithful service to the Colony, Mr. Roberts was rewarded in this year's Birthday honours with the "Companion of the Imperial Service Order."

We feel sure Mr. & Mrs Roberts and Gordon will take with them the best wishes of their many friends in the Falklands, and be long spared to enjoy their well earned rest. Mr. Roberts cheery disposition and keen sense of humour will be greatly missed.

Apropos Of Nutrition.

Here is an extract from a sermon, preached by the Rev. Fr. Palmer, Father Superior of the Cowley Fathers (Anglican) in Canada. "Many women are digging their husbands' graves with frying pans. I know some homes where horses, cattle and pigs are better fed than children because they get raw food. I do not suggest that you eat raw potatoes, but I do suggest eating the skins, baked or boiled. Eat Cabbage and Carrots raw and get strong, even though you smell strong, on onions. Go easy on the frying pan."

The Ersatz Programme in Germany

There is now virtually no part of German life that the "Ersatz" (substitute) programme does not touch, but it is on the housewife that it depends most heavily. Beyond the strict rationing that goes on with it, most of the materials she uses in the home are synthetic products. The white of the egg she uses in baking is fish by-product; much of the sugar is a substance obtained from wood shavings. The penny sweets sold to the children are made almost entirely from the same material. Her clothes and those of her family are to a great extent synthetic wools and cotton made from cellulose obtained from wood pulp, as are the fabrics covering her furniture and which she uses for drapes. Her boudoir slippers, if she has any, are most certainly her baby's shoes, perhaps even her handbag are made of fish skin.

A new series of "International Whaling Statistics, edited by the committee for whaling statistics appointed by the Norwegian Government, has recently been published. The oil production in the Antarctic in recent years has been as follows (figures in barrels, 1 barrel= $\frac{1}{2}$ ton, and 1 ton=1,016 kg):

Season	Norwegian whaling	British whaling	Whaling of other countries	Total whaling
1932-33	1,285,853	1,116,026	54,583	2,456,462
1933-34	1,218,054	1,111,700	65,790	2,395,544
1934-35	1,183,897	1,204,047	66,055	2,453,999
1935-36	1,116,933	995,167	325,138	2,436,338

According to the Norwegian Whaling Gazette No. 12, 1936, the number of persons engaged in whaling in the Antarctic was 4,700 in 1932-33; 5,542 in 1933-34; 6,431 in 1934-35, and 7,186 in 1935-36. In previous seasons almost all of these persons were Norwegians. In the season 1935-36, however, 455 were of other nationalities.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Reform League.

The regular meeting of the Falkland Islands Reform league was held in the Church Hall on Thursday evening July 7th. About 70 members turned out to discuss the business of the evening. After the usual procedure of the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, and the correspondence, there was a very lengthy discussion of the problem of unemployment. After a great many opinions were expressed (humorous and otherwise) it was decided that a deputation should meet the Agricultural Adviser (who has been placed in charge of labour) and place their case before him.

The chairman advised the meeting that their funds were in none too sound a condition and asked for suggestions as how best to deal with the situation. To assist the general fund, it was decided to hold a dance.

THE DEPUTATION met the Agricultural Adviser on Saturday at 12.30, accompanied by a crowd of about 150 to lend moral support. The deputation asked the Adviser to consider the possibilities of full time work for all men, single or married, and that full pay should be granted to men who had "turned to" and been sent home again by the foreman on account of bad weather. The Agricultural Adviser told the deputation that full time would in future be paid for days when men had turned to and had to retire on account of bad weather. The question of full time for all men, whether married or single, would have to be taken up with the Government.

Spry

THE NEW "READY CREAMED" COOKING FAT

Spry is a new cooking fat, utterly pure, all-vegetable, and exceptionally wholesome; but its chief advantage is that it is "ready-creamed."

This novel process of "ready-creaming" gives Spry a delicious smooth texture. Ordinary cooking fats seem stubborn and hard by comparison; or else when the weather is hot they become unpleasantly soft and oily. Spry's ready-creamed smoothness does not vary; it is always the right texture for cooking.

For cake making Spry mixes at lightning speed; and you will find that this saves a good deal of wrist aching work, and it also gives your cake a perfect texture. Spry's easier mixing means a cake that is lighter, a little larger, and more delicious too.

It's the same with pastry. You simply cannot get the same even perfect shortness with a fat that is hard to blend. However skilled you are, you will at once appreciate Spry's good points for pastry. It means less handling and a lighter touch all the time.

Then for frying, Spry's perfect purity is again an advantage. Spry behaves far better in the frying pan; no unpleasant sparks or splutters; no heavy smoke or smell. Food nicely fried in Spry is more tempting, more delicious to eat and easier to digest because you can make it so hot that the fat is kept out and the flavour sealed in.

Spry is packed in a special hygienic tin in which it keeps fresh and pure indefinitely. You will find an endorsement from the Institute of Hygiene on the lid.

Here are a few tested Recipes, try them and you will discover Spry's advantages for yourself.

AT LAST, ONE FAT FOR ALL COOKING!

LENTIL SOUP

4 oz. lentils	2 oz. SPRY
2 pints water	2 large potatoes
Pieces of turnip and carrot	Salt and pepper
1 onion

Method : Wash the lentils and soak overnight. Allow SPRY to melt, add lentils and the vegetables cut up. Cook gently with the lid on for 20 minutes. Add the water and bring to boiling point. Simmer gently for 2 to 3 hours. Season and serve.

Another Method : Pass the soup through a sieve and thicken with 1 tablespoonful of flour mixed to a thin cream with cold milk, added to the soup and boiled for 3 minutes. A little milk added is an improvement.

SEWED FILLETS OF FISH

Fillets of white fish such as sole, whiting, plaice, etc.	Seasoned flour (1 oz. flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ tea- spoonful salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful pepper)
Egg and breadcrumbs	SPRY for deep frying

Method : Skin the fillets, and wash and dry them carefully. They may be cut in two lengthwise if preferred. Roll them in seasoned flour, brush them all over with beaten egg, and toss them in breadcrumbs. Press breadcrumbs in on the fillets lightly, then shake off any loose crumbs. Put the fillets in the frying-basket, and fry in very hot SPRY until they are a golden brown in colour. Drain on soft paper. Garnish with fried parsley and lemon, and serve with a suitable sauce.

FRIED PARSLEY

Use as a garnish for deep fried fish.

Wash the parsley well and pick leaves from stalk. Dry in a towel. After frying food allow SPRY to cool slightly, place parsley in frying-basket and lower very carefully into fat. When the bubbling ceases, drain, season and use at once.

A USEFUL HINT

The secret of perfect deep frying, is to use "SPRY" and to be sure that it is heated to the correct frying temperature.

Here is a simple way of telling when the "SPRY" in your pan is ready to receive the food to be fried in it. Drop into the hot "SPRY" a small cube of bread about $\frac{1}{2}$ " square.

For quick frying, such as fillets of fish, fried potatoes, etc., the fat is at the correct frying temperature when the cube of bread browns in $\frac{1}{2}$ -min.

For medium frying such as meat cutlets, the cube of bread should brown in 1 minute.

For slow frying such as Doughnuts etc., the cube of bread should brown in 2 minutes.

BROWN STEW OF RABBIT

1 rabbit	1 oz. flour
2 oz. SPRY	Salt and pepper
1 onion
$\frac{1}{2}$ pint water or stock	$\frac{1}{4}$ lb. bacon

Method : Skin and wash the rabbit. Dry it carefully, cut into joints, and dip in the flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Melt 1 oz. of SPRY in a saucepan, cut the onion into rings and fry in SPRY until golden brown. Remove the onion from the pan, add the other ounce of SPRY and heat well, and fry joints of rabbit. Pour off all the SPRY from the pan and then add the onion and water and seasoning. Simmer until tender. Remove the joints, thicken the gravy and strain over the rabbit. Cut the rashers of bacon in two, fry and arrange around the rabbit before serving.

SPRY FLAKED CHINTZ

8 ozs. flour	$3\frac{1}{2}$ ozs. SPRY
1 teaspoonful baking powder	Cold water
$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful salt

Method : Add the salt to the flour, rub SPRY in flour finely, add baking powder and mix to an elastic dough with cold water. Roll out once and use immediately. This pastry is particularly good for fruit and meat puddings, boiled or steamed.

FLAKED SQUARES

PASTRY	FILLING
9 ozs. SPRY	8 ozs. currants
12 ozs. flour	2 apples
Small teaspoonful salt	4 ozs. sugar
Cold water	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful of cinnamon

Method : Divide the SPRY equally in four. Add one quarter to the flour and salt, rub in and mix to an elastic consistency with cold water. Turn on to floured board and roll into an oblong strip, keeping edges straight and corners square. Place second quarter on in small pats, covering two-thirds of the paste. Fold in three by taking the uncovered part up and bringing the top third of paste down. Seal the edges. Half turn and roll out again to an oblong strip. Lay on third part of SPRY, repeat as above and proceed similarly with remainder of fat. Set aside to cool for $\frac{1}{2}$ hour. Roll out lightly, taking care not to press out the air bubbles which form. Roll out twice more to make five rollings in all.

Prepare the currants, add the sugar, cinnamon and chopped apples, and mix well. Line a tray with half the pastry and lay the filling on this to within $\frac{1}{2}$ inch of the edge. Wet round the edge and cover with remaining pastry. Mark lightly in squares, brush with egg or milk and prick all over with a fork. Bake in a hot oven until pastry begins to brown, then reduce the heat, baking altogether for $\frac{1}{2}$ hour.

Temperature 450° F.

SHORT CHINTZ PASTRY

8 ozs. flour	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful salt
$3\frac{1}{2}$ ozs. SPRY	Cold water

Method : Add the salt to the flour. Cut in the SPRY with a knife and then rub in with the finger-tips, until the mixture resembles fine breadcrumbs, taking care not to soften or oil the SPRY. Mix to a very stiff dough with cold water, pressing well against the side of the basin with a knife. Work lightly until smooth. Roll out once only and use as required. Bake in a hot oven.

Regulo Setting Mark 6.

Temperature 400° F.

APRICOT FLAN

6 ozs. short crust pastry	$\frac{1}{4}$ oz. powdered gelatine or
1 small tin apricots	1 teaspoonful of arrowroot

Cream to decorate

Method : Roll out the pastry and line a fleur ring or sandwich tin with it. Line this with greaseproof paper, and then put some uncooked rice or crusts of bread on top of the pastry to weigh it down and keep it flat. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes. Remove the rice and paper and bake for another 10 minutes. Drain the apricots, and then arrange them in the pastry case, which should first be cooled. Take $\frac{1}{2}$ pint of the apricot syrup, boil it, add the dissolved gelatine (or arrowroot) and strain. Colouring may be added. Cool the syrup, and pour it over the apricots. When the mixture has set, decorate the top with sweetened whipped cream.

Regulo Setting Mark 6.

Temperature 400° F.

FAIRY CAKES

2 ozs. SPRY	1 egg
2 ozs. sugar	1 teaspoonful baking powder
2 ozs. flour	2 tablespoonfuls milk
2 ozs. cornflour	Vanilla essence

Method : Brush the patty tins with melted SPRY. Beat the SPRY and sugar to a white fluffy cream. Beat the egg and add gradually. Sieve the flour with the cornflour and baking powder and add the milk until the mixture is fairly soft. Beat well. Fill the patty tin three-quarters full, and bake in a moderate oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

Regulo Setting Mark 5. Temperature 400° F.

This is how to make these cakes especially nice for parties or bridge teas. When the cakes have cooled, cut off the tops and put a spoonful of beaten sweetened cream on each cake. Then cut the tops in two, and replace them in the cream to represent wings.

FELT CAKE

8 ozs. flour	Pinch of salt
4 ozs. sugar	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful baking-powder
2 ozs. SPRY	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful lemon essence
4 ozs. sultanas	2 eggs
4 ozs. currants	$\frac{3}{4}$ gill milk
4 ozs. peel

Method : Brush a 6-inch cake-tin with melted SPRY or line it with paper brushed with SPRY. Rub SPRY finely into the flour, add sugar, salt, baking-powder and fruit, and then the essence and beaten eggs. Then add milk until the mixture will just drop from a spoon. Beat well, turn into the prepared tin and bake in a moderately hot oven for 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

Articles and news items of local interest will be most thankfully received, and if considered suitable will be published.

In September of last year ten girls in the senior class in the Government School wrote essays on the Falklands and entered them in a competition which was held at the suggestion of the head teacher of the Stanley School Tasmania, Mr.W.E.L.Callaway, B.A.

The essay to which the first prize was awarded was written by Miss Isabel Barnes and is as follows:-

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS.

Situated in the South Atlantic Ocean, some 250 miles east of the nearest point of Patagonia, approximately 52 degrees S.latitude and 60 degrees W.longitude, lie a group of islands numbering over 100, known as the Falkland Islands.

On the 14th of August, 1592, John Davis of the 'Desire' discovered the islands, but owing to bad weather did not land. They were seen by Sir Richard Hawkins in February, 1594, and in 1598 Sebald Van Weert, a Dutch navigator, actually landed on one of the smaller groups, probably the ones we now call the Jasons, and which he named the Sebald Islands, a name which they still bear on some of the Dutch maps.

The early settlers, consisting of Spaniards and a few French, had their settlement at Port Louis, and it was not until 1842 that the seat of Government was transferred from Port Louis to Stanley.

In 1833, when Matthew Brisbane was in command of the French settlement on the East Falkland, a very inhuman crime was committed. Early in the morning of August 26 five Indian convicts and three Gauchos, well armed with pistols, swords and knives, set off for Brisbane's house and murdered him. They took possession of nearly all the arms and ammunition in the place, and drove the cattle and horses further inland, laden with their booty. Later, on the arrival of the Challenger, a British man-of-war, the criminals were captured and taken to Newgate, where they were finally imprisoned.

Today there are no Spaniards in the Falklands, the inhabitants being either of British or Scotch descent.

The Colony is entirely self-supporting, and has been for a considerable number of years.

In the earlier days cattle-raring was the main industry, but cattle have been done away with and sheep substituted, and now the sole industry is sheep-farming. It was found that sheep-farming was more profitable than cattle rearing, for as well as being able to supply the Islands with meat the farms could send the wool to the British market, and in return coal, coke and oil could be imported, as the Islands have no mineral wealth of their own.

Most of the land is mountainous, the highest peak, Mt. Adam, on the West Falkland rises only a little over 2000 ft.

On some of the hill sides are found peculiar streams of stones or stone-runs, varying from a few hundred yards to a mile or so in width. After a heavy fall of rain these stone-runs may be described as "a pale grey glistening mass." Their origin is unknown, but surveyors seem to think that they are the result of some glacial action.

Port Stanley, the capital and only town in the Islands, is situated on the North-eastern coast of the East Falkland. Its population is 1200, about half that of the whole of the Islands, which is 2500. The town lies scattered along the southern slope of Stanley Harbour, which is one of the finest natural harbours in the world, being almost entirely landlocked. The only entrance from Port William to Stanley is through a narrow passage about 300 yards wide locally termed the Narrows.

The Great Britain, once the largest ship in the world, was recently removed from Stanley Harbour, where she had lain for many years, to Port William, and there will probably end her days. There are not many old sailing ships left in the Harbour now, most of the old hulks have been broken up for building purposes and

The sailing ships and steamers seldom call here now, for they are able to take a short cut through the Panama Canal, and shorten the journey by several days. There are two small cutter-boats each of about 2½ tons that are used to bring tussac from the tussac islands to the east of Port William into Stanley. Tussac is a coarse grass used as fodder for the horses and milk cows.

Seven miles to the north-east of Stanley is Cape Pembroke lighthouse, the principle light in the Islands. The promontory on which the lighthouse is built is one great sandbank, owing its existence to the prevailing south-westerly winds.

At the extreme west of Stanley, towering well above the wireless station, the seven tall wireless poles, each 300feet high, are clearly visible.

The main points of interest in the town itself are Government House, which is a large building containing about 35 rooms in all, and occupied by His Excellency the Governor, Sir Hebert Henniker-Heaton and his two daughters.

A little to the west of Government House, on the outskirts of the town, stands a monument erected to commemorate the Battle of the Falklands, in which Admiral Sturdee achieved such a victory over Graf von Spee, completely destroying the German squadron except for one ship that escaped and was sunk three months later. Sturdee thus avenged the British loss in the Battle of Coronel, and saved the Islands from capture by the Germans.

Further east is the Colonial Secretary's Office, and directly behind is the King Edward VII. Memorial Hospital which is a fairly large and up-to-date building.

The half-acre of land on which the hospital is situated was a gift from the Hon. George Bonner, O.B.E., a native farm-owner, and the hospital itself was built from the proceeds of a public subscription. The outer buildings include a drug store and a dental surgery.

The Town Hall, situated about half way between the east and west extremities of the town, has, on the southern side, a town clock, which has a double-sided face, facing east and west, and at night is illuminated by means of electricity. On the ground floor of the Town Hall there are numerous Government Offices as well as the Post Office, Public Library and Museum. The last mentioned has a really remarkable and well-kept selection of exhibits in comparison with the size of the place.

The Public Baths and Gymnasium are to the east of the town hall, and directly adjacent is the Electric Light Power House.

Last, but not least, is the Cross of Sacrifice, which was erected in memory of those who lost their lives while on active service during the Battle of the Falklands.

The names of the houses of worship are Christ Church Cathedral, the Roman Catholic Church and the Nonconformist Church.

To be continued next week.

COURT NEWS.

The King Vs. The Falkland Islands Company.

In the Magistrate's Court on Monday July 18th before His Worship A. I. Fleuret, Magistrate. The Falkland Islands Company was charged with importing 248 sheep on January 20th 1938 without having a Health Certificate. Mr J. D. Creamer, representing the Company pleaded not guilty. Before the case was allowed to proceed, Mr. Creamer asked for an immediate dismissal on the grounds that there was a flaw in the summons. The summons was made out charging the Manager of the Company with importing the sheep. Mr. Creamer quoted several precedents in cases where the wrong person had been summoned, and in each case the action was dismissed. Mr D. S. A. Weir, acting for the prosecution, agreed to a dismissal of the case, without prejudice, and said the case would be brought again next Court Day.

DO YOU WANT TO KEEP FIT?

If you do, why not come along to the Boxing Club in the Gymnasium on Tuesday night at 7 O'clock. It costs only a shilling to join.

LATTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor

F.I.News Weekly & Church Bulletin,
Stanley.

Sir,

To a certain extent I am in sympathy with your previous correspondents on the subject of wireless receiving licences. Whilst it is impracticable to apply the principle of "What do we get in return?" to scarcely any of the taxes which burden the long-suffering taxpayer, it is difficult to understand in the present instance why the Government does not render specific return in the form of a small local broadcasting station. The present relay system by land lines is obviously quite inadequate and unsuited to the requirements of a community such as exists in these Islands and I trust that it will be replaced in due course by a Stanley Radio Station the services of which all licencees may avail themselves.

To me, however, the more interesting point is the implication contained in the second letter to the effect that some owners of receiving sets have successfully evaded the tax for years. If this allegation has foundation in fact, a remarkable state of affairs is revealed. It would seem to establish the right of every citizen to decide for himself what rates or taxes (if any) he will pay. The incidence of this particular tax is upon those who cannot plead poverty as an excuse for non-payment - fortunate indeed is he who can register his protest and save his pocket at the same time, without fear of retribution.

Is the Colony of the Falkland Islands approaching that Utopian State wherein the exchequer is maintained by voluntary contributions? An extension of the privilege would, I think, immediately solve the problem of the present world armament race.

I am,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
LEX

Stanley,
Falkland Islands,
19th July, 1938.

The Editor,
F.I. News Weekly,
Stanley.

Dear Sir,

I do not think Mr. Rowe's letter offers much in reply to "Seeker's" query, and would therefore give my views on the subject.

A radio receiver is not taxed, the licence is required to operate the receiver, a listener being at liberty to own a dozen sets but requiring only one licence. I believe this is common in most countries.

The fact that there have been no prosecutions for non-payment of licence fees discounts any suggestion that the Government have attempted to stagnate local reception of radio. There is no doubt that the local broadcasting system has been the cause of many persons purchasing receiving sets.

Having taken out a licence every year since owning a radio receiver I expect in return:-

- (1) Prosecution of unlicensed listeners,
- (2) Legislation to prevent interference with receivers by other listeners and motors.

If it is impossible to prosecute then I am due a refund of licence fees. Radio regulations should cover the oscillator and the recently passed Motor Ordinance should have contained a reference to interference by motors.

It is time the Government acted in the matter.

Yours faithfully,
Karl V Lellman.

Honest To Goodness Complaint.

We paid our radio licence on 16th of July. We received a bill for same on the 18th of July which was dated 4th of July. Ed.

Stanley,
18th July, 1938.

The Editor

Sir,

Having read Seeker's and Mr E.G. Rowe's letters perhaps the following will be of interest as showing the Government's attitude towards the matter.

After receiving an account for a wireless licence I wrote to the Electrical & Telegraphic Dept. asking what privileges and benefits were derived from the local system upon payment of the fee asked, what had and what was being done to prevent the oscillating nuisances, and could we look forward in the near future to a local broadcast suitable for receiving sets.

The reply signed by the Supervisor stated, he had been directed to inform me that no wireless instrument may be used for broadcast reception unless duly licensed, that the fee is charged under the authority of the wireless telegraphic regulations which conform to the requirements of the International Telegraphic Convention but that these regulations contain no provision to the effect that a broadcast service should be given for the licence fee.

The matter of interference was investigated in 1935 and will be investigated again as opportunity offers. The question of broadcasting over the air has received consideration but that the provision is not practical at present.

The reply does not answer my questions, nothing has ever been done to stop certain people oscillating - the nuisances often force other owners of sets to close down - and it seems the Government do not intend doing anything to safeguard those who derive pleasure from listening to overseas programmes but rather as Mr Rowe points out to stagnate local radio and collect the 10/- fee for what reason we do not know.

Yours faithfully

sgd. A.P. Shackel.

In The Police Court.

In the Magistrate's Court on Tuesday afternoon, a youth, but old enough to know better, was brought before His Worship Mr. Hearey on a charge of willfully destroying public property. He had deliberately broken a street light somewhere near the public jetty. He was also charged with removing several battens from fences. The accused pleaded guilty to having broken the lamp, but denied removing the battens. A witness who was called to testify for the Crown said he did not see the accused remove any battens, but that he, (the witness) had removed the one from "Teja" Cottage. The accused was given a severe talking to by His Worship who pointed out that such actions as had brought him to the court were far from those of a good citizen, and that if he appeared again on a similar charge, he would be sent to jail without the option of a fine. He was ordered to pay forty shillings fine and the cost of replacing the lamp which amounted to a total of £4. 11.0.

After the conclusion of the above case, the witness charged with the removing of the batten from "Teja" cottage, and fined £2, followed by a severe reprimand from the Bench.

The Agricultural Adviser has drawn our attention to some discrepancy between the published report and the actual discussion of matters when the deputation from the Reform League waited upon him on Saturday, 9th July.

In dealing with the question of full time employment for wet weather, the Agricultural Adviser pointed out to the deputation, that full time was already being allowed for days when men were put off on account of the weather after starting work, and a notice had been posted to that effect on July 1st.. and the deputation stated that it had not been made aware of this previously.

The matter of full time employment had already been dealt with by the Government in correspondence with the League, and the deputation decided to adjourn the conference for a day or two for the Agricultural Adviser to bring the League's repeated request before Government.

The Agricultural Adviser received the deputation again on Tuesday 12th July, when he put before it certain aspects of the position. which after much consideration, he was of the opinion should influence members of the Reform League in any action they proposed to take.

The deputation decided to make a report on this further discussion to the League, and to inform the Agricultural Adviser in due course what attitude would be taken up by the League.

MOUNTED RIFLE CAMP AT DOUGLAS.

Some time ago, it was decided to form members of the Defence Force, resident in camp, into mounted Rifle units and a start was made at Douglas Station on July 11th, when a troop drawn from Douglas, Port San Carlos, Teal Inlet and Rincon Grande commenced a nine days course of training.

Training including troop drill, mounted and dismounted, rifle excercises and miniature rifle shooting. The members of the troop were all showing some proficiency in flag and camp signalling, also, by the time the course finished.

On the 17th, as a tactical excercise, the troop carried out an advance on Teal Inlet, where it was well received and entertained to lunch. The work done on this day showed that all the sections had grasped what was meant by reconnaissance and what was usually required of mounted rifles.

The troop is grateful to Lieut. R.Greenshields, the troop officer, who arranged for the accommodation of the troopers and a supply of fodder for the horses.

The use of the Douglas Miniature Rifle Range was much appreciated.

Major Marshall expressed himself as more than satisfied with the progress made by all members of the troop and the interest taken in the instruction.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 12

What do you know about SPINACH? Well, for the benefit of those who have not yet made its acquaintance we can tell you that it is a very humble vegetable and that it has long been recognised as a most wholesome food. This has been known for centuries, long before scientists invented the word "Vitamins". Yet it is considered to have a greater quantity of Vitamins A B and C than any other vegetable.

We cannot live on spinach alone, and it is not at present easily obtainable in the Falklands excepting in tins. Seedsmen tell us that it will grow anyhow and anywhere. It grows best on a rich loam, but will even grow on clay. Now is the time to consider your seeds for next seasons garden. Invest in a packet or two of spinach seed and thus try to improve your family with a cheap and generous source of Vitamins.

NOTE: Hints on the growing of spinach in the Falklands would be greatly appreciated by the Board. They should be addressed Milestones Department, Nutrition Board, Stanley. No stamp is necessary - the Board will pay the postage.

THE FALKLAND ISLANDS (Continued)

The year 1892 is a somewhat memorable one in the history of the Falklands, for on February 21st the Cathedral was consecrated by Bishop Stirling. The building was erected on the site of the former church, which was ruined by a peat slide in 1886, since when a sail-loft had been used as a church. The cathedral was named after the mother church of Canterbury, from which came the oak from which the bishop's chair is made. Four days after the consecration of the church the Islands attained the dignity of a colony. Hitherto they had only officially been a settlement. The bishop of the diocese, the Reverend J.R.Weller, does not reside here but in Valparaiso, and visits us annually about February.

The only schools in the Islands are the one maintained by the Government, called the Government School, and the one maintained by the Roman Catholic Mission, called St. Mary's.

Altogether there are seven teachers in the Government School, two of these having come from the United Kingdom to teach the pupils in the higher standards, and the others are pupil teachers who completed their education in the Government School. Mr.A.R.Hoare, the headmaster, is at present away on leave, and the Acting Superintendent of Education is Mr. T.K.Miller, who came to the Falklands about two years ago to teach in place of the former schoolmaster, Mr.T.D.Evans.

Away over the hill at the back of the town, and far to the westward, the undulating "camp" stretches for miles.

The absence of trees is relieved by the presence of small green bushes called Diddle-dee. In the summer small red berries are seen on these bushes, and by March they are fully ripe. Many people go out and gather these berries because they can be made into excellent jams and jellies.

The other two kinds of berries, Malvina and Wild Strawberries, are found growing on the open, uncultivated tracts of land. The Malvina berries are found in damp places, around ponds and in small valleys, while the strawberries are found among the stone-runs and diddle-dee bushes.

Many wildflowers grow on the "camp", the most abundant being the Pale Maiden, Vanilla Daisy and Wood Sorrel or Scurvy Grass.

The Pale Maiden is a delicate, sweet-scented flower, and it seems hardly credible that such a fragile flower could grow on one of the bleakest parts of the Empire.

The Vanilla Daisy is a more hardy flower, and, unlike the Pale Maiden, grows from a bulb rather than a seed.

The Scurvy Grass is a delicate flower also, and by boiling down the leaves a drink can be made which is very refreshing on a hot day.

There are several kinds of birds in the Falklands. The penguins, of which there are various species, seem to be the most outstanding ones. Their colour is black and white, and in some ways resemble men in evening dress, with black coats and white starched fronts.

On the smaller islands are extensive penguin rookeries, and in October, when the birds begin to lay their eggs, men go out in small cutter-boats and gather these eggs, which are very good to eat, and sell them to the public at 5/- per hundred.

The carrion birds, caranchas and turkey buzzards have become such a nuisance, especially when the lambing season comes round, that the farmers pay 10/- per hundred for the beaks of the destroyed birds.

The sea animals, lions, leopards and elephants and several smaller ones, are very plentiful, too plentiful in fact; for the larger ones can quite easily capsize a "pram" or a dinghy, and as a result many lives have been lost through the same thing.

Hares and rabbits are the only land animals that are allowed much freedom, for these run wild all over the Islands, and there is only a certain time each year that people are allowed to shoot them, and after the close season comes round the people who shoot these animals are liable to be heavily fined.

Dogs and cats are kept as pets by many people in the Islands, while others keep horses for riding, which is the most popular event in the summer.

Around the shores there is an abundance of kelp and seaweed, and on the west the Falkland Island pebbles are found. There are many fine bays and harbours around the coast, some of these sandy, others pebbly and others rocky.

The fuel used throughout the Islands is peat, which is cut from the peat banks at the back of the town. When it is nearly dry it is put into rickles and then left until it is properly dry, and then either stacked on the bog or taken to the houses by means of horse and cart or lorry.

The Islands have most of the modern improvements, such as good drainage, well kept roads and buildings, water laid on to most of the houses, and streets and houses lit by means of electric lights.

The majority of people have their own receiving sets, which enables them to hear more about the outside world. On Coronation Day the King's speech was broadcast, and many people listened to it.

The telephone communication throughout the Islands enables the people in the outlying settlements to keep more in touch with one another.

There is a news-sheet, called the "Penguin", which contains the local and overseas news, which is daily delivered by newsboys, who are paid monthly by the Government to take it round.

The Islands have a small, but efficient, Defence Force, and their shooting reached such a high standard that in 1930 and 1934 representatives from the Colony won the Junior Holopore Cup at Bisley, and this year they won the Junior McKinnon.

Cargo boats seldom call here now, for their services are no longer required, as the Falkland Islands Company have two small steamers, "Fitzroy", 600 tons, and "Lafonia", about 1000 tons, that bring supplies and mails to the Islands, and about once every six weeks a mail is despatched from here to Montevideo, and from there to the United Kingdom.

NOTICE

The Wireless Telegraphy Ordinance, 1925.

The attention of owners of Wireless Receiving Apparatus is drawn to the provisions of the above mentioned Ordinance and in particular to sub-section (4) of Section 3 which provides as follows :-

"If any person establishes a wireless telegraph Station without a licence, or installs or works any apparatus for wireless telegraphy without a licence, he shall be liable on conviction to a penalty not exceeding £100 or to imprisonment not exceeding six months and in either case be liable to forfeit any apparatus for wireless telegraphy installed or worked without a licence."

Attention is also drawn to the provisions of the "Wireless Telegraphy Regulations, 1926", made under the authority of Section 4 of the above mentioned Ordinance, and to the conditions under which a licence is used to establish a Broadcast Receiving Station :-

1. The Licencee shall not use or allow the Station to be used for any purpose other than the reception of broadcast wireless messages.
2. Any receiving set and any of the following parts, viz : - Amplifiers (valve or other) telephone head receivers, loud speakers, and valves, used under this Licence must be approved by the Supervisor, Electrical & Telegraphs Department.
3. The station shall not be used in such a way as to cause interference with the working of other stations. In particular, valves must not be connected in such a manner as to be capable of causing the aerial to oscillate.
4. The combined height and length of the external aerial (where one is employed) shall not exceed 100 feet. An aerial which crosses above or is liable to fall upon or be blown on to any overhead power wire or telephone wire must be guarded to the reasonable satisfaction of the owner of the wire concerned.

5. The Licencee shall not divulge or allow to be divulged to any person other than a duly authorised officer of the Government or to a competent legal tribunal or make any use whatsoever of any message received by means of the station other than time signals, musical performances and messages transmitted for general reception.
6. The station shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the Supervisor, Electrical & Telegraphs Department, or by an officer duly authorised by him in that behalf.

Attention is further drawn to sub-section (2) of Section 4 of the above mentioned Ordinance, which provides as follows :-

"Any person acting in contravention of, or failing to comply with a regulation made under this Section shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a fine not exceeding fifty pounds or both penalties, and in the case of a continued offence, a further fine not exceeding five pounds for each day during which the offence continued. He shall further be liable to forfeit any apparatus for wireless telegraphy in respect of which the offence is committed.

Supervisor, Electrical and Telegraphs Department.

Health Bulletin No. 7

Food Facts and Fancies.

Should a reducing diet exclude all starchy foods? Yes
No

A few starchy foods may - and, in fact, should - be included in a reducing diet. However, you should limit the amounts if you are serious about wanting to take off weight. Eat two thin slices of bread per day instead of six. Cut down drastically on fats. Concentrate on the following foods (they are both sustaining and slimming): lean meats, fish, skimmed milk, buttermilk, cottage cheese, fruits and vegetables. But don't, as you value your health and strength, cut out starches entirely. The answer is - no

Should a sufferer from rheumatism make a point of avoiding red meats? Yes - No.

The rheumatic, like the well person needs a balanced diet. There is no reason why he should avoid red meat any more than white meat or certain beverages or vegetables. Many foods contain the substance that is the forerunner of uric acid, excessive quantities of which appear in the blood in certain rheumatoid conditions. The answer is - no

Should people who fear an "acid condition" eat lemons, oranges and tomatoes?

"Acid foods" do not make acid in the stomach. Acid is always present in the normal, healthy stomach - it is necessary for digestion. Citrus fruits and tomatoes, after complete digestion are actually "alkalizers". The answer is - yes.

Is it safe to keep tinned foods in the tins after they are opened? Yes No.

There is nothing harmful in tin cans themselves. Foods, as they are handled in modern commercial canneries, come out of the tins just as wholesome as they were when they went in. The tin, even when opened, is probably safer, cleaner container in which to store food than any dish you have on hand. If food in an open tin spoils, blame faulty refrigeration, poor quality, or yourself for trying to keep it too long.

The answer is - yes

Does eating fish and milk at the same meal cause food poisoning or other digestive upsets? Yes - No

Provided they are both fresh, fish and milk (or any sea food and ice cream) may safely be eaten at the same meal. Spoiled sea food and stale milk are something else again - take them separately or together and you're in for trouble. The answer is - no.

Is it harmful, in spite of the old saying, to "feed a cold"? Yes - No.

When you have a cold, your body has enough extra problems to cope with - you certainly should not load it down with more food than it can digest easily. The most effective cold cure is rest. Instead of "fighting off" a cold, give in at the first sniffle and go to bed. Eat lightly. Drink lots of water. Eat extra amounts of fruit and drink fruit and vegetable juices.
The answer is - yes.

Senior Medical Officer.

From the British Official News.

Last week, Their Majesties the King and Queen made a memorable four days visit to the French Republic. Enthusiastic and cordial receptions greeted Their Majesties where-ever they went. The manner in which Their Majesties were received shows very clearly the friendly relations existing between the two countries.

During the course of the visit, His Majesty unveiled an Australian War Memorial. The Deputy Prime Minister of the Commonwealth, in inviting His Majesty to unveil the memorial said, "The monument would recall to future generations the memory of days when, the Armies of France and the British Empire fought side by side for great ideals. President Lebrun of France also spoke and referred to the provision of the site for the monument, by the French Government "was a testimony that the two nations still stood shoulder to shoulder for the maintenance of ideals for which so many of our people laid down their lives."

Extracts from The King's Speech.

"It is a great privilege for me to unveil this noble monument, and in the name of Australia, to welcome the presence among us, of the President of the French Republic - head of that great people, on whose soil we are now standing, and to whom the events which we recall to-day have bound us with ties that passing years can never weaken. On this Monument there is an inscription, telling us and others who will visit this hill in years to come, that it perpetuates the memory of the Australian Imperial Forces who served in France and in Flanders, and of the 11,000 of them who fell in France and have no known grave, but there is in these stones, as there was in every sacrifice in which they commemorate, a deeper and fuller significance. What we see before us is more than a tribute to the gallant service of a splendid Army. It is also a symbol, marking the first entry into history of a young and vigorous nation - the gateway through which Australia passed from youth to manhood. A century and a half ago a new land

From the British Official News.

The Seaplane Mercury, which made a flight across the Atlantic from Foynes in Ireland to Montreal in Canada, carried English News papers, these papers were sold on the Streets in Montreal, Canada the day after they were printed.

of peace and promise was revealed to your forefathers in the vast continent of Australia. As the years grew on and the settlers availed themselves of the gifts of nature, the promise was fulfilled and prosperity in that golden age seemed to have become the certain birthright of every Australian man and woman. Peace and plenty were abroad in the land. Although unity had been achieved in federation, there was as yet, no outward stress to weld the people together so that Australia might take her rightful place in the community of nations. In 1914 the call came, and the Australian response was unhesitating and sure. Her chivalry hastened to Europe, and before four long years of war had ended, no less than five divisions of her soldiers were engaged in several theatres. At Gallipoli they won their spurs thenceforward they were veterans. This ridge on which we stand saw those hard fought actions and this Monument which crowns it will commemorate them for all times. Its very surroundings are emblematic of that comradeship which is the watchword of our British Empire for it looks down on the hallowed field beneath whose soil, consecrated to God in their glorious memory, lie men who came from every corner of the earth to fight for ideals common to that whole Empire. They rest in peace, while over them all Australia keeps watch. As your king, I feel a great sense of pride in unveiling this memorial - pride and the deepest sense of reverence and gratiyyude towards those whose last resting place it guards.

POLICE COURT NEWS

The King Vs The Falkland Islands Co. Ltd.

In the Magistrate's Court on Monday July 25th, before
His Worship A.I.Fleuret, Magistrate, The Falkland Islands Company was charged with importing 248 sheep on January 26th 1938 without having a health certificate.
The Crown was represented by the Hon. D.S.A.Weir, while Mr.J.D.Creamer acted for the Falkland Islands Company.
In passing Judgement His Worship said "I have fully considered this case on its merits and from the evidence it is clear that the prosecution has proved that a breach of the law has been committed by the Defendants.

The Live Stock Regulations were framed with a view to protecting the sheep-farming industry in the Colony and they must be adhered to and enforced. The regulations require that every animal imported into the Colony shall be accompanied by health certificates and the onus is on the importer not on the exporter.

Although the Stock Inspector permitted the landing of the sheep, after being informed by the Company's officials that the papers must be in the mail, this fact does not in the opinion of the Court exonerate the Company in any way. When dealing with a firm of high reputation one is accustomed to accepting statements in good faith.

I therefore, find the Falkland Islands Company, Limited, guilty of contravening the Live Stock Regulations (Consolidation) 1923, and I order them to pay into the Court a fine, under Section 6 of the aforesaid regulations, of 5/- for each sheep imported into the Colony on the 26th of January, 1938, without the necessary health certificates, or a sum of £62 in all.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 13

Have you ever given serious thought to the matter of nutrition? Being to all appearances physically fit most probably you have ignored its value or thought it merely concerned the weak and young. Nutrition should interest every person for it means regulating the foods you eat so that the body receives the necessary Vitamins and stimulants to restore the general wear, promote heat, purify the blood and provide a substitute for the lack of sunshine in this Colony.

It is the natural aim of every person to be fit and to remain fit. No matter how well you may feel, are you absolutely certain that you could not feel just a little better?

The only complete happiness is through good health.

EXETER WINS SQUADRON COCK.

Exeter (Commodore H.H.Harwood) scored 120 points and won the America and West Indies Station Pulling Regatta on March 17th at Frigate Bay, St. Kitts, British West Indies. Eight points separated the winners from Apollo, 112 points (who were last year's winners). Orion was third with 95 points, and York fourth with 63 points. Ajax was at Bermuda, so did not take part. The gunroom gigs' race was rowed off at Trinidad and was won by Apollo, but did not count for points towards the trophy.

At the end of the forenoon's racing Exeter and Apollo were level with 60 points each. Exeter won the E.R.A.s' gig and wardroom officers' gig and the miscellaneous whaler class. Apollo won the young seamen and boys' whaler and the veterans' whaler races. Orion won the stokers' cutter, the boys' cutter, and the R.M. Band whaler. York won the seamen's cutter.

Exeter won the seamen's whaler, the R.M. cutter, the young seamen's cutter, and the E.A.s' gig. Apollo won the communications whaler and the C.P.O.s' and P.O.s' gig. Orion won the stokers' whaler, and in a superb race of two miles Orion's and Apollo's gigs finished a dead heat.

In the last race of the day, the all-comers, Exeter's centipede gig "cake-walked" the two miles, rowing 48 to 50 strokes a minute. Orion's cutter was first among the four cutters to cross the line.

The second day's racing had three open events on the card, and each race was two miles, but there were no points awarded. Exeter won the open whalers and Orion won the cutter and gig, but only after a tremendous tussle with the Apollo crews.

In the race for jolly-boats York's speed-boat won by many lengths.

The meeting was favoured with excellent weather. A slight breeze from the N.E. (almost down the course) favoured no one.

A running commentary on each race was broadcast to all ships from the pilot-boat. This was organized by the local amateur enthusiasts on the island. It was most successful and in the best 'Varsity boat race manner.

All the races were closely contested. Young Officers' Steward Berntsen (Exeter) proved his excellence as a stroke oar despite an injury to his hand that kept him out of the boat for ten days before the regatta. He stroked his crews to victory in the miscellaneous whaler and open whaler races. His native Falkland Islands will be pleased with the result.

The "Cock" was won by Exeter in 1935. It was presented to Commodore Harwood by Vice-Adm'l. S.J. Meyrick, Commander-in Chief, on board York on the evening of the first day's racing. On return to Exeter it was played round the ship with traditional ceremony. Later in the evening Commodore Harwood and officers were "At home" to the officers of the squadron.

The best cutter's time (over two miles) was made by Orion's stokers in 19 mins. 44 secs.

The best one mile cutters' race was made by Exeter's young seamen in 9 mins. 29 secs.

CONGRATULATIONS.

On behalf of his many friends in the Falklands, we extend heartiest congratulations to Richard J. Dettleff, who received his degree maxima cum laude from the Niagara University School of Business, at the commencement exercises held on June 7th in Niagara Falls, New York, U.S.A.

THINGS WE SHOULD LIKE TO KNOW.

1. Who is stealing the peat from the peat bogs, can he not be caught?
2. What has happened to the Speed Boat "Georgia"? Is she on the "Alert"?
3. Now that we are on the metres, and paying for the power we use, why do we have to fall back on the old candle power in the mornings till 7.30.?
4. Why are sheep Quarantined on Beaver Island, and Bleaker Island, when we have just built two new Quarantine stations, one on the East and one on the West Falklands?

With regard to question 4, we understand the ordinance provides for this, as the two new stations are not large enough to graze such large numbers of sheep for the required quarantine period which is three months. Ed.

Those left to mourn her are - Her husband, Sisters - Miss Sarah Scott, Mrs. Jasen Hansen, and Mrs. Donald Ferguson, Brothers - Geo Scott, Thomas Scott, and one daughter Mrs. Browning. Funeral Services were held in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday July 31st.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Olai Johnson and his daughter Mrs Browning, wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to the Doctors and Nurses of K.E.M. Hospital, for their many kindnesses and faithful service to Mrs Johnson during her long period as a patient. He also wishes to extend his thanks to the many friends who expressed their sympathy, and to those who sent floral tributes, during his recent sad bereavement.

A Prayer Found In Chester Cathedral.

Give me a good digestion, Lord,
And also something to digest;
Give me a healthy body, Lord,
With sense to keep it at its best.
Give me a healthy mind, good Lord,
To keep the pure and good in sight;
which seeing sin is not appalled,
But finds a way to set it right.

20 Girls Ready to Risk -

MUTTON DINNERS FOR 3 YEARS

Twenty English women teachers are ready to face life in the Falkland Islands, 300 miles south of South America, even though it means mutton for dinner every day, and wearing heavy coats all the year round.

They want to go and teach school there for £5 a week.

This is the pleasant surprise twelve young women in London, five in Birmingham, and three in other large towns, gave the Board of Education this week.

The Board advertised for two under-30 women to teach in a school in the lonely islands for three years.

Not to mislead the girls, the Board admitted that mutton there, at 3d. a pound, including bones, is the chief item of diet, chops, steak and kidneys and bacon are practically unknown, that coal is £5 a ton, so they must burn peat, and that there are practically no entertainments.

Temperature in the islands ranges 30 - 40 degrees in the winter, 40 - 60 degrees in the summer. Inhabitants are of British and Spanish-American descent. Cattle and sheep-rearing is the main industry.

(A clipping from an English paper handed to us)

If the above is founded on fact, it might be possible to fill the vacancy which has existed on the West Falkland since June 1937.

PUTTING YOUR FOOT INTO IT.

Whenever you make that asinine blunder termed "putting your foot into it", console yourself with the following story.

Richard Harding Davis was a famous American author. Edwin Booth, a great actor, was showing Davis a collection of rare theatrical mementoes in the Players' Club, New York. Davis enthusiastically offered to add to the collection by donating a copy of the platbill of Ford's theatre the night that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated!

Davis had forgotten that Edwin Booth's own brother, John Wilkes Booth, was the assassin.

If a great author could make such a blunder, lesser fry can be excused many minor slips.

THEY'RE TELLING US

"In order to render medical assistance as promptly as possible there is always a doctor stationed in a settlement on West Falkland, about two days' journey from Stanley. Many an urgent case has been brought on the back of the pony to the settlement on the coast, where the Government speed boat rushes the patient to hospital at Stanley where there are two other doctors, provided, of course, the weather is not too bad.

The majority of the people of the Falklands seem to have found the secret of perpetual youth. Some thank the easy tempo of life for this blessing, others the daily mutton, and others again the ozone from the kelp that grows thick on the seashore.

Only 30 per cent of the school children drink milk, and the majority do without it all their lives.

Everything for their homes is ordered directly from England through the F.I.Co's store. Nothing but the best is good enough for them. Though they have a fierce pride in their island home, they speak with affection and longing for their ancestral home in far-off Britain, and then carry on the daily task with grit and courage in their bleak, grey outpost of Empire."

— being extracts from an article entitled, "The Falklanders. A Happy Contented People", written by J.C. and published in the "Overseas Magazine", May 1938.

Readers should pay a visit to the Falkland Store Library.

PERMANENT MEMORIAL TO THE MEMORY OF

HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

His Excellency the Governor met the members of the Memorial Committee at Government House on the 21st of July, 1938, to discuss the most suitable site for the Playing Field for children which is to be the permanent memorial to the memory of His Majesty King George V.

His Excellency pointed out that endeavour had been made to obtain from the Falkland Islands Company, Limited, the plot of land on the corner of John St., and Villiers St., but the Company had been unwilling to dispose of it.

His Excellency suggested the plot of land known as the "Old School Green" as being suitable. The area was $\frac{3}{4}$ of an acre. It would allow of a running track of 75 yards.

The Committee were unanimous that the plot suggested by His Excellency would be the most suitable for the purpose.

It was decided that the work of putting the Playing Field in order should be proceeded with as soon as possible with the funds at present at the disposal of the Committee.

It was pointed out that the amount collected for the Fund to date was £282. Subject to a revised estimate the cost of putting the Field in order would at least be £300, and in addition to this the cost of a shelter and playground apparatus from the United Kingdom, such as coaster slides, swings and a merry-go-round will cost a further sum of at least £300.

The Committee agreed to His Excellency's suggestion that an appeal should be made to Stations and to the general public in Stanley for subscriptions to make up the amount required to cover the cost.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 14

Modern life is complex. Let us put it this other way. The art of living is no longer simple. Mankind has brought about the changes himself. It is a strange state of affairs. 100,000 years ago we can take it for granted that lions and tigers and guanacos and all wild animals lived almost exactly the same way as they do today. But mankind has progressed and now lives very differently. In those remote times man's principle want was food. He cared little for clothes, probably lived in caves, the cinema had not been thought of and his nearest approach to a bicycle ride was to slide down a hill or a glacier.

His first thought when he woke in the morning was where and how he should get the necessary food for himself and his family. Today he no longer has to consider food alone. Clothes, housing, bicycles, radios, tobacco and beer and a host of other wants crowd the picture. But the wise man, the wise parent, considers food first - its quality, its nutritive value, and the effect it can have on the health of his loved ones.

One of the big social events of the year took place in the Town Hall on Thursday July 28th, when Officers and men of The Falkland Islands Defence Force were hosts to their friends at a dance. His Excellency the Governor was present as the Guest of Honour, and on his arrival at the dance was met by a Guard of Honour.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and with the many pretty dresses and the predominance of uniforms, presented a gay scene. An innovation was the revival of the once popular dance, known as "The Grand March Lancers".

The music was provided by the Defence Force Dance Band, and the Jazz Band.

The catering was done by J.F.Summers.
Dancing lasted until 2.30 A.M.

WEEKLY SERMON.

Text. Matt. XI, 29 "TAKE MY YOKE AND LEARN OF ME".

Stanley, Falkland Islands.

The word "disciple" has many advantages. We all know what a disciple is. He is a learner, a pupil. He is one who has put himself under the guiding and instruction of a master to learn some art or science. That is what it means to be a disciple of Christ. It is to put ourselves into His hands, to be His pupils, to learn His way of life and to catch His spirit.

1. AN INTIMATE RELATIONSHIP. There is something very intimate in this relationship. There is something also very serious in its purpose. A man may call himself a Christian and think little or nothing about it. It may make little difference to his life. He may still live it in his own way. But to be a disciple of Christ means something very definite. Suppose that as we sit or kneel in church on Sunday we thought of ourselves as disciples of Christ, gathered there to listen to Him, to catch His spirit, to learn from Him, would it not change for us the whole spirit of the service? In every art there are some well-known problems of what is known as technique. The right way of handling them must be practised time and again till it is mastered. Have we ever set ourselves to master, at some of the difficult places in life, the technique of living in Christ's way? It means the deliberate efforting day after day as things meet us to learn from Christ, to be His pupil. How would He have us act here or there? How would He have us meet this trouble, or tackle that difficulty? "Take my yoke and learn of me", He said. Think of one or two places where most of all we need to learn from Him.

2. THE WAY OF TRUST IN GOD. There is the way of trust in God. That has to be learned. We think we trust God, but do we really trust Him in Christ's way? What does it mean to trust God when we are worried? Anxiety comes from brooding on what is outside of our control. Trust means deliberately leaving these things to God. He trusted God so deeply that He knew that

He was not for a moment out of His care whatever happened. He sent His disciples out without purse or provision on an adventure of service. It must have been a lesson in trust, leaving God to find the means while they obeyed His call. What wonderful faith He had in the power of God. Are we learning from Him the art of facing things that God wants done believing definitely in the power of God? Or think of the difficult art of managing our personal relationships. A difference arises between us and some other. What do we do about it? Do we find in it the chance to learn from Christ what His way is, to think it out? He had a certain way of meeting people and of dealing with them. He was never critical. What should we do? Or what of people who injure us or treat us unfairly, or meet us with scorn or contempt because of our discipleship or witness? Are we learning from Him deliberately, and day by day, the way of living together? The thing we most need is to catch His spirit. That is the greatest gift any master can give his disciple. Without that he can give them little. It is the same with Christ. We cannot find rules in His teaching, for He did not live by rules Himself. He was the very soul of goodness, and what we most need is to catch His spirit.

3. NOT ONLY LEARNING BUT PRACTISING. But to be the pupil of Christ means, not only learning but practising. We must live out what we learn, in the home, in business, among friends. It means doing things in His way and in His spirit every day. We might also add with His resources. For Christ opened to us the same love and power of God as that in which He lived. But daily living is the sphere in which Christianity has become a reality. "If any man heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them". That was always His emphasis. Hearing and doing always went together. God sent us into the world to learn to live. He has work for us to do elsewhere that needs this training. He has a fellowship and service for us that needs this habit of love. Christ is the expert in living. He is "the Way, the Truth, and the Life."

WEDDING

On Friday August 5th in the Hall at Goose Green, the Marriage of John Thomas Jaffray, and Rebecca Dickson Morrison was solemnized by Mr D.M.Honeyman J.P.

The Bride, given in marriage by her father, Roderick Morrison, wore a gown of Ivory satin with a head dress of Rose blossoms, and a rayon net embroidered veil, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The Bridesmaid was Marion Morrison, who was dressed in turquoise blue satin. There were two small bridemaids - Rose Morrison and Rose Jaffray, who looked very becoming in dresses of pink crepe de chine. Mr William Jaffray acted as Best Man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr & Mrs Alex Stewart. In the evening a dance was held in the Hall at Goose Green. We extend our heartiest congratulations and best wishes to the bride and groom.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 15

It has been said before how much like an engine is the human body. It is a heat machine, in which food is turned into calories. This fuel, which is food, is required to supply the substances necessary for the growth of the body. Throughout every hour of the day and night small parts of the machine are wearing out and running repairs are being made from materials in stock, that is, the food we have eaten. What if this is unsuitable - who is going to suffer? You may say, only myself. But you would be wrong. Indirectly you will affect many people with your inefficient repair jobs. You will feel out of sorts, not up to the mark, and so do careless work or say things you would not otherwise say. Following up this line of thought it becomes clear that the possibilities, the "repercussions" as the newspapers say, may be very widespread.

Assistant Master's Term Ends.

Mr. T.K. Miller, B.Sc., D.Th, F.T., M.R.S.T., M.R.I.P.H.H., who has for the past three years been Assistant Master in the Government School, sails for the United Kingdom today.

A few days ago, the four boys who were taken on the trip to Montevideo, called on Mr Miller and gave him presents, in token of their appreciation to him for making such a splendid holiday possible. To take four boys of the school age into a foreign country is no small task, and a great deal of credit is due Mr Miller, for sacrificing a part of his own holiday and trip in order to show the boys a good time. On behalf of the children in the school, and his friends in the Falklands, we wish Mr Miller the best of luck in his new sphere of work.

The Joy Of Being An Editor.

Getting out this magazine is no picnic.
If we print jokes people say we are silly;
If we don't they say we are too serious.
If we clip things from other magazines,
We are too lazy to write them ourselves;
If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff.
If we stick close on the job all day,
We ought to be out hunting up news.
If we do get out and try to hustle,
We ought to be on the job in the office.
If we don't print contributions,
We don't appreciate true genius;
If we do print them the magazine is filled with junk.
If we make a change in the other fellow's write up, we are too critical

If we don't we are asleep.
Now, like as not, some will say
We swiped this from some other magazine.

The Tabernacle Stanley was the scene of a very attractive wedding on Tuesday afternoon August 9th, when Miss Alma Summers daughter of Mr & Mrs W Summers of North Arm, and Mr Roderick McLeod, son of Mr & Mrs Norman McLeod of Stanley were joined in Marriage.

The Bride, who was given in marriage by her brother Stanley Summers, wore a gown of white satin with veil and accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of fresh flowers. The bridesmaids were Miss Iona Norris, who wore a frock of Crepe de Chine trimmed with brown, and Miss Violet Summers who was dressed in flowered lemon Georgette. The best man was Mr Henry Sedgwick. The ceremony was performed by Mr W.F. McWhan. A reception was held at the home of the Groom's parents. The home of the Bride and Groom will be at "The Mappa", North Arm.

A.G. Bennett Retires after long Service.

The sailing of the S.S. "Fitzroy" this afternoon will see the departure of a well known figure in the Falklands, in the person of Mr. A.G. Bennett, retiring Customs Officer and Government Naturalist. Mr. Bennett came to the Falklands in January 1912, his work as an employee of the Colonial Government took him, to the South Shetlands, the South Orkneys and Grahamsland, during his stay in the South, Mr Bennett acted as Whaling Officer. We understand Mr Bennett was largely responsible for the rescue of two members of the "Cope Expedition" who were lost in the South. It is difficult to pay due credit to Mr Bennett for the splendid Museum he is leaving behind. A finer and more representative collection would be difficult to find in a place of similar size anywhere in the world. We extend our best wishes to Mr & Mrs Bennett for a pleasant trip, and our hopes that they may have many years of good health in which to enjoy their retirement. Arthur, their youngest son is going to England with his parents.

THE LATE MR FINLAY MACINNES HARRIS.

His friends at home and abroad will learn with deep regret of the death of Mr Finlay MacInnes, late of Kyles Scalpay, Harris, which took place in Elgin Hospital. Mr MacInnes who was 67 years of age, was for over twelve years a shepherd in the Falkland Islands, South America. On his return from America 29 years ago he settled on his father's croft at Kyles, where he also conducted a general store. He retired last July and acquired a cottage in Cummingston near Hope-man, where he intended to spend his retirement. He had been ailing for the past year and was admitted to hospital only three weeks before his death. He is survived by a widow, two brothers and a sister.

ADMIRAL LUCE'S £51,859

Admiral John Luce, who commanded H.M.S. Glasgow in the actions off Coronel and the Falkland Islands in 1914, left estate sworn for probate at £51,895, with net personalty £48,679. He died in September at the age of 62.

His bequests include £100 to his chauffeur, Samuel G. Hobbs, and, after small legacies to his sons, the residue of the estate upon trust for his widow.

SHEEP-FARMING PIONEER.

, Mr Thomas Saunders, one of the five original pioneers in the Patagonian wool industry, has died in London, aged 70.

When he and his companions landed at Punta Arenas, on the Straits of Magellan, in 1879, they brought with them sheep from the Falkland Islands. Another flock was shepherded overland from Buenos Aires to the Far South.

Church Notes,

1. The date for the beginning of Confirmation classes will be given out on Sunday next.
 2. If you have a favourite hymn you would like included in the hymns for any Sunday, kindly hand the number to the Chaplain.
 3. We have room and vestments for a few more members to the choir.
 4. At a meeting of the Dean Brandon Memorial Fund committee, held some time ago, it was decided to purchase two new clergy stalls which would be in keeping with the choir stalls and panelling. We were able to pay for these in England from the balance in hand. The original scheme included a very elaborate dean's stall and a plain oak assistant chaplain stall. As the funds would not allow the purchase of these, it was decided to get the two plain stalls.

THE OTHER STANLEY.

(Being the Editor of the Stanley Herald's comment on the essay written by Miss Isabel Barnes).

When a girlie has sent an essay more than half way round the world to Stanley show to tell us what the Falkland Islands are like it would be a very un gallant male who would attempt to add anything to what she has said, especially as we must agree with the Falkland Island boys that girls are better at essay writing. Still, there are un gallant males about, and even the girls themselves will admit, little as they are inclined to admit anything, that there are some considerations, and those the most important, that simply do not appeal to them. For instance mere males would have thought that the most important news about the Falkland Islands was that they have no income tax there. They also have no land tax and no customs duty save on alcoholic liquor and tobacco; and not only have they no national debt, but the Government has money invested, the interest on which supplies most of the revenue, and removes the need for further taxes. Even during the depression they lived within their income. The girlie cares for none of these things, being more interested, as her sex is apt to be, in murders, wrecks, churches and clergymen. Lest all Australian capitalists should leave at one for this heaven upon earth we hasten to add that the climate is so severe that trees will not grow and oats will not ripen, and they have the advantage of a mail every six weeks, and they are heavily fined for killing rabbits whereas we are supposed to be fined for not killing them. Perhaps, on second thoughts, we shall not even go ourselves, though the Government does pay boys to deliver the newspapers. Twenty-four hours, we understand, is a long dry spell there. Still, we have much in common with the people of the Falkland Islands. Like us they are the last outpost of any importance between a continent and the South Pole. Like us they pride themselves that they are more British than the British themselves. We admire the firm courage with which she excludes the Scotch from the British. We should not have dared to do that ourselves, because the Scotch usually try to exclude us. They are inclined to hold not only that they are British, but that they are the only British; the rest of us, Irish, Welsh, Cornish and English, cannot be British for we are no see economical, ye ken. And we are quite prepared to take the lady's word for it that there are Scotch there, and even in the Government, as indeed the Scotch are apt to be, seeing that it has money in the savings bank. It is an example that we devoutly wish our own Government would follow. Indeed there are many lessons that we could learn from these hardy, independent people, and in Stanley especially we should like to see the Crown people take some interest in this far namesake instead of leaving it all to the children. The two Stanleys were founded within a few years of one another, and named after the same man, Lord Stanley, who was the Secretary of State for Colonial Affairs at the time; and Charles Darwin visited them both on that epoch-making trip on the Beagle. It is pleasing to know that his name has been given to a district there as here. It makes us ashamed to think that a Crown colony is so much better governed than one with self-government; but it is an achievement for a people numbering only about a third of the population of Circular Head to have a governor all to themselves, and a baronet at that.

SHIPPING NOTICE.

S.S. "Lafonia" left England on 4th August and is expected to arrive at Stanley on 6th September. As soon after her arrival as possible, a Coastwise Voyage ("our Voyage") will be made by either "Lafonia" or "Fitzroy" or both vessels, calls being made at all customary ports on East and West Falklands.

WEEKLY SERMON

Text. Acts 12-5. "Peter therefore was kept in prison; but prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him"

B U T.

The Bible is so inspired and so condensed that there is food for thought in almost every word of it. From the account of the event which the Church commemorates on August 1st I choose for my text one word - But.

August 1st, 44.- The young Church is already beginning to experience persecution. A few days ago the Jewish King Herod Agrippa the 1st laid violent hands on one of the "big three" of the apostles, the three who, you remember, once managed a fishing concern, Simon, James, John and Co. It was James who was arrested; a sword flashed and he went to Heaven.

"Because he saw that it pleased the Jews, Herod proceeded further to take Peter also," "Now I have two of the three," thinks the King; "and now I have the ring leader, this will put a stop to the way". However, this is where the But comes in.

Pay a visit to the condemned cell tonight. There is Peter, two others are with him, soldiers, both chained to him. Another soldier is on guard outside the locked and bolted door; a fourth stands at the locked door at the end of the corridor. The four, quaternion, are relieved every so often during the night. For at sunrise to-morrow there is to be another public execution. The trusty sword shall sing again; Peter's head shall fall into the same red basket which caught the head of James; and Peter's soul can go where it pleases.

Peter knows it. Yet look at him in his cell, chained to warders, a few hours before his execution. Do you see what he is doing? He has taken off his cloak and sandals, unloosed his girdle, said his night prayers; and is asleep. For he is a different Peter to the impetuous, nervy, hasty man we used to know. Since that early morning soon after Easter Day when he stood on the shore of Galilee, since the morning of Pentecost, he has changed almost out of knowledge.

Now he is wholly, body as well as soul, the property of Jesus of Nazareth; nothing earthly matters a scrap now, not even a sword. He is sleeping peacefully; though he is probably the only Christian in Jerusalem to do so.

But even in those days, "the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft a-gley"; for King Christ has other plans for Peter than those of King Herod Agrippa the First.

Suddenly the dark cell is flooded with light; a fourth now stands there, who has entered by no door; an angel. He shakes Peter, smites him on the side; you know how much it takes to wake you at two A.M., I do. "Get up Peter;" be quick!!! The chains fall from his wrists and feet, but the warders pay no attention-- strange !!! but this is a strange night. "Put on your clothes and sandals; now follow me," The iron door of the cell swings silently open, so does the door at the end of the corridor, nobody is about; the prison gates stand wide open. Angel and apostle walk down the street; then the former returns to Heaven, or sets out on another earthly errand for his master.

Peter, still a little dazed by the rapidity with which things have happened, goes to a certain house. "Good!. Lights are burning. They have not gone to bed. I think I know what they are doing." He knocks at the front door. Somebody comes down stairs and listens; you did not open front doors in the middle of the night without considerable precaution, if you were a Christian and Herod Agrippa was king. "Who is there?" she asks. "Peter" comes the answer. She runs upstairs and tells the others. They laugh. "My dear Rhoda," they say, "you're mad; You've been sitting up too late; it can't possibly be." But she persists, and the mocking continues. So they come down to the door with her and look into the street. And there was no execution when the sun rose.

Why not? Because of the But.

"Peter therefore was kept in prison; BUT prayer was made without ceasing of the Church unto God for him." "James murdered; Peter arrested and to die tomorrow; surely that is the end of the Church", that is not what Jerusalem Christians said to each other on that 31st of July. What they did say was, "Now we must pray like anything; pray by night and pray by day; pray without ceasing. We will meet in John Mark's house and will keep a continuous watch of intercession. We must all take part. Yes, young Rhoda, you can come too."

It must have been a fine thing to be a Christian in the days of Herod Agrippa the First, even if life was short and not particularly gay; when the But of the Church's prayers was stronger than the bolts and bars, perhaps not for the first and assuredly not for the last time.

If only you and I could realise more clearly than perhaps we do the enormous power of our prayers, how much more faithfully we would persevere with them and how much more happy would be both ourselves and those for whom we pray.

Indeed there is much meaning in one word of three letters, if we look for it. Almost as much as there is power in one short and unselfish prayer, but not quite so much.

The Minimum Diet for Optimum Health.

In the last 20 years our ideas about the effect of food on our health have been completely revolutionized. We used to think, a good many in this Colony I imagine, still think, that if food is sufficient in amount, digestible and palatable; Then any disturbance in health cannot be due to food.

It is now common knowledge that while these are important factors, the lack of certain specific substances in a diet produces a number of important diseases such as rickets, scurvy and beri-beri.

I should like to emphasize that there are all degrees of health between the lowest in which a person is dying, and perfect physical fitness. Likewise there are all degrees of deficiencies in the diet, from those that cause gross disease like rickets and scurvy, to those so slight there is very little disturbance of physical fitness.

Now, I am not suggesting for a moment that there is any gross deficiency in the average Falkland Island diet which produces the important diseases I have just mentioned. At any rate I have not seen any in the brief period I have been here nor in looking through the records do I see where my predecessors have ever diagnosed these diseases. Nonethe less I should like to draw your attention to two different standards of health:

First, there is the standard in which there are no plain signs of disease nor does the patient complain of any symptoms. That standard has been accepted in the past, and I imagine that here it still is accepted, as the normal. A diet which will maintain this absence of signs and symptoms in a population might be called a minimum diet.

If we take a group of sheep and feed them on a minimum diet, the animals will go on generation after generation without signs of food deficiency disease. But, if we improve the diet of half the group, then the health and fitness of that half compared with the other is greatly increased. This will be shown by increased rate of growth, greater fertility, longer life, decreased mortality and obvious increased vigour and activity. Finally however we reach a stage where we cannot by any manipulation of the diet bring about any further improvement in the group of animals under observation. This is the diet we might term the optimum diet.

I do not think that the average Falkland Island diet is an optimum diet, by that I mean that I do not think that it is such that it produces a state of well being, a standard of health which cannot be improved.

On the contrary I believe the average diet here is a minimum diet and by manipulation it could be made to produce a much higher standard of health; more physical vigour, greater resistance to disease; and in general more happiness. It is to how this may be done that I invite your attention.

I feel sure that if I tell you about what has been learned in studying other populations it should be of some help here. In general our knowledge of the kind of diets used in other countries shows that there is a broad relationship between the diet of a group of people and their health and physique. As the diet of a people approaches the optimum fewer babies die, people live longer, physic is better. Actually very few populations approach this optimum standard but as the diet of a people below the optimum is improved by adding animal products, fruit and vegetables, there is a gradual reduction in ill-health and succeeding generations are of better physique than their forbears. The history of Europe is interesting in this connection.

Until the latter half of the eighteenth century the population of Western Europe appears to have remained for many centuries on balance, almost stagnant. Periods of normal growth of the population were constantly interrupted by famine and pestilence. Any increase was therefore halting and uncertain. The population of France, for instance, estimated at 20 millions in the thirteenth century, was about the same at the beginning of the eighteenth, although fluctuating wildly in the intervening centuries.

Towards the end of the eighteenth and the beginning of the nineteenth centuries, important changes occurred. In the first place, fluctuations in population were reduced and the trend became definitely upwards. Thus, whereas the population of England and Wales had only increased by some 700,000 in the 110 years preceding 1714, between 1801 and 1901 it increased by 23.6 millions, in spite of large scale emigration. The population of France, stationary for so long increased by 11.4 millions, while in Europe as a whole the increase was even more striking. In the hundred years ending in 1900, the population of Europe grew from 187 millions to about 400 millions, to reach probably not far short of 500 millions in 1933.

EDGWARE BRIDE AND GROOM

The wedding took place at Edgware Parish Church on Saturday, June 11th of Mr James A. Rogers, son of Mr & Mrs J.B.Rogers, of 18, Orchard-crescent, Edgware, and Miss Shiela M.Mayhew, daughter of Mr & Mrs Charles F.B.Mayhew, of 11, Fairfield-avenue, Edgware.

The Rector (the Rev.H.A.H.Lea) officiated.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a white frosted taffeta dress, with headdress of orange blossom and miniature arum lilies and a white embroidered veil. She carried a sheaf of arum lilies and asparagus fern.

There were two bridesmaids, Miss Doris Williams (cousin of the bridegroom) and Miss Audrey Conway (cousin of the bride). They were attired in forget-me-not blue moire taffeta dresses, with blue net caps and wreathes of pink flowers. Their bouquets were of pink carnations.

Mr D.V.Green carried out the duties of best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride, and later the newly married couple left for Cornwall, where the honeymoon was spent. The bride travelled in a smoke-blue flannel costume with navy accessories.

Many presents were received.

Participation in Profits for Summit Smokers

Next extending to their patrons an invitation to participate in the profits they help to make—to go "fifty-fifty" as it were—The International Tobacco Company are but pioneering a movement which they conceive to be only equitable and right.

"Summit" profit sharing, however, differs from coupon schemes in one important respect, concerning which the Company is anxious there should be no misapprehension. It is this—however true it may be of other cigarettes that gifts are secured at the expense of quality, it is certainly not true of "Summits."

The reverse is the case. The International Tobacco Company guarantees the quality of the pure Virginia tobacco used in the "Summit" blend to be the finest obtainable.

"Summits" are the blend of a lifetime. In introducing this blend, the International Tobacco Company do not court the uncertain favour of the fickle, "any-brand" type of smoker. They prefer the regular smoker rather than a fluctuating demand founded upon mere caprice.

The regular smoker is an incalculable boon to a cigarette manufacturer, enabling him to attune supply to demand, properly to condition his leaf, and to keep his supplies of cigarettes perfectly fresh.

Accordingly, the International Tobacco Company makes a gesture to the regular "Summit" smoker in return for his patronage—no less than that of a direct participation in profits, through the medium of handsome bonus awards.

MILESTONE 16

The fuel and energy needs of our bodies are supplied by

- (1) fats
- (2) carbohydrates
- (3) proteins.

Proteins have an extra job to do other than providing fuel - and that is to build up new tissue for the body. When a child is growing it is the proteins in its food which do so much to make it get bigger. And during the ordinary day's work there is much repairing work to be done. When you rub your finger along the mantelpiece, or use a spade or a broom, surface skin is rubbed off your hands. More noticeable damage is done when the chopper slips and cuts you. The tissue for replacing and repairing such damage and loss is made with the help of proteins. For these purposes proteins from milk, eggs, kidneys, liver are much better than protein from plants. And so foods rich in animal protein are called body building foods for a very good reason.

The GAME of DARTS.

Darts is a good old fashioned game that has recently taken on a new lease of life, and has become very popular in England. It is pleasant to find that it is also finding favour in the Falklands, as it is a simple good natured game where rivalry is always kept within friendly bounds and it can never lead to ill feeling.

Old and young, boys and girls, fathers and mothers, can all play it, and although it is very much a game of skill, it also has its elements of luck - and fun.

Several different games can be played on the same board, but the most general is to start from 301 down to nothing. But before any score can be counted a 'double' must be scored, and the last shot to score must also be a 'double', being from a dart placed in the thin outer ring of the board.

The board should be placed against a wall, centre about level with the eyes. Ordinarily this would be about 5'3", but for short competitors the board can be lowered, or raised for the long-shanks.

The stance is 9 feet from the centre of the board to the floor - a diagonal line which can be measured with a piece of string.

"Round-the-board" can also be played, and with partners. Commencing with 1 and finishing with the outer bull (25) and the inner bull (50). Each competitor throws a 'set' of darts, 3 darts in a 'set'. In "round-the-board" whenever a score is made the lucky thrower has three more shots, and a good thrower will make 8 or 10 scores in one turn.

"Cricket" can also be played with darts, but the scoring is more complicated and not suitable for description here.

WEEKLY SERMON

Text. Matt xxv. 15. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey.

The second lesson this evening contains the story of the talents, our Lord's parable about the responsibility of life. It may be summarised thus;

(1) God has put each of us into this world that we may do something, that is, to make this world a better place in which to live. (A man who has died asked our Lord what plans he has made to spread the gospel throughout the world. Our Lord replied, "I have entrusted that to human beings." "But suppose they fail you?" asked the man. "I have made no other arrangements", was the answer.).

(2) For this purpose he has given to every one of us a varying number of what we still call "talents".

(3) One day he will ask each of us, "Well, child! What have you done with my gifts? How have you used my talents, with which I entrusted you? Tell me how much better is the world because you lived in it."

Look at God's counting table in the world today, the world as we know it. Some get much, some less, some little of the "talents". The thing to be remembered is this, each one of us is given talents according to our several ability.

Another point - the gifts or talents are not the property of him or her, they belong to the owner, who lent them on trust with the stipulation that they should be used on his behalf. Some day we must meet again the Lord of the manor at the counting table. On that day God at the Bar of Judgement may say:-

Mary Snooks; to you I gave beauty and health, a straight body and a nimble wit. Were those with whom you came in contact better Christians because of you? John Brown - to you I gave an education, in the teachings of the Christian religion, confirmed, did you by your life and influence draw anyone closer to our Lord?

You were a working man, like the carpenter of Nazareth. I lent you strength, capability, the power to work. What do those who were your mates think of you now? Can you name to me one fellow working man who is a Christian, thanks to you? Why not?

The kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants and delivered unto them his goods. "Unto one he gave five talents, to another two, to another one; to every man according to his several ability." But you notice that the talents remain his, not theirs.

What a difference it makes if we look at life as God sees it; if we realise that it is a time of trustee-ship of talents, a period of stewardship of the goods of God! It disposes once and for all of the falacy, "I'm alright. I'm not afraid to die. I have no need of sacraments. I ain't done no 'arm to nobody. I've always lived a quiet life and kept myself to myself. I don't think God can have much against me." As though the boss came to see the building his men were erecting; and found one of his labourers sitting idle on the scaffolding; and heard him say, "I'm alright. I ain't done no 'arm to nobody. I'm not dropping bricks on the people in the street."

"Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of the Lord." May the Master be sole to speak thus to us too, when pay-day comes.

WORKING MEN'S SOCIAL CLUB SWEEPSTAKE

The W.M.S. Club, during the English football season, will run their usual sweepstake on the 1st and 2nd divisions.

From the total amount collected 10% will be devoted to the Childrens Party Fund, Club Funds and expenses, prize money divided as follows :- 1st Seller's prize £2. 2nd Seller's prize £1., the remainder divided into team prizes. Should less than £35 be collected the prize money after providing for percentage, and seller's prizes will be divided thus:- 25% for team prizes, of the remainder 1st prize 50%. 2nd 30%. 3rd 20%.

In the event of two teams or more scoring the same number of goals for the 1st, 2nd or 3rd prizes, the prize in each case will be divided accordingly.

The draw will take place each week in the Club room on Friday evenings at 8.0'clock, to which the public is cordially invited to witness the checking in of tickets issued for each week, also the folding, mixing and draw of the tickets.

The prizes will be declared according to the result broadcast on Saturday evenings from the Stanley Broadcasting Studio, and paid out at the Woodbine Bakery on Saturday evening if required.

The results will be published in the Falkland Islands News Weekly, also unclaimed prizes of the previous week.

Prize winners will forfeit all claim to any prize after fourteen days from the date the prize is won, but the committee will be pleased to deal with claims under special circumstances if application is made to the Hon. Secretary of Sweepstake, stating the reason why the prize or prizes were not collected within the specified time.

In the event at any time of not receiving the correct results of goals in any week, the total amount collected and allotted to prize money, will be divided between the holders of tickets drawn against the teams for that week. Sellers prizes will be divided in the same manner. Tickets will be on sale at 1/- each at the following places:-

CARETAKER W.M.S. CLUB, FALKLAND STORE,
F.I.D.F. CLUB, SPEEDWELL STORE, STANLEY ARMS, J.RATCLIFFE

STORE, W. SEDGWICK'S STORE, W.J. HUTCHINSON'S STORE,
G HANSEN, GLOBE HOTEL, ROSE HOTEL, A.P. SHACKEL'S SHOP, PENGUIN SHOP, SHIP HOTEL.

The above Sellers will be provided with a Draw sheet, as soon as possible after the draw.

Sellers are held responsible for the return of all books of tickets to the collector each week.

Persons other than the above named sellers desiring to sell tickets, should apply to Penguin Shop for full particulars, these books to be returned to Penguin Shop before 7 o'clock each Friday night.

The Secretary will not issue books of tickets after 12 o'clock noon on Friday for that week, unless ordered previous to time stated.

Any lost or destroyed ticket must be reported to the Hon Secretary of Sweepstake, by filling in the form supplied at the Penguin Shop for this purpose, giving number etc.

In no case will any prize money be paid without the production of the winning ticket, which is required to be kept as a voucher for payment.

The committee wishes to draw the attention of buyers to the fact that responsibility can only be accepted for the correctness of numbers appearing on draw sheets.
No responsibility can be accepted for the correctness of names or Nom de plumes as in some cases these are not decipherable. Further the committee reserve the right to omit from the draw sheet any Name or Nom de plume which is considered unsuitable for publication.

(Being the 2nd half of the script of the talk broadcast by the Senior Medical Officer on Friday Aug. 12th)

This enormous increase in population was made possible by the development of modern science and invention.
Scientific agriculture, new sources of power, new implements, effectually solved a problem that man has been working at since there were any men. That problem was the problem of production - how to fill empty stomachs! Today it may be regarded as so successfully solved that food has been a glut and has been actually destroyed to produce an artificial scarcity.

Of course many things may be mentioned to account for man's striking progress in a physical sense but the one thing that lay at the back of it was improved nutrition - what is called a higher economic level.
Until a people is properly fed, efforts along other lines make slow progress. Thus efforts to eliminate a disease like malaria which is due to a blood parasite; which is spread by mosquitoes, which is cured by quinine and which one would think quite independent of food, are only slightly successful until the economic level of those affected has been improved.

This enormous increase in population was not due to a rise in the birth rate, but to a considerable although gradual decline in the death rate; a marked extension took place in the average span of life of the individual.

The expectation of life at birth for the average German increased between the 1870's and 1924 from 35 years to 56. The Englishman's average length of life increased from 41 to 55.6 years between the 1870's and 1920-1922, and has since increased still further. A similar tendency was to be observed in the other countries of Western civilization.

Not only did population grow rapidly and the average expectation of life rise, but general health and physique improved at the same time. The incidence and fatality of many diseases fell off progressively during the nineteenth century, and there was undoubtedly an increase in stature. In those countries of Northern and Western Europe where conscription has existed since the beginning of the nineteenth century, measurements of hundreds of thousands of young men are taken each year. The average based on these measurements shows a striking though gradual increase. In Sweden, the average stature increased between 1840 and 1936 by over 3 inches (8 cm.). In Denmark, the same increase took place between 1840 and 1913. In Norway, the increase was 4 inches (10 cm) between 1800 and 1900, and, in the Netherlands, about 5 inches between 1850 and 1907.

A similar phenomenon has been observed among both male and female students at American universities.

The new science of nutrition sets up a new standard of diet therefore. Not the minimum that enables us to keep body and soul together, and free from complaints, but the optimum diet for health and fitness and this made available for everybody. Is such a standard too high, too visionary? Stockmen who feed animals for profit use an optimum diet but unfortunately human health and vigour are not regarded as marketable commodities like beef and mutton. Were this the case then feeding children on a minimum diet such as I have described, such indeed as we do here, would be regarded as gross inefficiency.

From what has been said, I hope it will be appreciated that correct diet, not the minimum that will keep us alive and free from complaints, but the optimum, offers great possibilities. To take advantage of this we must teach the children. Sir John Ork says; Surely the knowledge of how to feed a family is as important for future mothers as a knowledge of irregular verbs or the tributaries of the Ganges. No child, he says, should be allowed to leave school without an elementary knowledge of the effect of food on health, and what constitutes an adequate diet is as important as a book on grammar.

There is the other side of the question too. What effect does the optimum diet have on mental development. Well, there is a good deal of evidence to show that good feeding increases capacity for mental work and while little men are often able, and big men stupid, still, on the whole good physique and good intelligence go together. Galton who studied the subject says: I do not deny that many men of extraordinary gifts have had wretched constitutions but this is not usual and he goes on to say that 2nd and 3rd class students are usually weakly. A collection of living magnates in various branches of mental achievement is always a feast to my eyes being as they are such vigorous capable looking anomals.

Man does not live by bread alone and I should not have you believe that a full stomach is the most important thing in life but I hope I may have suggested that there are possibilities which have not been utilized in the past and that we should not be too well satisfied with the present manner of living.

Despite the weather many friends assembled at Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday last to witness the wedding of Mr Alfred May, youngest son of the late Mr. & Mrs. F May, and Miss Theodora Betts only daughter of Mr & Mrs W. Betts of Pebble Island. The Rev G.K. Lowe performed the ceremony. The bride was charmingly arrayed in a gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of artificial mixed flowers. She was attended by two bridesmaids; Miss Nellie Biggs (cousin of the bride), and Miss Thora Stevenson (friend of both), who wore attractive dresses of pink satin with pink straw hats to match and each carried a bouquet of artificial flowers. Mr E.J. McAtasney carried out the duties of best man. During the signing of the register the choir sang "O perfect love". At 4.p.m. some 450 guests assembled at the Town Hall to enjoy a tea dance and to drink the health of the happy couple. The cake was made by the bride's mother and iced by Mr W. Hills of the Stanley Bakery. We learn that the future home of the bride and groom will be at Port San Carlos and may we join their many friends in wishing them every happiness and prosperity.

Joseph Thomas Aldridge.

The funeral of the late Joseph Thomas Aldridge took place from the Tabernacle on Friday afternoon August 19th, the Rev.W.F.McWhan conducting the services. A large crowd, including members of the Stanley Benefit Club turned out to pay their last respects, the size of the crowd clearly demonstrated the high esteem in which the Late Mr Aldridge was held. The Fall Bearers were, Mr L.A.Sedgwick, Mr A.D.Shackel, Mr Percy Dixon and Mr D.J.Williams.

Mr Aldridge who died in his 83rd year, was born in the Falklands in November 1853. With the exception of a short visit to the Argentine in his early days, Mr. Aldridge spent the whole of his life in the Islands. Always a faithful servant he had but few employers, his last long period of service was 26 years with the late Mr Vere Packe. Mr Aldridge was the oldest resident born in the Falklands, and the senior member of the Stanley Benefit Club, which he joined in the year 1878. He was one of the first to become a member of the Falkland Islands Defence Force, which he joined on its introduction about the year 1892. Always a keen sportsman, Mr Aldridge had been associated with the Stanley Sports Association since its inauguration.

Those left to mourn are, his widow, five sons, six daughters, twenty-nine grand children and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Aldridge and family wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who expressed their sympathy, and for the many floral tributes, which numbered over one hundred.

Home News in Brief.

1. The rapid development of the air mails is most strikingly revealed in the decision to remove from the streets of London and provincial cities, the special "Air Mail" posting boxes. Air mail used to be regarded as being a high speed facility, outside the ordinary postal despatch, it now becomes the normal means for the speedy transmission of "first class" mails.
2. We learn that General Franco has finally replied with regard to the non-intervention committee's plans for the withdrawal of the non-Spanish combatants. The contents of Gen. Franco's observations have not yet been made public
3. More than 5000 radio and television sets are on display at Radio Olympia which opened yesterday. A feature of many of the new models exhibited is that automatic tuning has been actuated by push button switches.
4. President Roosevelt of the United States, in the course of his address at the opening of the new bridge at Kingston, Ontario, Canada said "The people of the United States will not stand idly by if the domination of Canadian soil were threatened by any other Empire." The President also pointed out that America was no longer a far away continent from which the eddies of controversy beyond the seas could bring no interest or harm. In contrast to many European border situations President Roosevelt's most memorable words were, "This bridge stands as an open door, there will be no challenge at the border, no guard to ask for countersign, and where the boundary is crossed, the only word must be 'Pass Friend'". These words by the President, coming on the morrow of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's broadcast on the impossibility of American isolation can only have favourable reaction where it is properly understood, while it is a contribution to stability at a moment when plain unambiguous speech may be a potent power

As a means of stimulating interest in our special "TRACK TIPS" Brand of Tea, we offer some notes on the proper handling and brewing of tea.

"Always keep tea in an air tight tin. Allow from one-half to one full teaspoonful of tea leaves to each half-pint of water. Have ready two warm, dry earthenware teapots, and place the tea leaves in one of them. Directly the water boils pour it on to the leaves, allow it stand thereon from one to three minutes, and then pour the clear tea into the second teapot.

The spent leaves should be thrown away."

Tea drinking in the east where it originated, is a ceremonial affair, and very great care is taken in preparing it, and there is no doubt that in order to taste and enjoy the fine flavour and tonic properties of good tea, it is essential that it should be brewed properly.

WEDDING

The marriage of Kieth Clifford Betts and Daisy Harrie Bailey took place at The Chartres West Falklands on the 16th of July 1938. The Bridesmaid was Miss Avis Binnie. The best man Mr Kieth Hutchinson. A Recept was held in the Cookhouse and a Dance in the evening from 8.p.m. till 3.a.m.. The bride and groom have made their home at Black Hill, Chartres.

THINGS WE SHOULD LIKE TO KNOW.

1. What happened to the service by the Bishop of the Falklands which was to have been broadcast on Sunday the 14th?
2. What has happened to the two Bren guns ordered for the F.I.D.F.?
3. Why have no records of shooting matches been added to the shield in the Town Hall since 1934. ?
4. In what connection was "A Bed-rock of Hope" used some time ago in Stanley?
5. Who is the film fan who collects posters from the Gymnasium.?
6. Is it right that the top football pitch may now be used as a swimming pool?
7. Who suffered from frostbite at the dance on Tuesday night?
8. If no one wants the "Penguin" will she be put in the Museum or kept as a reserve?

- - - - -
1. The service was broadcast at 3 p.m. and a recording re-broadcast at 10.30 p.m. Stanley time.
 2. We understand the Bren Guns are on order, and have been for some time.
 4. "A Bed-rock of Hope" is a quotation from a speech made by the late Sir James O'Grady, former Governor of the Falkland Islands, when he laid the corner stone of the proposed swimming pool.

CHURCH NOTES & NEWS.

1. COMMUNION. - Sunday next is the first Sunday in the month, a time when most people make an effort to make their regular monthly communion. When we were confirmed we accepted an invitation to come to our Lord's table - (the altar). If we were to accept an invitation to dinner at the home of one of our friends, we would not dream of - just not turning up. Our Lord has invited us to partake of His presence, under the forms of bread and wine. Let us try not to disappoint Him.

2. CONFIRMATION - Confirmation classes are beginning on Thursday Sept 1st, at 7.0 p.m. at the Deanery. All people who consider themselves to be members of the Church of England ought to be confirmed. It is the gate which leads to the greatest act of Christian worship - The Holy Communion.

WEEKLY SERMON

The Saving Name of Jesus

Text. Matt. 1. 21. "Thou shalt call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins"

Names are extraordinarily fascinating. Not only do they distinguish one person from another, but they are charged with an inner meaning, and frequently express the character of those who bear them. When our Lord gave Simon the name of Peter, which means "rock" no doubt He was thinking of Peter's character as the "rock" man. Paul means "worker", what name could better express the character of him who worked so unceasingly for the master he loved so much? John means the Grace of God. David means beloved, and so we think of the shepherd boy who became a king. Stephen means a crown. What better name could be chosen for the first Martyr?

ABOVE EVERY NAME.

There is one name which is above every name, the holy name of Jesus, it was chosen in the eternal counsels of God, and declared to Blessed Mary and St Joseph by the message of an angel. This human name - is inseparably connected with the character and offices of the Saviour of mankind. The name Jesus means a "Saviour" And Jesus not like many of us has been true to His name - He has saved us from ignorance, misery, uselessness, and the source and origin of all - He saves us from sin. And the salvation which He was to bring was not a saving from the Roman or Herodian rule, but a life protected from sin. And for this reason it was necessary that He should save life in all its stages. Not through the active ministry only, not by His death upon the cross, but also in the hidden and solitary years in the home of Nazareth He is saving mankind. In childhood by His obedience to His mother and St Joseph, and by a still more perfect obedience to the will of His Heavenly Father, He was saving childhood. At the age of 12 years we find our Lord in the Temple among the doctors, both hearing them and asking them questions. He is there in the flush of youth, wide eyed and wondering. Life is opening out before Him. Again, at the beginning of His ministry, He met all the forces of temptation, and triumphed over them, thus saving us from our temptations. And during His passion He faces the issues which have broken man and woman, and is saviour at every stage.. In the agony, the contest of the garden He is tried to the breaking point, but here again He saves, for He identifies His human will with the will of God, and makes an act of perfect resignation. "Not my will but Thine be done". -- And so through scourging and mocking and spitting, through betrayal, and denial and desertion, through lonely hours upon the cross until He cries it is finished. He is saving us from our sins.

THE NAME OF JESUS.

The name of Jesus is so linked with His character and work that in the apostolic days the name and the person had become inseparable. To preach "JESUS" was to preach the Gospel, the good news of salvation. St Peter and St John preached through Jesus, the resurrection from the dead. St Paul preached at Athens, Jesus and the Resurrection. St Phillip in the chariot of the Ethiopian eunuch, preached unto him Jesus. To preach Jesus is to point men to a Saviour, and the name has been a magnet to men and women, of different nationalities, and of different temperaments.

Catholics and Protestants find a meeting place in that Holy name. The Catholic St Bernard singing, "Jesu the very thought is sweet", meets that protestant John Newton singing with no less passionate a devotion, "How sweet the name of Jesus sounds". The name of Jesus and all it stands for, set on fire men so different from one another, as Wesley, Bunyan, Whitefield, St Ignatious, and St Francis. When St Joan of Arc was tied to the stake in the market place at Rouen, she was deserted by the king she had saved and by her friends, but there was one friend who was with her to the end, and of Him she thought as she gazed at the cross, which a rough soldier had given her at her request, when the smoke began to curl upwards, she lifted her head and gave a cry to Jesus. And there are many others who had cried out when the end had come "Blessed Jesus". And many sick folk too weary to say set prayers, have whispered the name "Jesus" and have been refreshed.

WHAT DOES THE HOLY NAME MEAN TO US?

Do we love it because it is the name that brings salvation? Is our character becoming like His? There is a promise that when the redeemed are gathered in the Heavenly city His name shall be on their foreheads. We were baptized into His name at the font, the name by which we are known to God (Christian) was given to us. It is the work of the Holy Spirit to reproduce the character of Jesus in us. Day by day and hour by hour the divine likeness is being formed within us, if we are living the life of grace, (SACRAMENTS). The progress may be hidden, but through temptation bravely met, through the daily oblation of our wills, through discipline, either in this world or in the next, God may see to be necessary for our perfection, the transfiguring process is going on. And when the work of grace is perfectly accomplished, the ineffaceable glory of that name into which we were baptized in weakness, will finally be shown in power. "His name shall be on their foreheads".

CONCLUSION

We can understand why true Christians have always loved, and why the Church bids us treat it with such reverence, the Holy name of Jesus. It should be our aim so to love and cherish this blessed name throughout our lives, that in the moment of death it may come readily to our lips, that we like many others may breath it forth with our parting sigh, and as a witness to our faith and a pledge to our everlasting happiness.

As the words of a very famous hymn go.

"Sweetest note in seraphs song,
Sweetest name on Mortal tongue,
Sweetest carol ever sung,
JESUS JESUS JESUS.

The Wireless Telegraphy Ordinance.

We learn that those who have not as yet paid their licence fees on their Radio receivers have again been reminded of the section of the ordinance which provides for a penalty of not exceeding £100, or six months imprisonment, and the confiscation of their sets. From which, it would appear that, the authorities are placing all the emphasis on ONE section of the ordinance instead of reading it and enforcing it as a WHOLE. Should it not be timely to remind those concerned of Section 4 Sub-section 3 of the ordinance which reads as follows:- "The station shall not be used in such a way as to cause interference with the working of other stations. In particular, valves must not be connected in such a manner as to be capable of causing the aerial to oscillate." As the Government has at its disposal ways and means of enforcing the section of the ordinance which has to do with licence fees, is it not fair to ask, what are they doing about enforcing the other sections which have to do with better radio reception? HEALTH BULLETIN No. 8.

The Value of Fruit.

Fruit in Stanley is expensive. A dozen pears, a dozen apples or a dozen oranges will cost you two or even three shillings. We may buy fruit merely because we like fruit but quite apart from this, fruit is important in the diet because of its Vitamin C content. If you look at your Vitamin Primer you will see what this vitamin does and that it occurs in fruit and vegetables. Vitamin C prevents scurvy and keeps the gums and teeth healthy.

If you saw a man pay two shillings for a dozen apples, get them and then throw nine of his apples in the street you would say he was mad. Let us see if you do not do much the same thing.

If you peel your apples then you may consider that you have thrown two of your apples away.

If you quarter your apples and let them stand in a hot kitchen you may consider that you have thrown away about two and a half apples.

If you peel and boil your apples for four minutes you may consider that you have wasted three apples.

If you bake your apples for an hour you may consider that you have thrown away nine apples.

Finally if you make your apples into pies serving them next day then you may consider that for your two shillings you have really received a single apple. Baten this way fruit becomes dear; don't you think?

The Value of Green Vegetables.

Patients often tell me they eat the yellow and green vegetables but upon enquiring into how it is eaten I almost always find that vegetables of this type have been boiled - with a pinch of baking soda thrown in to boot. Remember that boiled kale is no more valuable than boiled blotting paper as a source of Vitamin C.

Vitamin C despite its importance in good health is easily destroyed if exposed to the air, if exposed to prolonged heat or if exposed to alkalies like soda.

A salad of raw vegetables is the thing - every day!

The Value of Potatoes.

The potato offers quite a good source of Vitamin C but potatoes cooked without their skins lose much in the process. Steaming potatoes causes the least loss of Vitamin C of any method.

Remember too that potatoes like fruit, deteriorate in value by keeping. If we let the potato have a Vitamin C value of 25 when fresh, it will be found to have fallen to 20 by a month's storage, in three months the value has fallen to 14; in five months to 10; and in six months to nine.

Why Drink Milk?

Did you know that the quality of your teeth was decided before you were born? Dental quality depends largely on lime, laid down in the latter months of pregnancy. No amount of effort later on will counteract a lack of lime at that time.

Today we know how much lime a pregnant mother must receive in her diet to make teeth of good quality. Investigation in Norway, in America, and in England have shown that the average mother's diet isn't rich enough in lime. Today we also know that milk is the chief source of lime and that even if you drink a quart of milk each day additional lime must be secured from other sources as well.

Studies have shown that the babies of mothers who have taken less than a pint of milk daily, grow up to have teeth that do not resist decay.

There are many other important reasons why enough lime is important which we cannot explain here but I hope it will be realized why we teach at the pre-natal Clinic that the pregnant woman should drink at least a pint and a half of milk daily. This is not a fad, or one man's notion. It is based on experience and research.

Periodic Health Examinations

as of great value. In any large organization, smooth efficient profitable operation depends upon employees keeping fit. The management of such large organizations see to it that their employees get such an examination.

Insurance companies have found periodic health examinations to be of inestimable value in the case of diabetes, cancer, tuberculosis, heart failure and in many trivial and chronic sources of degenerative change. If a fraction of what is now spent in treatment were expended on education in health the results would surpass expectation.

It is hard pioneering work to make an undisciplined adult admit the necessity for any such examination but if it is of value in organized society why wouldn't it be worth while in your case?

LETTER FROM MR. MILLER.

s.s."Fitzroy",
15th August 1938.

To the editor,
Church Bulletin.

To Stds. 5. 6. & C.C. in particular and Government school children in general.

Dear Children,
The trip has been somewhat rough to date but at last it is possible to put something down in writing. First of all I must thank you all for the many presents you gave me and also for your rousing send off at the jetty. Its warmth made up for the peculiar manner in which staff drop away from the school. By the time you read this you will have been invited to a cinema show in my name. You will forget the picture, you will forget me so here is some good advice which you will never forget and, I hope, find very useful, as I have done on many occasions.

First, a North country saying which I have known all my life - "Care nowt for a man who cannot look you in the face." Secondly, our form master's advice to us on leaving for Colleges. "If ever you are in doubt as to whether it is right to do a thing, or not, ask yourself, 'would I like my parents to know of it' - and act accordingly"

Lastly, the advice given me by a wise, old Cheviot Shepherd when I told him I was going abroad. -Translated, he meant, "if dogs and children don't like a person, let that person be".

Read this. Learn this. Remember, your parents, the children, the eyes and the dogs.

I'm applying for a post about to occur in the Government School so I may see you all again in the near future. In any case, with all good wishes to you wherever you may go,

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
T.K.Miller.

The platoon shield has been won by H.Qrs for the first time since this trophy was presented for competition in 1932. In the deciding match they won by two points from No 2 Section A and several of the other finishes were as closely contested.

This season has brought out the best all round performance for the competition and several recruits and young members have been included in the teams and shown great promise. The credit for the best aggregate of two shoots during one evening goes to No 2 Section A with 1535 which is easily the best ever returned but last year No 3 platoon returned the record total of 777 for one match. The individual honours go to W Browning who scored a double possible twice and in the other match two 98's and is to be heartily congratulated on this splendid performance. No 1 Section fell away badly at the finish as two of their members failed to turn up for the last match and definitely left them with the "wooden spoon".

Plans for the Horticultural & Industrial Exhibition to be held in February next are now taking definite shape in the hands of a large and enterprising committee which has been divided into sub-committees who will deal with the two main sections.

At a meeting held last Monday, the special committees appointed submitted their recommendations in connection with the Schedule and these were adopted by the General Committee.

The question of the finance is to be considered by a special committee, and it is expected that the complete Schedule and Rules will be ready for circulation in about a week's time.

Every endeavour will be made to keep residents in Camp settlements advised of the Exhibition's affairs, and the committee hope to arrange for representatives at each settlement to receive correspondence and spread information.

The Town Hall will be in demand for social functions during Show Week and the committee are arranging for the use of the School Buildings for the purposes of the Exhibition.

The Schedule will contain some novel additions to the usual items in the Classes.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 17

Lord Horder said: "Hunger is not a safe guide to nutrition. Man may fill his stomach with food yet he may be undernourished. But he may be well nourished and still feel hungry".

You can fill your stomach with heaps of fancy cakes and other palate-tickling foods - and suffer the ill-health of malnutrition. Or you can eat simple foods - fresh fruit, potatoes cooked whole, a mutton chop, milk, cheese - and be healthy: so healthy in fact that you may still feel hungry - hungry and as fit as a fiddle.

WEDDING

McGill - Perry.

The wedding took place on Monday August 22nd of Mr Maurice McGill, second son of Mr W. McGill of Port Harriet, and Miss Kathleen Perry eldest daughter of Mr & Mrs G. Perry of the Ship Hotel Stanley.

The bride looked very attractive in a frock of white silk lace with a veil and coronet of orange blossom, and carried a bouquet of roses and ferns. She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss L. Perry and Miss M. Duffin who looked equally charming attired in pink and blue frocks of lace and net with caps to match, and carried horseshoes of flowers and silver leaves.

The Rev Fr. Drumm officiated.

A friend of the bridegroom, Mr E.J. McAtasney carried out the duties of best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Ship Hotel where many friends and relations assembled to drink the health of the happy couple, and to taste the four tier wedding cake made by Mr J.F. Summers.

We learn that the bride and groom will make their home at Weddell Island, and feel sure that our readers will join us in wishing the newly weds every happiness.

MEMORIAL OF DOCTOR

A memorial to an Aberdeen doctor has been unveiled at Belize, British Honduras, by the Governor.

Built in the main hospital building, it is a tribute to the late Dr John Innes Moir, son of the late Mr Alexander Moir and of Mrs Moir, 10 Kepplestone Avenue, Aberdeen.

He was only thirty-nine when death cut short what promised to be a brilliant career.

Dr Moir was a graduate of Aberdeen University, and worked in the City Hospital for three years before entering the Colonial service. He went to the Falkland Islands, and was later promoted senior medical officer at Belize, British Honduras.

There he contracted tetanus from a patient and died on September 23rd, 1936.

"Doctor Moir set us all an example by his hard work and devotion to duty, and let us not forget that he died in the execution of his duty as surely as any soldier who dies in battle," was the Governor's tribute when he unveiled the tablet. "He was a silent man who did his work without talking a great deal about it and he was a modest man who would have been greatly surprised to know how high an opinion we all held of him."

After the sounding of the Last Post a staff nurse laid a wreath below the tablet.

"MUTTON DINNERS"

Falkland Islander informs the Board of Education.

Below is a letter, written by Mr J.H.Bound, former resident of the Falkland Islands, to the Editor of the "Daily Herald", with regard to the Board of Education's statement on the conditions which a teacher might expect on coming to the Falklands.

"Under heading "Mutton Dinners for Three Years" ("Daily Herald", recently) the Board of Education's statement is misleading.

I am a Falkland Islander (but living in the United Kingdom for 3 years), and for the benefit of the women teachers I would like to say that they would find a beautiful school to teach in, comparing favourably with schools I have so far seen in England.

Chops, steaks, kidneys and bacon are not "practically unknown." All are plentiful, obviously, in a sheep and cattle rearing country. There are also plenty of birds. Wild geese are sold in Stanley at only 1/- each.

Teachers who go to the Falkland Islands will find food in variety, good social life, and sociable and kind people; and when their term of office expires they will be sorry to leave so many good friends behind.

LOCAL BROADCAST STATION

HEARD ABROAD

Mr Jack Walsh, owner and operator of an amateur radio broadcasting station, has received cards from various parts of the world telling him that his signals have been heard. The cards came from Germany, England and the United States of America.

Mr Walsh has been "mucking about" as he terms it with his hobby for the past four or five years. His son, who is a telegraph operator for the Canadian Government, when he was visiting his parents in the Falklands about four years ago, brought with him some equipment which started his father off on his hobby. It must have been a great thrill for Mr Walsh to receive the word that his messages had been received by people living so far away. We were amazed to learn from Mr Walsh just how cheaply an Amateur Radio broadcasting outfit can be obtained. We asked our friend how much he had spent on his outfit. He replied that he had not kept track of his outlay. We suggested the figure of £100, which brought the retort that it was a long way short of our extravagant estimate. This is a hobby that might well be taken up by other Falkland Islanders, which, as well as proving of great interest, will also serve to do away with the many libels which we see printed in the press of other countries, by showing that the Falklands are as up to date as any other part of the Empire.

FUNERAL
The Late James Cantlie

The funeral of the late James Cantlie, aged 19 took place at Goosegreen on Friday August 26th at 3 p.m. Mr D.M.Honeyman conducted the service. The two hymns sung were - "Abide with me" and "A few more years shall roll". The funeral was largely attended and many beautiful floral tributes received.

A service was held at the home of Mrs Cantlie in Stanley at the same hour of the funeral in Goosegreen, conducted by the Ministers of the Tabernacle. Although the service was of a quiet nature, many friends were present to show their respect, and to express their deep sympathy with Mrs Cantlie and family in their recent bereavement.

Mrs Cantlie and family wish to thank Mr Honeyman and all those who have been so kind at this time.

Miss Doris Eileen Etheridge who passed to her rest in Santiago, Chile recently was for some time a member of the Cathedral Choir. She was Confirmed and for many years a regular attendant. The late Miss Etheridge passed away in her 30th year. To part with a loved one at such an early age is indeed a most difficult load to bear, but for the Christian it is born much more readily in the knowledge that Our Lord is "The Resurrection and the Life" Who by His death has destroyed death and opened unto us the gate of everlasting life. Grant her O Lord, eternal rest and let light perpetual shine upon her.

WEEKLY SERMON

Text. Romans. 8 2. "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

The statement in this text is a statement of experience. It describes the victory which Christ has won. It emphasizes the fact that Christian living must mean the victory over sin. Before his conversion, the life of Saint Paul was dominated by sin. He fought against it, but to no purpose. Then another power took control. The spirit of our Lord possessed him, and he was set free from the power of sin. These two forces are in conflict in all of us, although we may not realize it except at some moments of crises when we have to make a choice.

1. SIN LIES AT THE ROOT of most of the trouble in the world and of our own life. Our Lord made it clear that the law of God is the law of love. Sin is anything in our life that opposes the spirit of love; Anything that hinders fellowship with God and with others; anything that brings the sense of shame when we look into the face of Christ. It begins as Christ showed us in our thought-life. Our desires and intentions may be sin, though they never break through into action. And sin works like some fell disease. It becomes a habit. It fixes us in ruts of self will that keep our life moving in God's way and the results are deadly. It numbs and hardens the heart. It destroys our sensitiveness to God's will. It degrades the feelings. And infects the world we live in. A spirit of selfishness or jealousy or offended pride in us can poison the air which others breath. Sin destroys fellowship. It arouses all kinds of evil reactions in others, it debases also the material world. We sin against our surroundings and they recoil by debasing us. The evil of the world, with its slums and poverty and war, is the fruit of it. But the root of it all is sin, producing death.

2. THE "VICTORY OF CHRIST is a victory over sin. One of our most urgent needs is to recover this truth.

The Christian song is a song of deliverance the offer of Christ is the offer of power over sin. A new power comes in - the spirit of life in Christ Jesus. Our weakness in Christian living often comes from the fact that we have failed to realize the possibility of this victory and to claim it in its fullness. We take sin in ourselves for granted, while we condemn it in others. Some kinds of sin are sometimes regarded as permissible and inevitable, even in a Christian man. We may abhor the grosser forms of sin. But we allow ourselves to be overcome by pride or animosity or jealousy, or those resentments against one another that break fellowship in many a home and many a Church. Many things which we imagine are our afflictions may be sins. So may the self-consciousness that keeps us from taking a bold stand, or the self pity that keeps us sunk in some sorrow craving for sympathy, instead of forgetting ourselves in the needs of others. All these are sins because they keep us from fellowship with God and our fellows.

3. THE MESSAGE OF VICTORY is very clear. "He that is born of God does not commit sin." The first effect of the new life is deliverance from these sins. The victory is not only possible. It is the step into a new life. And the key to the fullness of life in Christ can be found in facing honestly definite sins in His light and refusing to let ourselves off. The secret of new life is not merely new ideas. These are important. But the real road lies in facing what is definitely wrong in our lives. We need not fear to be honest with ourselves, however staggering be the revelation of the light. For the light of Christ is love. He has come to cleanse us from ALL iniquity the deliverance is ours in Him. He has won it for us. We have only to see our need of it and then claim it. We cannot possess it in any other way than as a gift. "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life."

IMMIGRATION LAWS

Most persons will remember the Immigration (Restrictions) Ordinance of 1936 which regulates the entry of persons who are not natives of the Colony or permanently domiciled here. The primary reasons for the introduction of this legislation were undoubtedly economic - to prevent the influx of labour from overseas which was considered to be aggravating the unemployment problem in the Falklands. Similar laws exist in practically every country in the world and in most cases far more stringent regulations are applied to immigrants.

We in this Colony, are more concerned with such regulations now existent in the countries with which we have immediate communication - Argentine, Uruguay and Chile, and all these states have very elaborate and detailed legislation to control movements of foreigners, with special exceptions for tourists. Because in the past these laws have not always been rigidly enforced in the case of passenger traffic from Stanley it must not be imagined that we are in any way exempted from them under any special dispensation. The recent trend of political events and the refugee problem has resulted in the general 'tightening up' of all immigration laws and in future the papers of all travellers will be subject to careful scrutiny when landing in foreign ports irrespective of the country of origin.

The definition of a tourist varies considerably, but generally speaking it is applied to persons who do not intend to attempt to obtain employment in the country and have ready means (usually in the form of a transit or return ticket) to take them out again within a specified period - usually limited to one or two months. A tourist must not rely on being able to explain his position verbally but must be in possession of documents in the form recognised by the State which he proposes to visit.

All persons who contemplate visiting foreign countries should take steps to ensure that they have the all-important "papers" well before the sailing date of the steamer as such documents cannot be obtained in a few hours. In the case of travellers who land whilst in transit it is generally sufficient for them to produce a 'Through Ticket' for a passage by another vessel leaving within a few days. An instance of this is the present arrangements at Montevideo for passengers from the Falklands for the United Kingdom - as long as definite evidence of the onward booking is produced no difficulty is experienced in passing through the Uruguayan Capital.

On Thursday September 1st, a large crowd gathered in the Town Hall at a dance given by the Falkland Islands Defence Force Rifle Club. The occasion was to mark the end of another season for the Rifle Club, and to present the prizes won during the season.

Major Marshall, Commanding Officer, in a short address, previous to the presentation of awards by His Excellency the Governor, reminded those present that the occasion marked the successful completion of another year for the F.I.D.F.R.C. He also mentioned that, the efforts of a few would be "Hall marked" by the reception of a trophy, and wished to pay tribute to all the members of the Club who were responsible for its success.

The Major then, on behalf of the members of the Rifle Club expressed thanks to His Excellency for his presence and asked him to present the awards.

Before presenting the prizes, His Excellency made a few introductory remarks, during the course of which he stressed the importance of rifle shooting, but hoped it would never be necessary to use it for any other purpose than as a sport. The Governor also spoke of his great pleasure at being present at Bisley last year to witness the winning of the Junior McKinnon Cup by the team from the Falkland Islands, and said "Falkland Island 'Shots' could well be depended upon to hold their own in competition with any part of the Empire." Referring to the Defence Force in general, His Excellency paid tribute to Major Marshall and pointed out how very fortunate they were in having such a man as Commanding Officer. His Excellency concluded by expressing the wish that a few more would join the colours.

Those receiving awards were as follows:-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley,
September 6th 1938.

To the Editor.

Sir,

I, like most of your readers have read the various articles which have been published, entitled milestones to health.

What has appeared in these writings may be right, or may be wrong, I do not know, and not being a Doctor of Medicine, or a Doctor of Science, I am certainly not able to criticize these articles, but I must say, that in course of a fairly long life, I have observed what Doctors of one generation assert the Doctors of another contradict.

But there are other things which prevent a man being in A1 health, beside mal-nutrition. It is a known fact, that if a man has not a tranquil mind, his body will not be in the health it should be. Worry and anxiety, we are told killed a cat, and I am certain it has killed many human beings.

Some will say, "Why worry?". Those who say that, should endeavour to live in this Christian Colony, and bring up a family on £2-12-6d per week. They will then see where the worry comes in. £2-12-6d per week, is I believe, somewhere about £10-10-0 per month. From that the ordinary working man, has to take £3-0-0 per month for rent, leaving the sum of £7-10-0 to provide food and clothing, for his wife and perhaps 3 or 4 children and then remember his expenses for carting peat etc.

With a very careful wife (and thank God there are many amongst the Falkland Island wives, who are careful) a man may just keep his head above waters of debt, but if sickness comes, or work ceases, then a man is submerged in debt for years.

No, Sir, the wages of this Colony cannot be called a living wage, but could be more aptly termed an existing wage and until they are raised to a true living wage, where by the working men can live in decency and comfort; the worry and anxiety will remain, and all the lessons on how and what to eat will be in vain, for a man living on the present wage, has to buy in the cheapest market.

I hope Sir, that you will not think I am trying to belittle the efforts of those who are endeavouring to improve the health of the people of this Colony, but the first step should be to improve the position of the workers, for where the contented mind is, the good health will follow.

I am Sir,
Your obedient servant,
"Salus"

THINGS WE SHOULD LIVE TO KNOW

1. Is there anything being done to stop the radio interference caused by cars. When will we be free from the shrieks which come along with the news caused by other sets oscillating?
- =====

We understand that telegraphic inquiries have been made in London, and that equipment for the detection of these interferences will be purchased by the Government.

MEMORIAL TO HIS LATE MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

PLAYING FIELD FOR CHILDREN.

Members of the Public will no doubt remember the moving address made by the Prime Minister on the 3rd of June, 1936, on the subject of the institution throughout the United Kingdom of Playing Fields for Children in memory of our late beloved Sovereign, King George the Vth.

The institution of these Playing Fields has now been taken up in most if not all Colonies as a memorial of this nature has no doubt been considered most suitable.

A Committee was appointed locally some two years ago for the purpose of recommending a site and of raising the necessary funds in order that a memorial of this nature might be established in this Colony.

Endeavours on the part of the Committee to obtain a suitable site had up to a month or so ago failed but on the 21st of July, 1938, His Excellency the Governor suggested the plot of land known as the "Old Schools Green". The Committee were unanimously agreed that the site suggested would be the most suitable for the purpose and the work of putting the Playing Field in order was proceeded with almost immediately.

The amount collected for the Fund to date amounts to £282 but the establishment of the Field together with the necessary playground apparatus, including ornamental gates, etc., is estimated to cost some £1,000.

It will undoubtedly be the wish of all citizens of the Falkland Islands that we here should take our share in testifying in the measure within our means to our devotion to the memory of King George V and the Committee now make a strong appeal for the assistance of the general public for subscriptions towards defraying the cost of a playing field which the children of the Colony will always have as their own as a Memorial to the King.

In order that every person in Stanley may have an opportunity of supporting the Fund a subscription list will be circulated throughout the town.

The Honorary Treasurer, Mr. A. Newing, will also be pleased to receive any donations towards the Fund.

WILL PEPPER REPLACE GOLD ?

The Editor of the American Exporter recently soliloquised on the subject of Gold being dug out of a hole in South Africa and put into another hole in Kentucky - the vaults of Uncle Sam's Treasury.

Among other things he said are :-

"Frankly I do not know or understand why France has been forced off gold, while Germany continues to run with virtually no gold at all.

The situation is such a muddle that I would not be surprised if History were to repeat itself and pepper again become a measure of wealth

Don't laugh . . . Its nothing to sneeze about. It really is true that pepper once ranked with gold as a measure of wealth. For many years in ancient days rents and taxes were paid in pepper."

Just imagine what would happen if our local printed paper money were suddenly to become unavailable. Sheepskins and wool bales would have to be used for money instead, and if you tendered a bale of wool for payment of your radio licence, tenement tax, water rate and electric lighting bill, you would probably get the change in sheepskins

LOCAL FOOTBALL

A return match between Government employees and the Rest was played in Government House paddock on Sunday last resulting in a win for the former by 4 goals to 2. "Government" thus avenged their defeat of the previous weekend. The game was marred by a strong westerly wind and difficulty was experienced in keeping the ball under control. At half time the Rest lead by 2 goals but after the change of ends were unable to penetrate their opponents' defence which was very sound. Very noticeable in the play was the lack of understanding between the inside forwards, the majority of their passes going to their own wing men only. 'Playing the ball' instead of the man might also be a good policy for several players to note.

The teams were -

GOVERNMENT. Reive; Bound and Grierson; Grant, Fuhlen-dorff and Wallen; King R., King V., Robinson, Pearson and Hardy P.

THE REST Johnston; Hannaford and Cletheroe A; Jones Miller and Shackel; Clifton C., Williams Creece, Sedgwick and Dettleff.

We understand a series of games between Probables and Possibles is being arranged with a view to choosing a Stanley XI for the forthcoming visit of the Navy. It is hoped that the first XI will be given as many opportunities to play together as time now permits.

NUTRITION BOARD.

MILESTONE 18.

"A Bundle of Habits"

This is a definition of man - unflattering but none the less true. When any attempt is made to influence his eating habits there is trouble. We all know how much we hate being put on a diet when we are ill.

How much more do we hate being told what we ought or ought not to eat when we are well! There is only one solution - diplomacy. Let us be tactful with ourselves. Let us see what things are recommended as being good for us, and then let us see how much or how little our ordinary diet differs from that suggested. The more closely this new diet resembles our present food habits the more likely we are to try to stick to it. Below is a short list of nutritious foundation foods. Give nutrition a chance. See what your present diet lacks in foundation foods, and see if a slight alteration won't make a great improvement in the value of your food to yourself:

- (1) Milk. As much as possible.
- { 2} Eggs. One or more.
- { 3} Meat or Fish.
- (4) Whole grain wheat (such as brown bread) or cereal.
- (5) Green or yellow vegetables besides potatoes.
- (6) Orange juice or tomato juice or uncooked fruit or vegetable.

NAZI COUP FAILS IN CHILE.

On Monday 5th Sept. the City of Santiago, Capital of Chile, was rudely shocked by an attempt made by the partisans of ex-Dictator Ibanez, to obtain control of the Government.

Lately a considerable Nazi (or as they call them in Chile, Naci) party has been brought into existence, composed mainly of the descendants of German settlers and others whose political opinions incline to the 'totalitarian' state.

They know they have no hope of gaining the next Presidential elections, so on Monday they endeavoured to gain control by a coup d'etat. They took possession of the University building, and also of several floors of the Workmen's Assurance building (which is eleven storeys high) and from there commenced rifle firing on the Government offices, while Ibanez and his henchmen were visiting the military barracks with a view to enlisting the army on their side.

The Chilian Government had, however, been forewarned of the impending rising, and with a few carabiniers and the assistance of some artillerymen they had the situation under control within 3 hours.

But Santiago residents must have spent an anxious time while the centre of the city was the scene of rifle, machine-gun and a certain amount of artillery gun-fire - a cannon having to be brought into play so as to destroy the entrance door to the University.

SHIPPING NOTICE

s.s. "Lafonia" left Montevideo on Sunday night, 4th September, and is expected to arrive at Stanley on Thursday night, 8th September or Friday morning, 9th September.

It is not expected that she will come alongside a jetty; jetty permits will therefore not be issued, unless later information is received that it is her intention to come alongside.

THE TABERNACLE NIGHT-SCHOOL

The Tabernacle Night-School closed on Wednesday 7th September. The School in charge of the Rev. W.F. McWhan opened on the 13th of April, and has been held twice weekly. Twenty-six names were on the Roll. The School was divided into Junior and Senior Sections. Practice in English and Arithmetic was given. Each evening's work concluded with a General Knowledge Test. The Monday Night Illustrated Geographical Talks were of advantage to those attending Night-School. An Examination was held for both sections, last week.

DEATH NOTICES

Emma Jennings.

We regret to record the death of Mrs Emma Jennings, beloved wife of Mr Jennings of Stanley. Death occurred on Sunday September 4th in the King Edward Memorial Hospital, after a long illness of four months. The late Mrs Jennings was 69 years of age. She came to the Falkland Islands as cook for Mr Matthews, Manager of the Falkland Islands Company, and was married to Mr Jennings 34 years. Mrs Jennings is survived by her husband, two sons, one in Stanley and the other in England, and one daughter in America. The late Mrs Jennings came to Stanley from the Company's camp 13 years ago. We extend our deepest sympathy to Mr Jennings and family in their bereavement.

The funeral took place on Tuesday September 6th from the Tabernacle, the Rev W.F. McWhan conducting the services. Two hymns were sung - "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages".

Mr Jennings and family expressed a desire to thank Dr Kinnard, the Matron and the rest of the hospital staff, who have all been so kind to his late wife during her long stay in hospital.

Doris Eileen Etheridge.

Many will be shocked to hear of the apparent sudden passing, in Santiago, Chile, of Miss Doris Eileen Etheridge, formerly of Stanley. We understand Miss Etheridge underwent an operation about three weeks ago and following the operation was doing very well. The late Miss Etheridge was in her 30th year, she left Stanley for the coast some four or five years ago. She was home last March to visit her mother and brothers and sisters. Those left to mourn are - Her Mother, four brothers and five sisters. One of her sisters resides in Santiago and it is some comfort to her mother to feel that she was there at the time of Doris's passing. We feel that our readers will join us in expressing our deepest sympathy with Mrs Etheridge and family.

Text. Isaiah 6. 1-9. "I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple."

VISION.

The Prophet Isaiah, like the Evangelist St. John, finds our finite human language insufficient adequately to describe the infinite beauty, glory and majesty of the Most High God as he was vouchsafed a vision of him; yet by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, he, like St John, is able to convey to us something of that glory which he was privileged to see; and the account he gives cannot but thrill the soul, if only because in our best moments of spiritual exaltation, and aspiration, there comes to most of us something of a like experience. "I saw the Lord", he cries with a mixture of awe and exaltation. And is it not possible for every devout soul in some measure to "see the Lord"? Some such vision, some experience of this kind, is within the reach of us all. Sometimes it is through nature itself that he vouchsafes to us something of his glory and beauty. Stand on a hill at sunrise or sunset, and look up at the measureless distance above you on a cloudless day or a starlit night. Look, and wonder at the eternal miracle of spring, the loveliness of flowers, the contour of a sea or landscape, and in all these things "see the Lord" whose glory and beauty and power are reflected in them. Better still in some temple of God where, "The Presence is conveyed through the medium of the sacrament of the Holy Communion, where we seek him where he may be found and call upon him while he is near, and in your spirit behold him high and lifted up, yet infinitely condescending and close. At such times of quiet devotion or at the offering of the Holy Sacrifice when the Church on earth joins that of Heaven and the great song of the worshipping Seraphim, "Holy, Holy, Holy," echoes through all the universe and men and angels are united in one act of praise and adoration; surely at such times as these the devout soul looking back can say with Isaiah. "I saw the Lord".

Worship must ever be the first inevitable impelling result of any vision of God and the continuous attitude of mind set up in those who "see him" - an attitude which is maintained not only when taking part in the Church's corporate acts of worship but in all the ways of common life.

The next cry that comes from the prophet is one of humble dismay, "Woe is me because I am a man of unclean lips and dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips; and I have seen the Lord in his glory." This is in the next result of the vision, for in seeing the perfection of God, the soul perceives and acknowledges its own unworthiness. But God, having brought the soul to its knees in worship and penitence, does not leave it there in ineptitude or despair.

"Then flew one of the Seraphims unto me having a live coal in his hand which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar, and he touched my mouth and said, 'This has touched you and thine iniquity is pardoned and thy sin purged.'", "THIS"--- the waters of Baptism, the stream of the cleansing Blood of Christ from Calvary, the Food of Angels, the Bread of Heaven, what are these but coals of fire kindled with the burning charity of the Sacred Heart of Our Lord, brought us from and through the altar of the cross that our unworthiness may be put away and our iniquity pardoned. Then to the heart that longs to make some sacrifice and to do some service comes the amazing offer of Almighty God, "Whom shall we send and who will go for us? And the human soul, afire with the charity of God, forgetting itself at last, cries, "Here am I, send me."

Here then is the last result of the vision, the desire to serve, to take part in ever so small a way with our striving saviour in the salvation of mankind. "Go tell his people." What shall we tell them? How shall we say it? We must tell others what God has wrought in our own souls, what only he can bring about in the souls of all men; a new vision, a new hope, a new object in this life, a great destiny in the future--above all, God's love and God's mercy, and the futility of trying to live in this world apart from and without reference to his fundamental law of charity. How shall we say it? Much more by what we are, than what we say in our daily life, as we rub shoulders with other folk in the workshops and playgrounds of the world, striving to live our common life as he lived amongst us and showed us the way. So men may take knowledge of us that we have been with Jesus, and that Jesus wills to be with them.

STANLEY MOTOR LEAGUE,

The Stanley Motor League met in the Church Hall, Tuesday September 13th. The Business consisted of the reading of the minutes and the various correspondence dealing with the condition of roads etc. The discussion of the Licence regulations took place. It seemed to be the general opinion of the meeting that these regulations might well be brought in conformity with those prevailing in the United Kingdom. They would like to see - 1. Operators able to buy a licence which would be good for one year from the date of purchase. As the law now stands, those people who brought cars out from England on the "Lafonia", if they want to run their cars now will have to pay for the whole of 1938, whereas, if they wait until the end of September they will only have to pay for three months.

BIRTH

On August 3rd at Asford, Middlesex, to Audrey, wife of Reg H. Basley, a daughter.

LITTLE OLD LADY

BY
LUCILLE W. ALLISON

Mrs Blanchard had been a widow for over forty years. Of her three children, the first died in infancy; the second, a girl, contracted an improvident marriage and passed away before she was twenty; the third, Albert, emigrated to South America in search of a fortune. After sending one or two letters home in the early part of his career, he forgot all about his old mother in England.

Apart from the Old Age pension, Mrs Blanchard had no means of support. She was in her seventy-second year. In a tumble-down old cottage she lived alone and managed to eke out an existence. Of neighbours she had none. The cottage was down a lane off a winding road, and the nearest house was half a mile away.

The district was a poor one, but poor though it was, there were people with kind hearts who would leave vegetables at her door, or put them through the gate. She did not often know from whom they came. She kept a few chickens, and when she sold the eggs, she put the money into a little terra-cotta bowl. Her frail figure, dressed in shabby black, was well known all along the road which led to St Stephen's church. As you got nearer and nearer to St Stephen's, the road widened, and there were good-class houses on both sides, with corner shops here and there.

Mrs Blanchard could only afford to live in the little cottage, and so, Sunday by Sunday, she tramped over three miles to church and back. Once a month she went to Holy Communion at eight o'clock in the morning, winter and summer. She had been doing this for more years than she cared to remember.

"There's the little old lady," people would say, as she passed along.

She was well known to the milkman, the paper boys and the policeman. They all greeted her with "Morning Ma." To each she would always bow, almost curtsey, and smile her good morning. In the first of the better-class houses lived a Mr and Mrs Redford and their son, Sidney. They attended St Stephen's church, and Sidney was confirmed there. But the ceremony took place four years ago, and he was now twenty-one.

Sidney liked a walk before breakfast on Sunday morning.

It was at breakfast one Sunday morning that Sidney said, "I wonder who that old lady is that comes down the road every Sunday morning at the same time."

"Every Sunday morning?" asked Mrs Redford.

"Well, perhaps not every Sunday morning, but I often see her just before eight o'clock trudging along the road."

One wet morning he saw her coming down the road. "I'll see where she goes," he said to himself.

It was slow going for a young man; once or twice the old lady stopped for a rest. Sidney stopped too. Then he followed, and when he saw her enter the church he went in also.

Inside the church he began to ask himself when he was last at Holy Communion. It was a long time ago. He remembered how that for a year after his confirmation he had gone to the early service almost every Sunday. Well, if a feeble old lady like this one could get to church so frequently, after a tiring walk, so could he.

One morning, some months later, he came out of the church with Mrs Blanchard and decided to speak to her.

"I've often seen you passing our house," he began. "You are very regular. Don't you find the walk very tiring?"

"Sometimes," she admitted. "But I would not miss my Holy Communion once a month for worlds."

"We want another church here, don't we?"

"Yes, we do; and I'm saving up for one," said the old lady.

Sidney smiled. "Good!" he said. "Here's a half-crown. Put that towards a few bricks, will you?"

Mrs Blanchard beamed on him. "Thank you," she said. "It is very kind of you, I'm sure."

When Sidney reached home, he told his parents all about it.

"We do want another church at the other end of district," said Mr Redford. "I will see what can be done in the matter."

He was true to his word. He wrote to several friends for subscriptions. He put a little box on the sitting-room mantelpiece, marked, "For the New Church." He had a large circle of friends, and they all fell under the spell. At the end of a year, he had collected in cheques and cash put into the little box, over £150.

They made friends with Mrs Blanchard, and invited her to their house. The old lady was very proud to tell them that she had saved seventeen shillings, and put them into the little terra-cotta bowl. She gazed around as one who could scarcely place reliance upon her ears when they told her that they had collected over £150!

At the suggestion of the vicar of St Stephen's a small committee was formed which included Mrs Blanchard. A number of handbills were printed and circulated all round the district, and a meeting was convened to discuss the question of a temporary church to meet the needs of those living a long way from St Stephen's.

Meanwhile, Mrs Blanchard continued to trudge along to the church. She often found the walk too much for her.

One Sunday she collapsed! The occupants of a passing car ran to her assistance. That morning Mrs Blanchard had her first ride in a car - her first ride home from church. But that was not all that happened.

The owner of the car drove her to her cottage and learnt all about the scheme for the new church. The next day the committee received a cheque for fifty pounds.

There is now a little church within a few minutes' walk of the cottage where Mrs Blanchard lives. The little old lady herself laid the foundation stone.

Tins have rolled edges to prevent cuts, and the easily removable lids and the base of the tins are also rolled to protect the polished surfaces it stands on. At the back is the 2-lb. pail with its convenient handle . . . when pressed down on one side it lifts the lid. As you can see, when empty it is suitable for a kiddies' seaside bucket.

FOR THE HANDS

"Chemico" removes nicotine and iodine stains from the hands leaving them white and smooth. Use it too after working in garden or garage. It also removes tobacco stains on dental plates without scratching or injury. Use it too for removing photographic developer stains in the dark room.

CLEAN THROUGH THE HOME

Just one small test will convince you that "Chemico" Bath and Household Cleanser is different and better. With a damp cloth and a little "Chemico", rub an old coin or a piece of tarnished electro plate or Chromium. Note how speedily the grime and dirt is removed. Note also the absence of scratches. "Chemico" cleans more thoroughly but never causes damage.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

Although only formed last year the Douglas Station "Coronation" Small Bore Club have produced some good shots and continue to show all round improvement. Last week H.H. Biggs scored the first possible for his Club and we hope many more will follow. Last year a postal match between Douglas and the Defence Force B Teams was held which resulted in a win for the latter. This year two matches have been shot under postal conditions and each team won one.

Nutrition and Dental Decay.

On Friday evening September the 2nd and again on September the 9th the Senior Medical Officer broadcast a talk which dealt with the relation of nutrition to dental decay. He gave several examples to show that dental decay is seldom seen among primitive people and that it has been observed to be prevalent only where a so called "civilized diet" is consumed. He went on to point out that our near neighbours in Tristan da Cunha who live under somewhat similar climatic conditions but are even more cut off than we are, suffer very little from dental caries. When these same people migrate to South Africa and get away from the island diet they develop dental caries.

Modern civilized man lives on highly processed foods and pure chemicals such as white flour, polished rice, highly milled oat meal and cane sugar. Ancient peoples knew none of these things.

In his talks the doctor again referred to the foundation or protective foods: Milk, Meat, cheese, eggs, potatoes, green vegetables and fresh fruit, and the energy producing or supplementary foods, flour and sugar.

He showed how the consumption of sugar had risen from the time of its introduction into Europe until today in the United Kingdom people were consuming little short of a hundred pounds of sugar per head per year and that here in the Falklands we were very little behind them having brought into the Colony last year 75 tons or over 60 pounds per head of the population. Whole meal flour was very little used anywhere and while no one advocated abandoning white bread we should understand that it lacked certain essential minerals and vitamins which brown bread supplied and which were necessary to good health.

There was no diet which would guarantee perfect teeth any more than there was one which would guarantee perfect health but what he had said would indicate certain wrong trends in our modern dietary and how they could be corrected.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 19

Vitamins now play an important part even in the training of dogs for greyhound racing. The first prize of £2000 for the greyhound "Derby" was won by a dog which is reported to have been fed on (among other things) beef extract and halibut oil. Halibut liver oil is one of the most potent sources of Vitamins.

Human beings need not go to such extremes excepting in the case of sickness, but every day and in every way the importance of Vitamins is realized in other parts of the world: we in the Falklands must follow suit or suffer the consequences.

Seek food with adequate Vitamin content and you will enjoy GOOD HEALTH, without which you cannot have HAPPINESS and CONTENTMENT.

The Late Frederick Newman.

We deeply regret to record the death of Frederick Newman, in his 86th year. The late Mr Newman was the oldest man in Stanley. He came to the Falklands from Portsmouth in the year 1881, and was married to a Miss Hollen of the Falklands. Death came to Mr Newman after a long illness which lasted for ten months. Mrs Newman died about this time last year.

Mr Newman's first work was on the West Falkland and he has since spent the greater part of his life on the East Falklands. Before coming to the Falklands, Mr Newman was in the Navy and served for a time on the "Challenger," doing Admiralty surveys.

The Late Mr Newman had a long and very interesting career, the details of which will be published next week.

The Funeral took place from the Tabernacle on Saturday September 10th.

Those left to mourn are - 9 Children, 31 grandchildren and 21 great grandchildren.

The family wish to thank, Dr Cowan, Mrs McMullen, Mrs Watts and Mrs Ches Skilling and others for their kindness and sympathy.

C. A. R. D. O F T H A N K S.

Mr Jennings wishes to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to all for their kindness and sympathy during his recent bereavement.

Text. 1.Timothy 6-7. "We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out."

Our Only Enduring Possession.

The text occurs is a passage relating to that Christian temper which refuses to attach more than their proper value to temporal possessions. It is obvious, says the writer, that we all came into this world empty-handed; and we are to understand that it was thus ordered by God so that we might sometimes look back to the condition of our arrival and then look forward to our departure, and consider that, when our time comes we shall go forth from the world portionless once more. It is plainly implied that there are two distinct worlds, and we are to reflect that we have to do with both of them. This present world is apt to claim us and to press upon us to such an extent that we are tempted to regard it as the only world with which we have to reckon. But the scripture says that we come in, and again we go out. The full story of our life is not bounded, therefore, by our birth and death. Birth is more than an emergence of a new life on earth. That other world is somehow concerned in it, in such a sense that we may be said to have come from that world. Death, again, is more than the unprofitable conclusion of the life we have lived upon earth. It is to be viewed as a departure, a return, a going home, to the world from which we came out.

1. DIVERSITY OF EQUIPMENT. Consider the equipment with which we come and go. "We brought nothing into this world and it is certain we can carry nothing out." But the writer is concerned at the moment with worldly possessions, and does not in the least desire to persuade us that we enter the world and leave it again as creatures destitute of gifts and lacking in all capacity. On the contrary, he plainly means that in coming and going our status is that of a spirit, and that spiritual capacity in some sort is necessarily present. The new-born child brings no addition to the parent's worldly store; but, what is of far greater importance, he brings an addition to the spiritual resources of the human family. By virtue of the fact that he is a child of God, a created spirit, he comes into the world with latent powers which represent a new possibility of service to God and man, or, alternatively, an added hindrance and offence. There is great diversity of equipments both in the range of powers which are bestowed and in the maximum degree of their possible development; but always we come from God with gifts for use, and always, thank God, there are those whose hopes for the world are quickened by our advent.

2. WHEN THE END OF LIFE'S JOURNEY IS REACHED, we take with us some of our possessions, but we carry out what we have become by the exercise, right or wrong, of the powers that belonged to our original equipment. What we have gained of knowledge and wisdom goes with us. The moral strength that was slowly added to us by long and strenuous battling with the wrong - that, too, goes over. The love that has grown through the years by the repeated performance of kindly and, sometimes, perhaps, costly service, and by reason of suffering bravely shared - that belongs to us forever. And so with all the good things that make up Christian Character. If, on the other hand, we have lived as cowards, we shall carry out a craven spirit full of apprehension. If we have cultivated an evil temper, an ugly and defiant spirit, if we have lived grossly and impurely, if we have practised dishonesty and have lived with a lie in our soul, these things will most surely be recorded within us, and we shall carry them over - to judgment. "We brought nothing into this world." True; and yet we came with gifts that told of God's hope for us. "and it is certain we can carry nothing out" True; and yet we shall take with us that which determines our weal or woe for all eternity.

3. THE POSSESSIONS WE CARRY OUT when we leave the world, though they are not drawn from the store of things which the world holds, are yet acquired in our passage through it, by means of the handling and temporary appropriation of those things. We must not, however, suppose that this world is a mere exercising ground for spirits which are essentially alien to it. The incarnation and its consequences forbid us to think thus. It is, on the contrary, destined to be brought into a lasting concord with the spirit world by a process of redemption in which each of us is called to act as an instrument of the power of the risen Lord. By the use we make of the things of this world we are not only forming the character which is the sum total of the possessions we shall carry away, but we are also promoting, or delaying, that adoption of the creation which was triumphantly initiated by our Lord's Resurrection and is being perfected by him through the ages in a continuing process of judgment.

4. WALK AS CHILDREN OF LIGHT. The world is modified by our passage through it. We leave our mark upon it when we depart. The effects of our life are recorded in the lives of other men, in the face of nature, and in the very substance of the physical order of which our bodies have formed a part - as well as in the state of our souls. By every thought and action we are now assisting to declare the sacramental significance of the setting of this present life, or we are darkening the skies and intensifying the earthiness of earth, to the hindrance of our fellows and the obstruction, vain though it be, of the divine purpose. Let us endeavour, then, with greater earnestness and desire, to walk as children of light, believing that we came forth from God with a high responsibility laid upon us, and possessed of the capacity for discharging it. Let us rejoice and be very thankful; as we go upon our pilgrim way, "for the redemption of the world by our Lord Jesus Christ, for the means of grace and for the hope of glory," And let us prosper with unceasing watchfulness the maturing of that character which is to prove our only enduring possession.

HATS OFF to NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN

Mr Neville Chamberlain has given repeated proofs of his industry, level-headedness and statesmanship. He has capped all his previous achievements by lifting the gloom from not only Europe, but the World.

The few simple Anglo-Saxon words which he spoke on his return from his visit to Herr Hitler deserve to be framed and exhibited in every public place, as an example to all verbose, prolix and long-winded politicians - trouble-mongers, place-seekers and insincere opportunists.

"I have come back - sooner than I expected - a trip which I would have thoroughly enjoyed - had I not been so preoccupied --

-- It was a frank talk - and it was a friendly one -- thus he spoke, and thus he lifted the gloom.

Mr Chamberlain comes from a level-headed family of business men. Before his father, the much revered Joe Chamberlain entered politics, he manufactured and sold screws. The family still maintain a very large interest in the making of screws. Bright practical bits of metal that are needed and used all over the world, and the Chamberlains and their associates have seen to it that they can be obtained everywhere in reliable quality and at economical prices.

Academic principles, visionary ideologies, pomp and splendour, do not enter into the lives of such men as the Chamberlains. They are concerned with practical matters only. And if it can be done, even in the face of the many conflicting interests urged by less level-headed politicians, both in Britain and the Continent, Chamberlain is the man to give us Peace - Peace and Prosperity - instead of

CARNAGE and RUIN.

A REMARKABLE VOYAGE

Blown out to Sea for Three Months

Mr Fred Newman who died a few days ago was the oldest man in Stanley at the time of his death. Both Mr & Mrs Newman, who predeceased him about a year ago outlived the majority of their children. During the late Mr Newman's long life the greater part of which he spent in the Falklands, he had many interesting experiences the most momentous being his enforced voyage to Montevideo the circumstances we reproduce from the pages of the Falkland Island magazine of the year 1900.

"The late Mr Newman and his family left Teal Inlet where he had been working for some years on Sunday, the 5th of May 1900. The cutter "Shamrock" of Stanley had gone out to bring them and their furniture back to Stanley, but Newman had built a boat in his spare time and wished therefore to sail her in, the distance being some 35 or 40 miles, his boat's dimensions being 26 ft 7 ins long by 8 ft 2 ins broad and 3 ft 6 ins deep.

Taking his little son of 9 years with him he started off before the "Shamrock" but which afterwards passed him off the Volunteer Rocks, and as they did so hailed him to know was he alright or should they stand by, or tow him in. As he seemed quite satisfied they left him, and went on to Stanley which they reached alright. Sunday night was wild enough but Newman kept on his course as he also did all Monday. On Monday night one of the fiercest gales of the year blew. So hard did it blow in fact that the "Fortuna" which had started for Hill Cove had to put back into Port William.

On Tuesday morning Newman found that he had been blown away off the land and could only just see the lighthouse at Cape Pembroke and which was now away to the west of him. Putting the vessel about he endeavoured to get back, but was unable to do so, and to add to his difficulties some of his gear carried away, so that he could not hoist his sails. He was now in a bad way. Fortunately he was well victualled for the short cruise he expected. Of meat, he had a small quantity cooked, a whole dead sheep, and a young pig cut up in salt. His wife had cooked him a fair amount of bread and he had some flour. Tea he had also, but this eventually had to supply the place of tobacco and his means of cooking was very scanty. The water he brought lasted them twenty-one days. But what proved to be best of all was a large quantity of swede turnips and raw potatoes which in consequence of his moving he had taken up out of his garden at Teal Inlet and was bringing them in for his family's use. These proved to be his best friends for though his water was soon exhausted their natural moisture was sufficient to alleviate their pangs of thirst whilst the tubers themselves gave them enough nourishment for subsistence.

For sixty-two days did he sail about, and during that time they only twice sighted a vessel and each time were too far off to be seen. For a long time his only thought was to get back to the Falklands. In his vain attempts to do so he went much farther south than the Islands and found himself once in the middle of a school of whales. Then the winds took him north of his home and realising by the higher temperature that this was so, he resolved to make for the coast. For five days he sailed westward and then sighted land and got to within quite a short distance of it. Then the wind fell away, and they tried to work the boat in with the oars. But the tide and currents were too strong for him, and once more, the wind rose and carried him out to sea again.

About this time there was a great fall of rain, and so he got a supply of water. Then, for six days more he sailed about trying to reach the coast again, which on the last day (July 6th) he was within easy reach of, when, looking under the sail he saw a steamer coming up. Hauling up a piece of black cloth as a signal of distress, and holding up his little boy in his arms, Newman did his best to attract the attention of those on board. Quickly she drew near to investigate the strange object which they had seen for about two hours and soon, Newman and his son and their boat were all on board.

The steamer proved to be the Argentine transport "Guardia Nacional" bound for Buenos Aires. Here she took them, where they were treated with the greatest kindness and shown much attention.

Everyone was much excited at their wonderful escape and their photographs were taken and shown on the cinematograph in the places of amusement. A collection amounting to 146.50, dollars was made for them. The boy was taken to Government House and presented to President Roca who very kindly made him a present of 25 dollars. They were both of course much done up after their long cruise and suffered especially from their limbs swelling. For a time before they were picked up the boy was particularly poorly. Strange to say the "Guardia Nacional" which picked them up had also on board twenty-nine sailors belonging to the English ship "Dumbarton Castle" which had been wrecked on 20th May, and who joined her at Staten Island (Tierra del Fuego). With regard to the boat which had carried them so safely Newman was obliged to sell it in Buenos Aires as it would have entailed a great deal of trouble and expense bringing it back to Stanley.

HOME NEWS IN BRIEF

The main items of news from home all have to do with the situation in Czechoslovakia. Four of the leading members of the British Cabinet have been very busy men these last few days - The Prime Minister, the Foreign Secretary, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the Home Secretary.

Representatives of British and French Governments met in London and discussed the situation in Czechoslovakia and finally agreed upon a solution, which meant the giving back to Germany the places with a predominantly German population. If this is acceptable to the Czech Government, then war for the time being at least will have been avoided.

LOCAL FOOTBALL.

The first of a series of games between Probables and Possibles was played on Sunday last, resulting in a win for the former by the margin of 5 - 2. Kicking off with a strong wind at their backs the Possibles were 2 goals ahead within twenty minutes, scored by R.King and Atkins. They continued to attack strongly in the first half without any addition to their score. The Probables levelled the score through Jones and Sedgwick and after the change of ends went ahead with a hat trick by Miller. Towards the close they had their opponents almost entirely on the defensive. Their win would have been even greater but for some good 'keeping' by C.Reive. For the Possibles Grierson was outstanding.

George Bond Paice.

We regret to announce the death of George Bond Paice who passed away at the home of his sister Mrs Braxton Snr, on Sunday September 18th in his 64th year. The late Mr Paice was the second son of the late Nathaniel Paice. He was born at Old Basingstoke on September 3rd 1875, and came to the Falklands as a small child with his parents. His first place of residence was at Port Howard on the West Falklands. The late Mr Paice spent the most of his life on the West Falklands. He had only three months ago retired on a pension from Chartres, where he had spent the last thirty-one years. He was married to Marion, the eldest daughter of the late Mr. Binnie, his wife predeceased him about 11 years ago. The deceased is survived by one son, who is at Fox Bay, one daughter Mrs Etheridge of the Green Hill, Chartres, two brothers and four sisters, and four grandchildren.

The funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral on Tuesday September 20th. It was a Stanley Benefit Club Funeral, the deceased having been a member for a great many years. The Pall Bearers, representing the Club were - Ernest Dixon, William Berntsen, Edwin Hutchinson and Stanley Cletheroe. Former work mates on the West Falklands - Reg Grant, Urnie Aldridge, Alex Shackle, and Fred Browning.

CARD OF THANKS

The brothers and sisters of the late George Paice wish to express their sincere thanks to Dr Cowan, for his kindness and attention, and to all the many friends who assisted during the illness and Funeral of their brother. They also wish to express their thanks for the many floral tributes.

Text. Daniel VII-17 "At the time of the end shall be the vision"

T H E B A C K W A R D L O O K .

There is comfort as well as pain in looking back. Climbing in the hills, the road often winds through some valley, or under overhanging slopes. We can see little around us, and in front only the next step or two. We wonder why the road should twist this way and that. But when at last we reach the top the whole prospect breaks on our view. We realize it was all worth while, and looking back we can see the meaning of that devious way.

1. THE BACKWARD LOOK MAKES THINGS CLEAR. Many things in life only become clear when we look back. Few great men have been heroes to their own generation. Even Jesus to some of his contemporaries was but the son of a Nazareth carpenter. But, looking back, the world sees their greatness shining clear. It is often the same with people we love. We do not fully appreciate our friends till they are gone. Their very nearness hides them. Little casual things, some defects of manner or habit, obscure our view and prejudice our minds. But as we look back with eyes that sorrow has cleansed we see them as they are. The mists of misunderstanding, the dust of friction are gone. The love and patience, the grace of kindness that were in them all the time, stand clear. Perhaps we feel that there is little comfort in this fact. The truth has come too late. Yet there is comfort. For a love once realized, even though it be through death, becomes an abiding possession. The impression thus fixed even through pain abides for ever. And surely when we meet on the other side our fellowship will begin afresh undimmed by earthly shadows.

2. THE COMPLETED PURPOSE OF GOD. We shall find comfort, too, when one day we look back on the completed purpose of God. Our faith, as we walk in the world, is that this earth is the stage of God's purpose. It is often difficult to trace His workings. The mind gets fogged in the difficulties round us. It is here that the Bible helps us. For part of its value is to show him at work through a long stretch of time. We get a bird's eye view of that purpose moving like a river through the landscape of time, often obstructed, sometimes hidden or sinking underground. But it always reappears again, never defeated, never lost. We must not forget, as we look at the world around us, that God's plan in it is only half finished. It is like a house in process of building. How little of the plan can be seen in that masonry hidden amid scaffolding and the dust and grime of the creative toil. So it is with the world in the making. One day we shall look back and thank God for a purpose that was too big to be completed here, or even understood, and too wonderful to be fulfilled in our comfort or our convenience.

3. THE BACKWARD LOOK REBUKES OUR FEARS. We should take this comfort to ourselves in our own personal lives. Even now, as we look through the years, the backward look rebukes our fears. How often in the past have we carried anxieties which we now see to be needless. How often we have been sunk in the fear of things which never happened, - and even when they did had no real power to hurt us. Life lived with God is a constant rebuke to worry. One of the deepest words of St Paul is that, "experience worketh hope". The more we walk with him, and look back, the more we realize that he is to be trusted to the uttermost. Surely when all is over, when the long day is over, we shall see and be satisfied. We need this comfort above all in our work and service. The duty of the moment often obscures our view and brings a sense of futility. It often looks fruitless. Efforts seem wasted, energy spent in vain. We long for immediate returns and spectacular results. But the fruit of the soul takes time to ripen, and more time to gather. Think of the amazing way in which

- - - - -

Gentlemen, - "Half a peanut can supply the physical energy for an hour of adult mental work." This sentence opens a chapter on "Diet and Mentality" in a book of nearly four hundred pages before me. (Man, Bread and Destiny. By C.C.Furnas, Associate Professor of Chemical Engineering, Yale University, and S.M.Furnas, Formerly Instructor in Nutrition, University of Minnesota. Cassell, 10/6d). I can neither confirm or question the statement, never having tried this lavish intellectual diet. A peanut, the nearest dictionary tells me, is "a plant whose fruit is a pod containing seed used as a food and containing oil." This definition might have satisfied Mr Podsnap; to me it conveys little. However, the authors (husband and wife) quickly drop the peanut and remark that there is no such thing as a specific brain food which can increase anyone's mental stature above the level determined by parentage. This I understand, though it seems to leave the mental statures of Socrates and Mr Bernard Shaw as mysterious as ever. Neither statement quiets my suspicion that dieticians know too much and prove too little.

NOT SYNONYMOUS

The word Diet has now a great semi-medical vogue. It seems that an ever-increasing number of people "diet" to live, and live to "diet". Do they remember that diet is simply a regimen of food? Food is what we eat to maintain life; diet is what we are told to eat if we would have life more abundantly, or differently. Yet FOOD remains the bigger word. It has spiritual as well as corporeal significance: we speak of food for thought, food for meditation, even the food of love. "Diet" is seldom or never promoted to the abstract world. It has, indeed, no original connection with food - else had the Diet of Worms been the jest of history. A diet-book meant a journal or diary and, by association, an assembly or congress summoned for a particular date, and thus by further extension a Parliament. Finally "diet" came to mean prescribed food as distinct from - food. Shakespeare, in half-a-dozen words, separates the two. When Speed is convicting Valentine of being in love with Sylvia he finds proofs of it in Valentine's distraught behaviour, one of these being a loss of normal appetite that makes him "fast, like one who takes diet." And to-day the dietetician's common requirement is a reduction in the intake of food.

A BIGGER LARDER

The authors suggest, and they have the Evolutionists on their side, that Man became Man when he became a flesh-eater, when he began to have "a bit of meat with his sprouts." His appetite grew by what it fed on. The animal-man became a less dainty eater than his brother apes and gorillas as he rose above them in intelligence and enterprise. The first chapter of this comprehensive survey, entitled "The Savage Brute," is not pretty reading. Those earliest men had no sense of table manners. The authors say bluntly:-

There was something superior about our putrid meat and offal-eating ancestors; they were obnoxiously willing to forgo most of the niceties in answering the call of the stomach. Thus they were able to tide over the lean years when the mastodons perished. No other animal has adapted itself quite so well.

Admittedly man cannot match the individual digestive feats of a goat, an ostrich, or even a horse, but he can and does exist on a much wider variety of foods than these worthy animals, and hence can live on almost any part of the globe. In the Arctic he is carnivorous, in the tropics nearly herbivorous, and in the temperate zone omnivorous. Hence he proceeded to take up residence where any living thing could be found and has existed by the rules of Jack Spratt and his spouse. With this adaptability came versatility, and with versatility came advancement - at least we think it is.

That flick of cynicism in the last sentence is characteristic. The authors are not faddists or fanatics. They can devote their longest chapter, detailed and instructive, to the Vitamins and yet in a later one write impartially, "The vitamin ballyhoo has been to the good, although it is sometimes extremely enlightening to see in what substances vitamins are found by advertisers." Quite so.

VITAMIN A

The more I read about Vitamins the more I seem to have been on intimate terms with them all my life without knowing it. An interesting table in the Appendix of this volume sets forth the functions and best sources to the vitamins. Thus Vitamin A (the series runs to G) is "necessary for" Growth: Prevention of eye disorders: Resistance to infection in respiratory tract: Longevity: Fertility: Lactation: Nervous stability. A very useful vitamin, but where to find it? Well, you can hardly miss it, seeing that, apart from halibut oil and cod liver oil, it is abundant in - Carrots: Spinach: Tomatoes: Butter: Egg yolk: Whole milk: Cream: Liver: Turnip tops: Mustard greens. I should suppose, from this list, that Vitamin A comes to most people without being called. Growth and longevity are promoted by Vitamins A, C, and G, or in plain English, by such foods (call them not diet) as yeast, whole grain cereals, peas, beans, asparagus, oranges, grape fruit, kidney, beef, prunes, etc. I am interested to see that strawberries promote longevity and that roast beer (under Vitamin G) can be recommended for the prevention of pellagra, which my dictionary tells me is a "disease frequent in Lombardy, marked by cracking of skin and often ending in insanity." Such discoveries incline me to old Montaigne's opinion: "As to the usage of eating, it is in us - as in the animals - natural, and without instruction."

PROTEIN AND PROTOPLASM

But instruction is in the air. It is as though one had to pass an examination before sitting down to dinner. The most blessed and comforting of Diet words is perhaps "protein", which comes from the Greek verb meaning to take first place. "Proteins represent the stream of life. They make up the vital part of that essential jelly material of the living cell - the protoplasm. The beginning of life on this and perhaps a few other fortunate planets must have been associated with the formation of proteins." That is why it is so important that your grandmother should know how to suck eggs. The white of an egg is almost pure protein. Eggs apart, the old lady should know that what are called "complete" proteins are found in casein and lactalbumin of milk, glycinin of soy beans, excelsin of Brazil nut, edestin, and wheat glutenin and corn glutenin of the cereal grains. Then there are the minerals. Our bodies must not run short of calcium, phosphorus, iron, copper, or iodine. Fortunately, we do not have to go prospecting for them; there is calcium in spinach, phosphorus in chocolate, iron in potatoes, copper in peas, and iodine in shrimps, and diet merchants have discovered that there is money in them all. In their amusing chapter, "Gullible's Travels," the authors quote this example of American food philosophy:-

Know your chemical type so that you may be aware of the food that blends with your chemical-analysis.

The calcium man is the pioneer. He is the builder, fighter, and executive, the type of man who can accomplish much and say little.

The sulphur woman is a beautiful creature of moods.

The phosphorus man or woman is delicate, refined, high minded and cultured, with a pear-shaped face and wistful eyes.

The hydrogen men rise to high position, while hydrogen women are quiet and cool, but have fiery tempers.

The human organism is no "beggarly account of empty boxes," but is it so chemical as all that?

FOOD AND LATER

The relation between food and mental efficiency cannot, I imagine, be stated in more than very general terms. It is supposed that fish feed the brain and the authors admit that there may be something in it, though fish do not seem to be as brainy as they might be. Yet "brains are relatively high in phosphorus and so are fish; hence fish should make brains." Yet this is described as "pseudo-logic," analogous to the primitive belief that a man acquires the characteristics of the animals (sometimes including his human enemies) that he ate. Indians devoured venison to get swiftness, and avoided the rabbit lest they should acquire its timidity. The authors point out that the meat-eating lion is less fierce and ready to attack than the African buffalo and elephant, strict vegetarians. "Ferocious conduct thrives as well on hay as on bloody flesh..... If ruthlessness and brutality are your aim in life don't waste your time eating raw meat - merely cultivate some brutal companions." It is in vain to seek for rules, but I think there is much truth in the remark that "if the diet is properly balanced it is possible to remain mentally efficient on a much smaller amount of food than is ordinarily used." A Roman poet said: "Learn how little is necessary to sustain life, and what amount of food nature requires." Spare eating makes for clear thinking.

I am gentlemen,
Yours faithfully,
JOHN O' LONDON.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

A and B teams from Probables and Possibles met on Sunday last in good weather. Although the game was not as one sided as the score might suggest, A team deservedly won by 6 goals to 2. Their forwards and halfs combined well - the inside trio of the forward line gave their opponents defence plenty of work. Reive in A's goal played another excellent game.

TOUCH LINE.

HOME NEWS IN BRIEF

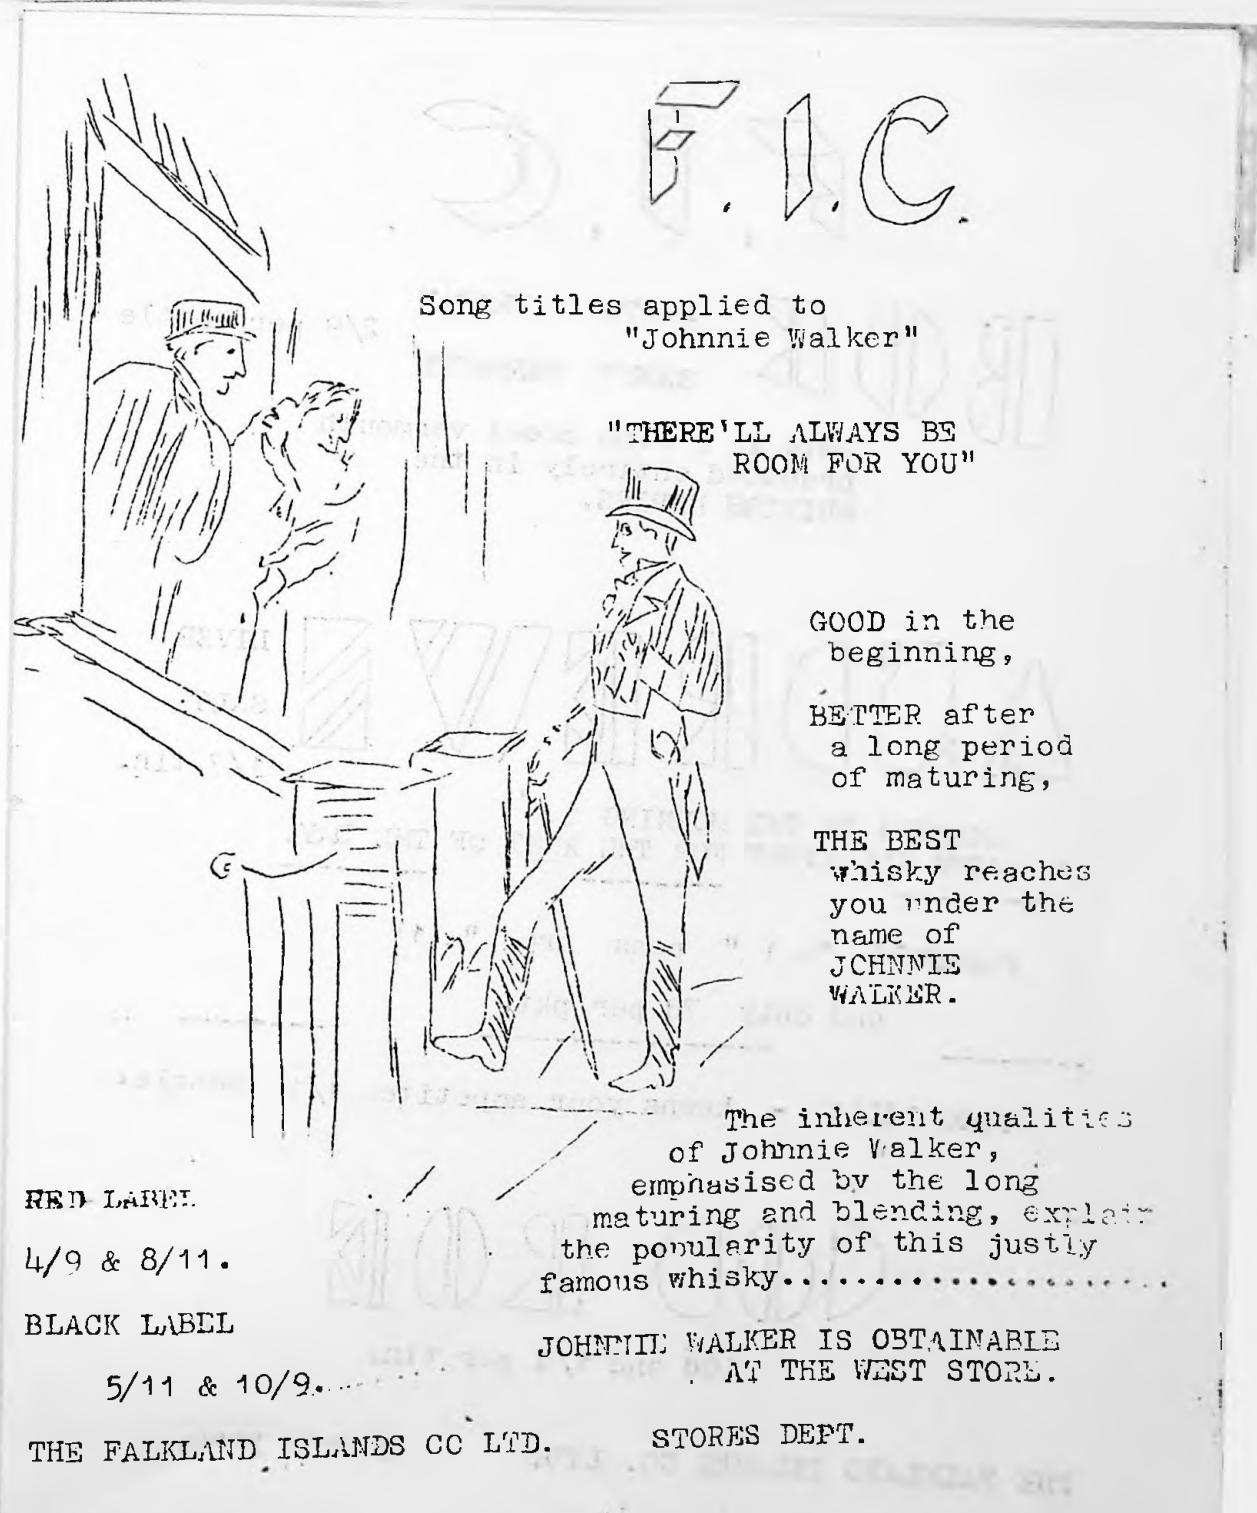

1. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, at the Launching of the new Liner "Queen Elizabeth", read a message from the King who, due to the International situation was unable to leave London. The Queen said, "He bids the people of this country to be of good cheer in spite of the dark clouds hanging over them, and, indeed over the whole world. He knows well that as ever before in critical times, they will keep cool heads and brave hearts. He knows too, they will place entire confidence in their leaders who, under God's providence are striving to their utmost to find a just and peaceful solution of the grave problems which confront them at this time."

2. Tuesday afternoon, the world's largest liner, built in John Brown's yard at the Clydebank was named "Queen Elizabeth" by her Majesty the Queen and launched amid the cheers of 300,000 spectators. In the course of her address the Queen said "The very sight of this great ship brings home to us, how essential it is for the welfare of man, that the arts of peaceful industry should continue." The Queen also said. "It is indeed most fitting that the noblest vessel ever built in Britain, and built with the help of her Government and people, should be dedicated to the service crossing the Atlantic to the United States. I am happy to think that our two nations are today more closely linked than ever before by common traditions of freedom and a common faith.

The GLOOM DESCENDS AGAIN because One Man is Intoxicated with POWER-----

After November 1918 the peoples of the British Empire had every reason to believe that, in spite of the many racial and nationalistic problems that a 'Treaty of Versailles' could not possibly completely solve, the so-called civilized world would have realized definitely that WAR as a means of settling disputes, was an out of date and highly unsatisfactory procedure, and the British Empire has all along led the way towards better understanding and PEACE among the Nations.

But in spite of everything two figures have arisen in Europe, first Benito Mussolini and shortly afterwards Adolf Hitler, who have taken WAR, AGRESSION, and the MAILED FIST as part and parcel of humanity's very existence.

Mussolini has earned the gratitude of the Italian people and the admiration of the world, for the manner in which he has completely altered the ordinary Italian's conception of life and work, but not satisfied with these magnificent achievements in the plane of human progress, he has become a modern War god - we smiled at his pretences which could harm no one, until he made his pacts with Adolf Hitler.

Hitler's achievements in Germany are more political than otherwise. The German nation had been noted for its culture, civilization and progress for many years before Hitler was ever born, but the results of having lost the 1914/18 struggle, were economic insufficiency and political desintegration. Hitler, when he gave up being a house painter's assistant, had no idea that he would eventually rise to become a Dictator over 80,000,000 Germans. In his early days he only narrowly escaped being executed for his political activities. His success as a politician has been really phenomenal, but as the head of the Great German Nation, misleading it into another WAR, he is making the biggest blunder of the 20th Century.

He is banking on the peaceableness of the British Empire. He is making the mistake of confounding peaceableness with cowardice. He will find that if the leaders of the Empire decide to call a halt to Hitler's bounces, every man (aye, and every woman too) within the British Commonwealth of Nations will know their place and how to pull their weight and whatever the sacrifices that a new World War may entail, they will be gladly made.

Even in the Falkland Islands the boys are quietly polishing their rifles.

SIGNS OF THE MONTH

ABROAD: This month appears to mark the most critical point in international relationships, the chart containing very disquieting signs. Russia will take a vital step which will alter the shape of European policies and if war is averted it will only be by a miracle. The one hopeful feature about the entire period is the growing link between Britain and U.S.A. and we shall find the latter once more ready to intervene in the role of peacemaker in Europe. But at a price! And that price will be a heavy one for the warmakers of the Continent.

AT HOME: In this country there will, naturally, be a good deal of tension in consequence of the general situation and the Stock Exchange will be very nervous. British trade does not appear to be much affected, taken as a whole, but the Government meets with severe opposition both in the House and from the public and will have much difficulty in handling the situation. Parliamentarians of note will be making some fiery speeches on the subject and it may well cause a big rift across the parties. Agitation of some kind will be a strong feature of the month, political factions adopting the tactics of direct action once again and tending to ignore agreements.

As the Bonner Memorial Window in the Cathedral has been broken recently by stone throwing, parents are most earnestly requested to see that their children refrain from playing with stones near these windows.

These memorial windows are not only very costly to repair but have a great deal of sentiment attached to them. If the practice of trying to throw stones through the protective wire in front of these windows continues, we shall have to prosecute the parents of the offending children, as it will be remembered that, parents are financially responsible for damage done by their children.

WEEKLY SERMON.

Text. Ephesians 6. 10. "Be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might."

THE RITE OF CONFIRMATION.

There are numbers of things connected with the Church and its services which Churchpeople see, do, and acquiesce in quite mechanically, and take for granted, because they have been brought up amidst them and grown accustomed to them, but for which they would be puzzled to give a good reason to an objector, not because they are good reasons, but because they do not know them.

1. A STRENGTHENING. What is Confirmation? It is a strengthening. It is not anything that you do, but something that is done to and for you, and wrought in you. It is God's gift to you, like the grace that is given in Baptism? Baptism had made us in our infancy children of God: but when we grow older we begin to enter on a world of duties which have not been felt before. To meet these duties - duties to ourselves, duties to others, duties to God - we need special help. And this is what Confirmation gives; first, in and by itself; and further, as being the gateway; the condition of approach, to the Altar and the Sacrament of Christ's Body and Blood, which are the necessary food of the soul, the highest strengthening spiritual nourishment which Christ Himself supplies. Confirmation is an assurance of active gifts of grace, various helps from the One Spirit - the spirit of wisdom, the spirit of strength, the spirit of holy fear - meeting our own efforts and assisting them with power from on high. Confirmation reminds us strongly that Baptism is only a beginning, a new birth, and that the new spiritual life then imparted calls for daily support and nourishment.

2. NOT A NEW BURDEN, BUT A NEW BLESSING. Confirmation is not a new burden, but a new blessing. And this is true for all, whether younger or older. It is not a new responsibility, but a strengthening to meet already existing responsibilities. The burden and the responsibility are always there, whether we are confirmed or not: surely it is only a very foolish or a very thoughtless person who refuses help when it is offered. We are all of us, young as well as old, full of weaknesses, frailties, infirmities, ignorances; and Confirmation gives us the promise of such fresh strength and guidance as we need continually as time goes on. Our Confirmation points us back to our Baptism. Each rite helps us to see what we were always made to be and meant to be, and enables us to live more and more in accordance with our best, our ideal in God's sight and intention. Children of Christian parents in a Christian land have been surrounded from infancy by good influences of which they are for the most part unconscious. By degrees these influences come more and more into notice, and at Confirmation we are called upon to recognise them fully, and to embrace them with a hearty welcome, and give God thanks for them, and make them the rule of our thoughts, our words, and our actions. This is implied in the "ratifying and confirming" the vows made in our names. But what we receive in Confirmation is far more than what we give. We declare our hearty concurrence in the declaration of our Sponsors at our Baptism about our true position, and its obligations, in the world of grace; and that is much.

3. THE GIFT OF THE SPIRIT. But it is very much more to receive Confirmation from God, strength from on high, a new spiritual ability and capability to "do all things through Christ empowering" us. A very large part of our misdeeds comes simply from weakness - the frailty of our mortal nature whereby we cannot always stand upright. We are in danger of being led astray by the bad example or fear of the opinion of others: that is the voice of the world. We are in danger of being led astray by the unrestrained impulses and desires of our own lower nature: that is the voice of the flesh. We are in danger of being led astray by the pride and rebelliousness of our will:

that is the voice of the evil one. And the help that we need for passing safely through these dangers and for turning those temptations into occasions of stronger and truer life, can only be obtained through God's Holy Spirit, which is the special gift in Confirmation.

Here's a tip from any two lips over which Johnnie Walker has passed:-

"All over Scotland fine whiskies are maturing year by year, waiting to give, when skilfully blended, that roundness and harmony which has always been a distinctive feature of Johnnie Walker.

To-day especially it is worth asking for Johnnie Walker by name, not only for the age of the whiskies that fill the famous square bottle, but also because of the skill of the blender."

HOME NEWS

1. Lord Baldwin in the House of Lords

In his maiden speech in the House of Lords, Earl Baldwin while taking part in the debate on the Munich agreements paid a warm tribute to the Prime Minister for his conduct of recent negotiations to ensure peace. Earl Baldwin said "When he took the decision to go to Berchtesgaden, there was nothing else on earth he could have done. I thank God he was able to do it. I do not think there is another man in this country who could have brought about what he has brought about, or could have done what he did when he got into those discussions in Germany. It is action for which his country owes him much" Lord Baldwin went on to attack the doctrine of inevitable war, and said, "war is never inevitable." He recalled the scene in the House of Commons last Wednesday, when he sat in the gallery next to the Foreign Secretary and listened to the Prime Minister's speech. Lord Baldwin said, "I do not believe there was any thought by anyone present but that war was inevitable. Prayer has been ascending night and day, not only in this country but in other countries, and no answer had come. Then, in the middle of the speech, the Foreign Secretary was handed a telegram which he showed to me. It was the answer, the answer to the Prime Minister's Appeal. It was just as if the finger of God had drawn a rainbow once more across the sky and had ratified again His covenant with the children of men."

A Dance at Douglas Station.

The spacious dining room of the Cook House festooned with flags and garlands presented a very happy and cheerful appearance, when people of Douglas Station entertained their friends from Salvador, Teal Inlet, and Rincon Grande to two night's dancing on Friday and Saturday the 23rd and 24th of September.

Dancing commenced at 9 p.m. on Friday night with vigour and that atmosphere of joviality and good fellowship attainable only at a camp dance and continued with unabated energy until 4.30 a.m. The music, as supplied by Mr A. Anderson, with his piano accordion supported by harmonicas and various string instruments ably conducted by Mr T. Clifton, was of such an appealing rythm. that those who couldn't dance, wanted to, and those who could dance, had to. The floor was literally packed with happy couples the whole evening. A long and varied programme of dances was arranged including most of the old timers, as the "Nine Pins," "Lancers," "Prince Charlie," Sally Water," etc. And that old favourite (Very popular with most men) "The Whisky Dance" was a great success and retained its popularity to the end.

During the evening Mrs Noble kindly presented the prizes to the successful members of the Coronation Miniature Rifle Club, each winner being greeted with vociferous cheering and hand clapping. Whilst refreshments were being served several of the local artistes entertained the company with songs, Mr R. McRay was a huge success with his rendering of "Cockles and Mussels".

Dancing recommenced on Saturday night at 9 p.m. with fervour and energy that surpassed the previous night and continued until 5.30 a.m. when the whole assembly joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne," terminating with "God Save the King."

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION?

From a canvass of a few local residents we have obtained the following views of the International Situation.

1. Camper - "It looks to me like a case of let go for a fresh hold."
2. Business Man - "I think they gave Hitler a little too much."
3. Farmer "I don't like it very much. I think after the second conference France and Britain should have made a firm stand and stuck to it."
4. Tradesman - "I think there will be a revolution in Germany before very long."
5. Foreman - "Now that the trouble and tension is somewhat eased, some people are finding fault, they were all in favour of the plan when they heard that war had been at least postponed."
6. Shop Keeper "I am very thankful that war has been averted, as the Munich agreements were much the same as had been previously agreed upon by the Cabinet, there was not much point in wasting precious time consulting the Cabinet."
7. Editor - "Peace has been obtained by the sacrifice of a great Christian Nation, and let us hope and pray that the Sacrifice will not be in vain."

Some time ago the Nutrition Board published a Milestone recommending the use of Spinach and at the same time asking for information about its cultivation in the Falkland Islands. The following letter has been received and is published for general information:

Dear Sir,

I see by one of your milestones that you are interested in the growing of spinach in this country.

I have grown it for a good many years with the idea of getting some greens at the time of the year when they are least plentiful, i.e. in the spring, and so I have always grown the kind recommended for winter and spring use, namely Prickly or Perpetual (Suttons).

I plant my seed between Xmas and New Year and transplant thinnings when large enough, say roughly two months later, leaving about 12 inches between the plants and 15 ins. between the rows. I always thin out the seedlings to about 2 ins. as soon as they are through the ground. I find ordinary garden soil quite suitable and make no special preparation.

I find that spinach treated in this way comes in for use from about the middle of Oct. till well into Dec., after which it is not worth keeping as the plant by then consists mostly of seed stems and few leaves. If the early part of the winter is mild some of this spinach can be used in say May and early June, but it is better in the spring if growth in the autumn is not too prolonged.

The worst of this vegetable is that it is very inclined to bolt (go to seed) in the spring, but even when this happens there is still a fair supply of leaves, but they are smaller and take longer to pick.

Although I find the very end of Dec. a suitable time for planting seed, I think that it is very likely that in some parts of the F.I.s. it would be better to plant later, as things do not go ahead so quickly at North Arm as in many other places.

I have never attempted to grow the ordinary spinach for summer use, as at the time that it would be fit for use, I always have an abundance of other green vegetables.

Hoping that this account may be of some use to you,
I am

yours faithfully,

(Sgd) B. Elliot.

WINNER OF GRAMAPHONE & RECORDS

The Raffle for the Gramaphone and records drawn on Saturday October 1st was won by Mr Walter Watson with ticket number 13.

THINGS WE SHOULD LIKE TO KNOW.

Have rules 9 and 10 of the Stanley Sports Association been cancelled?

The rules are :-

9. The Annual General Meeting shall be held as soon after the 31st March as is convenient, but in no case later than the 30th June each year. At least one week's notice of the Annual General Meeting shall be posted publicly.

The following business shall be transacted :-

- (a) Accounts.
 - (b) Executive Committee's Report on the year's work.
 - (c) Chairman's remarks.
 - (d) Election of new members.
 - (e) Election of Officers for the year.
 - (f) Arrangement of the next Race Meeting.
 - (g) Appointment of sub-Committees.
 - (h) Appointment of two Auditors for the year.
 - (i) Other business.

10. An Extraordinary General Meeting shall be called at any time at the request of the Executive Committee or upon the request of any four members of the Association, and as much notice as possible of such meeting shall be published by the Honorary Secretaries.

Nine members shall form a quorum at an Extra-ordinary General Meeting.

From the above rules it will be seen that a General Meeting should have been held not later than June 30th of this year. It is obviously unconstitutional to have delayed the meeting for so long, especially in view of the fact that this year is looked forward to by many as something above the ordinary, as it is hoped that the sports will be held in conjunction with the Stock and Horticultural Shows in February.

We have consulted the members of last year's committee, and they are unanimous, with the exception of the Secretary, that they were willing to have the General Meeting at the proper time, and were most desirous of having the Meeting. They feel they have no authority to make plans on their own for next year's sports as they were only elected for the one year.

The reason given by the Secretary for not being in favour of a meeting thus far, is that the Chairman is not at present in the Colony, and other important members have not yet returned from leave. It is only fair to point out that there is present in Stanley last year's Vice Chairman. So that, from a legal point of view the meeting ought to have been held in June at the very latest.

John Cranmer Betts.

We regret to announce the death of John Cranmer Betts which occurred in the King Edward Memorial Hospital in his 80th year. The deceased had been a patient for about three weeks, but had been in failing health for the past 8 months.

The late Mr Betts was a native Falkland Islander having been born on Kepple Island in the year 1858. He was the first baby born after the Island was taken over by the mission. The deceased was married to Ann Elizabeth Kiddle who died in November 1935. The late Mr Betts started on Kepple Island as a shepherd and rose to the position of manager which post he held from 1885 until 1927.

Those left to mourn are, two sons, two daughters, ten grand sons; two granddaughters, and two great grandchildren.

The funeral took place on Saturday October 1st from the Cathedral and was largely attended.

C A R D O F T H A N K S

The Family of the late John Cranmer Betts wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to the Doctors, Matron and staff of the Hospital, also to all who expressed their sympathy. They also wish to thank the many friends who sent floral tributes at the time of their recent bereavement.

HYMNS for Sunday October the 16th.

18th Sunday after Trinity.

Morning - 3 - 197 - 263.

Evening - 271 - 209 - 290 - 30

"Commit thy way unto the Lord," says the Psalmist, "and put thy trust in him; and He shall bring it to pass." "When ye pray," says our Lord, that is, when ye commit your way to God, "say, Father." In this instruction, and in the consideration of Him who gave it, lies the whole secret of Christian prayer. Man must have a "way" to commit unto the Lord in prayer. He must have a hold in his mind of some scheme of things, however simply held. He must know why he is here, and under what authority, and what is the purpose and goal of his labours. And when he applies himself to his daily work he is to commit his business earnestly to his creator, believing that he will be justified by him, and that his labour will not be in vain. All that is pre-christian but it is not sub-christian. It leads on to the Christian Gospel and to Christian prayer. As a Christian a man is left in no doubt about his place in the world and his relation to God and the purpose of his work. He understands that he is the son of God, living and labouring under the shelter of a Father's providence and love; that he is a brother in a great family, and that the Father's mercy is over all; that One Who is a unique Son among sons was opposed to the evil that works unceasingly for their undoing, and has redeemed them from its power; that by virtue of this victory there is assurance for him and for all men that, if they abide loyally in the love of the Father, all things will be found to work together for their eternal good.

1. THE LARGE TRUTH OF THE MATTER is that the things that belong to his present life are all of them important, but that their importance consists not in themselves but in the relation they bear to the things that are eternal. If we lose sight of that relationship, we may prosper beyond our expectations; but the leanness will enter into our souls, if we are careful to observe it, life will be added unto us. God seeks our understanding love; and He builds his kingdom of the sincere desires of our souls, on the faithful prayers we offer to Him in connection with all the details of our own and of our neighbour's lives. No detail is too insignificant for prayer; no great need is too presumptuous to lay before Him. Out of all the prayers that go up to Him from His children He fashions His opportunities for bestowing more good upon them, and for bringing them further on their way.

2. THE DIGNITY OF CHRISTIAN PRAYER. When the work of intercession becomes bewildering and imposes too great a strain upon us and demands time that may not be spared, as sometimes it will, then let us remember that there is another great way of prayer to which we may apply ourselves. When there are very many matters to consider, to weigh and relate, to unify and present, and we begin to faint under the burden, let us put the mass of details on one side for a time, and turn from the use of our own poor words to the use of the Church's collects. If we have seemed to grow petty and presumptuous in our petitioning of God. These will quickly restore us to a sense of the dignity of the office of one who lifts up his hands in the sanctuary of God.

3. THE PRAYER OF INTENTION. From much speaking and detailed intercession, whereby we beseech God on behalf of men and causes, we have passed in thought to those brief summary prayers with which the Church has so generously provided us. There is a further step in intercessory prayer, which we shall use. This is the prayer of intention. We desire that men shall be fed, that they shall find work, and receive the due reward of their work, that mourners shall be comforted, that war shall be abolished, that the divided Church shall be re-united and many other good things. It is difficult to compass in thought and imagination, and we have no gift, it may be, for expressing our desires in worthy and fitting terms. Indeed, we would rather not appear to be in any sense desirous of informing God presumptuously, of instructing Him as though we doubted his knowledge or His good purpose, of questioning the rightness of his operations, of wishing anything different from what He wills. And yet we would like Him to know the way we feel about many things, and, if it should be right according to His understanding and purpose, that He should somehow use the desire of our souls for the accomplishment of some good. We would surrender our most unselfish desires for good to His wisdom and love. Let us then pick out these things that we have at heart, and plead them one at a time, merely naming them in a brief sentence, and saying with attention for the matter we have mentioned, the Lord's prayer, "O God help our leaders to find the way of peace between the nations", Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name, The world has great need of our prayers at this juncture. And if we pray earnestly, by any or all of the methods which have been indicated, we shall be helping to make it possible for God to do some of those things that He yearns to do for the relief of our necessity.

FANCY DRESS PRIZE WINNERS.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Thursday October 6th when the Jazz Band held a Fancy Dress Dance in the Town Hall. The Dance was largely attended and during the evening prizes were awarded for the two best costumes, the winners being Miss Mary Miller and Mr John Summers Jnr.

"THAT DINNER,"

As one who has, comparatively speaking, only recently come within the orbit of the atmosphere of the Falkland Islands, I feel that I should like to be allowed to pen a few lines giving you my impressions of my first attendance at this Dinner, and also to tell something of the sentiments which resulted from my first impact with so many of the Falkland Islanders.

In order that your readers may imagine my feelings, and so that they may have the background of my thoughts, I may say that heretofore my association with the Colonials (if I may be allowed to use that word) has been chiefly concerned with those from India, Malaya and the Far East. Between these and the Falklanders there lies a considerable gulf both in mentality and outlook. In the Islands I fancy (not having been there) life is lived very much closer to nature - and perhaps with just more than a touch of "nature in the raw". Except perhaps in certain details, I do not think that this can be said of the more or less organized communities of the Orient. Climate, natural conditions, communications, and mode of living all leave their marks on the human make-up. There is, however, this one thing which they all have in common, and that is that all are Britons and that they all possess those well-known characteristics of the Briton, whether in the Homeland or from Overseas.

Needless to say, therefore, I entered the Dining Hall full of expectation and looking forward to meeting a type of personality, with which I had had, so far, little association.

My impressions from first to last were of the very best. I found everybody to be MOST friendly and approachable and with not the slightest sign of what I will call "side" or "swank". Everybody was so perfectly natural and so very human that it did not take me long to feel absolutely at home amongst them. I carried away with me the happiest of impressions of a straight and down-right honest crowd - amongst whom there was a complete absence of anything artificial. I don't think I need say anything about the "feed". Everything was most satisfactorily arranged - thanks to the efforts of Mr. George T. Dean.

During the course of one short evening a stranger cannot possibly get to know everyone, but I must confess to the fact that I thoroughly enjoyed the time I spent with those with whom I was able to have a few minutes' chat. I look forward with much joy to being allowed to attend further Falkland Islands Dinners.

If I may be permitted to do so I should like to add a few observations, which are perhaps more personal than otherwise.

On entering the Banqueting Hall the first person whom I encountered was our very genial Chairman - Mr. George Bonner. Not only was he busily engaged in seeing to the last-minute details of the show, but he was there to give a real hearty welcome to all as they entered. Incidentally, that smile of his is highly infectious, which is all to the good in such a gathering. I don't think he will mind if even I, very humbly, say that he makes a very excellent Chairman. Knowing Mr. Bonner as I do (and I hope he will not recognise me through my nom-de-plume) I feel sure that he will not mind if I make a few suggestions. I do not make these suggestions as criticisms, even if I did do so, I would ask your readers to bear in mind that constructive criticism is always welcome by those who are of an understanding nature, and I am sure that Mr. Bonner is no exception to that little rule. In the first place, and even though it may have taken up a little more time, I do think there should have been a second toast - "The Islands and the Islanders." Another suggestion is that at such a gathering so representative of the Colony I do think that it would have been an excellent opportunity of sending a message of loyalty to Their Majesties - the King and Queen.

It would be no easy matter to say who contributed most to the evening's enjoyment but I think we can truthfully say that Mr. S. Miller's contribution was very considerable. I think Mr. Miller combines, in a degree not far short of the superlative, those qualities of perpetual motion and perpetual youthfulness. I think that if Mr. Miller ever registers a telegraphic address, it should be "LAMBETHWALK, CARLYON-BAY". One simply cannot be in his presence without becoming infected with his cheerfulness. Whilst on the subject of Mr. Miller I should like to know who it was who sent some refreshment up to Mr. Miller's bedroom about 6 o'clock next morning. I have forgotten whether I was told that it was tea or otherwise. That question, of course, produces another - had the kindly donor of the refreshment been in the Hotel Lounge all night? I should hardly think so.

Another thing which impressed me was the solitary yet terrifically spontaneous and enthusiastic outburst from Mr. Pole Evans when Professor Stapledom mentioned the magic word "Aberystwyth". It was truly characteristic of the spirit of Welsh Nationalism. "Carry on, Pole E. we admire you for your pluck".

I also found much to interest me in a short confab which I had with Wee "Bertie" Wood (dinna forget that guid gear eye gangs wee bookit) I know, of course, quite well that Bertie is not his name, but had he been anything else but a Scot it should have been. Seemingly prosperity has smiled on Master Wood, as I believe that since he last wore his dress suit he is now able to dispense with the use of braces to keep his waistcoat in place. I look forward to meeting you again, Bertie.

Some of us would like to ask Mrs. Matthews for HER prescription-for eternal youth. I have seen many people of much less than half her years who do not carry themselves nearly so well as she does.

If ever you do contemplate having a page in your periodical devoted to humour I do think that Mrs. "Marsh Lane" would make a most excellent sub-editor. I am sure that with her ingenuity, quick-wittedness, and her sense of humour, she would add much colour to your columns.

It was doubtless of much joy to all to see so many members of the "Old Brigade" present. I don't need to name them, as I believe a report is going in from another source and I expect the list will be published on another page. Anyway, we all raise our hats to them. They have had a big share in making the history of The Falkland Islands.

The Dancing after the dinner was very well supported. I did have the thought that it would have indeed been a lovely picture to have seen the same crowd dancing some of the good old dances.

In writing this article there are two topics which I might mention but I assure your readers that not even wild horses will drag me so far as to enter into a discourse on The Dresses of the Ladies nor of their Coiffeurs. All that I say, is that I have no complaints.

In conclusion, I want to say that I came away from the Dinner with an understanding of that "esprit-de-corp" which governs the lives and outlook of everybody connected with the Falkland Islands - many of whom I am privileged to know. I look forward to the next Dinner, merely, if nothing else than to be among those men and women, - who with their real friendliness, sincerity, and hard work, - have done, and are still doing so much to keep the Old Flag flying in a distant and isolated part of the British Empire.

Selfishness and indifference find no place in the make-up of the Falkland Islanders and if that same friendliness and mutual affection could only be broadcast throughout the world I am perfectly sure that there would be very much less trouble in it and that this old world would be a very much better place in which to live.

Even though I have already used the phrase, I make no apology for repeating it when I say that I take off my hat to all of you, and also to say "Many happy returns to THAT DINNER."

NUTRITION BOARD.

MILESTONE 20

Lord Horder, Physician to His Majesty the King, in lecturing on the subject of national health quoted the statement of another distinguished medical man, who said: "Take care of the mixed diet and the vitamins will take care of themselves."

He went on to say: "Certain important principles emerge. One is that the simpler and more restricted the food the less must we interfere with its nutritive value.....bread must be made from the whole of the meal potato must be the whole of the rice. If, on the hand, the articles of food are widely assorted, deficiencies in one or two are easily made good in the others."

This points the way to the need for paying attention to food in the Falklands, where variety is not easily got. But make changes in your foods as often as possible, and if you find that this is difficult, pay greater attention to the essential foods known for their VITAMINS - wholemeal bread, whole potatoes, fresh green vegetables, fresh butter and cream, milk, fresh fish, cheese, fresh eggs.

STANLEY HOCKEY CLUB.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley,
6th October, 1938.

The Editor,
News Weekly & Church Bulletin.
Stanley.

Sir,

With reference to the editorial comments regarding General Meeting of Stanley Sports Association, I hope there is no intention to put me in an unfavourable light.

When you have attended as many "General Meetings" as I have; with a very poor attendance of members, most of us half frozen through the meeting being held in the dead of winter in a draughty and badly heated room, you will be in a better position to make editorial comment.

If reports that have reached me are correct, we should have this year a good muster of members at the general meeting, - the more the merrier - and an interesting debate.

I hope to see the debate, and the resolutions, carried out in the better interests of sportsmanship. In my activities I like to seek the substance, even if the form may have to suffer a little.

Anybody can make rules and pick holes later if they are not carried out to the letter.

Strict compliance to rules would not alone contribute to the success of any sports meeting.

I could mention very grave irregularities committed in spite of rules, resolutions, sub-committees etc. - but that is past history.

The meeting should be held shortly and I hope to see 50 or more members present, instead of the usual half-frozen 9 to 15.

In fact I will end this letter by appealing to all members of the S.S.A. to turn up at the meeting - and I also hope that among them a new Secretary may be elected.

He will have my sympathy and support, because it is a fairly onerous task.

I am, Sir etc.
Yours faithfully,
E.G. Rowe
Honorary Secretary, S.S.A.

We assure Mr. Rowe that we were not trying to place anyone in an unfavourable light. We were simply voicing the opinion of a great portion of the general public as regards the sports meeting. It will be seen from the notice found elsewhere in this paper that the meeting is to be held on Monday next in the Reading Room off the Gymnasium let us hope it will not be draughty and badly heated. Ed.

WEEKLY SERMON

Text. Hebrews 10-39 "We are of them that have faith to the saving of the soul"

Introduction - The question discussed by many circles, whether life on the whole is tragic and futile, or whether it is on the whole glorious joyous and infinitely worth while. Much of our modern literature is frankly pessimistic, and Bertram Russel expresses the sentiments of a great many people when he says that, "only on the firm foundation of unyielding despair can the soul's habitation be safely built" It is not my concern to decide between the pessimist and the optimist, everything depends upon where we place the boundary line. But I am satisfied that life is tragic and dark for many people most of the time, and for some people part of the time, and for all of us at some time. Life hits us all somewhere soon or late, and when it does this question is immediately forced upon us. "What is the meaning of it all? How can I bear it? Is it worth while going on?

Now there are several attitudes open to us to take when such an experience comes, and take one of them we must if we have any determinative faculty left in us at all.

1. We may decide that this whole business of living is futile, miserably futile, and take the shortest way out. Many did this during the economic depression.

2. We may do what the Stoics of an earlier time did. - Take the attitude that it was a great mistake to be disturbed by the tragedies of life, as it was to be overelated by the joys of life. Tragedy in this sense was not in their vocabulary, not because the event was there, - a part of human experience and must be accepted as part of the common lot.

"Your child died, well children do die, we all die, so why bother about it". This on the face of it is a very noble and heroic attitude to take. But it is not so noble as it seems, because once you cease to allow yourself to care anything about your own misfortunes, you cease to care about the troubles of anyone else. And in the end the wells of human pity and sympathy are dried up. This is what happened in Stoicism.

3. A third attitude is that of Job. As indicated in the last few verses of the first chapter of his book. Here you see a man in the midst of deep dark suffering, and yet his only response at the end of it all is "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord". That is a religious resignation to what is accepted as the mysterious will of God. If questions are raised by what has happened, they are put aside, they must not be made articulate. The disaster has come and it must be God's will. That is all there is to be said about it. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." This again in its way is a very heroic attitude. Certainly it is a profoundly religious attitude, but for all that, I do not think it is one we can take to-day, that teachers of religions can ask us to take to-day. I confess that it is one which I do not myself take today. In fact I think a great deal of harm has been done to religion by that sort of teaching. If all the ills and disasters of life were to be accepted as the will of God, we might indeed be a deeply religious people, but we would be a hopeless, backward, and superstitious people. It was certainly not by this belief that mankind has made such wonderful progress in the field of science medicine etc. It is indeed pious to submit to what appears certainly to be the will of God for us. But it would be very contrary to live by the view that all suffering and misfortune is His direct will for us.

This brings us to what I believe to be the most reasonable as well as the most truly religious, as it is certainly the most Christian attitude, towards life, and it is indicated for us in the passage from which I have taken my text. This Epistle to the Hebrews was written for the purpose of doing this very thing, to strengthen men to face adverse circumstances and to provide them with a philosophy of History and experience by means of which they would be able to meet whatever suffering lay in store for them and to save their souls.

The central idea of this Epistle is, whatever might be said to the contrary, there has been from the beginning and becoming clearer down the ages a revelation from the heart of the Universe - from God to the mind of man - "God who at Sundry times and in divers manners" etc. etc. last of all by His son - man like themselves - bone of bone, flesh of flesh; he came to His glory - Captain of their Salvation - by meeting suffering bravely and triumphantly. This is the central idea of the writer's argument. He bids his readers stake everything on the truth of that final revelation in Jesus Christ and live by it whatever kind of suffering and misfortune it might have in store for them - There is no promise of escape from suffering - nor does he tell them that the hardships they have to bear are to be taken submissively as the hand of God. He sees life starkly as it is, and without attempting an answer to the problem of pain says "Here is Jesus Christ, Take your stand upon what you see in him. Hold on to that, believe in it and that will carry you through.

Now the word the writer uses for that attitude towards life is FAITH. It is his keyword He is not afraid of it either. He has no apology for saying "I ask you to bank everything upon the faith that, if we live by the highest and best that we know - upon what is seen in Jesus Christ, you will save your soul.

He takes this word faith and shows that all the progress - the achievements and moral and spiritual victories in the History of His race, had been won, not by men and women who had waited for absolute and intellectual certainty, but by those who had acted on a trust that had seemed worthy of a trial, and life had not failed them in their faith. From Abel to Jesus Christ he draws his evidence as to the power of faith and concludes that what has been done so much for them is certainly worthy of being followed by ourselves.

And so I put it to you, that the best and the soundest, the most beautiful attitude towards life is that of faith in the ultimate purpose of the universe, as it is seen in the life and character of Our Lord Jesus Christ as man, in that it is the highest that we have ever seen, or shall see. To place our faith in that is to commit ourselves to the belief that whatever life brings, it is good and not evil that is at the heart of the Universe

- in the mind of God - that is the good that will finally win out, and that if we are faithful to it in our woes, we shall finally win out with it. It is by a faith of this kind that we come to have wide horizons, long outlooks, steady hopes, so that when we are inclined to lose heart over some immediate sorrow or disappointment we can put our feet on a firm ground and carry on.

This faith gives us besides, sure resources of interior power, the quietness and confidence wherein is true strength. It links us to God, giving us a sense of his presence, and companionship through our days. We are not alone, God is with us. And in his friendly promise there is no ground for fear.

There is however one other thing to be said about Faith. And this because there is a misunderstanding on the part of many, as to what it is that faith actually does. It is a modern form of the old question, are we saved by faith alone or by faith and works? Now faith as I understand it, is no substitute, for a quality that makes unnecessary any effort on our part, to work our own salvation. Faith in God does not dispense with human responsibility, nor the necessity for human action, it does not say (eg) "God will cure me I can now do without the doctor" nor "God will guide me, I need not use my own common sense."

Let me in conclusion give you one of the best illustrations of faith that I know. Combining as it does the deepest religious feeling with the clearest sense of human responsibility. It is the story told in 2nd Macc 15. Of Judas Maccabaeus, awaiting the attack of Nicanor the Greek. Judas is greatly outnumbered and his men are very inadequately equipped. Having equipped them as well as he could, Judas addresses his men, reminding them of past victories by the help of God. And inspiring them, to firm faith in him. Then comes this striking message.

"Thus arming each one of them, not so much with defence of shields and spears, as with the encouragement of good words, and with a dream worthy to be believed, and he made them glad.

He armed them, and then he armed them more, with a dream worthy to be believed in. That is faith as I understand it; it takes hold of a dream worthy to be believed in, and then uses all the tools that life gives it, and works on day by day, in the light of the dream, and of the revelation of the saving of the soul.

STANLEY CEMETERY BOARD

A Meeting of the Board will be held at the Colonial Secretary's Office at 11.30 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 21st.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

London,
9th September, 1938.

The Rev. G.K.Lowe,
(Editor, Falkland Islands Magazine),
Port Stanley.

Sir,

I think the matter of the Falkland Islands Dinner, held at the Criterion, London, on 7th September, might be of interest to the readers of your new publication.

Enclosed is a list of all those who were present and who I think you will agree are thoroughly representative of the Falkland Islands.

After the Dinner was over the Chairman, Mr George Bonner, proposed the only toast of the evening - "His Majesty the King".

The Chairman then introduced Professor R.J.Stapledon of the Welsh Plant Breeding & Research Station at Aberystwyth. Professor Stapledon briefly referred to the work done by Mr Davies who is now in the Islands. The Professor also referred to the parlous condition of British agriculture. He seemed to think that a remedy for this would be found in the introduction of fresh capital and an ample inoculation of "pep".

Following the Dinner the floor was cleared and dancing commenced, which continued till midnight. Proceedings were concluded by the assembly singing the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne. Altogether, the function was pronounced by all to have been a great success, the number of those present being the highest on record, i.e., 100.

I am, Sir,
Yours truly,

On Friday the Colonial Dentist broadcast the following message :

'A suitable time has arrived, I think, when a few words on Dental Care may be usefully addressed to you. More especially I want to speak to the Mothers in the Colony, and to those of Stanley in particular. It is you Mothers who are in power. One can work for a thousand years, trying to get children to take care of their teeth, yet without your help it is just so much wasted time. My remarks, in the nature of things, will apply in particular to the people of Stanley - but the general principles apply just as much to Camp people.'

Since my arrival, eighteen months ago, you have sent close on 400 of your children to me for treatment. This was very necessary, and in at least 95% of cases there was leeway to be made up before it could be said that only maintenance work was being done. Within a year we had most of the arrears cleared off. Of all these children the great majority have visited me more than once, and knowing the best way of looking after their teeth, should be doing so. Outside the Department efforts have been made to arouse your interest. I lectured to you; an essay competition was held - also a Limerick Competition; the Senior Medical Officer has talked to you over the radio.

Inside the Department, apart from the issue of books and slogans by me, the various clinics have tried to impress the value of Dental Care on you.

Time and again I have told you that your children start life with as good teeth as any other group of children in the world. All that is necessary to keep them is to take reasonable care of them. To help you in this, three monthly inspections are suggested to you, and a system of recall cards has been instituted to save you having to remember dates. You know too that I am ready any time, any day if need be, to help you or advise you in any way and every way possible.

And now after this eighteen months I find you are not helping me as you could. Some of the little ones tell me that "Mummy says I needn't clean my teeth 'cos they look nice and clean." This is in reply to my question because I can see that their teeth are not clean. We don't clean our teeth to make them look nice - but because if we don't they will decay and then we shall lose them. Just because some few people never clean their teeth and still have good teeth because their natural cleansing processes are so good is no reason why most of us should do so. In these days of civilized foods it is more necessary than ever. Surely you mothers can trust me to look after your children's teeth and if I say clean them twice - three times a day, don't you feel it your duty to your child to try and make sure that it will have good teeth when it grows up and therefore to back me up. Because your child has not a brown mouthful of bad teeth, you must not think that its teeth do not need attention.

Other little ones tell me that 'mummy doesn't want those teeth filled' I feel sorry for those children because they have no say in the matter of whether they shall have good teeth when they grow. Mummy says they are not to - not that the teeth are hers. That is the criminal part of it - Mother condemns the child to bad teeth - to possible toothache and loss of teeth; to the tyranny of false teeth. Surely this isn't your duty to your children who look to you for advice. Isn't it more sensible to be guided by someone who has studied the subject over a period of years? If you have conscientious objections to treatment - in fairness to your children come and talk them over with me any time you like. The main thing I want you to do is to help me to give all your children a chance to have good teeth by doing your bit at home - by seeing that the 'Tooth Brush Habit' is formed and used two or three times a day. And by seeing that the Three monthly habit is a matter of course. All I ask is that you give me a free hand and back me up, and I can promise you that these little ones - these future sturdy Falkland Islanders will have the blessing of good teeth and therein the promise of good health.

Song titles applied to "Johnnie Walker"

" HOW AM I TO KNOW ? "

Try it yourself, convincing as words may be there is nothing like a practical test.

A good whisky like Johnnie Walker is perfectly round and perfectly smooth; the blends of rare whiskies are so skilfully "married" that there are no "edges" to the whisky.

Next time, before adding soda, just sip a little - neat; you will find roundness and depth and harmony and THEN you will KNOW that it is worth while to ask for "Johnnie Walker" by name.

JOHNNIE WALKER is obtainable at the WEST STORE.

The STANLEY SPORTS ASSOCIATION is very much alive.

Anybody who had gathered the impression that the Stanley Sports Association was on a decline would have been pleasantly surprised last Monday night if they could have been present at the General Meeting.

No less than 35 active members turned up, and nearly every one of them had something to say to help the affairs of the S.S.A. The accounts presented by the Treasurers shewed that during the 1937 meeting the S.S.A. had an income of £274-5-- all told, and that they spent on prizes, expenses and improvements no less than £272.13.7 leaving the surplus of £1.11.5 to add to the old funds.

Almost all the members who were proposed for office, willingly took on the jobs assigned to them, and there is no doubt that a strong and experienced set of Committeemen are again in charge of the affairs of the S.S.A.

The principle resolution passed during the evening was to the effect that the S.S.A. will organize sports for February 1939 instead of Xmas 1938, so as to join in with the West Sports Association and Darwin Sports and make a big meeting, to take place at the same time as the Local Stock Show and Stanley Exhibition.

The meeting put on record its deep sense of sorrow and loss in the passing of Joseph Aldridge, who was for so many years an active member of the Association and had done a great deal for the sport in Stanley. The meeting's sorrow was coupled with its thanks that the Late Mr Aldridge has left sons to carry on his good work.

The following officers were appointed to carry on.

President Sir Henniker Heaton, K.C.M.G.

Vice-Presidents
Messrs M.C.Craigie-Halkett, R.Greenshields,

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 21

A short while ago we heard Mr Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister of England, make the following short speech from Croydon:

"When I was a small boy I used to say 'If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again.' That is what I am doing. When I come back I hope to be able to say like Hotspur in Henry IV 'Out of this nettle, danger, we pluck this flower, safety'."

This is the spirit in which all life's problems should be tackled. Mankind's chief problem always has been and always must be related to good health. Without good health all other things are useless. Money in the bank, a fine house, well made clothes, lots of friends and many other good things are valueless when compared to health and strength.

We all know that health and strength are intimately connected with foods - foods that have sufficient vitamins and are either eaten raw or else properly cooked.

In your search for good health, or better health, don't lose heart if at first you don't succeed, but try, try, try again, and in time you will be able to say like Hotspur "Out of this nettle, ill-health, I have plucked this flower, Health and strength."

The annual postal shoots against the Dominion's Clubs' teams and the Colonies were held on October 7th & 10th. The Dominion's Clubs team competition is open to any number of teams of 6 members each and the Colonial Small-Bore match is open to one team of 8 members from any colony or protectorate. Last year our teams were placed 19th 21st & 23rd in the former and 4th in the latter. This year the scores shew an all round improvement but those given are provisional only as the shot holes are not allowed to be gauged locally and all cards must be sent to London for official scoring by the Statistical Officer of the S.M.R.C. The final results will not be known until January or February.

WEEKLY SERMON.

Text. Rev. 20. 4. "And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years."

What did it mean to be a Christian when these words were written? What did Christ demand of his disciples then? The world was under the sway of the Roman Emperor, The test of loyalty was willingness to worship the image of the Roman Emperor, who claimed to be divine. Those who followed most of the many other religions of the time had no difficulty in doing this. They believed that there were many gods. As long as they were allowed to worship their own favourite god, they were quite prepared to recognize other gods.also. Such was the world in which Christians found themselves in the days when the text was written. But for them such a solution was impossible; the claim of Christ was absolute. If you were a Christian, you could not worship the image of the Emperor, to do so was disloyalty to Christ. Christianity was an exclusive religion, not to be combined with other religions. And so Christiand found the whole force of the Empire arrayed against them. To one who did not share their faith, it seemed impossible that they could survive. There were not really very many of them, and one after another they were put to death for their faith. The continuous jeers and derision of neighbours and relations had failed to make them recant, so the government tried its hand. It did not as a rule merely behead them, it tortured them first. Many of them endured the torture, and death at last came as a gift from Heaven.

1. THE JUDGMENT OF THE AGES is that they were right. The blood of the martyrs was the seed of the Church. The fact that so many men and women, boys and girls, were prepared to suffer anything rather than do something which they regarded as a denial of their Lord was the cause which led to the victory of Christianity. And in so far as Europe is Christian today, it is Christian because they endured to the end. What was the power that enabled them to do it? It was the power of love. Their hearts were on fire with the love of Christ, and they would suffer anything rather than deny Him. Think of St Polycarp, the old Bishop of eighty-six years, who, when confronted with the choice of being burned at the stake or denying Christ, spoke the immortal words: "Eighty and six years have I served Him and He has done me no wrong. How can I blaspheme my king who has saved me?" Think of St Perpetua, a girl, of twenty-two, a young mother, with her infant child at her breast, a girl of noble birth, with a happy and luxurious life before her, pressed to recant by her father, but preferring to face the beasts in the arena, and to die a death of agony. These are not fairy stories they really happened. That was what Christ demanded of His disciples then. He demanded it of them, and they gave it Him gladly. And, indeed when we read the Gospels, we see that he warned people that such might be the obligations of Discipleship. Discipleship was to mean a cross, and Christians could look for no better treatment than their Master had received.

2. CHRIST'S WORDS STILL STAND. Those days are long ago. But the words of Christ still stand. You cannot be a disciple unless you bear the cross, and even in our own day men and women have died for Christ. And even in Europe men and women are starved for Christ, and have to see their children starve, unless they will renounce the worship of the Church. The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church. As long as men are prepared to suffer these things for Christ, and suffer them gladly because they love, so long the future of the Church is assured. Endurance is still needed. The Christian life is a struggle, a warfare. It is never easy to be a Christian. The martyrs wore their crown because they endured derision, pain and death. Christ asks us for endurance too. Perhaps one of us is assailed by a persistent temptation, coming not from without but from within, to break the Christian law either of charity or purity. He thinks that no one was ever tempted like he was. It is too much to ask that he should resist his temptations. He begins to pity himself; and as soon as he does that he is lost. The martyrs did not pity themselves. They were glad that Christ did them the honour of asking so much from them. Cannot we control our passions for the love of Christ. Another finds himself continually despised and laughed at by his friends because he goes to Church, or because he tries to keep the Christian law, and he hates being laughed at. Of course he does. So do we all. But does it not seem rather different if he thinks of it all as something to be endured for the love of Christ, as something that Christ asks him to do for His sake.

3. A CROSS, PROPORTIONED TO OUR STRENGTH. If Christ asks of us endurance of temptation and hardship, are we going to pity ourselves, and say He asks too much? Are we going to tell Him that He must be prepared to share our allegiance with our passions and the world we live in? Remember the martyrs, preferring death to unfaithfulness, rejoicing to be counted worthy to suffer for His sake. We are of the same flesh and blood as they. We share their faith, the grace that was given to them is offered to us. The Lord they loved is our Lord too. On us, as on them, He lays a cross, proportioned to our strength. He calls us to follow Him through fire and water. Most surely if we obey, He will bring us into a wealthy place.

HEALTH BULLETIN NO. 10

"The Sickness"

We are all aware how the temperature is rising and growth is occurring everywhere so that "there's not a leaf too mean to be some happy creature's palace" but we may not be quite so aware that with a rise in temperature growth becomes possible for a host of creatures of whose very existence man was completely ignorant only a few years ago. This unseen world affects our daily lives for good or ill without the average person thinking or knowing much about it and includes forms of life known as bacteria.

Almost certainly "the sickness" associated with vomiting and diarrhoea which we see during the warmer weather is due to the contamination of our food with bacteria capable of causing these symptoms. Just how the contamination occurs is not yet quite clear, but one source is the use of household utensils which have not been boiled. Meat-saws, knives, pails, kettles etc and indeed most of the dishes in the kitchen may never receive anything more than a rinse for weeks on end.

Heat, that is, the temperature of boiling water, is a reliable and easy means of killing bacteria if they are exposed to it for thirty minutes or dry heat in a hot oven accomplishes the same thing.

As one way of protecting yourself and your children this summer make a point of "sterilizing" or boiling up all the kitchen utensils once a month.

Salt Consumption.

How much salt should a normal, healthy person consume daily? Is there a possibility that such a person can get more salt than is good for him? A good balance for salt can be maintained on a teaspoonful daily. The average human being consumes from two to four times as much as this. It is probably that no injury results from this excess, since even after long-continued use no symptoms of a disturbance are seen.

Harmful effects of a very large excess would result if continued long enough; but reactions of the individual make it impossible to take such amounts.

While there is a tendency to take more salt than is necessary there is little evidence that any benefit would result from decreasing the intake.

It is much more important to realize that sweating leads to excessive loss of salt from the body and therefore should be compensated for by adding a little salt to drinking water - just enough to avoid a distinct salt taste. This is a good way to avoid the extreme weakness and even the tremours and cramps that may result from excessive sweating.

Down in the Mouth.

MIDNIGHT. The hour when ghosts clank their chains, conspirators hold secret rendezvous, eloping couples flee from parental wrath, the solitary figure slips silently along the deserted street - and teeth start to ache.

How sweet that first hour of repose, and how unmerciful the awakening! It seems but a moment or two since your head touched the pillow. Must teeth always hurt at night? Is there a law? Why couldn't they begin their unholy throbbing in the daytime? But no, probably that legion of little demons, who with their picks their buzz-saws and their flaming furnaces inhabit your tooth, work only at night. They wait patiently until you are deep in slumber; whereupon their leader, obviously a fellow with Machiavellian talents, lets loose a blast from his bugle which rings in your ears and then yells to his followers, "All right, boys, he asked for it. Let him have it."

But did you ask for it? You certainly did. Few toothaches ever burst, vesuvius-like, on their victims without preliminary rumblings and even a little fire and smoke. But you, like the residents of Pompeii, refused to take heed. A few weeks ago you had a slight twinge which annoyed you for a little while but soon stopped. Some days later it returned, a little more insistent this time, so you mentally made a note to see about it. Of course you forgot about it as soon as the pain quieted down, which it did very soon. There wasn't any more trouble then for almost a week, when you received a severe warning that all was not well with your oral chinaware. On this occasion you came within an ace of making an appointment with your dentist, but when you actually got around to telephoning him the pain had again departed. The tooth felt quite comfortable; so you said to yourself, very easily, "It's nothing. Just a trifle. It probably won't bother me any more."

That was just ten days ago. This evening when you went to bed you had no more premonition of disaster than did the Persian Army before Marathon in 490 B.C. But now look at you, pacing the floor while that tooth tries grimly to force its way out through the top of your head.

What to do? It's no good to remind you that you had plenty of time to see your dentist before. What are you going to do until you can get to his office? While the rest of the family is trying to reach him on the phone and ask him to get up and open his office in order to save a man's sanity, let's see what's making your toothache and what can be done to stop it.

Open wide now. Which one is it? Oh, that one. That's a bicuspisid, and it has a large filling in it. Does it feel long? Does it hurt when you bite on it? It does? Then the chances are that you have an abscess. Try some cold water in your mouth. Yes, that's right, cold water. Careful now, not all at once. Hold the water around the tooth. It seems to ease it? Fine. Try some more. Yes, I know you wanted your wife to get the hot water bottle. But if you had applied heat you would probably have caused the entire side of your face to swell up. Feeling better now?

By the way, if you want to avoid another session like this one you'd better ask your dentist to have a look at that lower molar that your tongue is continually straying into. It looks like a first rate opening for a strong and ambitious toothache.

You've noticed it have you? Well, why don't you do something about it? Oh, you've thought about it? Only hurts a little, of course.

I'm glad I was here to stop you from using that toothache medicine I see on your bathroom shelf. It may help a little in certain cases, if you know how to use it properly. But remember this: It must be applied at the point where the pain originates. Every dentist has had patients come to him with lips and mouths blistered and raw as a result of applying some remedy they got at the drug store.

Of course you can sometimes stall off a threatening tooth by the use of sedative tablets. It's true they are of some assistance in quieting the pain; but you are merely treating symptoms, and the relief will only be temporary. You may be quite certain that sooner or later that tooth is going to demand and receive attention to which it is entitled.

About 200 years ago Benjamin Franklin declared, "Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other." But 2000 years ago the Roman Plautus remarked, "A word to the wise is sufficient."

COUPLETS on the POWER of SILENCE.

"It works with John - why not with little Jack?
If I talk forward, how can he talk back?
'Tis true, he often screams to have his way,
But I'll outscream him. Jackie shall obey!"
Ah! then what futile clamour rends the air
While Jack turns mamma's hope into despair!
Shrill mama threatens, bargains and cajoles;
Skilled Jackie pricks her ego full of holes.
He flops upon his back. She's scared to death!
O tried and true expedient! - holding breath,
Breath of which mother is so prodigal,
Her tyrant offspring will not yeald at all!
So, strangely, like the Pharisee of old,
Does her much-speaking leave her haifer cold.
Out of the mouths of babies is strength ordained -
How often parents nave that writ profaned!

Here is a synopsis of the story of the film which is to be shown at Hardy's Cinema on Wednesday November 2nd.

"In Old Chicago"

Leading Players. Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Alice Brady, Brian Donlevy & Tom Brown

Melodrama . In 1854 Molly O'Leary, her husband and her three sons are on their way to make their fortunes in Chicago. The husband is killed in an accident on the prairie and the widow sets up in a laundry business in that part of the city known as the Patch. The sons grow up: Bob marries a German girl, Jack becomes a lawyer, honest and idealistic, and Dion a racketeer, operates a saloon with a cabaret artiste, Belle Fawcett, and makes Jack Mayor. Jack is determined to clean up the Patch and sweep away the rackets in which Dion is interested. When Dion tells him of the crooked election and of how he proposes to use Jack's power for his own ends, the brothers quarrel. Then Jack goes to Belle and pleads with her to testify against Dion in a grand jury investigation of his affairs. This causes a fight between Jack and Dion. Next Dion makes Jack marry him to Belle. Jack is delighted and thinks Dion is going to reform, is quickly disillusioned when Dion says that the purpose of the marriage is to stop Belle testifying. At last a fire starts in Mrs O'Leary's cowshed on the patch. Dion's enemy Gil Warren says Jack started the fire on purpose and sets out with a band of ruffians to kill him. Dion tries to warn Jack of his danger and is just reconciled to him when Jack is shot as he tries to dynamite a building. Dion sets out to find Mrs O'Leary and at last locates her on the lake in a boat with Belle. The film ends with Mrs O'Leary expressing a hope that Dion will carry out Jack's dream of building a new Chicago. The Film is well made cleverly photographed and reinforced with authentic looking sets. Alice Faye sings and acts pleasantly as Belle, Don Ameche is good as Jack. The production is the last word in efficiency and the fire gives extra value for the money

Cost of production £400,000.

BOILED POTATOES

A good hearty meal of corned beef, cabbage and boiled potatoes is not only a pleasure to the palate but a pretty pill, for the vegetables are rich in Vitamin C. But not everyone who tucks into this dish is assured of firm joints and healthy blood capillaries, for Vitamin C is a delicate thing, easily destroyed by combination with oxygen or improper cooking. Last week in "Nature" physiologists A. Høygaard and H. Waage Rasmussen of the University of Oslo, Norway reported the results of extensive potato-boiling. They found "16-19% more ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) left when vegetables are cooked in salt solution than when vegetables are cooked in distilled water." Reason: the salt prevents oxygen from destroying the vitamin. They also found "considerably more ascorbic acid in cooked than in raw potatoes." Reason: the ascorbic acid is partially "frozen" in raw vegetables, becomes released in the boiling process.

Random Notes on the Board of Health Bye-Laws.

Authority to make Bye-Laws is contained in Sections 18 and 19 of the Ordinance No.5 of 1894.

Section 18 gives a list of the matters regarding which the Board of Health may make Bye-Laws.

Section 19 states what penalties may be included in any Bye-Laws:-

"....impose upon offenders against the same such reasonable penalties as it may think fit, not exceeding the sum of two pounds for each offence, and in case of a continuing offence a further penalty not exceeding five shillings for each day after written notice of the said offence from the said Board:

Provided that all such Bye-Laws imposing a penalty shall be so framed as to allow of the recovery of any sum less than the full amount of the penalty,....."

New Bye-Laws were published on April 1st, 1938. Among other things these say:-

Section 7. "The Sub-Committee (for Buildings) shall normally consist of the Chairman of the Board of Health, the Director of Public Works and one other member, and the sub-committee shall be empowered to enter buildings or premises for the purposes specified at reasonable times between the hours of sunrise and sunset, due notice being given to the occupier beforehand."

Section 81. "Any person who wilfully contravenes or evades or attempts to contravene or to evade any of the provisions of these Bye-Laws, or who aids or abets any such contravention or evasion shall be liable on conviction by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction to a fine not exceeding Twenty pounds.
To include penalization for offences except as otherwise stated.

In spite of Section 19 of the Ordinance limiting the penalties that the Board of Health could determine by Bye-Law to £2, plus 5/- per day, the new Bye-Laws call for penalization up to £20.- ?????

Perhaps other defects could be found if carefully looked for.

Particulars as to duties, wages etc may be obtained on application at the Printing Office, in the Church Hall, between the hours of 4.30 and 5.30 on Friday October 28th, and from 12.30 to 1.30 on Saturday Oct 29th.

P O L I C E C O U R T N E W S .

In the Magistrate's Court on Monday October 24th, before His Worship A.R.Hoare Magistrate, Estate Louis Williams was charged with failing to obey an order issued by the Board of Health. As the case was not allowed to proceed it is not possible to give any particulars. His Worship, after informing the Court of what the case was, asked the Senior Medical Officer if he had given the defendant notice before inspecting his property. The Doctor replied that he had not. At this point the Senior Medical Officer asked His Worship to ask the defendant what his plea was, and the Magistrate ruled that, as no notice was given before the inspection of the defendant's property there was therefore, no case.

CHURCH NOTES AND NEWS.

NEW SIXTON. At a meeting of the Church Council held in the Deanery on Monday last, Mr. Charles Betts, formerly of Port San Carlos was appointed Sexton of the Cathedral.

Sunday next is the first Sunday in the month, a time when most Communicants turn out to make their communions.

Those of you who can, and would like to take advantage of a fine Sunday to have a picnic are advised that there is no wrong, in so far as the teaching of the Church of England is concerned, in doing so. There is of course, one proviso - come to Church first, at 8 o'clock to communion, 8.30 or 9 o'clock is not too late to start a picnic.

WEEKLY SERMON.

ALL SAINTS DAY. November 1st.

S A I N T S. Who and What They Are

Text. Rev. 7. 9. "After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands."

The Feast of All Saints draws our thoughts to subjects which touch closely our dearest affections and our own personal interest - the subject of the dead blest in rest, and how to follow them. The idea formed of a saint is sometimes rather overstrained, and the picture over-coloured. We draw a portrait of a preternatural goodness; something we should to be, and never shall be. We admire, and we remain where we were. Sometimes perhaps there is even a little instinctive drawing back from this ideal perfection, which finds no counterpart or companion in ourselves.

1. FELLOW CITIZENS WITH THE SAINTS. An examination of Holy Scripture will correct the work of our imagination. "Ye are fellow citizens with the saints" (Eph. 2. 19). The first meaning of the word "Saint" is the multitude of believing Christians in all the wide circle of Christian Churches, homes, and hearts where Christ's work is believed in, God's law respected, and where the Holy Spirit dwells. Among these there may be great differences. Some members have more religious insight, and so have more reverence. Some excel in activity. Some are patient; others zealous. In short, it is in a Church as in our own families; Everyone has a weak point, and most have a strong point. And it is with the general body as it is with individual members. For do we not find, each of us in ourselves, both strength and weakness, steadiness and waywardness, Christ's law and another law, self and another self, and yet, upon the whole, a desire to improve, a regret at imperfections, and a return and resting of the balance, after all it is fluctuations upon the side of our Lord's Gospel.

2. THE ARMY OF THE SAINTS. All this mixture of Christian soldiers differently accoutred, with different ensigns, leaders, and watch words, marching in array or struggling, ill-equipped or armed with the whole armour of God, - All of us taken together make up that Church militant here on earth, which is the army of the saints; for which we pray, and which we are, and which is the Lord's delight and dwelling place and growing work. For we should remember that, seen from above, we are not seen as ourselves alone, but as ourselves in Christ; and as a wife is not counted by herself but has her husband's name, position, and station, so the Church, which is Christ's spouse, is complete in Him, and His bridal robe is round it, and it is accepted in him who is the best beloved one of God, the cause of God's favour. There is also another agency, viz. His grace dwelling among us, and working in the clay and sand of humanity. A tillage of the Lord, which is sure, though slow. For if there is long waiting and laborious work, and not only sunny days, but cloudy, still the souls of God's people are being gradually formed afresh after the image and pattern of Christ, so that we are to be complete in Him twice over. First, in that perfection which is His alone, but inside which His people are looked on as perfect for His sake - something as we might say "A bride is beautiful in her marriage garment"; and, secondly, we are completed or forwarded in that resemblance to Christ which the Holy Spirit is gradually working in us, even as we might say "A bride has beauty in herself." So thus the two-fold promise comes true of the saints which were spoken of by the Holy Spirit in Isaiah 61. 10 & 11 "I will greatly rejoice in the Lord. My soul shall be joyful in my God; for He hath clothed me with garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decorates himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorns herself with jewels." And as a second "For as the earth bringeth forth her blood and as the garden causeth the things which are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth in all the nations."

3. "SALUTE ALL SAINTS." The saints, then, we speak of are not the special examples of public heroism, not even those whom the Church commemorates still in its calendar; for though those we still commemorate are given as examples, they are examples of what God's grace can do for erring men. We are speaking of the ordinary saints. The Apostle was thinking about when he said, "Salute all saints" (Romans 16, 15), and "All the saints that are in Achaia" (2 Corr.11) and when he addressed himself "to the saints which are at Ephesus": "to all the saints in Christ which are at Philippi;" "To all the saints faithful at Colosse. These were saints like those at Rome, who required to have it explained that they must be patient and tolerant; or like those at Corinth, who wanted sharp rebukings; or those at Ephesus who had to be reminded of the duties of parents and children, and servants and masters; or those at Philippi, who had to be taught to do all things without murmurings or disputings; or like the saints at Colosse who must learn to mortify earthly passion, to put away evil, and be true one with another; or like the saints here in this place, who, like the other saints, are compassed with infirmities, but in the midst of those weaknesses God's strength is gradually growing up.

4. HOW ARE CHRISTIANS MOULDED INTO SAINTS? But how is it, and by what process is it, that ordinary Christians are moulded into saints? Why, the field of our preparation lies in the round of daily duties and usual trials. A life of daily work and plain obedience is our given school. So is patient performance of daily tasks, and the bearing of daily burdens. So is the gift of little children, who light up love and unselfishness in the heart. So is the rule we bear at home, and the rule we have to bear outside. And so in many ways, too numerous to name, and too complex to think out, we are all placed by God where it is good for our souls to be - in society, in solitude, in adverse things, or in the harder trial of long ease and security. Public and private business, too contact with men and thoughts, the current of affairs, and literature, and the scene of the world staged around us, and the work of religion in the Church, - all are continual and unobserved trainings in the way of Christ; and the inner life of the soul, which often sleeps on, as an infant unconscious of its growing, is growing all the same in Christ. All these gracious daily handlings, and sharp occasional blows, are moulding us into the frame of saints, and fitting us to be drawn when the time comes, to be taken up to the land of rest. There is our home, our purchased possession, our Friend, and Lord, and King. There he awaits us; There all trials end; there He receiveth His flock; There He leads His flock by the still waters of eternal rest.

As some 30 of our men have left for South Georgia and the whaling season, the following article from the Norwegian Trade Review may be of interest.

T H E W H A L E

THE WORLD'S LARGEST ANIMAL.

By Johan T. Ruud, Ph.D.

When the fleet of Norwegian Whalers proceeds south for a fresh catch, it means that some thirty thousand whales will be shot and converted into various products.

Of these thirty thousand probably the half will be blue whales, the remainder being the less valuable finner, humpback, and sperm whales.

The fact that Norwegian whaling operations during the past fifteen years have yielded more than one milliard Kroner gives us a good idea of how important an economic factor the blue whale is in the industrial life of Norway.

A full-grown blue whale of average size has an industrial value of approximately 6000 Kroner, (£200.) and many are of the opinion that this valuable animal is in immediate danger of being extirpated. Even if the situation is not quite so critical, yet we must all agree that a regulation of the catch is desirable.

As in all game preservation and fishery culture, the necessary condition for a sensible regulation of whaling is a thorough knowledge of the biology of the entire stock.

The blue whale, which may attain a length of thirty metres, is the most gigantic animal inhabiting the globe, and, as far as our knowledge goes, it is the largest animal that has ever lived.

Even the prehistoric dinosaurs, which are presumed to have weighed thirty or forty tons, were small animals compared with a full-grown blue whale.

One of the most accurate weighings of a blue whale we know of was carried out at Stromnes whaling station on S. Georgia in 1926.

This was a female blue whale of 27 metres, that is to say, not one of the very largest; but its total weight was nevertheless 122,000 kilos.

Of meat it had 56 tons, blubber 26 tons, and bone 23 tons. The tongue with the root turned the scales at 3158 kilos, i.e., it was as heavy as an average-sized elephant. The heart weighed 240 kilos., or as much as a small cow.

From these figures, which in themselves are so imposing, we are able to realize that the blue whale has not been an easy animal to handle either for the whalers or scientists. The anatomists have to resort to such instruments as the saw, axe, and winch; and we other biologists are also debarred from employing those methods we prefer to use.

In fishery research two methods in particular have yielded good results, namely, marking and age determinations. These methods provide us with information about the migration of fishes, their conditions of growth, the age composition of the stock, the addition of young fish and the reduction in the ranks of the old.

It has not yet been possible to apply these methods with much success in whale research.

As such direct methods as marking and age determinations are not applicable, we must in this as in other instances resort to indirect methods, and in this case we use statistics.

The foundations of international whaling statistics were laid by the late Sigurd Risting, who was the secretary of the Norwegian Whalers' Association for many years.

In 1928 he published a large work based on measurements and other information relating to 14,000 whales and more than 1000 foetuses.

In 1929 his conclusions were confirmed by British investigations.

Statistical returns from the various whaling grounds show how the hunting season is determined by regular migrations of the whale.

At the island of S. Georgia, which the whales usually pass on their way towards higher latitudes, it appears that they usually move in schools. First come the oldest, full-grown animals, the cows frequently being accompanied by their calves. A little later follow the younger, but sexually mature members, and in the rear are the small and immature whales.

As food ("krill") is often scarce in the waters off S. Georgia, the whales do not often make any prolonged stay here, but proceed southward to the richer feeding grounds bordering the edge of the Antarctic ice.

We know that the whales live in temperate and tropical waters in the winter and that it is here they give birth to their young, and mate again.

The migration to warmer seas in the winter is accordingly made with a view to propagation, and during this time the whales starve and become considerably leaner.

In the spring they again return to the Antarctic ice barrier to gorge on the great wealth those seas supply.

Statistics also enlighten us on the questions of the whale's growth. Measurements of the largest foetuses and the smallest sucklings tell us how large the calf is at birth, and measurements made of the largest calves with milk in the stomach and of the smallest whales with "krill" in the stomach tell us how large the calf is when weaned.

The period of gestation for the blue whale and the finback is between ten and eleven months. This is a surprisingly short period for a mammal of this size. For the elephant, for instance, the period is twice as long.

In the initial stages, the foetus of the blue whale grows at a comparatively slow rate, being only two metres long at six months.

At birth after ten and a half months, the calf of the blue whale is, however, seven metres long, and on being weaned seven months later it measures about sixteen metres. At this stage the calf, in company with its mother, has reached the Antarctic and begins to take "krill" just when the supply is at its best. This is also proved by the fact that the baleen plates in the jaw of these whales, which remain quite short.

during the sucking period, suddenly increase rapidly in length.

When the young blue whale has begun to fend for itself it does not grow so fast; nevertheless, on arriving at sexual maturity at the age of two years, it has attained the length of twenty-three metres or more. It is not full-grown till it is eight or nine years of age. Such gigantic growth is scarcely credible.

In the last four and a half months the foetus grows five metres in length, this being equivalent to 3.7 c.m. per day; and during the seven months the calf is sucking it grows approximately nine metres, i.e., 4.3 c.m. per day.

Its growth is even more impressive when we take its increase in weight for the same period.

At birth the blue whale weighs roughly 2000 kilos, but when weaned seven months later its weight is 23000 kilos, that is to say, it has put on twenty-one tons, or pretty nearly one hundred kilos. per day. Small wonder that a mother with such a guzzler grows thin and lean, and is the most wretched catch made by whalers.

In the following twenty months, until it is sexually mature, it puts on 56,000 kilos., this being 93 kilos per day; and during this period it has even spent several months in waters where it only starves and loses weight.

In addition to all the energy the blue whale requires for growth and the ordinary metabolic processes, it also requires a considerable amount for its own propulsion, even though it is streamlined in every part.

It has been computed that a blue whale twenty-three metres long develops something like 7 h.p. at a speed of five knots, but if it increases its speed to ten knots, which it frequently does when being hunted, its output will be in the neighbourhood of fifty h.p.

And this giant gets all this energy by eating "krill" a small shrimp-like crustacean six c.m. long and weighing 1.5 grammes.

This organism has the highest nutritious value in late summer; analyses show that it then contains 76% of water, 4% fat, and 20% dry matter.

It is not difficult to imagine what enormous quantities of this small crustacean are required by the blue whale to cover its requirements of energy.

Our factory ships need a supply of several hundred whales to cover expenses, and, so long as present day methods are followed, whaling will cease to be remunerative long before the existence of the blue whale and the finner is menaced. The blue whale in the Antarctic will of certainty survive the last floating factory.

BLUFF:

The mail has come. We have all feed our papers. Whatever may be our opinions of the late crisis one thing is evident, and that is that bluff is a large factor in politics. In some ways it seems that a nation of individuals can thrive on bluff and wax strong on the proceeds.

But it is well to remember that though a nation may bluff others, an individual cannot bluff himself.
Of course we can do so mentally - we can lull ourselves into a false sense of security. But physically, no. We cannot bluff our bodies. We cannot feed ourselves with paper and persuade our bodies th it is bread. We cannot bluff our muscles into doing eight hours work with no food. You may treat other people badly and get away with it. But you cannot treat yourself badly and get away with it. So don' try. Feed the brute - and with the proper stuff.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley,
November 1st, 1938.

The Editor,
Weekly News & Church Bulletin,
Stanley.

Sir,

I am over 40 years of age and have worked honestly at my trade as a carpenter since I was apprenticed in 1912, and since I left the employment of Messrs F.I.Co.
(due to Mr V.Biggs then foreman carpenter no longer enjoying my respect) I have built 20 houses in Stanley and assisted to build or to repair at least a dozen more.

I have never had the slightest trouble with any Authority as regards my work or the materials I employ, until lately the Building Committee of the Board of Health refused to grant me permit to build a bungalow of $1\frac{1}{2}$ " x 4" scantling. They insisted on my using 2" x 4". I objected to higher authority, but word came from H.E. the Governor that there was no appeal against decisions of the Board of Health and that I must comply.

Who are these people who constitute the Board of Health? Are they really qualified to make unappealable decisions? Dr. Kinneard, in my conversations with him, revealed that he did not understand what a floor-joist was. Mr Biggs, lost his job as a foreman carpenter and now spends his time selling sweets and tinned goods. Mr Steven Aldridge is a carter and assistant gardener. Mrs Henrickssen is a most capable midwife. But are any of these people in a position to discuss the matters concerning stresses in building construction? Mr Biggs certainly should be able to do so, but as the owner of the dilapidated 'First and Last' he might be well advised to put his own property in order before sitting in judgment on other peoples' efforts.

It would be interesting to have a concensus of public opinion expressed on the matter of the Board of Health, its rules, its members, and whether it plays the part the law intended it to play.

Yours faithfully,

W.H.Sedgwick.

ARTILLERY SECTION ACHIEVES 78.5%

The Artillery Section of the Falkland Islands Defence Force has, under the instruction of the Artillery officer, Captain A.I.Fleuret, arrived at the stage when the gun crews can undertake full-calibre firing of the six inch guns, and on Saturday last the Canopus battery position was animated by gunners preparing for the Artillery practice which took place the following day.

In all, twenty-seven officers and other ranks, comprising battery and control personnel, assembled for the shoot and eleven direct hits were registered on the target out of fourteen rounds fired.

GRASS FIRE CAUSES ALARM

On Sunday afternoon last, October 29th, there was great activity in Stanley over a grass fire on the other side of the harbour. The fire started about 30 yards from what is known as the "Watt Cove Fence" and spread as far to the East as the Quarantine Faddock. The width of the burning area is estimated to have been about 300 yards. Fortunately, the wind was from the right direction and did not seriously threaten the oil tanks, had the wind been from the north there might have been quite a different story to tell. The usual fire alarm was set off about 5 o'clock and some 35 or 40 men responded to the call, some crossing the harbour in the "Alert", while some six or eight pulled across, and lost no time in crossing, they might be considered as worthy opponents for a race with the warships when they arrive. The only damage resulting from the fire was a few posts and battens from the fence. The cause of the fire is unknown, but from the evidence Viz. stool arranged, bottle containing fresh milk, it would appear that someone had been having a picnic.

NOT GUILTY

Mr T.J.Nicholson of the Wireless Station wishes to make it clearly understood that his children had nothing to do with causing the fire on the other side. As the children did not leave the Wireless Station until 12.30, and the smoke was seen in Stanley at 10. the Nicholson children could not possibly have been responsible.

WEEKLY SERMON.

The Supremacy of Love.

Text. 1 John 4, 19-21. "We love him, because he first loved us. If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen? And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God loveth his brother also."

The appeal of Christianity and the challenge of Christianity is that it stakes everything upon the supremacy of love. It asserts that the final meaning of the universe is love, that it has its origin in love, and that the end to which it moves is a kingdom in which there is the free, unimpeded and utterly blissful energy of love. It can be affirmed that only within the Christian Church can the true word about love be spoken.

1. THE TRUE WORD ABOUT LOVE. That is so because the true word about love is not about man's love but about God's love. Only when we can speak about the love of God, as St John spoke, do we reach security amid all our doubts and problems, and hear a voice that tells us that all shall be well. And St John spoke like that because he had penetrated, not alone, but perhaps more deeply than anyone else, into the secret, the mystery, of the life of Christ. And the word that fully illuminated that mystery was the word of love. Backwards and forwards moved his thought; the love of God is shown to us in the life of Christ, the life of Christ has its significance for us because of the presence in it of the love of God. St John's Gospel is the best commentary that exists of the other three Gospels. The love of God is the background of all human life and the security for the underlying value of all human love. The one ultimate and imperative reason for the love of man to man, whether it be between individuals or between societies of men, is the love of God. And the meaning of the love of God can be learnt only when it is understood, not in the abstract but in the concrete, not in the general as when we say "God is love", but in the particular; "we love because he first loved us," or again, and with a complete reliance on the individual character of that love which embraces men one by one, "the Son of God Who loved me and gave Himself for me."

2. THE PERFECTION OF THE DIVINE LOVE. Such is the perfection of the divine love. The whole Christian Gospel of the Incarnation and atonement of the Son of God is the picture of its glory and its grace. We have seen the love of God action. We have seen it redemptive in all the healing power, healing both of word and of deed, in the life of Christ; yet more redemptive in the cross where healing comes through suffering, and the love that conquers is the love that offers itself in sacrifice for those who look on its full, perfect and sufficient offering - not in love but in hatred and contempt. And when we turn our gaze more manwards, more to ourselves, the great picture must have its response, the great music must not lack its echo. Such chapters of plain, moral instruction as St Paul is accustomed to give, after he has lead his readers to the peaks, not always easy to climb, whence the grandeur and the expanse of the truth of the Gospel is to be surveyed, must become chapters written in our hearts and readable in our lives. And in those chapters one word must stand out written in large letters which we cannot miss. It is the word love. Of all the gifts the gift of God's love is the only perfect gift. And in gratitude for it one thing only can be done, the gift must be returned. And when it is returned it is not lost. It is, indeed, only then that it can do what every present ought to do - remind us of the giver and make us happy in the gift. Thus the fellowship between God and man which the Christian Gospel sets before us as of the essence of eternal life is a fellowship in which love answers to love.

3. THE RESPONSE TO THE LOVE OF GOD. The religious life of man is the response of his love of God. That is its true character and meaning. Short of that it must fall away into the acceptance of an intellectual system, obedience to a code of morals, with attendance at public worship as one of the manifestations of the code, or at its lowest and worst, mere convention. Prayer and sacrament are ways for the entering into the fellowship of love and for its expression. The first commandment of the law is, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God. It was so under the old covenant of Judaism. The perfection of religion is to be found only in a holy communion where God and man are united in the only way that makes a bridge across the gulf that divides the Creator from the creature. But do not let us think that we can cross that bridge and meet our God in joyful fellowship while we are careless of our brethren. The religious life is the response to God in love. And this response fails miserably, it is a vain answer without wings to reach God's throne, if the men and women whom we meet on the roads of life we travel, in the places where we stay, at the doors of our own houses, like Lazarus at the proud gates of Dives, learn nothing of the reality of love, of its generous bounty, and willing service from their experience of us.

"Hear what our Lord Jesus Christ saith, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy mind, with all thy soul and with all thy strength. This is the first great commandment the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."

The Speed boat "Georgia" left Stanley on Sunday evening for Port Louis, and returned inside two and three quarter hours, bringing with her as passengers His Excellency the Governor, Mrs G.J.Felton, Miss Packe, and Mrs Kiddle of Port Louis. The "Georgia's" time for the outward voyage was one hour and twenty minutes, while she only took an hour and a quarter to come home.

She left again on Tuesday morning at 6.15 for Johnson's Harbour, arriving at 7.25, from Johnson's Harbour she went to Port Louis South, to bring Mr Peter Craig of Douglas Station into Hospital who was thrown from his horse and dislocated his collar-bone. The "Georgia" left Port Louis at 9.10 and arrived in Stanley at 10.30. The Matron of the Hospital went along to render assistance to the injured man.

N O T G U I L T Y.

Mrs Frank White and her son Caesor wish to make it understood that they did not light the fire a week ago last Sunday.

Which I drank.....

I had twelve bottles of whisky in my cellar and my wife told me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink, or else.... so I said I would and proceeded with the unpleasant task.

I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I then withdrew the cork from the third bottle, and poured the whisky down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass which I drank.

I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, and threw the rest down the glass.

I pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle and drank the glass.

I pulled the next cork from my throat and poured the sink down the bottle. Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink, and drank the pour.

When I had everything emptied, I steadied the house with one hand and counted the bottles, corks and glasses, and sinks, with the other, which were twenty-nine.

To be sure I counted them again, and when they came by I had seventy-nine, and as the house came by, I counted them again, and finally had all the houses and bottles and corks and glasses and sinks counted, except one house and one bottle, which I drank.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE

No. 70.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
8th November, 1938.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that the following arrangements have been approved by the Governor for the observance in this Colony of Armistice Day, the 11th of November, 1938.

The order of the Service will be held at the Cross of Sacrifice at 11.0 a.m. at which His Excellency and the Honourable Members of Councils will attend officially. The Band and the Naval contingent from H.M.Ships "Exeter" and "Ajax" will be requested to take part. The Falkland Islands Defence Force will parade and will take part in the service and subsequent Ceremony.

At 11.0 a.m. a gun will be fired by H.M.S."Exeter". The customary two minutes silence will then be observed after which at 11.2 a.m. a second gun will be fired and the Last Post sounded at the Cemetery by a Bugler from H.M.S."Exeter". At the conclusion of the order of Service His Excellency will lay a wreath at the foot of the Cross of Sacrifice, and the Ceremony will terminate. Wreaths may then be laid by private individuals at the foot of the Cross of Sacrifice and on the Naval and Military graves.

It is hoped that as many of the public as possible will be present at the Ceremony at the Cemetery and that Heads of Departments and Government servants generally will make a special effort to attend.

The children from the Government School will be assembled and drawn up in readiness for the Ceremony at the Cross of Sacrifice.

Should weather be inclement Divine Service will be held at Christ Church Cathedral at 10.20 a.m. At the end of the Service the Governor and the several parties on parade will proceed to the Cross of Sacrifice.

By Command
Sgd. Colonial Secretary.

ARMISTICE DAY

With reference to the Ceremony which will be held at the Cross of Sacrifice, it is hereby notified for general information that the public will not be permitted to stand on the steps leading to the Cross of Sacrifice, or on the plots of ground recently levelled and planted with grass seed. The public may stand on the paths or at any points other than the above mentioned places.

The Day of Remembrance and Service

A WHOLE YEAR'S WORK depends on this one day sale of poppies.

BRITISH LEGION WORK financed by POPPY DAY includes:

Relief of distress - Finding employment - Sanatorium for tuberculous - Workshops and housing scheme for disabled - Poppy Factory permanently employing 370 disabled men - Pensions fund for prematurely aged - Assistance for the blind and war orphans

These, and other activities, are Poppy Day's contribution towards the payment of the Debt of Honour
IN MEMORY OF THE MILLION MEN AND WOMEN WHO DIED

PLEASE BE VERY GENEROUS

IN FLANDERS FIELDS.

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky,
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands we throw
The Torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

RESERVES

Everyone now understands the good effects to be obtained from having reserves. Companies build up reserve funds for bad times. The small man puts a few pounds away for a "rainy day". A bad stroke of business or a poor wool clip can then be faced without harm to the general structure. The man who loses his job has time to find another without having to seek charitable relief. Those are the functions of money reserves.

Now what about the human body? It also needs to have reserves. Anyday anyone of us might get a broken arm or leg, or a ducking in the harbour during cold weather. Or we may be subject to infection brought in the mail or a ship coming from distant places where they have flu or measles or mumps. Or by mistake we might eat something that upsets our tummies.

It is in such cases as these "accidents" where bodily reserves may make all the difference between quick and complete recovery or long-drawn-out illness and permanent loss of vitality.

Build up your bodily reserves - your powers of resistance to disease - your ability to recover quickly from accidents and infections. The principal source of bodily reserves is drawn from the food you eat, wholesome foods containing enough vitamins. Fresh air and exercise will also help.

DOES THIS FORMULA STILL HOLD GOOD?

There is only one novel known to have it's plot laid in the Falkland Islands.

It is "AN ISLAND PRINCESS" written by Theo Gift and published in 1893.

The following extract gives an example of it's style:-

"Now, my dear Jean, be sure you make three cakes the day before they come in -- a plum, and a seed, and a pound -- or perhaps some sweet biscuits would do instead of one," Mrs Powell, the chaplain's wife had said at least half-a-dozen times during the last week; "for officers always eat such a lot of cake, you know. And make your papa have up a dozen of his best port and sherry when they arrive. If one gets a name for good wine at the beginning, it doesn't so much matter what one gives them later on; and, indeed, you should always keep a bottle of marsale open for the middies. It does well enough for them; and they don't know it from sherry, poor boys ! "

BUILDING STRESSES

Strain and Stress.

A strain is any change of form or bulk of a portion of matter. The system of forces which sustains the strain is called the stress. When a body is so strained that parallel lines remain parallel lines and parallel planes remain parallel planes, the strain is said to be homogeneous. Any cubical portion becomes a parallelopiped with angles, in general, other than right angles; and any spherical portion becomes an ellipsoid. The principal axes of this ellipsoid were originally mutually perpendicular diameters of the sphere. Clearly one of them must be the direction of greatest elongation (or greatest contraction). These directions are the principal axes of the strain. A special case of the homogeneous strain is the isotropic strain, in which all lines suffer equal elongations-- i.e. unit-length in any direction changes by the same amount. Here there is simple change of volume without any distortion; and the associated stress is of the type of hydrostatic pressure. Now the most general homogeneous strain involves distortion as well as change of volume..... etc. etc. etc.

TIMBER.

The breaking weight in lbs., BW of a rectangular timber beam, supported at the ends, may be found by the formula where c is the strength constant, b and d the breadth and depth in inches, and l the length in feet. For the safe load divide BW by the factor of safety, ten for permanent, six for temporary structures.

$$W = \frac{c d b^2}{l}$$

Dr. & Mrs J.B.Henderson.

Dr & Mrs Henderson, who have been in the Falklands for the past three years, sailed for the Old Country on the "Lafonia" last night. We understand the Dr. has been transferred to the West African Medical Service. We feel sure that the many friends of the Dr & Mrs Henderson will join us in wishing them a "Bon Voyage" and the very best of luck in their new sphere of work. Their son Carrick, though expressing the desire to remain in the Falklands and become a Cow Boy or a "Guide", sailed along with his parents.

WEEKLY SERMON

Text John 17. 4 "I have finished (perfected) the work that Thou gavest Me to do."

There has been one, and only one, Who has said with truth as well as with conviction, looking back on His life, "It is perfected." His was the highest of all tasks, to be the Saviour of the world. Death meant nothing and could mean nothing for Him. For us death is an interruption of work begun, a parting from all that we have known, a passing out of life into darkness. Faith and hope do indeed sustain us and light up the shadows with rays of distant glory. But for Christ the humiliation was the glory, the blackness and desertion by the Father were the crown of triumph, for without these His work would have been unfinished, and all the beauty of His sinless life wasted. His was the one perfect life that has ever been lived on earth.

1. WE RECOGNIZE NOT DEGREES OF PERFECTION for there are no degrees in perfection, but degrees of imperfection. We distinguish between lives consecrated to a definite end and aimless lives, between the selfish and unselfish, the beautiful and ugly, the saintly and the sinful. Our standards of judgment vary. At times we are attracted by the life of renunciation. But a true instinct warns us that it is not the lives that have won the praise of men that have necessarily been nearest to God. We know also the vast difference there is between our own estimate of ourselves and the esteem in which the world holds us. If we are not to be trusted even in our judgments of ourselves, what standard have we by which to judge the lives of others; how can we allow for differences of physical constitution, of circumstances and environment, of education and intelligence? We may admire, and justly admire, examples that have inspired us, influences that have wrought upon us for good, patience and gentleness by which we have been won, altruism, indifference to earthly rewards, consistency, honesty, courage and all other virtues exemplified in human lives, but, in more senses than one, when we enter on comparison of life with life, we need to be reminded of the words, "Who art thou that judgest another? To his own Master he standeth or falleth."

2. A MAN MAY AVOID ACTUAL SIN and yet be very far short of perfection. He may be guided and guarded by the Holy Spirit and yet fall into error, misunderstand the character or sensibilities of those with whom he comes into contact, be ignorant of whole spheres of possible attainment, or be misled by the judgments of right and wrong that are current in the circle in which he moves. We have to look away from ourselves and to remember that God's saints are knit together in a holy communion and fellowship, and that there is a common purpose in their lives, the purpose of doing God's work and glorifying His name. No effort to live a godly life, even in the humblest of circumstances, is wasted. Of small account in itself, it is part of a great whole. It is linked up with all saintly lives that have gone before, with all that are yet to come; "as the stars in heaven for multitude, as the sand on the sea shore innumerable," the true children of faithful Abraham testify that God is, and that His service is perfect joy and perfect freedom. In spite of all that has disfigured their lives, in spite of the sins, shortcomings and manifold transgressions that they have mourned, they are the salt of the earth, saving it from destruction; the leaven that works until all humanity be leavened with the knowledge of God.

3. THE LIFE OF A CHILD OF GOD. But is this all that can be said? Let us look back at the life of a child of God. He passes in his conversion out of darkness into light. He is filled with glorious hopes, with heavenly longings after likeness to his Father. He endeavours to translate his aspirations into reality. He stumbles, he falls, he rises, again he stumbles and falls. The heavenly vision of his journey before he set out is continually before his eyes, but to the end of his journey it is a vision, most imperfectly realised. He is amazed and overwhelmed by the love of God to him, love that "demands his soul, his life, his all"; yet how imperfect is his surrender to that love. He believes that he has denounced the world, and is dismayed to find how bitterly he has felt the loss of some expected promotion. So life goes on, and whatever the world thinks of him, his Master knows that the burthen of his sins is indeed intolerable, and calls for ever new repentance and absolution. Then comes death, and is the value, then, of all that was best in his life here? Is it all lost in that new world? Most surely not. That which was good in us was not our own. It came from God, and when we return to Him, then, then it will be perfected. Then we shall know what perfection means.

ARMISTICE DAY'S DANCE

In aid of Earl Haig's appeal a Dance was held in the Town Hall on Friday last. Some 400 people attended including parties from H.M.Ships Exeter and Ajax, His Excellency the Governor also honoured the assembly with his presence.

Owing to the efficiency of Mr D.W.O'Sullivan and Mr L.A. Sedgwick who carried out the duties as Masters of Ceremony dancing went with a swing. The Lambeth Walk, a new dance, proved the great event of the evening and caused much amusement to the onlookers.

On behalf of all those who will benefit by the fun raised, the Local Organiser wishes to thank everyone who so generously contributed to the success of the evening, particularly the Harmonica and Jazz Bands who offered their services free of charge, and the Government for allowing the free use of the Hall, also to those who aided so much by selling poppies.

"Exeter" Boys Defeat Stanley Girls.

In a Field Hockey Match between the Boys of "Exeter" and the Girls Hockey Club of Stanley on Tuesday evening, the Boys from the Ship came out on the top end of a two to nothing score. We understand there is to be a return match, in which the "gals" hope to even things. Let us hope it will not be played at the same time as a football game, as two whistles are a bit confusing.

"AJAX" CHAPLAIN PREACHES IN CATHEDRAL.

Those who attended Evensong in the Cathedral on Sunday night were fortunate in hearing a sermon preached by the Rev. G.W.Dixon Chaplain of H.M.S.Ajax. Here are a few extracts from what we feel a most interesting as well as helpful sermon.

"First of all I want to say how much I appreciate the opportunity of sharing in your worship tonight. It is now 5 years since I first saw these Islands. Then I was in the Herzogin Cecilia, a sailing ship homeward bound from Port Lincoln in South Australia, and I well remember seeing the Falklands as a blurred smudge in rough weather on our Port Bow. Little did I think that within 5 years I should actually visit your homeland. But as so often happens in life the opportunity came along, it was taken, and once more wish of my life has been fulfilled. I remember Capt. Erickson of the Herzogin used to tell us that a sailor is not a sailor until he's been in these waters. He was of course thinking especially of Cape Horn and the rolling seas down there. But then we have another reason for respecting and honouring your waters. We know that this is Holy Ground, it is a sort of Pilgrim spot on the face of the sea to the navies of two great nations, and memories - some sad, some proud, others thankful - but all of them sacred, will linger here for many a long day to come.

But I don't want to talk of these things especially tonight, you will have an opportunity to think about them when the anniversary comes round in a few weeks time. What I want to do tonight is to try to give you a helpful message, to say something practical, to encourage you in your religion - for after all said and done it is still religion which is the deepest thing in a good man's heart. What are we to say about religion in a place like this where loneliness is apt to be a problem? Can that help us if we are face to face with loneliness and despair? Of course it can, because religion at heart is simply a friendship with some body and he is Jesus Christ. And He Himself has told us how we can win for ourselves His companionship. You remember our Lord's own words, "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you." We know what these things are because they are recorded in the Bible. Worship is just the fulfilment of some of His commands. The whole purpose of assembling together in prayer and praise is just to get to know our Lord a little better - to learn to love Him more, by doing what He has told us to do. He taught us to pray. That is why we, who are called by His name do pray. He taught us much about what our conduct should be and He gave us the golden rule of life - to love God with heart, soul mind and strength and one's neighbour as oneself. (We try - however badly - to live up to this standard.) and then - don't let us ever forget He ordained a rite which should endure until His coming again. "This is my Body: this is my Blood" He said "Do this in remembrance of me." And perhaps this is where some of us fail most. But remember in the Lord's Supper, the Holy Communion, the Eucharist, or the Mass (the name matters little) the word "loneliness" has no meaning whatever, for it is there - at the Altar of God - we have that "Unseen cloud of Witnesses" which includes those from whom we are separated for a season as well as those who have passed beyond the veil. It is there that we can hold Communion, not only with our Lord, but also with all our friends scattered over the face of the earth, and with those in Paradise at rest. And it is true that nowhere on earth are we Christian Brethren closer to our Lord and to one another than when we kneel at His Altar in obedience to His express command. Those are some of the consolations of religion, so in conclusion I would just say this. (You possibly do these things, if so continue in them.)

Stick to your religion and make it a reality; say your prayers; read your Bibles and make your Communions

"IS IT TRUE WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT DIXIE?"

Obviously the best way to find out is to go and see for yourself, a course hardly convenient or possible for the average person. Therefore the terrible doubt remains, all these things they say may not be true.

Now much has been said in praise of Johnnie Walker, the roundness, flavour and absence of "bite", the result of careful and expert blending and maturing have all been commented upon.

Do you doubt these statements ?

YOU are the best person to prove their veracity or otherwise. This can easily be done by asking for Johnnie Walker BY NAME.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 24.

Two men-of war are here together for the first time in five years. The weather clerk has decided to give us at least an odd day or two of fine weather. Dances, parties, football, hockey and other sports are the order of the day. All the fun and pleasure of meeting fresh faces and renewing old acquaintances is here. If only we could see them more often and spread our enjoyment over a longer period, instead of having to concentrate it into a few days.

That brings us to our point. The nervous strain of long though pleasant hours tells in the long run. And that is where our old friend NUTRITION crops up again. If you have fed yourself properly and made the best use of your opportunities to look after yourself, then so much the better will be your ability to go to every dance and the other doings and still stand up to the strain. It all boils down to the old maxim - keep your body's fires stoked wisely rather than too well.

COOKING CLASSES.

The following reply to the question in last week's paper has been received from the Government:-

With reference to the question asked last week regarding cooking classes, we are informed that as soon as Church House is vacated the classes will recommence. The classes will then be taken by Miss O.R. Smith, Assistant Mistress, Government School.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

STANLEY v an H.M.S. "EXETER" XI.

The long-awaited match between Stanley and a Ship was played on Tuesday evening, 15th November, and resulted in a win for the home side by 4 goals to 2.

Stanley fielded the side generally expected, but it is only fair to say that "Exeter" turned out, apparently, anything but their best eleven; in addition, they played a man short throughout.

Nevertheless, Stanley can take some pleasure in that they won on their merits, and their success should give some stimulus to local football.

Playing with a strong breeze, "Exeter" had no better of the exchanges in the first half, but they managed to score two goals with almost the only shots they attempted, a swerving ball and the sun being too much for Reive, while the second goal materialised from an inexplicable lapse by Stanley's Captain.

The second half saw Stanley "all over" the Ship, and goals came from Sedgwick (from a scramble), from a really magnificent header by Robinson, from a penalty by Miller, and one more from Miller following another scramble.

The 6 or 7 youngsters in the Stanley team, most of whom were playing against strangers for only the second time, shaped very well once they had got over a slight preliminary nervousness and when they had gone some way to distinguishing the referee's whistle from that of the hockey-match on the adjacent pitch. The "old firm" at back, D.Fleuret and Grierson, did all that was expected of them, though they had many leisure moments in the second half.

WARNING NOTICE

Firing's by H.M.Ships.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that weather permitting, howitzer firings with High Explosives and small arm firings with ball ammunition will take place between Engineer Point and Cape Pembroke on Thursday the 17th of November, between 9 a.m. and 2 a.m.

Howitzer firings will also take place on Wednesday the 16th November between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, and 6-pounder sub-calibre firings at the Wolf Rock from H.M.S. "Exeter" between the same hours on the same date. This will entail keeping a strip 1000 yards wide clear of personnel in case of accidents. The position will embrace the high land to the South of the entrance to the Canache (Peninsula).

LOCAL FOOTBALL.

Royal Marines, "Exeter" V F.I.Defence Force.

A team of Royal Marines from H.M.S. "Exeter" met the Defence Force on Sunday evening last winning by the only goal scored. The first twenty minutes play brought no score although with a strong wind behind them, the Marines gave the home defence a busy time. In attempting to clear a ball which should have been allowed to go for a goal kick, Bound unluckily gave the Marines their only goal, Reive having no chance to save. After the change of ends play was fairly even but the local side were unable to level the score. Weak finishing by the forwards and lack of combination were contributory factors to the Defence Force's defeat.

We regret to announce the death of Thomas Henry Hennah, at the King Edward Memorial Hospital on Tuesday November 15th, in his 72nd year. The late Mr Hennah had been ill for the past six months. The deceased was born in Brighton England and came to the Falkland Islands at the age of 15. His first job was on the West Falkland at Port Stephens as an Engineer. The late Mr Hennah was married to Miss Mary Dixon in April 1888. They spent 25 years in Patagonia, coming back here about eleven years ago, during which time he has worked for himself doing odd jobs in the cabinet making line. Those left to mourn are his widow and son Thomas Hennah who is on his way home from England, and three grandchildren.

The Funeral is at 2.30 to day from Christ Church Cathedral.

C A R D O F T H A N K S

Mrs Hennah wishes to express her sincere thanks to the Senior Medical Officer, the Matron, Nurses and staff of the King Edward Memorial Hospital, and all the many friends who have been so kind to her and her late Husband during his long illness.

Text "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the proving of things not seen." - Hebrews 11. 1.

Faith in the Risen Christ, faith that Christ is the Son of God, faith that in the power of His Spirit men may themselves become sons of God, is the essential and all-important and all-powerful element of early Christianity. Whether we turn to the Gospels, to the acts of the Apostles, or to the Epistles, it is always faith in the Risen Christ which stands out as the one thing necessary for salvation. The grounds for faith are to be found, not in the blind acceptance of theory, nor in the sentimentality of emotionalism, but in the length and breadth and depth of Christian experience, extending right across the whole field of human activity.

1. THE TRUE NATURE OF FAITH. There are two lines of thought which can be pursued in our inquiry into the true nature of faith. First, the experience of Christians throughout the ages shows quite clearly that a living faith must find expression, and must justify itself, in the whole personality of a man; and it must work itself out, in response to friendship with, and devotion to, the Risen Lord, in a life of power and activity. Secondly, the whole of the Christian knowledge and understanding of the Gospels is dependent upon faith. Without faith the Gospels have no meaning, for the Christ of the Gospels is the Risen Christ of faith; and the Jesus of history is important only in so far as He is recognized as the living Saviour Who comes into the lives of men as both the way to God and also the source of power, for the living of the Christian way of life. That is to say, the Christian faith must be a reasonable one, for it must stand the test of being subjected to the judgments of the hearts and wills and minds of men.

2. A CONSTANTLY CHANGING RESPONSE. "By faith we understand that the words have been framed by the Word of God, so that what is seen hath not been made out of things which do appear." In the first place we must agree with the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews; faith is a response made by a man to his environment. It cannot be irrational. For it is necessary that it shall be a constantly changing response. With the deepening of spiritual perception must inevitably come a deepening of faith. If the changes in environment make it impossible to adhere to old forms of the dogmas of faith then we must be prepared to change the forms. Faith is a response to environment, but it is a response which is witnessed to by the mind as well as the heart. It is, therefore, in the nature of an hypothesis to account for experience. And, like all hypotheses, it may from time to time be modified without being put under condemnation. The scientist, as much as the Christian, is dependent upon the employment of hypotheses and axioms upon which he builds new hypotheses and new axioms, in the light of his empirical researches; and always he is prepared to modify and change his original ideas in conformity with his later deductions. So, in matters of faith, we must constantly be prepared to alter the forms in which it expresses itself. Such dogmas of faith as are developed directly in and through the ever-changing life and experience of humanity, in conformity with its highest rational and spiritual and moral ideals, alone can claim to be of the truth.

3. MAN'S RESPONSE IN LOVE. Faith for the Christian is an essential element of his religion. It is more than credal assent, and it is more than emotional response to the unseen. It is, in a sense, the whole of life in so far as it is a response made to environment. But it is a response in a special way; It is a response made, not by sight, but by apprehension; and for the Christian, spiritual perception enables him to recognize that his citizenship is in heaven; the seen, the natural, the temporal, is swallowed up in the unseen, the supernatural, the eternal. God is in all, and man is the creature whose end is to see and to know and to worship God. This is a reasonable hope which has its assurance through faith. Besides being the reasonable assurance of things hoped for and the proving of things not seen, faith is man's response in love to the presence in himself, and in the world, of the Spirit of the Risen Christ. For St. Paul, "to have faith" meant to be "in Christ", to experience a mystical union with the risen Lord; the whole personality of a man should be, in Him, expressing itself fully in loving response both to God and to man. To have faith is to submit the will entirely, through Christ, to the Will of God; to see in Christ the vision of God; to experience, by the operation of the Spirit, the power of God revealing itself through us in Christian fellowship. It is not the historical evidences, nor the doctrinal forms, which bear witness to the validity of Christian faith, but the fellowship which it inspires, and the moral and spiritual growth which it engenders. This faith is rooted in history and must express itself in dogmatic forms; but its value lies in the fact that it is the assurance of things hoped for, it answers to the ever-present and age-long desire of men to find the living God, to worship Him, and to serve Him.

CONCERT

A much anticipated event took place in the Town Hall on November 19th. By kind permission of Commodore H.H. Harwood O.B.E., H.M.S. "Exeter" presented a concert in aid of the King George V Memorial Playing Field for Children. The Town Hall was well filled when the strains of "God Save the King" greeted the arrival of H.E. the Governor, Commodore Harwood, and party.

The programme was varied, and everyone found something to suit his special tastes. The ever-popular Hornpipe, and the Awkward Squad lived up to the high standard set last year, and, as usual, the R.M. Band was a treat for all. Equally popular were Sto. Carrick and his Band, with the Cowboy songs they so ably deliver.

The dancing of the Four Bolshies won great admiration, as did A.B. Roberts in his dramatic scene. The adventures of Sam were amusing, and there was a sample of Scotch humour in "Och Aye." Admirers of Cpl. Pratt greatly missed his discourse on "Lerve", while many declare P.O. Hallas' songs would have been well worth the price of admission. Others speak in favour of the crooning of Tel. Jones.

The Actors in the various plays proved their worth, and pleased everyone. We believe the most realistic performance must have been that of the Master of Ceremonies who announced the Melodrama "Three Parts Bad" - for several people have been heard to say that it was a pity the three men who visited the "Ship" were unable to play their parts - and that it quite spoiled the play!

The programme concluded with the singing of "God Save the King", and everyone felt that the evening had been well spent.

The Childrens Playing Field Fund benefited by £33.

STANLEY DON'T AGREE.

'AJAX' SUFFUR CAUSING DEFEAT.

H.M.S. "AJAX" V PORT STANLEY.

Encouraged by their win over H.M.S. "Exeter" the Stanley team gave a splendid exhibition in beating H.M.S. "Ajax" by six goals to nil last Thursday evening. Puhendorff and Crecce replaced Miller (injured) and Jones, Robinson moved to centre forward. Winning the toss "Ajax" elected to defend the last goal against a strong wind. The home side were soon off the mark; after 10 minutes play Robinson opened the score with a low drive which the goalkeeper failed to hold. This was followed up by a continuous attack on the sailors' goal in which King (R) and Sedgwick on the right wing were prominent. Receiving the ball on the penalty line from a short goal kick Robinson put Stanley two up and shortly afterwards completed the hat trick with a well placed header. From a pass from King, Crecce netted Stanley's fourth goal and Robinson added a fifth shortly before half time. Changing over with a deficit of 5 goals 'Ajax' were soon on the move but were unable to get the ball past Reive. Midway through the second half Crecce retired through injury. Shortly before the close of play Atkins increased the home lead to six goals. Owing to the inclement weather the number of spectators was fewer than usual, but those who saw this game will be eager to see the return match which it is hoped to play when the 'Ajax' returns to Stanley.

NEW ZEALAND BOAT EXPECTED.

We understand the s.s. "Mahia" is calling at Stanley from New Zealand on Sunday next.

FLEET EXERCISES.

The Defences of the Colony were recently tested by the South America Squadron.

The general idea of the Exercise was that Red and Blue were at war and that the Red cruiser "Ajax" had been operating in defence of Red trade and was at the time returning to the Falkland Islands. Warning had been received that a Blue cruiser of the "Exeter" class was operating against Red trade.

Early one morning news was received by a keen lookout in Port Stephens camp that an Exeter class cruiser had been sighted moving-South east and at about 3.30 p.m. he "Ajax" was reported from Pebble. The information as received from these two points in a remarkably short time. "Ajax" was reported continuously on her way along the North Coast but no further news was received from East stations concerning Exeter though she sent out aeroplanes for reconnaissance and to attack the guns.

Meanwhile the defences of Port Stanley were on the alert, every gun being manned. Although reports were received from Coast watches along the North and North East Coasts it was not found possible to inform "Ajax" of the presence of "Exeter" without the latter ship picking up the message. Communication outwards by visual signalling from Coast watches could not be established. The result was that "Ajax" which had, it was later ascertained, been damaged in a fight with a Blue raider fell to the latter before the damage could be repaired. Her wireless was out of action.

The attack on the shore defences by the Blue aircraft was beaten off and the Commanding Officer of the Blue cruiser then attempted to land a demolition party but weather conditions made boat work impracticable. Subsequently a bombardment of the Colony's vulnerable points was attempted. The guns of the Defences were brought into action against the Raider.

There is no doubt of the success of the Stanley defences. Admirable keenness was shewn by all ranks and the only regret was that it had not been possible to deal with the landing. Any party which reached the shore would inevitably have been demolished by the concealed defences.

The lesson learnt has been that training and zeal have contributed to the efficiency of the immediate defences of Stanley, if forewarned. The very important task of coast watching however needs much more practice. It is not sufficient merely to sight an enemy ship. The transmission of information is all important.

It is necessary only to add a tribute of thanks to the Commodore and his Squadron for carrying out the tests and to record appreciation of all who helped to make Stanley impregnable and to those farmers and their employees who appreciated the importance of the Exercise and established a coast watch.

DEFENCE FORCE TRIUMPH IN GREAT GAME.

ROYAL MARINES, H.M.S. "AJAX" v F.I.D.FORCE.

This, the most exciting and the most keenly fought match of the week, resulted in a victory for the Defence Force by six goals to four. Aided by the slight wind the Defence Force quickly took the lead but at half time they led by only 3 - 2. We looked forward to a ding-dong second half and were not disappointed. Quickly the Marines drew level by means of their second penalty for 'hands'; the Defence Force forged ahead again, 'Ajax' drew level, again the Defence Force went ahead and to make victory sure, added a sixth goal shortly before the final whistle. A word of praise is due to all who participated in the game; we were given the pleasure of a keen, sporting match, admirably controlled by the referee. For the Defence Force outstanding in the attack was the scintillating combination of Sedgwick and King (R); in the defence Reive was a tower of strength, particularly throughout the crucial second half. Scorers were Aldridge, King (R) and Sedgwick.

One of the most interesting events to have taken place during the stay of H.M.Ships, one can safely say was the very closely contested whaler race last Monday evening, the result being that Mr James Gleadell's crew finished the course one stroke ahead of the boat manned by Mr D.W.O'Sullivan's crew, the third place was taken by a crew from H.M.S."Ajax", while H.M.S."Exeter's" crew came in fourth. A full description of the time taken by each boat will be published later.

Salesian Priest's Jubilee.

The Rev. Patrick O'Grady, former Superior of the Salesian College, Sunbury, and organiser of the Eucharistic Festivals there, will celebrate the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church on February 24th. He has had a notable career as a Salesian. He was admitted to the order by St. John Bosco, the founder, and was ordained in Buenos Aires by Cardinal Cagliero, founder of the South American Salesian missions. From 1890 to 1902 Father O'Grady was the sole priest in the Falkland Islands, where he founded a school in addition to performing his pastoral work. After a year in Switzerland he founded a technical school in Malta, where he was held in high esteem. From 1921 to 1923 he conducted an agricultural school in Ireland, and has also been director of the agricultural college at Sunbury. He speaks French, Italian and Spanish. Two of his sisters are nuns.

WEEKLY SERMON.

A D V E N T H O P E.

Texts. "I will come again" - St.John 14. 3.

"Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into Heaven? This same Jesus which is taken up from you into Heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into Heaven." - Acts 1. 2.

"Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh." - St. Matthew 24. 44.

In these three texts we find the promise of our Lord; its corroboration by the Angels; and the exhortation by our Lord to be ready. The importance given to the subject of the Second Coming in the New Testament is clearly shown by the fact that of the twenty-seven books, the Second Coming is mentioned by no less than twenty-three, the other four being Galatians, Philemon, and the second and third epistles of St. John, the latter three containing only one chapter each.

1. TWO ASPECTS. When we look closely into this great subject, and we find that there are two aspects of our Lord's Second Coming, viz.: - 1. For His saints, to receive them unto Himself. The "Secret Rapture." 2. With His saints, to judge the world. "The Lord cometh with ten thousand of His saints, to execute judgment upon all" (Jude 14.). These two Comings are like two mountain peaks in the same line of vision, the one comparatively near, and the other far distant, with a wide valley between. Let us think now of His coming for His saints. The great passage referring to this is 1 Thessalonians 4. 13-18. These Thessalian Christians were living in daily expectation of the Second Coming, and wondered what would happen to those who had already "fallen asleep." St. Paul writes: "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also that are fallen asleep in Jesus will God bring with Him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord (that is by special revelation given to St. Paul), that we that are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall in no wise preceed those that are fallen asleep. For the Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven with a shout, with the voice of the Archangel, and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words."

2. PREPARING THE WAY. Have you thought how Wireless and Television seem to be preparing the way for our Lord's Return? A hundred years ago there were no telegraph, telephone, wireless, or any of our modern rapid means of communication, and an event taking place in Palestine would not be known for weeks or months on the other side of the world. Now, such an event might be known in a flash, "in the twinkling of an eye," even to the uttermost parts of the earth and the development of television may easily make such an event visible everywhere. How wonderful it all seems! This then is the Christian's "Blessed Hope" and if we are asked why we look forward to, and will welcome, His Coming, our answer would be - We shall then be with Him, whom not having seen we love. We shall then see Him as He is, face to face. We shall then be like Him, beyond the reach of sin and temptation. "We know that when He shall appear, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is" (1 John 3. 2). Let us now look briefly at the Teaching of our Prayer Book concerning this truth. The Prayer Book does not lay as much stress upon the truth of our Lord's Second Coming as we might have expected. Enough, however, is given to make the Second Coming indisputable. In our Prayer Book the emphasis is placed on our Lord's Coming to Judge the World. In our Te Deum we recite the words:

"We believe that thou shalt come to be our judge." In the Apostles' Creed: "He ascended into Heaven, from whence also He shall come to judge the quick (the living) and the dead." In the Nicene Creed: "He shall come again with glory to judge both the quick and the dead." In the Athanasian Creed: "From whence He shall come to judge the quick and the dead." So there can be no doubt as to what is the faith of our Church concerning this. Further, our Church sets apart the four Sundays in Advent to direct our thoughts to this same great truth, and links together, and compares, and contrasts, the first Coming in great humility, and the Second Coming in great glory. The collect for the first Sunday, which especially emphasizes this, we are exhorted to use every day during the Advent Season. If we believe that Angels - the Heavenly Host - came down to earth to herald our Lord's First Coming, is it a thing incredible that the Heavenly Host will accompany Him when He comes again?

3. FOUR CERTAINTIES. Once again we are reminded of our Lord's Coming again, when in our Holy Communion Service, in the Prayer of Consecration, the words are used: "A perpetual remembrance of that His precious death, until His Coming again." There are four certainties about His Coming, amid differing views on some points: - Christ is Coming again according to His promise. He must come some time and may come any time. He is coming first for His saints, the Resurrection from the dead. He will come with His saints after an interval, and this for judgment. Our attitude should be that of Watching, Working, and Waiting, "for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man Cometh."

Yerba Mate.

We wish to popularise the drinking of "yerba mate". It is much cheaper than Tea or Coffee, it's present price being only 7d. per lb.

We do not wish to make any claims ourselves regarding its medicinal properties, but if you read English magazines you will find it advertised under special names such as "Hervea Tea" and other fancy names and great claims made for it in regard to it's anti-rheumatic and digestive properties - and the price may be anything from 2/- to 4/- per lb.

Whether "Yerba Mate" is a good digestive drink, and whether it is good as an anti-rheumatic beverage, we leave every customer to judge for him or herself, but at 7d per lb. it is worth while trying.

The classical way to drink "Yerba Mate" is in a gourd (4d. each) with a silver plated "bombilla" (1/9d. each). Half fill the gourd with "Yerba Mate" and fill up with boiling water. You will get three or four sips of the infusion this way through the "bombilla".

But it can be made like ordinary tea and taken with sugar and hot milk.

FOOD SCHOOL

In the U.S. are free public trade schools to teach youngsters to fly an airplane, repair an automobile, refurbish a woman's face. But until last week there was no free public school for training workers to serve the nation with its prime necessity - food. Last week New York City's Board of Education announced that a week hence it would open the first Food Trades Vocational High School.

The school will take elementary school graduates, in four years turn them into butchers, bakers, grocers, waiters. The food industry has contributed $30,000 worth of equipment: a butcher shop with mechanical slicers, refrigerators, gleaming showcases and sawdust on the floor; a bakery; a grocery; a cafeteria with a soda fountain; a food bacteriology laboratory.

Students will usher food through every step from field to table, learn to sweep floors, write advertisements, calculate profit & loss. They will study also the science of food: what makes bread rise, what makes beer. When they go to school each morning, students will first take a shower, then don white uniforms. The food they carve, bake and cook will be dished up to them and their teachers for lunch in the cafeteria.

Stocky, industrious Teacher Jacob Simonson, who will have charge of the school, has been ten years persuading the Board of Education to create it. He will stock his school with 300 picked students. For the first cellophane-wrapped graduates, he says, there will be waiting in New York City alone at least 800 jobs.

SONNET OF THE MUTTON-WEARY.

Mutton! thou chaser of reluctant sleep,
Thou wrecker of digestions by the score,
Bese product of the inoffensive sheep
Who ruminante in sadness on the moor,
What have I done, that thou should'st haunt me so?
Why art thou ever with me day and night?
Why doth thy flesh now fill a soul with woe
That once regarded thee with vain delight?
Gone are the days, and faded are the years
When all my spirit sang thy virtues rare;
Thy fragrance moves me now to harrassed tears,
Thinē image fills my heart with black despair.
Great Muse, pray hasten ere this heart doth break,
And sooth my soul with underdone beef-steak.

Yours faithfully,

FIGARO.

HEALTH BULLETIN No. 11.

Sore Feet !

There are a good many painful foot conditions which people suffer from and in fact sore feet can make life a burden. Quite a number of these can be prevented, or when they occur, relieved. For some reason patients are rather slow in seeking aid and it is a common experience to meet people who have gone on for years putting up with a condition which their doctor could have taken care of quite satisfactorily if he had been permitted to do so.

The treatment of most foot ailments is not surgical. The foot is arched from before backwards and also arched from side to side. Distortion of these natural arches gives rise to pain or discomfort. The commonest deformity is a flattening of the transverse arch across the toes, spreading out the individual bones and causing a callosity or corn on the sole of the foot.

Next, the modern shoe, particularly the modern ladies' shoe crowds the toes together and forces the great toe outward against the second toe. This causes the common bunion on the inner side of the foot near the ball of the great toe.

The second toe lies either under or over, or is pushed laterally by the great toe - A condition known as "hammer-toe" results with a painful corn on the back of the second toe. The outer three toes are crowded together and they tend to become rigid or even "clawed".

In addition to this a flattening of the longitudinal arch i.e. from heel to toe may develop causing pain both in the foot and in the calf muscles.

Corns on all the toes are common and the crowding and warping of the toes causes pressure which results in "in-growing" toe nails.

Any or all of these conditions may be on one or both feet.

Various theories are put forward to account for the presence of these painful deformities but since they are about fifteen times as common in women as men the habit of wearing high heeled shoes offers a fairly convincing explanation. Another factor is tight short hose.

The important thing for a layman to remember is that sore feet can often be dealt with. The treatment may involve a little trouble and some attention to detail but the relief from pain surely makes this worth while. These measures include:-

- (a) Alterations to shoes.
- (b) The fitting of protective pads.
- (c) The application of protective strapping.
- (d) Attention to corns and callosities.
- (e) Heat, massage and exercises.

PREDUCING WEIGHT.

Many people, particularly women, wish to get rid of excess fat. This is entirely desirable if gone about in a safe way but starving or the use of drugs is dangerous and undesirable. Overweight for most folks is simply due to over-eating and under exercising. Your doctor will advise you on this point. The important thing to realize is that weight may safely be reduced on a diet which is both safe and satisfying. Here is a specimen diet which is recommended:

EARLY MORNING: Glass of water.

BREAKFAST: Wholemeal bread 1 oz.
Butter $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.
One egg.
Tea with milk.
Tomato $3\frac{1}{2}$ ozs.

LUNCH: 11 o'clock

Orange, peeled, $3\frac{1}{2}$ ozs.
Glass of water.

DINNER: Lean meat 2 ozs, or rabbit or chicken 2 ozs, or tripe $3\frac{1}{2}$ ozs, or fish $2\frac{1}{2}$ ozs may be taken with $\frac{1}{2}$ oz extra butter. Vegetable 4 oz.

(cabbage, cauliflower, tomato, lettuce, etc.) Apple $2\frac{1}{2}$ ozs.

AFTERNOON:

TEA:

Glass of Water.

Fish $3\frac{1}{2}$ ozs; or if very lean meat or chicken or rabbit is taken, omit half the butter ration for the day.
Vegetable 3 oz.
Tea with milk.

SUPPER:

Skim milk $\frac{1}{2}$ pint.
Wholemeal bread 1 oz.
Butter $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.

N.B. If dinner is taken at night, the tea ration given above can be regarded as suitable for lunch.

HOW RESTRICTED IS THE LIFE OF A PATIENT WITH HEART DISEASE?

The Heart, constantly pumping, increases or decreases its action with the varying activity of the body. The greater the bodily activity, the more forcefully does the heart work. The heart has a tremendous range of adaptability in response to this need. Under intense effort such as is involved in a 100 yard race the pulse rate may jump from 70 to as high as 200 beats a minute. The amount of blood pumped out by the heart may be tripled. Yet it is impossible to overstrain the normal heart. Other parts of the body give way first. The muscles flag so that the patient collapses before the heart is called on for its last ounce of effort. In other words the heart has a tremendous reserve power that may be called on to meet the extraordinary demands placed on it.

In the presence of heart disease this reserve power of the heart, this ability to pump more blood in response to bodily efforts is curtailed. In the earlier stages of cardiac disease the heart can take care of the efforts involved in the activities of every day life but can no longer respond to the greater strains, such for instance, arise from participation in active sports. As the heart disease progresses the ability of the heart to respond to loads placed on it gradually diminishes. Its reserve power becomes smaller, and finally in the later stages of heart disease it can no longer carry on an adequate circulation, even when the patient is at rest.

The heart announces overstrain and fatigue by giving rise to certain symptoms. The most important of these are shortness of breath, palpitation and pain in the heart region. The amount of effort required to provoke these symptoms is the gauge of the reserve power of the heart.

But it must be remembered that these symptoms of shortness of breath, palpitation and pain may also occur in nervous disorders of hearts that are otherwise normal. One must not too readily jump to the conclusion that such complaints mean heart trouble. In such patients the symptoms are out of all proportion in their intensity to the changes found in the heart. Only a careful medical examination will reveal whether these symptoms are due to organic disease or to a nervous heart.

If the patient with a heart disease can carry on without symptoms, his cardiac reserve is excellent and his activities need not be curtailed. If certain efforts, such as climbing stairs, sweeping or carrying heavy parcels give rise to discomfort or induce undue fatigue or if the patient is exhausted in the evening after his round of duties, he is overstraining his heart. The patient must learn to regulate the amount and vigor of his movements to a point below that which will give rise to symptoms. If climbing two flights of stairs brings on shortness of breath, he should, if he must ascend two stories, rest after the first flight, so that the second one can be negotiated without discomfort.

Patients with bad hearts need not be bed-ridden invalids. Rest is certainly better than uncontrolled exertion; but measured and regulated bodily activity has positive physical as well as physic benefits. Although the movements of the blood finds its origin chiefly in the cardiac muscular pump, the regulation of the circulation is determined by many additional structures, such as the small arteries, and the action of the muscles of the body in milking the blood in the veins toward the heart.

The dietary needs for individuals with heart disease, except in the presence of severe heart failure, are those of a normal person. There are no particular virtues, for instance, in a low salt diet. The chief danger is overeating which leads to obesity. Often patients have so irrationally restricted their diets that symptoms characteristic of dietary deficiencies have resulted. Fluid intake should be restricted to not more than two quarts a day.

Coffee and tea owe their effects to the caffeine contained in them. Caffeine is an effective heart stimulant. Most subjects of heart disease tolerate coffee and tea well and may partake in moderation; that is about two cups a day. Only when their use induces sleeplessness or palpitation should these beverages be stopped. Alcohol has no direct action on the heart. Taken in the form of spirituous liquors, it increases the pulse rate and blood pressure. Alcoholic drinks in quantities sufficient to produce exhilaration are best avoided, and immoderate beer drinking is unwise because of the excessive fluid intake as well as because it leads to obesity. Temperate drinking is harmless to people with heart disease. Indeed, in older persons, particularly when they are fatigued or tense, a glass of port or sherry promotes relaxation and is distinctly salutary in its effects.

No convincing evidence has ever been presented that the use of tobacco leads to heart disease, to hardening of the arteries or high blood pressure. In rare instances, tobacco may induce cardiac pain and palpitation, but a true "tobacco heart" is seldom encountered. Excessive smoking should be avoided, but the daily consumption of one or two cigars or from five to ten cigarettes is rarely harmful. Indeed, the sense of relaxation that accompanies smoking may be a benefit. Those persons in whom smoking gives rise to distinct symptoms must give up the habit. In certain diseases of the arteries of the arms and legs, smoking is distinctly harmful and must be stopped completely.

There is no doubt that the shelter and routine of married life are of benefit to the cardiac patient. But marriage does not concern the patient alone; it involves the marital partner and often children as well. In considering marriage the patient with heart disease must recognize that he is more susceptible to illness than the average mortal and that such illness may affect his relationship with his marriage partner, his economic status and the welfare of his children. In these cases economic rather than medical factors are determining.

Many young women with heart disease can bear children without damage to themselves. There is no rule that will tell which cases are favourable. Decision can be reached only after careful study by a physician.

Senior Medical Officer.

H.M.S. "EXETER'S" FAREWELL DANCE.

The Ship's Company of H.M.S. Exeter" wish to extend a cordial invitation to the people of the Colony to a Dance which will be given in the Town Hall on Monday the 5th of December, 1938, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

TENDERS FOR COLLECTION OF GARBAGE

Sealed tenders for the collection of garbage in the Town of Stanley during 1939 are called for.

Tenders must be marked "Garbage Tender" and delivered to the Office of the Senior Medical Officer not later than December the 15th, 1938.

Garbage may be removed by truck or horse drawn cart or both but these must be suitably covered in a manner that could be approved by the Senior Medical Officer.

The material to be removed includes ashes and all waste material about the various premises in the town, public and private, but excludes night soil. Garbage will be required to be collected by the householder at a convenient spot on his premises and be sorted into

- (a) Waste that can be burned, and
- (b) Waste such as ashes, tin cans, etc.

Garbage must be transported to a point or points and disposed of to the satisfaction of the Board of Health.

Garbage must be collected from the ordinary household not less than once each fortnight and from larger premises as often as may be necessary.

The successful tenderer must post a bond of £50 to be forfeited should it appear to the Senior Medical Officer that the work has been done in an unsatisfactory manner and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Further details may be obtained at the Office of the Senior Medical Officer.

The following letter has been received by H.E. the Governor from Commodore H.H. Harwood O.B.E., R.N.

H.M.S. "EXETER",
at Port Stanley.

5th December 1938.

Your Excellency,

Before leaving Port Stanley, may I thank you, and through you the whole of the Colony, for the delightful reception that the South American Division have received. I can assure you that we have all enjoyed ourselves and are extremely sorry to go.

We have had much pleasure too in seeing on board the two ships some of the Officers and other ranks of the Falkland Islands Defence Force. We look back with great pleasure to the co-operation and the exercises we have had with them..

I very much appreciate the honour you accorded to H.M.S. "EXETER" in taking passage and flying your flag in the ship during your visit to South Georgia. I am sure you know that the whole Ship's Company, Officers and Men, thoroughly enjoyed the visit to the Dependency.

The Captain, Officers and Ship's Company of H.M.S. "AJAX" will be looking forward to their visit next year, but I am afraid that few, if any, of the Officers and Men of H.M.S. "EXETER" will still be on board when the ship next visits Port Stanley. We will warn the new Commission of the preparations and practice that will be necessary if they are to compete at work or play with our friends in the Falkland Islands.

I have the honour to be,

Your Excellency's obedient servant,

H.H. Harwood

COMMODORE.

WEEKLY SERMON.

MEDITATION IN HOLY WRIT

Text. Psalm 119. 18. "Open Thou mine eyes, that I may see the wondrous things of Thy law."

The Bible, being the Word of God, is different from all other books in this respect - that it means a great deal more than it says. When you or I say a thing, it means, at most, one thing only; and we may feel we have achieved something if it means anything at all. When the Holy Spirit of God speaks, He means an infinity of things. His words may convey, on the face of them, some simple lesson which a little child can understand. But behind it and beneath it there will lie, in depth on depth, for the spiritual vision and the understanding sense of faith, the profound things of God.

1. A FIGURE OF CHRIST. The stories told of our Blessed Lord's words and actions in the Gospels, which are inspired by God the Holy Spirit, contain, beneath their beautiful simplicity, layer beyond layer, lode beneath lode, of precious meaning for all degrees and measures of that spiritual vision, which comes by new-birth in love and humility and faith. When you look at the stories of the Bible and consider them simply as edifying anecdotes, with nothing to bind them together, you miss the meaning and the message which underlies them all and binds them all in one. But when you read in the light of the Godhead of Christ and the Faith He has planted in the world for its salvation - you see that the whole Book is just one picture of Christ. And then, once more, looking again more closely and more analytically, you begin to discern the intimate relation of each part to the whole; you come to see that the details are details of Christ, and the whole is Christ.

2. UNFATHOMABLE MINDS OF RICHES. Every simple story in the Bible, more or less, is fraught with meaning; but every story of our Lord's life, His every miracle, every parable, and every action can be examined and you will find that they all have their beauty as stories of the All-Beautiful Christ; they all have their teaching, moral and spiritual: but they are mysteries too; thin-veiled dramas of the Plan of Redemption; rehearsals of His Incarnation, Passion, Resurrection, and the Kingdom; and among the wonderful mosaic everyone has its special aspect to bring out, its special spiritual lesson to teach in the light mystical. People say they find the Bible uninteresting and their meditations dry and hard to make with attention and profit. Well, taking this little story as a pattern, could you not try to work out this principle for yourselves? For God's Word is all like that. Suppose I turned a lantern into a dark room through a chink, and in the spot of light you saw that on the floor there were jewels sparkling. Would not the presence of treasure on that one fortuitous spot be a presumption to you that the whole floor was covered with them? Hidden under the simple surface of God's Word there are unfathomable mines of riches everywhere. But to find them you need the opened eyes of Faith; and even so you need to use all your imagination, all your care, all your thought. They are hidden in allegory, just as gold and precious stones are hidden in difficult places in nature by the same God; not placed where fools and the lazy and the careless shall light upon them without pains, but concealed so that none can win them without opened eyes ("Except a man be born again, he cannot see") and patient labour and search.

3. A THING TO LOOK FORWARD TO WITH JOY. In these busy and distracting days people have not much time, perhaps not much energy or heart, for prolonged and serious study; we are too much occupied with husks that perish; though I know that if you say such things, even religious folk will laugh at you. "The bare idea of finding time to think!" But you do give God at least a quarter of an hour of your busy day, do you not? You do exercise yourself just a little in His Holy Word?

As in spiritual things, then, it is not quantity but quality that tells, will you not pray the Holy Spirit, "Open Thou mine eyes that I may see the wondrous things of Thy Law"; "Give me light to catch Thy meanings, the power and heart and will to take trouble and pains to know thee." For when you begin to get eyes, my brethren, the things of God from a burden become a delight; and Meditation in Holy Writ, instead of an irksome duty, becomes a lover's tryst, a thing to look forward to with joy. Then the soul says with the ancient singer - who, remember, had only the five books of Moses to read, and no Gospels of glory and grace like you or me - "I am as glad of Thy Word as one that findeth great spoils; the law of Thy mouth is dearer unto me than thousands of gold and silver."

H. M. S. "LYTTER'S" VISIT TO S. GEORGIA.

Governor's weather was with us all the way to and from South Georgia. Calm seas, sunshine all the time except for a rain squall or two and a light fall of snow, put everyone in good spirits. There was no seasickness among the distinguished guests and everything went on an even keel.

South Georgia looked its best, and the snow had begun to thaw in patches showing the mountain sides in a black and white panorama. The fine weather enabled everyone to be out of doors and enjoy themselves.

The official programme in the social and sporting world was well organised.

On Friday 25th, His Excellency accompanied by Captain Fleuret, AEC went ashore and stayed with the Magistrate and Mrs Barlas, that evening Commodore H.H. Harwood and Surgeon Commander J.Cussen dined with the Magistrate and Mrs Barlas. In the morning His Excellency, Commodore Harwood and about ten officers made a trip to the famous Norden Shold glacier.

In the afternoon the same party saw the Sea-Elephant rookery.

On Saturday 26th, members of the ship's company saw a whale being cut up at the Pesca Station and a party of four officers (two to each catcher) were able to go out in a catcher and see how whales are caught.

Unfortunately the reindeer hunt was cancelled as the weather looked threatening but the gale turned out a zephyr!

That evening the Director, Manager and members of the Peace Station dined with His Excellency, Commodore Harwood, Capt. Ficuret, the Rev. Lowe, The Magistrate and Mrs Barlas, Mr Greenshields and five officers.

On Sunday 27th, the Rev Lowe took a Holy Communion Service at the Magistrate's house at 10 o'clock.

In a tug-of-war contest "Pesca" v "Exeter" the sailors won rather easily by two pulls. The ship's team have been together for nearly two years and have only been beaten once. His Excellency gave the order 'Take the Strain'.

In the football match that followed the ship and Pesca drew two goals all.

The whaler race between a crew from the ship and a crew composed of Falkland Islanders the Falklands won a splendid tussle by 36 strokes. The conditions were excellent for the race. The names of the winning crew were:- E.Luxton, W.Kirk, S.Berntsen, P.Hardy, W.Anderson & B.Hirtle.

That evening the Pesca cinema company invited about 75 members of Exeter's ship's company to the talkies.

The ship's Royal Marine band (Director - Bandmaster Bagley) played a selection of light orchestral music for an hour. The seating capacity of nearly 300 was packed and the tremendous applause and enthusiasm showed their keen appreciation of the music.

One of the high lights of the visit was the baptism on board "Exeter" by the Rev. Lowe of Master Pierre Christiansen Weisletten who had as godmother Mrs O'Sullivan.

The Magistrate and Mrs Barlas, Mr F.Jacobsen, the Station Doctor and some others dined on board with Commodore Harwood.

The continual fine weather enabled many of the sailors to try and explore the highest mountain. They very nearly scaled Mount Paget (9,200)! The sea-elephants came in for a good deal of attention and there were many pups to be seen on the beach. Shackleton's grave, and the cairn erected by his companions on the point at the entrance to the harbour were visited by practically everyone in the ship.

The photographers had a busy time, the views of the mountains and valleys were superb and the peaks stood out in sharp contrast against the perpetual sky.

Both the ship's aircraft flew over the Island every day and were able to take excellent photographs. It was the first time in history that this has happened.

The Commander of the ship Commander C.P.Clarke was unfortunately confined to his bed during all this time with a chill and he missed the pleasures of the visit.

On Monday 26th "Exeter" sailed for Leith Harbour. The Magistrate and Mrs Barlas were passengers. The ship anchored at Stromness and H.E., Commodore Harwood and party went round by motor boat to Leith.

That evening Commodore Harwood gave a dinner party on board.

On Tuesday 27th Exeter sailed for Stanley.

We experienced the same perfect weather on our way home and as we approached the Falklands the temperature became much warmer and the remark was passed that "it is not so cold in the Falklands after all!"

"A J A X" CONCERT.

In the Town Hall on Saturday December 3rd, the people of Stanley were treated to another splendid concert presented by members of H.M.S. "Ajax" by kind permission of Captain C.H.L. Woodhouse. The show was produced by Engineer Commander L. S. Neake, R.N., the Stage Manager being Chief O.A. Neal. The Musical Contributions were under the care of Bandmaster E. Barnes.

The stage decorations, lighting effects and the general preliminary preparations left nothing to be desired.

To go through the programme and pick out the best items is an impossibility. The first number was a musical opening chorus with plenty of life and "go" in it. This spirit prevailed throughout the whole of the most delightful evening. Many who were present say it was the best ship's concert they have seen for a long time, and are already looking forward to the return of the "Ajax" next year.

The concert like that of the "Exeter", was in aid of the Children's Playing Field Fund and the total proceeds amounted to £35-19-2d.

Song titles applied to Johnnie Walker:-

"YOU CAN'T MARRY TEN PRETTY GIRLS"

Of course "single" or separate whiskies are not married until they are quite old, because a period of long years in the wood is necessary before they are mature and mellow enough to be blended as Johnnie Walker.

When the time for blending eventually comes, the Blender chooses from the large number of fully matured single whiskies at his disposal, and decides what proportion of each he must use to achieve that perfect harmony and "roundness" which has always been a distinctive feature of Johnnie Walker.

Every time you drink Johnnie Walker you will realise again how happy the marriage has been - and as a result you will always look for the famous square bottle and ask for Johnnie Walker by name.

FEEDING THE SAILOR & KEEPING THE SHIP.

WHAT ? - 1200 eggs for breakfast, 200 lbs of Ox Hearts, 40 lbs of sage and onion stuffing, 650 lbs of Roast Potatoes, 70 lbs of Haricot Beans, and 120 lbs of Rice Pudding for dinner. 150 tins of sardines for tea. 600 eggs, 50 lbs of bacon and 150 lbs of fried chipped potatoes for supper, plus 540 lbs of bread, 20 lbs of tea, 100 tins of milk, 80 lbs of sugar and 40 lbs of butter, - Yes, that is what was consumed on one of the days I was on board "Exeter". I asked 'Was that on account of the cold weather at South Georgia?' and was shown the weekly menu bearing out that this was just an ordinary day. I was told it had to be done and was done at 1/3d per day per sailor, i.e. 3½ for breakfast, 7d for dinner, 1d for tea, and 3½d for supper. Out of this maximum allowance it was necessary to save £120 for a bigger and better spread on Christmas Day. For those who would like to see what the "Exeter" lads will be eating on Christmas day next, a Christmas menu can be seen at the Deanery.

"I'm Chief O' Cooks' said Relfren John to me, "and as some of the housewives at the Falklands doubted my word, just take a peep at this" - I was then shown a certificate from the National Training College of Domestic Subjects stating that John had attended a course and passed a practical examination with distinction.

He continued "I know my cooks, and they know me, and we all know that the Ship's happiness and contentment can start and stop in the sailor's tummy. - Yes, we buy, receive, stow, account for all issues, issue, prepare, cook, carve and apportion 2,400 meals every day, so you see that on this commission alone we have served 1,752,000 meals in two years." I also learned from the Paymaster that an average of 560 lbs of bread is baked every day. 14,000 lbs of flour is used every month, and the Ship normally carries 45,000 lbs of flour. The Ship carries 9 months of dry provisions, clothing and mess utensils, but the refrigerator only takes frozen fish, meat and butter for 6 weeks."

A year's supply of paints, canvas, rope, nuts, bolts and repair and cleaning materials is kept in the various store rooms and all issues are valued and charged against the respective departmental officers. During the week I was on board stores to the value of £75 were issued and of this £12 was for cleaning items.

The average monthly wage and extra pay on the Ship amounts to £6,500, wages being £6,000, clothing allowances £270, extra pay £150, money in lieu of rum not taken up £100. The average sale of clothing is £170 a month. The daily issue of rum amounts to 49 pints, and each man receives $\frac{1}{8}$ pint, which means that only 152 men take up rum the result being that the majority of H.M. "Exeter's" sailors are 'temperance' men who receive 3d a day instead of rum.

WEDDING

A wedding of much interest was solemnised at Portslade Old Village Church, when Lucy, second daughter of Mr & Mrs George Jay, was married to Leslie, son of Mr & Mrs Flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mc. Donald Hobley, he also baptised the bride in North Arm, East Falklands. The bride who was escorted by her father, wore a dark brown coat trimmed with beige fur, a very high "halo" hat with veil falling over the face, she carried brown gloves and hand bag to match and wore a spray of pale pink tea-roses and Lilies of the Valley. Minnie the bride's youngest sister was bridesmaid, she was dressed in the American Tan shade and her spray was of pink carnations.

Mr. Ernest Phipps was Best Man.

Many people will remember Mr & Mrs Jay when they were in the Falklands, for some years they were in North Arm, then they lived in Sullivan Cottage, Stanley, for a couple of years before leaving for England with their three daughters. Ivy the eldest daughter was married on April 18th to Mr Stanley Bradstock.

NUTRITION BOARD

MILESTONE 25.

The human body can be compared with almost any other living thing, in that it must get the right kind of foods so as to develop in the right way.

It would be just as absurd to try feeding a baby with brandy as to give bamboo shoots to a penguin. And yet there are times when such stimulants as brandy can have a beneficial effect on an adult human being; and while penguins benefit from an entirely fish diet, bamboo shoots are the staple food of the Giant Panda of Thibet.

Nature has made it perfectly clear that the proper and only food that human babies should have is mother's milk; but civilization has somewhat impaired this natural supply and so science has devised a number of substitutes, in all of which the ingredients of mother's milk are supposed to exist in their correct proportions.

As we grow older we can gradually start eating other foods, and in selecting these foods a sense of proportion should guide us; not too much of one thing and not too little of others - but wherever possible get it fresh, fresh from your garden, fresh from your poultry run, fresh from your milkman, fresh from your butcher, and as to fish and shell fish, why not fresh from the harbour?

THE "EXETER" CHILDREN'S PARTY.

All the school children were invited to a party on the the warships yesterday from 2.45 p.m. till 5.30 p.m. Half the children went to H.M.S. "Exeter" and the other half to H.M.S. "Ajax".

The "Exeter" had swings, see-saws, merry-go-round and a cart the sailors pulled us round in. The band was playing most of the time. They had a tank of water charged with electricity, and you put your hand in to get pennies out. Another game they had was hoop-la; that is ringing things on a table. There was a man with a funny face, and you had to push his tongue in. They had a slide, and a game of shooting men-o'-war.

At tea we had bread and butter, cakes, jelly and fruit. When we finished tea we were given balloons, paper hats and a bag of sweets each. After that we went and played till we were called to get our presents. Then we went home in the "Alert".

The Editor,
The Falkland Islands News Weekly.

Dear Sir,

Whilst wandering down one of the principal thoroughfares of this town some few days since, I chanced upon a melancholy spectacle of a derelict automobile, from beneath which a pair of legs extended, and from the interior of which occasional pungent remarks stole upon the summer (?) breeze. As I passed this dismal scene I mused upon the mutability of human affairs, and reflected sadly that many of us are but here today, and, in this case still here tomorrow, and my sympathy with the unfortunate owner so moved me, that before I reached my destination the following ballade, which I send to you with many apologies to maître François Villon, had germinated in my mind.

BALLADE OF THE RECALCITRANT AUTOMOBILE.

I press my buttons, turn my wheels,
I twist my switches fast and slow,
You cannot guess how cold it feels,
The blessed motor will not go.
It sulks supine, sedate and so
The villagers must walk of course,
O foulest monster, beast of woe,
I wish I'd bought a rocking horse.

The flexes twist like conger eels,
The thunder rolls, the tempests blow,
I'm always missing from my meals,
I cannot get the thing to go.
The lamps emit a feeble glow,
I fill the sump with onion sauce,
Whilst through the floor the grasses grow,
- I wish I'd bought a rocking horse.

Old age is barking at my heels,
I cannot stay Life's onward flow,
My eye grows dim, my ego reels,
And still, alas, we do not go.
Great Muse of Song, you cannot know
How much I loathe its clanking coarse,
To lose the thing would be no blow,
- I wish I'd bought a rocking horse.

Envoy.

Prince, as throughout the world you go
You may rest quite content because
A car's sad shame you ne'er will know,
- I wish I'd bought a rocking horse.

Yours faithfully,

FIGARO.

WEEKLY SERMON

Text. Luke 1. 78 & 79. "Through the tender mercy of our God; whereby the dayspring from on high hath visited us, To give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace."

The usual thing for a preacher to do during the season of Advent is to preach a series of sermons on the first coming of our Blessed Lord, and the many blessings resulting from His first coming. This subject is very much in harmony with the Church's mind and purpose during this Advent season. She begins Advent as if for the moment she were living over again the expectations and hopes of bygone centuries. She ends it by thankfully commemorating the advent on and after the Birthday of our Lord. We shall to-night consider one great blessing resulting from the first coming of our Blessed Lord into this world.

Let me begin by asking a simple question. What is the need felt by all or most human beings in their higher moments? It will not do to reply to be saved, because the fact, the nature, the need of salvation imply a great deal of knowledge which may be altogether wanting. The answer is - to become better. Doubtless there are some who never feel this want. But for my part I believe there are comparatively few. In all lives there are times when a ray of sunlight falls from Heaven on what we call in the text the shadow of death. And quickens in us a yearning for better things. Doubtless if you were question the average man or woman whom you meet on the street, they might say for the moment at any rate, to be quite frank they wanted something else more urgently. They are very poor, and they say what they want most is money, or the means of livelihood, or they are in bad health, and they say that amid sleepless nights, and with a sense of weariness, and uselessness and the dull monotony of continuous pain no blessing seems so desirable to them as a restoration to health. Some will say that happiness is just as much a universal want as the desire to become better. But then what is it that really ensures happiness? Nothing merely outward can do this. In short, happiness is essentially an inward thing. It cannot be inflicted or conferred from without. Thus we come back to this point, that, after all, the general desire to be happy is, a general desire to become better.

Now, in order to become better, we need, first of all, an ideal, a true outline present in our minds of what human goodness is. Do not let us think that this requirement is fanciful, and that we can, if we like, get along very well without it. All workmen whatever they may be doing must know what they are going to try to do before beginning their work. This, we know is the case in art. The painter makes a sketch of his idea, in outline, upon paper, before he touches the canvas. The same applies to the carpenter and the builder, of course the plans may undergo a certain amount of modification and alteration, but generally the rule holds good, that in order to work well, we must have an idea of work before us. We must know at the outset what we must mean to try to do. And this applies just as much to our becoming better as to other things. There are persons who tell us that to confess our need of an ideal is to do wrong to our true dignity, and that we should look to nothing higher than ourselves. We can depend upon it, an ideal of some sort we must have and if it is not above us, it will be below us. When the ideal is below him, his whole character will sink, as it will rise when it is above him. This is no new doctrine, as our Lord said many years ago "Where your treasure is there will your heart be also."

If there is one person whom we might almost despair, it is a boy or young man who has no enthusiasm for any person or character or cause, and thinks it part of his excellence to confess that he admires nothing.

There are many here who can probably confirm the value of an ideal of goodness from their own experience. Most of us have passed under the influence of some friend or relation, to whom we could look back with sincere affection and respect. A great character, tender and yet strong - has laid its spell upon us. We had something to admire, to believe in, to attempt to imitate. We have known happiness and the advantage of an ideal of human goodness.

Man needs, however, a perfect ideal, an ideal that shall permanently defy criticism, a sample of what human goodness is in its truth and completeness.

Our Lord, satisfies this want of an ideal. He shows us what human goodness was meant to be. He offers us in His life, the ideal life, the life of man at his best, in his perfection, this is one meaning of the title by which he frequently referred to Himself, "The son of man"

In this ideal presented to us by our Lord's life observe - 1. First - The absence of any disturbing flaw. In the midst of a soiled and sinful world, He alone is absolutely sinless. He, too, is tempted. We shall trace in vain for any trace of evil in that perfect life, for any word, for any action, any gesture or movement which implies sin. His forunner, John Baptist, confesses it, His apostles insist upon it, for them He is the lamb without spot or blemish. "Who did no sin neither was guile found in His mouth." The Judge who condemns him, washes his hands to be clean from betraying innocent blood. The Centurion beneath the cross, Judas in despair, hangs himself having betrayed him. And many others unite in their acknowledgement of the purity of Jesus. The human conscience in all ages, like the conscience of his contemporaries, listens to that astounding question of repentance in reverent silence and whispers to itself "He has a right to ask for it, for he alone is sinless.". 2nd. Note in the ideal of goodness presented to us by our Lord's life, that it is perfectly harmonious. No narrowness or onesidedness. This narrowness is usually found in all great men. They have one great virtue at the expense of others. Charitable, but no respect or love of truth etc.

3rd. The goodness in our Lord's life is of a universal type. Not confined to a particular race or clime or sect but is world wide. No particular race can claim Him. Not even the Jews. He would not hear of their superstitions about the Sabbath, or sanction their cruel intolerance of the Samaritans. One could go on almost for ever building up the argument for Our Lord as the ideal for life, but sufficient has been said.

Let us make two observations in conclusion - 1. If our Lord is thus the pattern man, the four gospels on this account alone, are the most precious of books. They are the inner sanctuary of the scriptures, its holy of holies. The perfect life they record is the first blessing of the advent. In the other books you have legislators, prophets etc., but here is the story of our Lord. Let us remember it during these few remaining days in Advent. 2nd. If our Lord be thus the pattern, the ideal man, we must love him. Not merely for what he has done for us, but because He is what He is. "One fairer than the children of men" Saint Paul says, "Grace be to all them who love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity.

The love of one perfect man the one perfect man, is a true criterion or test of our actual state. We shall certainly love him if we are looking upwards, if we are trying however imperfectly to be like him, and this love of him is the first condition of our becoming better.

May He the day star from on high visit our hearts by his spirit this advent, vanish their darkness and their gloom by the revelation their beauty and then enfolding us in his love glide our feet across all intervening obstacles into the way of eternal peace.

FALKLAND ISLANDS BATTLE DAY.

In bright sunshine a most impressive ceremony was held on the 8th of December last in commemoration of the twenty-fourth anniversary of the Battle of the Falkland Islands.

A special service was conducted at Christ Church Cathedral by Chaplain-Captain G.K. Lowe and was attended officially by His Excellency the Governor accompanied by Miss Henniker Heaton, Miss P. Henniker Heaton, Captain C.H.L. Woodhouse, R.N., and Captain A.I. Fleuret, A.D.C. Members of Councils and their wives were also present. A contingent from H.M.S. "Ajax" and the Falkland Islands Defence Force attended and took part in the subsequent ceremony.

At the conclusion of the Service in the Cathedral the several parties on parade marched to the Falkland Islands Battle Memorial where on arrival of His Excellency a 'Royal Salute' was given by the Guards. The Governor standing at the foot of the Battle Memorial immediately delivered the following moving address to the very large assembly:

"Captain Woodhouse, Major Marshall, Ladies and Gentlemen,

"I welcome at this site the first contingent of His Majesty's Navy to celebrate with us the anniversary of the Battle of the Falkland Islands, which redounded so greatly to the power of our beloved Empire to avenge a blow, which let loose the latent energy and resource of the oldest and greatest Navy in the world."

"I will trace the course of Inexorable Fate which brought a German Squadron slowly to its doom in these waters four and twenty years ago.

"On the 4th of November, 1914, news reached the Admiralty of the disaster at Coronel on the first of that month.

"By midnight on the 5th the battle cruisers "Invincible" and "Inflexible" had left Cromarty to lead the avenging squadron under Admiral Sturdee.

"At 4.0 p.m., on the 11th after coaling and docking "and repairs to "Invincible", they sailed from Devonport two days earlier than was believed to be possible.

"On the night of December the 1st/2nd the finest "German cruiser squadron on the high seas, consisting "of two armoured and three light cruisers, rounded "Cape Horn but it was delayed by the capture and trans- "shipment of the cargo of a British barque until the "6th of December when it set course for the Falklands.

"On the afternoon of Monday the 7th of December "Admiral Sturdee's squadron consisting of "Invincible", "Inflexible", "Bristol", "Carnarvon", "Glasgow", "Kent", "and "Cornwall", with the armed Merchantman "Macedonia", "was sighted off the Colony.

"At ten minutes to eight o'clock on the morning of "this date 24 years ago the Defence Force through the "Signal Station at Sapper Hill reported two strange "warships, the advance guard of the German Squadron. "Two hours later three auxiliary enemy storeships were "sighted off Port Pleasant and reported by two ladies.

"The Squadron put to sea at a quarter to ten by "almost incredible efforts in coaling and repairs.

"The story of how the German Squadron was practic- "ally annihilated and the Colony saved from capture is "a matter of common knowledge.

"The lesson learned from the battle was the glorious "preparedness of the British Navy which saved a remote "Colony from capture.

"To-day we could from our own resources defend "ourselves against one or two attacking cruisers and "make a squadron hesitate. Let us take to heart the "vital necessity of preparedness.

"It may be said in words of the naval historian "that "the meeting at the Falklands was mainly a point "of luck, but it was luck fairly won on Nelson's "golden rule of never losing a wind." In other "words "never lose an opportunity."

"Let us thank God with humble hearts for the mercy "once vouchsafed of which this Battle Memorial is a "noble testimony."

The National Anthem was played by the Band of H.M.S. "Ajax" and the ceremony terminated. His Excellency then proceeded to the entrance of Government House grounds on Ross Road where he took the salute as each detachment marched past.

As a conclusion to the ceremonies two seaplanes from H.M.S. "Ajax" flew along the line of route of the march diving gracefully in salute as they passed the Governor.

Greatly though the victory of the Falkland Islands Battle redounded to the credit of British naval power and joyously though we celebrate that victory, we pray that the day may never come when the lives of our defenders on sea or land may again have to be imperilled or sacrificed in war.

But the danger can only be averted by strength and preparedness.

There are some strange to say who still believe that the Colony's interests could best be served by total disarmament - in the absence of large and costly fortifications - and that no injury would be done by an enemy to a peaceful and unarmed people. As an additional inducement to this course, has been held out the saving in expenditure which would be effected. Indeed all that an enemy would do were the Colony to be disarmed would be to sail into Port William, wreck the Wireless Station and Oil Fuel Tanks, destroy all the shipping in the harbour certainly and the town itself possibly, seize everything of value, haul down the British Flag and sail away - leaving only black shame behind. Fortunately the spirit of the people of this Colony and pride of the race is far too high to tolerate such a position arising. We know that we could and would put up a formidable defence against attack (and this for the first time from our own resources) but too great a burden must not be laid upon a small Defence Force. The active co-operation of every citizen, man and woman, in the Colony is required when and as opportunity offers. Whether it takes the form or enlistment in the force, of training for Coast-watching or of encouragement in any form of the work of defence, the same spirit is confidently expected in one and all.

HORTICULTURAL & INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

The Exhibition is to be held in February. Have you planned your exhibits yet? In the Childrens section is a doll dressing competition which should be of interest to all girls under 15 years of age. The Committee have decided to procure dolls of a uniform type so that there will be no advantage to the owner of a superior doll. These dolls are now on sale at the Kelper Store, the price is 1/3 each. Drop in and have a look at them, "buy one, - dress it and enter it in the competition and in doing so take part in the big effort of the Industrial Exhibition.

GLOBE STORE.

The butter which we import is so good and popular that we have again, to our regret, run short. However we have a very good substitute to offer now in "VITAMINIZED MARGARINE".

The price of this special Vitaminized Margarine is only 11d per lb. and its nutritive value is reputed to be as high as the best summer butter.

Some suggestions for Xmas:-

China Ginger, in original Chinese jars 6/11d each.

China "Chow-Chow" fruits, large jars 7/11d each.

McFarlane Lang's decorated Xmas cakes:-

"Christmas Chimes" - large 16/11

"Christmas Chimes" - medium 8/11.

Chiver's Xmas Puddings, 2-lbs each 3/6.

For Mince Pies, we have the best Mincemeat:-

Chiver's Mincemeat, No. 1 11d., 29 oz. 1/6. 6 lbs. 4/6.

Presta Lemon Squash, Tonic Water, Gingerbread etc.

"PRI STA" is imported and worth the money.

CHILDREN'S PARTY.

On Boxing Day, 26th December, under the auspices of the Stanley Benefit Club there will be a Children's Party in the Town Hall from 2 o'clock till 6.30 p.m.

Song titles applied to Johnnie Walker :-

"WHEN THEY PLAYED THE POLKA"

The popularity of the polka, like that of antimacassars and side-saddles, has obviously waned, the reason - we are not prepared to state. Belonging to the last century, Johnnie Walker goes from strength to strength, and is one of the gifts of the nineteenth century that is still appreciated in all parts of the world. The reason is not hard to find. With a definite policy of improvement, every effort has been made to this end with the result that Johnnie Walker today is better than ever before.

GOVERNOR'S CHILDREN'S CHARITY FUND.

Mr F.S. Francis who recently arrived in the Colony on a visit has very generously made a contribution of £100 to the Governor's Children's Charity Fund in commemoration of the Victory of the Battle of the Falkland Islands on the 8th of December, 1914.

Mr Francis's action in making this gift to such a deserving Fund will be widely appreciated throughout the Colony.

The amount has been handed over to the Committee which manages the Fund and deals with necessitous cases

KING GEORGE VTH PLAYING FIELD FOR CHILDREN

The following letter addressed to His Excellency the Governor is published for general information:-

30th September, 1938.

His Excellency

Sir H. Henniker Heaton, K.C.M.G.,
Port Stanley.

My dear Governor,

"Memorial to His Late Majesty King George Vth".

I thank you for your letter of the 10th ult, and the enclosed copies of the same, which I have distributed to the Members of the Sheepowners Association.

I sincerely hope they have generously responded to your suggestion, and that you have a Playing Field for the children of Stanley which should be a happy, healthy meeting place for them, and a worthy Memorial to our late Beloved King, George V.

You have my support in anything which promotes health and happiness and advances the amenities for social intercourse in the Islands, and, though I am not living in the Colony at the present time, my efforts shall always be, to promote the welfare of all Falkland Islanders.

Yours Very sincerely,

(Sgd.) Geo, Bonner.

The subscriptions received or promised to date amount to £329. 15. 5 plus £69. 1. 4, proceeds of Concerts given in aid of the Fund by H.M.Ships "Exeter" and "Ajax", or a total of £398. 16. 9.

The revised estimate of levelling, fencing and completing the Field is £520; the cost of playground apparatus from the United Kingdom £180, and the cost of a shelter 40' x 8' x 12' £112 or a total of £812.

An urgent appeal is made to everyone interested in the Colony to subscribe to the Fund and thus assist in providing a memorial to His Late Majesty King George Vth which will be a credit to the Colony.

Subscriptions may be sent to this Office or to Mr A.Newing, J.P., the Treasurer of the Fund.

(Sgd.) M.C.Craigie-Halkett,
Colonial Secretary.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

December 13th, 1938,

The Editor,
F.I.News Weekly & Church Bulletin,
Stanley.

Dear Sir,

May I suggest that to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the Battle of the Falklands next year, the 2d stamp of the present issue be re-engraved to show the Battle Memorial as it now stands, unadorned by railings and a shelter.

Some of the funds raised from the sale of the twopenny stamps could then be devoted to the construction of the long awaited swimming pool, or would the playing fields have first call?

Yours faithfully,

PHILATELIST.

T H E C H R I S T-C H I L D ,

The earth has grown old with its burden of care,
But at Christmas it always is young;
The heart of the jewel burns lustrous and fair,
And its soul, full of music, breaks forth on the air,
When the song of the angels is sung.

It is coming, Old Earth, it is coming to-night!!
On the grasses which cover the sod,
The feet of the Christ-child fall gentle and white,
And the voice of the Christ-child tells out with delight
That mankind are the children of God.

Christmas Editorial.

No one can quite resist the kindly Christmas. Even old Scrooge was won over at last. And those who are sad at this time, and there are many such, catch the spirit of the feast by forgetting themselves and seeking the joy of others. It is the one season of the year when the spirit of Christ carries all before it. Even modern business helps it along.

It is the festival of a little child and the little children claim it for their own. They lead us, as the prophet foretold, until we do our best to make them happy. The Christ Child grown to manhood said, "Except ye be converted and become as little children ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven". Many a man catches the spirit of the child at this time and with his children, or his grandchildren, or someone else's children joyfully enters a kingdom of heaven on that glad day.

One great feature of the little child that shows up at Christmas is its utter indifference to earthly values. It leaves the expensive toy to one side and is absorbed by the one that costs a few pennies. Are all our thoughts on earthly things worth while? We are so often troubled and careful about many things, but Christ was interested in people. At Christmas and through all the year a ready test for any one of us is: Am I interested in things or in people?

The happiness of Christmas time is in giving not in getting. The truth lies on the very face of the feast. God gave his only son at Christmas. The Christ Child gave himself all through His life, not having at one time leisure so much as to eat. Finally and supremely, He gave Himself on the cross. We should early teach our children this great Christmas truth; that its deepest joys come from giving, not from receiving. As Jesus said, "it is more blessed to give than to receive" This is not only the secret of the happiness of Christmas. It is also the secret of the art of living.

A Church paper last year published a list of commandments for Christmas. The first one began "Thou shalt not leave "Christ" out of Christmas, making it XMAS. This arrests me at once for I have done it many times. The commandment claims this is a sign of mental laziness and spiritual listlessness. Besides, "X" for all who have studied Algebra, stands for the unknown, and the habit crowds Christ out of Christmas. Have you ever been guilty? Another way in which Christ can be crowded out at Christmas is by Santa Claus. In many homes and in the minds of countless children Santa Claus fills the horizon and no thought is given to the Christ Child. This makes Christmas a fairy tale instead of a sublime reality in the spiritual realm. It is surprising, but we have to be on our guard to keep Christ supreme in Christmas.

The commandments, some of them, refer to other people. They invite us to take a good look at our attitude to our Christmas gifts and how we value them. The money value is the lowest and most of them signify love which surpasses silver and gold in the matter of value. At this time especially we should see to it that we give ourselves with our gifts. Our love, our personality, even a line, our service will increase the value of the gift a hundredfold.

Two of the Commandments refer to the spiritual. "Thou shalt not neglect thy church," It is often harder to do this on Christmas than on Easter, for Easter is always on a Sunday, but this year we have Christmas on a Sunday. The Church Services are a great help in spiritualizing the Christmas season for us, our children and our household. Particularly the Holy Communion, the service which our Lord Himself instituted.

Finally, "Thou shalt prepare thy soul for Christmas." Think of all the preparations, the almost endless preparations for Christmas; and how much thought do we give to our souls in all this preparing? Most of us spend much time and money getting gifts ready, how many seconds do you use for preparing your soul for Christmas? There will be three celebrations of the Holy Communion on Christmas Day, and one service for the children. Let us all make sure that we shall be at one of them, at Our Blessed Lord's own Service on His birthday. And as we sing "Glory to God in the Highest and on Earth peace goodwill towards men, let us go to the Altar to receive His Body and blood with this prayer on our lips. "That He may come into our lives, that this spirit which we feel at Christmas may continue throughout the year."

NOTICE.

It is hereby notified, for general information, that the Government House Paddocks have been placed by His Excellency the Governor under the care and control of the Agricultural Department.

Application for the use of the South East paddock as a football ground should be made to the Agricultural Adviser. A permit on the payment of a small fee towards maintenance will be issued annually to recognized football or Sports Clubs.

Application for the occasional use of the ground by other bodies or parties should also be made when desired. As a rule no fee is charged for a single day's use.

Persons receiving permission to use the ground are responsible for leaving it in good condition and without litter.

The only authorized entrances to the ground for the public are by the South or East gates opening immediately on the paddock.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.

Special Telegram Rates for Christmas and New Year Greetings to all parts of the British Empire are now available. Telegrams can be handed in to the telegraph Office between 9.30 a.m. and 4.p.m. on weekdays including Saturdays and between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. on Sunday.

The special rate is 3/- for 10 words with 3½ for each additional word. Local telegrams one penny per word.

Please hand your telegrams in early so that delivery can be made on Christmas day and New Years day.

Customer (heatedly): "Do you know there was a fly in the Christmas cake I bought the other day? I want you to exchange it for another one."

Shopkeeper: "Certainly, madam, if you will return the fly I will give you a currant in its place."

SPORTS MEETING for FEBRUARY 1939.

The Executive Committee of the Stanley Sports Association held a meeting the other night, and the Programme of Events for February 1939 has now been definitely fixed. There will be the usual 21 Races (Horse Events) on the First Day, and the Second Day will have its usual complement of Foot and Gymkhana Events.

The Darwin Harbour Sports Association has contributed £20.- in cash for Prizes, and this money has been split up between two events: No. 8, 500 yards. F.I.Bred, will be known as the "DARWIN SPORTS ASSOCIATION PRIZE" and the prizes are to be £5., £3. and £2. No. 15, 900 yards Open is now called the "LAFONIA STAKES" and the prizes will also be £5., £3. and £2.

Another generous contribution of £22.- has been received from the West Sports Association, for a F.I. Bred Mile Race. So No. 11 has been increased from 900 yards to 'One Mile' and will be known as the "WEST FALKLAND MILE". Prizes £10.- £7. and £5.

The 700 yards F.I.Bred Race will now be known as the "1939 EXHIBITION RACE" and the general public are being asked to contribute to the prize money by small subscriptions of 1/- each. The S.S.A. meantime have guaranteed minimum prizes to be £15., £7. and £4. If the general public subscriptions warrant it, the prize money will be larger. It is up to the general public to decide whether they wish to make a Big Money Prize for this event.

Mrs Vere Packe has very kindly offered to give the First Prize for the Roy Felton Plate, and some members of the Committee have donated the First and Second prizes for the Consolation Race, increasing them to £3., £2. and £1.

The Prize Money for the Ladies' Gallop has also been increased, and apart from the Slow Bicycle Race being cut out and its place taken by a One Mile Bicycle Race, there are no other alterations from the 1937 Christmas Programme.

It now behoves the jockeys and owners of horses to get them into training, and also time for some of the young sprinters to train for the foot events.

HORTICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

What are YOU doing for the Exhibition ?

Support Home Industries.

Here's the chance for a combined family effort. Have you noticed Section 5 in Class M of your list of exhibits? It is for a child under five years most attractively dressed in all woollen garments hand crocheted or knitted. This colony gets its living directly or indirectly from wool so what could be more appropriate than this item in the programme ? The prizes are amongst the most valuable offered in the exhibition. Round up your friends and relations. Many hands make light work. This is your child's chance for attractive economical clothes and a valuable prize.

S.S.A. SWEEPSTAKE on the "GOVERNOR'S CUP"

It is hoped to sell 5,000 tickets this year at 2/6d each. All Prizes will be duplicated. Two equal Firsts, Seconds and Thirds. Two prizes for each Starter, of £5.- each.

Two Sellers' Prizes each for the sellers of the main prizes. That means Two each of £3., £2. and £1. for sellers.

Tickets are now on Sale both in Stanley and in the Camp.

Get your Tickets early. There are Six big money prizes to be won, besides a number of £5.- notes for 'Starters'.

GARBAGE.

During 1939 it is hoped that a Garbage Collection service may be set up in the Town of Stanley. Since the work will be done by private contract it is unreasonable to expect the contractor to remove garbage which the householder has neglected to take care of during the current year. We want to begin the year with a clean yard and every resident is asked to inspect his premises and take the necessary steps to see that this is the case.

When the new system begins house-holders are requested to sort their garbage. Garbage which can be burned should be placed in a receptacle such as a petrol drum. I understand a number of these are available at a nominal price. This drum should be located at a spot which is easy of access to the Collector. Ashes should be placed as before in an approved ash pit but for ease in handling tin cans and glass bottles should be kept in a separate box or barrel.

In general an appeal is made to people of good will to co-operate and make the new system work smoothly and efficiently.

CHRISTMAS DAY IN THE NAVY.

His Majesty's Ships "Exeter" and "Ajax" will spend Christmas this year at Puerto Mont in South Chile.

You may ask "What on earth sort of Christmas will they have in that spot?" For that matter, how do the sailors spend Christmas in His Majesty's Ships abroad? Away from their home ports and families. Is it really a Merrie Christmas for them?

The answer is simple; they spend it in a atmosphere of make-believe, and with their genius for making the best of things. The only holidays in the Navy absolutely free from service routine are Christmas Day, Good Friday and the days (may be one or two) of the Annual Squadron or Fleet regatta.

Men turn out at the same time in the morning 5.30 and 6 o'clock and decorate their mess decks with greenery, multi-coloured papers and balloons, something after the same style of decoration as used for the Falklands Childrens party.

At nine o'clock the Padre holds a short service on the Quarter deck and wishes his congregation a "Merrie Christmas!" Then at 11 a.m. the Captain and Officers visit the mess decks.

The normal daily procedure is for the Master At Arms (the Chief of the Ship's police) to proceed ahead of the party but today somebody will dress up in his uniform, some other wag will pretend to be the Sergeant Major and someone else will dress up as an Officer. There will be several impersonations by the juniors of their seniors by what is known as the "Funny Party". Some of the imitations are clever in reproducing the deportment and speech of the people whose uniform they wear and it all helps to raise a laugh.

As the Captain and Officers proceed from mess to mess they wish the presidents and members "A Merry Christmas" which is reciprocated in a hearty chorus.

The food displayed on the table is excellent and of the best quality.

The Paymaster Commander has budgeted during the past few months to guarantee "big eats" for the Christmas.

Day dinner. His menu, printed on a specially designed card, makes good reading.

The Captain and Officers (in the case of Exeter or Ajax probably forty or fifty will pass through each mess deck) will be asked to sample the fare.

And though each guest takes a bit it does seem to make the slightest diminution in the sweets, nuts, raisins, cakes and fruit that overcrowd the table.

A broad the officer's wives and lady friends come off to see the ships and are also asked to come round the mess decks and take part in the good cheer.

They return to the Wardroom to eat a lunch that will have been specially prepared by the Wardroom messman.

The Ship's Canteen Fund, as a great concession is granted permission by the Captain to spend a certain sum of money on beer and cigarettes for the men. The usual allowance is a bottle of beer each and a packet of cigarettes. But some men will have saved up their tot of rum just in case the beer may be delayed or cancelled. A sailor's life makes him prepared to anticipate such a calamity on Christmas Day.

In the afternoon there is usually a Fancy Dress Football Match when the players, especially the acrobatic members, amuse the crowded touchline with their antics.

Among the spectators there will be a group of several men dressed as clowns - the special chucking up party who carry bells, claxon horns and anything that will add to the din.

When the football match is finished the Christmas festivals have terminated. Of course there are the Shore side Saloons to be visited in the evening where billiards and darts can be played. But Christmas from the service point of view is over until next year.

And where will it be spent next year? is the question every sailor asks. Maybe it will be at home; or will he be watch-aboard in one of the Home Fleet ship's. Tough Luck that! But he will still be in England. Maybe he will spend it in China - up the Yangtse; maybe up the Straits (as he terms the Mediterranean Station); or may be in some other one of the seven seas.

Anyway no matter where he spends it the routine is the same, this wish "A Merrie Christmas" is just as bright and breezy no matter what part of the world he serves in, or where you meet him.

Text. St. Luke 2. 10. "Tidings of great joy..."

The Calvinists, who attempted to secure the survival of Christianity by the abolition of Christmas, did not foresee this age of ours when, to a superficial judgment, it may appear that Christmas will survive Christ: that the Feast will outlive the Faith. For all kinds of people who neither profess the Christian creed nor practise Christian worship make some show of keeping Christmas. They may not believe in Christ, and they may never dream of going Church, but they grow quite enthusiastic about Christmas. They accept it as a reason of happiness and goodwill. They know very little about the explanation offered by the Church as to why it is a season of happiness and goodwill. Messrs. Harrods, Selfridges and other gentlemen of commercial enterprise assure them that it is so, and they proceed to make merry and to bestow gifts all round.

While what is called "the Christmasy feeling" lasts there is a valiant attempt to produce joy, and even a vague wish to see everyone sharing it. The trouble is that, apart from the "tidings" spoken of in our text, all this cheerful intention is based on nothing in particular. It is less intellectually respectable than a pagan saturnalia; for the pagans did know what the saturnalia was supposed to mean, and our modern godless have forgotten the meaning of Christmas. Millions of people take upon their lips the words holy rapture; they wish one another "A merry Christmas", and simply do not know what they are talking about.

The basic element in Christmas is not the feasting, but the Fact which supplies the reason for feasting. It is not the Christmas gifts, but the Christmas Gift of which the gifts are but small symbols and memorials. When the joy becomes separated from the tidings it loses its root. So long as there remains in men the instinct to seize any opportunity for a "binge", the twenty-fifth day of December may be "kept up". So long as there remains in our captains of commerce the instinct for larger profits, the public may be reminded when the Christmas season is at hand.

But it will represent nothing vital in our life and culture; and Christmas, like all other attempts to be human and jolly at the same time, will become increasingly divorced from reality - a small and shrinking oasis of forced gaiety in that desert of darkness which the life of man threatens to become.

For we cannot have a valid Feast of Christ on one day in the year while Christ is contradicted and denied on all the other days. We cannot rejoice in the Christmas tidings when by the whole structure and aims of our human life we are ignoring them. The essence of those tidings is that man is restored, by the Incarnation of the Eternal Son of God, to the true end of his being, so that the whole of his natural life in this world may be reformed, transmuted, by becoming the instrument of God's purpose. And the Christmas tidings are tidings of great joy because, apart from that stupendous act of God, man is in terrible danger.

When the Catholic Faith had largely restored human confidence, a disastrous thing happened. Men began to rejoice in the confidence and to forget the danger from which they had been delivered. They therefore began to forget the Faith which had delivered them. They called this new attitude "humanism". They spoke of man's triumph, and were silent concerning God's tidings. We can all see the results: they hang over us like a storm-cloud. Man himself is now regarded as a gadget of the economic-collective or of the totalitarian state. The very idea of "man" is in danger of passing as the world is riven by racial hatreds. Abominable cruelty has come back. And behind all this is the fact that man, regarding himself as belonging to this world alone, cannot even operate the resources of the world intelligently. He produces more and more goods while men go hungry or are cast aside unwanted. The figure of man shrinks as his idols grow more monstrous.

Refusing the tidings of great joy, man can repeat to himself only tidings of great grief. Refusing the Babe of Bethlehem, he is now refusing birth.

Refusing the life of Incarnate God, he is now seeking suicide. Refusing God's peace, he is now appalled by the menace of war.

Yet the Christmas tidings are true, and without them human existence becomes a nightmare. But we who keep the Feast, knowing its meaning, must know that the meaning is for all people and for the whole of man's life. For only as that meaning is made plain can human decency, not to speak of happiness, remain on the earth.

GOVERNMENT SCHOOL PRIZEGIVING.

On Thursday December 22nd the usual large crowd gathered in the Town Hall to witness the annual Prize-giving of the Government School. The actual Prize-giving was preceded by a short programme consisting of Gymnastic displays by both girls and boys, and the singing of a few Sea Shanties. The two most popular items were presented by the younger children in the school, one a short sketch by the infants in which the children acted the story while it was told by their teacher Miss Davison. The title of the story was "The Hobyhas". The children of standard one presented a play "Cinderella" which was very well done and the children, whose ages are seven and eight years were a credit to themselves and to those who trained them.

His Excellency the Governor was present and presented the prizes.

THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS.

"Mr. Hoare, Ladies and Gentlemen - It is a very pleasant duty I have to perform in awarding merits for good work. I am quite sure that all prizes given today have been thoroughly well earned. Those children who have not won prizes today have distinguished themselves in the delightful performance which we have just witnessed. I think this year's performance can be considered a successful one, and gardening has been included in the School's curriculum.

There have been changes in the staff as we all know. Mr Miller has left after giving of his best to the School. Mrs Jones will be long remembered for initiating Cooking Classes. Three new teachers of high standard have now joined the School. Mr Robinson scored goals on the football field when I saw him. The boys have been fortunate... I make no comparisons with the past, but I have no hesitation in saying that any school in the Empire would have been pleased to have the services of the teachers who have come here, as people who have recently visited the School know.

Finally, with reference to the staff, I would like to voice the opinion of all in saying how much we regret losing Mr. Hoare after 23 years spent for the one cause. He will, however, continue to be my Chief Adviser in matters of education. There have been so many other claims on his time as Auditor and Magistrate that I am sure it is felt that it is not fair to the School for him to continue, as Headmaster requires full time. I feel that no man has given his services more whole-heartedly, and this and the past generation have benefited by the high standard of work he has always maintained.

For giving good advice to children I am not well fitted, for that charm is chiefly enjoyed by the person who gives it, but I will tell you your plain duty; that is Work hard, play hard, help those weaker than yourselves, keep clean bodies and minds, obey your teachers, love your parents, fear God and honour the King.

Before sitting down I should like to say something about the Playing Field, that you and your successors will have. Trustees will be appointed to look after it for you. Perhaps later you will be able to keep it yourselves, but at first trustees will be elected by those who have contributed 5/- and over. I hope you children, and your successors may for ever have happy times in King George's Memorial Playing Field.

Mr. Hoare in reply to His Excellency's remarks said:

"Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen -

On behalf of the School teachers and the children I have to thank your Excellency for your kind words about this performance, and I wish to thank all who have come in big crowds as usual to show your interest and appreciation. I also wish to thank your Excellency from the bottom of my heart for his kind reference to my past work and I hope the School will continue to be successful under the care of the new Headmaster which I have no doubt it will.

HEALTH BULLETIN No. 12.

Aaron Frost was a bold rather pleasant little man and though his complexion tended to be rather sallow and muddy he did not look ill. Rising fifty he had always enjoyed good health and although of late years he got a bit breathless on exertion he remembered that he was not as young as he used to be and interpreted his feelings as something to be expected.

He was happily married and while secretly his wife regarded him as a rather withered little carrot still she found him a good husband. She knew all his little peculiarities of food and drink and with the passing of the years he had become as familiar and comfortable as an old shoe. Aaron appreciated all this. He was want to pity lonely and unsuitably married men; he said there was no one who could equal his wife in the preparation of steak pie or kidney pudding and once when admission to hospital was suggested he refused because he said no one but his wife understood the proper food to give him?

In the midst of this scene of domestic felicity Aaron suddenly developed a pain in his shoulder. It kept him awake most of the night, was worse the next day and so the family doctor was called in. Aaron was sure it was "the rheumatism" and his doctor agreed. The trouble was a source of anxiety to doctor and patient alike for some three weeks, then it gradually got better as these things do. By this time other matters had occupied the neighbours' interest and we hear no more of our hero for two months. Just before Christmas his right knee began to swell. Plainly rheumatism this time wasn't appropriate to the condition and his doctor insisted that he go to a famous hospital for investigation.

Arrived at hospital everyone agreed that the family doctor was right. The knee in fact was swollen, indeed Aaron could see that himself. Many conditions were considered by his physician from house-maid's knee to milk leg but none of them exactly filled the bill. Then someone pointed out that the patient looked anaemic and upon investigation the doctors agreed that he was not only anaemic but his anaemia was pernicious. This rather cleared the air and everyone felt more optimistic because pernicious anaemia was something at last that was understood and could be adequately and successfully treated. Aaron's earthly future at least seemed assured.

How the knee was doing all this time we are not told but Aaron refused to improve. His anaemia got worse and his doctor rather lost interest in the knee since it was apparent that the patient's life was now in danger unless he soon showed signs of improvement. To make matters worse he now developed a severe haemorrhage in the soft tissues of his left thigh and it began to look as though Aaron's days were numbered.

Curiously enough this was the thing that saved his life because it suggested the probable explanation of the underlying difficulty. Investigation showed that he liked twice cooked foods hence his enthusiasm for his wife's steak and kidney pie. Moreover for many years he had a distaste for fruit and fresh vegetables tomatoes made him ill. In short, the man had scurvy.

His wife, with the best will in the world, had severel and systematically limited the Vitamin C of his diet for years.

Vitamin C or ascorbic acid is now made by the chemist and can be bought like Epsom salts. It is good to say that after saturating his system with this preparation Aaron's anaemia and other symptoms cleared up like magic and in the words of the story book - he lived happily ever afterwards. He could even eat tomatoes and like them!

The moral: Hind-sight is better than foresight - Looking back it is plain that this man was for year lacking in the vigour that an adequate diet might have secured for him and possibly, like you, he would have scoffed at the idea that there was anything radically wrong with his daily bill of fare. Fran scurvy is so rare most doctors have never recognise a case but mild scurvy we have come to realise may be much commoner than anyone supposed.

The myriad minor illnesses which drive the layman into the purchase of everything from Father John's medicine to Balm of Gilead frequently point to a wrong way of life. It often takes years of unhygienic living to produce a recognisable major illness.

What is the correct answer?

If a man drinks a quart of whisky or brandy within an hour or two is it likely to kill him?

Answer: As soon as the alcohol of the blood reaches a concentration of about $1\frac{1}{2}$ death usually ensues and this requires about a quart of whisky - the answer is yes.

Is alcohol a stimulant?

Answer: Taken in any amount alcohol is an anaesthetic never a stimulant. The answer is no.

Is alcohol a food?

Answer: Alcohol is rapidly absorbed into the system but recent work throws doubt on whether or not it is burnt in place of sugar. If it is a food it is certainly a bad food.

Do total abstainers live longer than moderate drinkers?

Answer: Statistical studies of life assurance companies indicate that total abstainers do live longer but the man who says he is a "moderate" drinker has frequently peculiar ideas about moderation. The answer is no.

Does alcohol "keep out the cold," ward off disease etc?

Answer: Long observation has proved that alcohol is quite useless or even harmful for these purposes. Actually it lowers resistance. The answer is no.

Does alcohol give "courage" to meet a difficult situation?

Answer: Anticipation of a difficult situation breeds anxiety and since alcohol is an anaesthetic it tends to allay anxiety states. In a qualified way the answer is yes.

Does alcohol improve one's capacity for work?

Answer: Taken even in moderate amounts alcohol lessens one's capacity for work and definitely worsens the judgment. Muscular co-ordination required in carrying out any skilled movement is impaired. The answer is no.

Does "alcoholism" lead to insanity?

Answer: The fact that a man is an "alcoholic" indicates that he is unstable in certain respects and unstable people frequently become insane. Investigation will usually reveal other fundamental weaknesses. The addiction to alcohol is merely one sign of an unsatisfactory individual. The answer is no.

Old Wives' Tales.

I am told that one idea which prevails locally is that pregnant women should not eat salads. Frequent references have been made in these bulletins to the importance and desirability of including some raw green or yellow vegetable in one's diet and at the Pre-natal Clinic this is especially stressed.

The pregnant woman needs some good source of Vitamin C and salads provide this. If "heart burn" and a tendency to indigestion make such foods difficult to take this can always be dealt with. And the way to deal with it is not to eliminate salads.

When you boil your cabbage or kale or spinach in an open pot with a pinch of baking soda thrown in don't make the mistake of thinking you are eating a diet rich in Vitamin C. This vitamin will not stand boiling exposed to air. Green vegetables cooked this way have about the same value as wet blotting paper!

HORTICULTURAL & INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

Although the gardens have had a very severe set-back owing to the bad weather, which has been rather disheartening, things are looking brighter now and the recent gentle rains have had a revivifying effect on the plants and flowers. It is hoped that all those who are interested in their gardens will make an effort to show them and support the exhibition.

GOOSE GREEN SCHOOL PRIZEGIVING.

The Annual Prizegiving of the Goose Green School of The Falkland Islands Co. Ltd was held in the Hall on Friday, 23rd inst.

The prizes were distributed by Mrs R.Blake, the Silver Cup for Dux Scholar being won by Phyllis Dettleff for the second year in succession. After the distribution of the prizes, the children gave an exhibition of Folk Dancing. Party games followed until tea when the children did their best to finish all the cakes which had been provided by the ladies of the settlement.

Just as tea was being finished an old gentleman with a red cloak and white beard appeared in the hall carrying a very heavy sack. At once there were shouts of "Father Christmas" and willing hands soon relieved him of his load. He then told the children he had a very busy week-end ahead, and so had just managed to get to the party and had brought some gifts. The children crowded round him, and there was great excitement as he pulled out the many different parcels. The children soon had their parcels opened and there aeroplanes, motors, dolls, tops kites everywhere. We were sorry Father Christmas had to leave us again so soon, but we all gave him three hearty cheers and best Christmas wishes.
