NOTES OF THE WEEK.

With the coming of May, we feel that another Winter is really here!

This week's Meeting of ToCh in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, will be in the form of a talk by Mr. Hutton, on "Some Experiences in the Far East".

We hear that the Red Cross are making arrangements, so that the Red Cross Bazaar will be held, at the date fixed and announced before the Town Hall fire.

Commander Anderson, who was a well known figure in Stanley for a number of months, is well, and still on Active Service. He wishes to be remembered to his friends.

The Rev.G.K.Lowe interviewed in Buenos Aires.

We were pleased to see a photograph of the Rev.G.K. and Mrs.Lowe, and their children-Audrey and Robin, in "The-Standard" March 26th and also the account of an interview between a pressman and Mr Lowe, in which the latter gave a very accurate account of life in the Colony.

Here is an interesting sentence from the interview-
 "People who give the Islands a bad name, were either those who stayed for twenty four hours there on a round trip, or who spent at the most, a couple of weeks there". Another point we quote- "Over seven years he and Mrs. Lowe had found the Islands a friendly and hospitable land".

Mr Lowe preached at the 10.30.a.m. Service in St. John's Pro-Cathedral, Buenos Aires, on Sunday 26th March.

Word has been received to the effect that Mr and Mrs Lowe and family have arrived at Toronto, Canada, their destination.

BIRTH. At the King Edward Memorial Hospital 14th April to Mr and Mrs E. Luxton, a son, David Kerry.

The following letter was received from the Duke of Gloucester

York House,
St. James's Palace,
21st January, 1944.

Dear Sir Alan Cardinall,

I have learned with deep satisfaction that the 1943 Red Cross Flag Day overseas has realised a total of over £100,000 which exceeds by £43,000 the result of similar collections in 1942.

I am most grateful to all who contributed to this magnificent achievement which not only emphasises the sympathy and interest existing for the Red Cross throughout the Dominions and the Colonial Empire, but also that singleness of aim and purpose which to-day so closely unites the Peoples of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

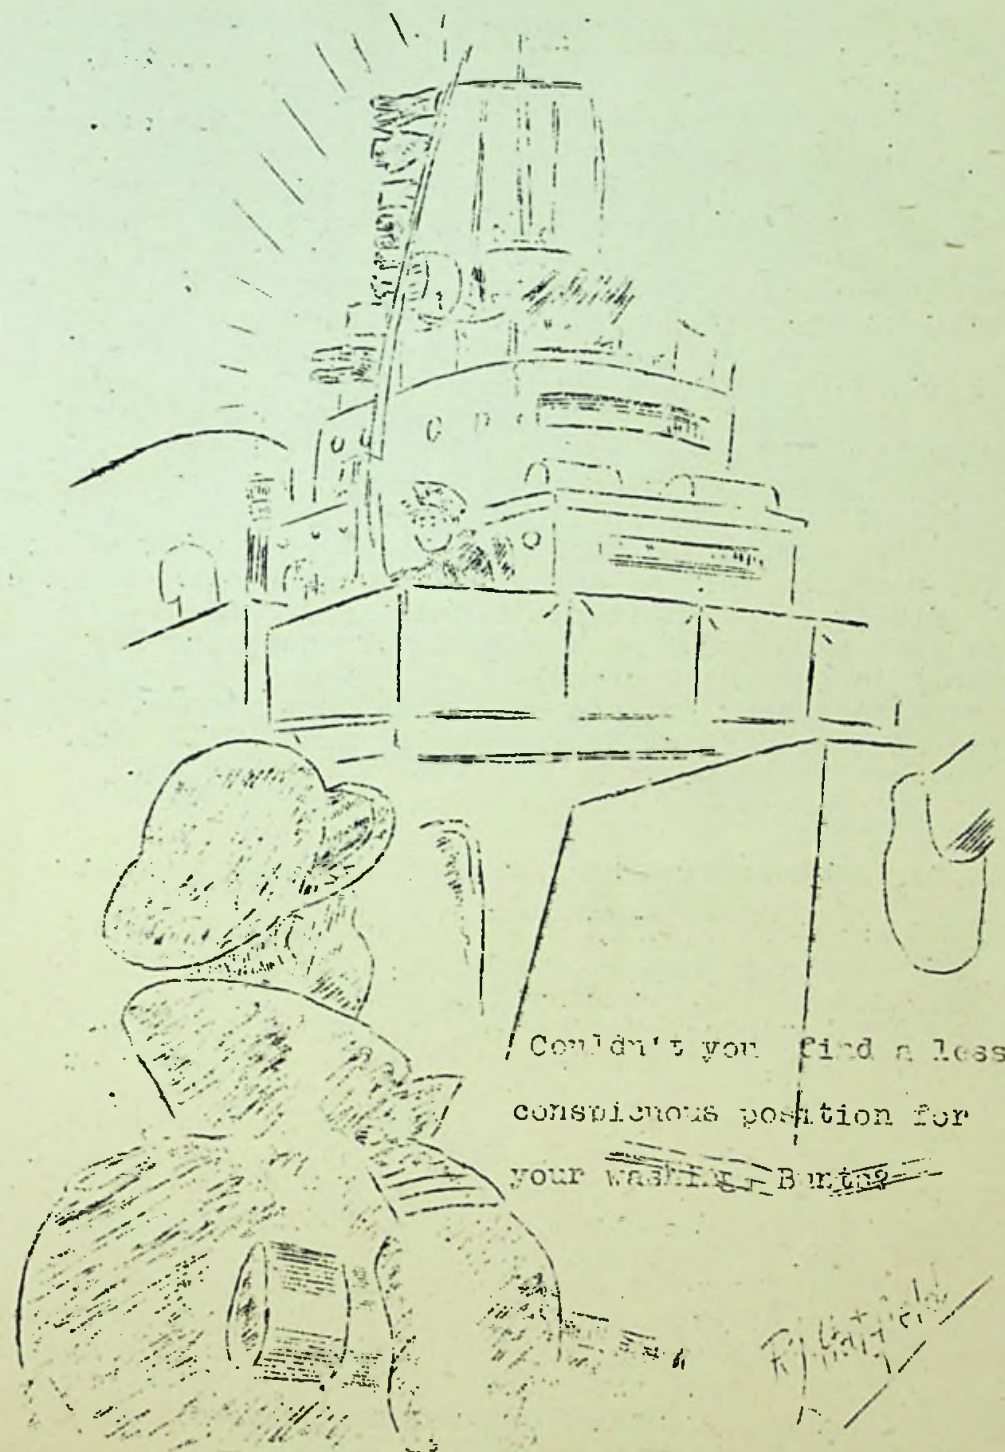

I hope that you will accept my thanks for having authorised a Red Cross Flag Day in the Falkland Islands, and I shall be grateful if you will convey my appreciation to the Central Council Branch of the British Red Cross Society, and to all who contributed to the unparalleled success of the collection which realised £3,767 towards the grand total.

It has been decided that the Red Cross Flag Day shall be observed in Great Britain on Tuesday, the 6th June, 1944. May I ask once again for the kind co-operation of the people of the Falkland Islands to make this, the fifth flag day of the war, an even greater financial success than any held previously.

Yours sincerely,

(Sgd) Henry.

I expect by this time you are wondering if Witchie was allowed to share in the third prize at the Fancy Dress Parade, and wear the tie sometimes--well read on and see for yourself!

Witchie had had enough of this sickening parade, she gave a tug and the leash slipped out of her Master's hand. She dashed like a wild animal all the way home, and as she walked in the back door, she was nearly crying. She had won a prize, and received nothing, Grrrrrrrr Bobby could go as a golliwog next year if he wished!

In a few minutes the door opened and in walked Bobbie, "Hullo Poor Doggie!" he said, and stooping down he tied the prize tie round Witchie's neck, and from his pocket he produced a number of lovely dog biscuits (Witchie's favourite brand).

Looking into her Master's eyes with deep thanks, the little dog said "Bow, Bow wow" which meant "I'll come to another Fancy Dress Parade if you want me to!"

Cheerio.

GARDENING NOTES.

Onions should be lifted without further delay, and as ripening will not be complete; this will have to be finished off by artificial means.

When harvesting no part of the plant is removed. The bulbs are then spread out-as thinly as possible- on the porch bench, window shelf or in a cold frame.

Ripening will take at least a fortnight, after which time the bulbs may be bunched and stored away in some airy shed. Store them as they are, and do not attempt to remove dead skin, roots or dried foliage.

Bulbs that have thickened 'necks' will not ripen, and those should be placed aside for immediate use.

Cabbages that were transplanted during February or early in March, for spring use, should be earthed up to protect them from the winter gales.

The next morning he reads a précis outlining in principle and detail the whole purpose, scope and conditions of the plant which he is about to visit. He familiarises himself with every point - and then asks questions as he goes round. His eye misses nothing. His memory - that marvellous memory which has been an hereditary wonder in the Royal family for four generations - never fails him. Whether he is inspecting a tank factory, machine tools, guns, torpedoes, locomotives, radiolocation appliances or anything else, he makes himself a master of the subject, the conditions under which the workers labour and the war-time uses of the product.

Recently he reviewed flotillas of a special kind of motor launch at a naval dockyard. The public knew nothing of these secret vessels and the Germans knew even less of their location. But the King, a trained sailor, knew every detail.

The same applied, when a few weeks ago, at an R.A.F. aerodrome, he saw some of the latest secret machines and witnessed the trial of equipment which will bring even more despondency to the Luftwaffe.

If such details were made public they would be front-page news. They would be world-wide propaganda for Britain's war effort. And they would tell the public of these Islands and the Empire a little, a very little, of the immense amount of work, application to detail and personal attention to the whole conduct of the war which His Majesty gives every day of the week.

For example, no division of troops goes overseas before the King has reviewed them. Not only does he watch them march past, but he knows the regimental history of every battalion, its background of battle honours, its present-day equipment, its heroes among officers and other ranks, and, usually, the personal history of many of the officers, from the General downwards.

More than once the King has recognised a man in the ranks whom he has seen before, years before this war, and spoken to him. There again you have that wonderful memory which is an inheritance of the House of Windsor.

It is estimated that His Majesty has travelled over a million miles by train, plane, tank, truck, horse and Bren gun carrier since the war began. He has jolted over realistic battlefields in Bren gun carriers which threw him about like a cork and plunged into ditches, battered through woods and climbed hill-sides in labouring tanks. In fact, he has seen and done practically all the rough side of war-time training, short of actually going over a full assault course in battle kit.

He spends many nights each month away from his own home and bed. Sunday, apart from Divine Service, is a working day.

The King speaks several languages with fluency, notably French and German. He has inherited his mother's love of good pictures, good furniture and of objects of art but naturally has no time nowadays to give to such pleasant relaxations.

His only real sport indeed is shooting. He has very much the same stance and wing as his father, holds his gun with the same pronounced straight left forearm and is, indeed, among the very best shots in the country. Thus he follows closely in the footsteps of King George V who was one of the best shots of all time.

The King likes hiking as an early morning exercise, particularly with the two princesses, but nowadays he is lucky if he can manage an odd hour before breakfast whenever he happens to be at Windsor or Sandringham. In his early years he was an enthusiastic huntsman and could find his way across practically any country with judgment and decision.

But his Majesty's main war-time interest outside the everyday duties of State is farming. He farms about 3,500 acres at Sandringham and probably 1,500 acres at Windsor. At the latter place an enormous tract of the Great Park has been ploughed up and today constitutes the biggest corn field in the country. The King is a keen stock breeder, and has a fine stud of Shire horses at Sandringham. Most of the butter, cream, milk eggs and poultry for the Court is produced at Windsor which also has a herd of pedigree pigs.

The whole of these 5,000 acres of farms are under His Majesty's own close, personal supervision, stocks, cropping, leys, rotations and the rest. In peacetime he took a keen interest in entering his horses, cattle, sheep and pigs at agricultural shows, but made it a principle never to pay extravagant prices for mere "pot-hunting" pedigree animals or to enter his stock at shows where they might have an unfair advantage over farmers less fortunately placed. His farms, indeed, are run on plain, practical lines, the same conservative lines which made British farming the first in the world when Coke of Norfolk, Bakewell of Dishly, Sykes of Sledmere and others carried the fame of our stock and herds to the four corners of the earth. To-day the Royal farms are concerned with corn growing where corn was never grown before. Hundreds of acres of grassland, parkland, heath and ornamental grounds have been ploughed up. Those who knew Sandringham in the past would scarcely recognise many parts of it to-day.

The King's racing stable is kept up in war-time merely as a gesture to the British bloodstock breeding industry. The fact that it has done well is a tribute to those who manage it. The King has little time to give close attention to it. The conduct of the war comes first and foremost in his daily life with his farms as a personal but none-the-less important aside. As for yachting, it is doubtful if a Royal Yacht will race again when peace comes. King George VI sees too many serious problems of peacetime reconstruction in the years ahead to give his heart or mind to the pleasant playthings of departed days.

This story tells of how a greedy man and dishonest, became kind and honest. Zaccheus was a publican or taxgatherer. This job was despised by his countrymen, because it was introduced by their foreign conquerors, the Romans. Few would do the job.

What made the great change in the life of Zaccheus? The answer is, he received the Lord Jesus Christ as his Master and Lord and started to follow Him. The Lesson here is that Jesus brings out the best in the lives of those who trust and follow Him.

Be sure and worship God in your church this Sunday if you live in town; if you live in Camp tune in your Wireless Set at Church time on Sunday evening!

Wedding.

A very pretty wedding took place in the Tabernacle, last Saturday afternoon, 29th April, when Mr James Copeland (L.A.) and Miss Eveline Edna Poole were joined in marriage. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. R.F. McWhan.

Mr. A. Davis (Chief B.R.A.) was Best Man, while in the absence of her father the bride was given away by Ldg. Stoker Hannaford.

The bride was dressed in white Crepe de Chine and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers, the gift of Mrs W. Halliday. The bridesmaid, Miss Agnes Halliday, was tastefully dressed in mauve taffeta and carried a bouquet of flowers similar to that of the bride.

A largely attended dance was held in the Gymnasium in the evening.

We wish Mr Copeland (who hails from Uddingston, Glasgow) and his bride every happiness in the future.

Letter from St. Dunstan's Wedding.

Cartoon

There is a craze around town, the stupidest craze that you could ever imagine: senseless people copy out a page of nonsense entitled the "Good luck of London" seal it down in an envelope and post it to some one or other with no stamp on it. The recipient is supposed to "Copy it out and see what happens within four days after parting with it". To gain luck, your copy plus four others must be posted to some other victim or rather victims within twenty four hours.

People who take part in this nonsense seem to forget the extra work given to the post office staff and that the wretched recipient has to pay 2d on the unstamped letter. The writers of these letters are childish public nuisances.

If you know of anyone writing these stupid letters, tell them that they will gain fortune more surely, by doing something sensible and profitable with their time.

The B.B.C. broadcast the second of their special programmes to the Colony last Monday evening. In the early part of the programme a message was read from David Glendell, one of our Volunteers now training with the R.A.F.

The wedding took place in New Basford, Nottingham, England, at Easter, of Miss Mary Ann (Molly) Roberts to Quartermaster Sgt. Mamilton Howitt. The bride and her sister are both working in aircraft factories.

The Services Canteen has received a donation of £9 from the Concert Party. The Committee and Lady Helpers are most grateful for this financial help and would like to take this opportunity of expressing their sympathy for the loss the Concert Party incurred during the recent fire, and wish them better success in their next effort.

The Weekly Meeting of Tech, in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, on Thursday 11th May (tonight) at 8 p.m. will take the form of a discussion on a subject in Political Economy. The discussion will be opened by Sgt. Whitty.

We publish another Health Bulletin this week. It was Izaak Walton (known to all fishermen) who said "Look to your health; and if you have it praise God, and value it next to a good conscience".

In our next issue we hope to print an article called "This is London Calling!" which gives you a peep behind the scenes at Broadcasting House, while a programme is actually being prepared and "put on the air".

The Falkland Islands Beagles meet on Saturday 13th May at the Cumber at 11.30 a.m. and on Wednesday 17th May at 11.30 a.m. at Eliza Cove. Civilians as well as service personnel are cordially invited to support the Meetings, especially any who wish to follow on horse-back.

FIRE INQUIRY FINDINGS: The Public Enquiry into the Town Hall fire ended on Thursday. The Coroner's finding was that the fire was accidental. His summing up of the evidence is much too long to print here but in the evidence he concluded "that the fire started on the east side of the stage where some cloth scenery was ignited probably by an unextinguished match or cigarette and accidentally dropped or thrown away by a member of the concert party which had been rehearsing that afternoon. His finding therefore was that the fire was accidentally caused.

The Falkland Islands annual output of wool depletes the soil of the equivalent of 548 tons of sodium nitrate and 162 tons of sulphate of potash.

WEDDING.

The wedding took place, very quietly, in the Registrar's Office, Stanley, last Saturday afternoon, 6th May, of Mr Leonard Lawrence Reive to Miss Eleanor Maud Ione Osborne. The bride was dressed in a frock of blue morocain with beige hat and gloves to match. Miss Rissie Luxton attended the bride, dressed in cream figured silk suede with hat of blue morocain trimmed with cream.

Mr Charles Reive (brother of the bridegroom) acted as best man.

After the Ceremony, a small family gathering was held at the home of the brides' mother.

Mr and Mrs Reive are making their home in Stanley. We wish them every happiness.

THE LATE WILLIAM STEEL.

We regret to report the death of Mr William Glass Steel, which occurred after a considerable period of illness, in the K.E.M.-Hospital, Stanley, last Friday morning 5th May.

Mr Steel was born in Dumfries, Scotland, seventy three years ago, and came to the Colony with his father and mother, and a brother and sister. He resided in Darwin for many years, then for about nineteen years lived in Chile. He returned to the Colony just before the last War and worked in the Camp from then onwards. His last station was Port San Carlos, where he lived for about ten years.

Mr Steel was a lover of the poet Burns, and could quote much of that great man's verse from Memory. He was a member of the Stanley Benefit Club.

Left to mourn their loss are Mr Robert Steel (brother) Mrs Grant (half sister) and Mr J. Steel (half brother) who lives in Chile.

The funeral took place from the Tabernacle, last Sunday afternoon, and was conducted by the Rev. B. J. Brain.

The relatives of the late Mr Steel wish to thank all who sent floral tributes and their special thanks to the Dr and Staff of the K.E.M.-Hospital.

Gardening Notes

To keep the Honeysuckle presentable and within bounds; it is essential to prune annually, immediately after flowering. The general principle of pruning, is to cut the current season's growths right back to within an inch of the old wood. Now, there is no need to worry about the inch, because the growths so intertwine in and out among the old wood, that there is always a sufficiency of new ripened wood to produce new growths for the coming season. Therefore cut back as close to the old wood as possible, and all will be well.

LETTER RECEIVED BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR, FROM ST. DUNSTON'S.

2nd February, 1944.

Dear Sir Allan,

Thank you and the People of the Falkland Islands very much indeed for a most generous contribution of £282. 5.7. which has just reached me through the Crown Agents for the Colonies. It is extremely kind of you to send us this further gift and we greatly appreciate your help as well as your continued interest and sympathy with what we are doing at St Dunstan's. Our official receipt is enclosed herewith.

We have been very busy recently. Blinded casualties are coming in from different parts of the world and we are having to extend our premises both here and in Shropshire to meet our growing needs.

Last week we opened a hostel for Massage students next door to these new offices. There are now quite a number of men who finished the first part of their training with us and are now ready to take the second part and sit for their examinations at the London School of Massage, which is just round the corner from our hostel. My wife and I have a few of the New War officers living with us in our house in Regent's Park. At present we have only two- one was in the R.A.F. and was blinded as a result of the explosion of a bomb during a raid; he is doing part of his training in London - and the other served as a Captain in the R.I. Fusiliers and was blinded in Tunisia. He was a partner in a firm of solicitors before the war and has now returned to his firm.

The other day we had a visit from H.R.H. The Princess Royal at our Shropshire establishment. The Princess devoted most of her time to the hospital, the girls' house and the new house for trainees which we opened last summer. H.R.H. was particularly interested in the girls who were busy in their model kitchen at the time of her visit. Unfortunately a number of these young women have a second disability as their hands have been very badly damaged in the same explosion which blinded them. They are, however, wonderfully cheerful and we all admire their courage.

We are constantly in touch with the men from this war who have already passed through our hands. My Wife paid a short visit the other day to the hostel where the majority of our men who are engaged in aircraft production are living. She was delighted to find them so keen about their work and looking so well. A member of our Staff who visits all our masseurs, reports most favourably on the New War men who are now set up in practice in various provincial towns, and the blinded Polish doctor who was with us about two years ago, is now established in the West End of London as a qualified masseur and medical electrician and is well supported by his Polish doctor friends. There are other officers for whom suitable posts have been found and many men have been trained as telephone operators, shop-keepers or in some special branch of industry and are now out in the world again.

Again thanking you all and with our best wishes,

Yours sincerely

Ian Fraser
Chairman.

HEALTH NOTES.

Apperients, laxatives, cathartics, purgatives, the language is rich in words which mean "opening medicine". The drug trade offers to the public scores of preparations which belong to this category and the quantity consumed by the public in this Colony, in most cases needlessly, and in some cases harmfully, is incredible. There is a comfortable tradition and sure faith in the importance of regular bowel movements. No "health" belief is more firmly held. Despite years of teaching at the Infant Welfare Clinic let the infant dare to miss one day and the anxious mother may drench him with milk of magnesia, paraffin, castor oil, or some other remedy that has come down through the ages with a reputation for doing the trick. Every surgeon has operated on cases of acute appendicitis that have been produced by a smart purge like epsom salts. Every physician sees patients who tell him they have been taking laxatives every night of their lives for years.

There is no scientific basis for this belief whatsoever. Many people feel better when the bowels act once in two or three days and the ill effects of constipation are largely due to worry over the disturbance of habit. Anxiety over constipation is a fruitful cause of it.

To treat roughly and ignorantly a marvellous piece of mechanism like the intestinal canal with its delicate lining, its wonderful secretory and absorptive apparatus, and its beautifully balanced rhythmic movements is little less than a plain outrage!

Dear Boys and Girls,

I am publishing a letter on "pets" this week. I am sure that you will find it interesting:-

My Pony.

My pet is a Shetland pony and its name is "Betty". I have had her for almost three years, and she was four years old when Daddy bought her for me. As Betty is so tame I am able to take my little brother Ian for rides. When my cousins were out to my home for their holidays we had great fun with Betty and her little foal Curly.

Sometimes we give them sugar to eat for a treat, they also like potatoes, cake and milk. This is all I can think of just now.

YOU REALLY HEAR BIG BEN.

B.B.C. Broadcasts Sirens "Live"

When the sirens sounded on one particular night, Big Ben was chiming 9 o'clock prelude to the B.B.C. News Bulletin in the Home Service; so that not only did the microphones pick up the dignified tones of the great clock, but also the wail of the air raid warning.

It seems to me that here is proof that Big Ben always goes out to B.B.C. listeners direct or "live", and not as a record. For nearly 20 years this has been the custom and one that was faithfully adhered to even at the height of the 1940-41 blitz on London.

Big Ben Links Britain with the Empire.

To put on a record of Big Ben would be more convenient in many ways, but - in response to the wishes of thousands of listeners, both in Britain and throughout the Empire - the B.B.C. broadcasts the chimes as they actually strike. Listeners have written to say that, so long as they can hear Big Ben they feel assured that the heart of Britain is beating strongly. In many homes the chimes are a call to a few moments of silent prayer.

In the B.B.C.'s Overseas Programme, which has a 24 hour service, Big Ben is broadcast at all hours of the day and night, and for British forces serving overseas as it serves as a close and affectionate link with the homeland.

We hear that a considerable amount of snow is lying on the ground out in the Camp, around such places as Teal Inlet and North Arm.

The Public Works Department has been carrying on as usual, since the Town Hall fire, in what was formerly the Civil Defence Control-the latter being moved to near the Secretariat.

The Beagles meet on Saturday 20th May at 11:30a.m. at the pumping Station, and on Wednesday 24th May at the same hour at Canopus.

ToCH meets on Thursday 18th May at 8.p.m. in the Tabernacle Schoolroom. This week there will be a varied evening, several people being responsible for the entertainment of the company present for twenty minute periods. Men interested in Stanley, are welcome.

Many people in Stanley have been "afflicted" by that miserable pest- the "Common Cold" of late.

We regret that we are not able to print the Weekly News as clearly as we should like- Wartime paper, ink and stencils are naturally not as they were in peace time.

Birth. At the K.E.M.Hospital, May 13th to Mr. & Mrs. Baker a daughter, Linley Edith.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs George Scott.

As announced last week, the death of Mrs George Scott took place on Tuesday the 9th May in Stanley, at the age of 76 years. Mrs Scott was a native of Worcester-shire England, and lived in the Falklands for 50 years, associated for about 40 years with New Island, where her hospitality and kindness to all who called, was well known.

Mrs Scott only once returned for a trip to her native England in 1914, arriving back in the Colony in 1915.

Left to mourn their loss are her husband, four daughters, fourteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The Funeral took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Friday afternoon.

Mr George Scott and family wish to thank Dr.Kinneard and the Matron and Staff of the K.E.M.Hospital, also all who sent Telegrams, Messages of Sympathy, and floral tributes.

The Late Mrs.Catherine Matilda Allan.

The death took place very suddenly on Friday 12th May of Mrs Catherine Matilda Allan, at the residence of her step-daughter Mrs Bundes (where she had resided for the past two and a half years) at the age of 76 yrs.

Mrs Allan came from Leicester in England and lived for fifty four years in Stanley. She enjoyed good health all her life and was working right up to the last.

Left to mourn their loss are two step-daughters, six step-sons, and two sisters and brothers (Living in Britain.

The funeral of the late Mrs Allan took place from Christ Church Cathedral last Sunday afternoon.

The family of the late Mrs Allan wish to thank all who sent messages of sympathy and floral tributes, and also Mrs L.Jennings and Mrs R.Williams.

CHILDREN'S PARTY.

Under the auspices of the Labour Federation and with the Patronage of His Excellency Sir A.W. Cardinal K.B.E., C.M.G., a children's party will be held on Saturday the 20th May, 1944.

By kind permission of the Officer Commanding Falkland Is. Defence Force the party will be in the Drill Hall.

Through the kindness of Mr Les Hardy a cinema will be held in the Gymnasium at 2.p.m. The children will then proceed to the Drill Hall to be entertained with games &c followed by tea.

All children are cordially invited to attend.

Each child must bring their own cup or mug.

Editorial.

In this week's paper we publish a Notice, inviting the people of the Colony to think out ideas for a building or buildings to replace the Town Hall, put their ideas in writing, and send them in to the Colonial Secretary, by the 30th of September. The envelopes should be marked "Town Hall Reconstruction".

This seems to me, to be a splendid idea, and I hope that many people in Town and Camp, will take time within the next few weeks, and think out plans for this building.

Remember your ideas must be practical, and reasonable, outside that you can use all your powers of ingenuity. With the assistance from the Community, not only under the new foundation stone, but in the whole building will there be the mark of the people of the Colony.

RECENT ARRIVALS FROM THE CAMP:- Mrs. K.V.Lellman & child, Mrs F.Smith, Miss I.McLeod, Mrs G.Thompson & child, Mrs A.Phillips Sen, Mrs Jas Middleton, Mrs.W.Cantlie, Mrs J.Hewett & 2 children, Mr. Wm. McMullan, Mr & Mrs W.B.Myles, Miss J.Myles, Mrs.Wm. Paice & children, Miss M.Potter, Mr.W.Davis. (Mr.R.Hannaford Round Voyage).

ENEMY LOSSES.

The enemy lost forty five planes over Britain in April, sixty two over the Mediterranean, six hundred and seven over the Middle East, two over India and thirty six over Burma - a total of 752.

ROBBERY IN STANLEY.

During the evening of Saturday 13th May a daring robbery was carried out at the home of Mr Wm Hutchinson, Fitzroy Road, Stanley, Mr and Mrs Hutchinson were at the Walkies at the time. The thief (or thieves) removed the top half of the kitchen window, at the rear of the house completely, stepped inside the kitchen helped himself to money in and on a desk there, and proceeded to another room where he opened an upright office case and removed a considerable sum of money from inside. The total amount stolen came to over £700:

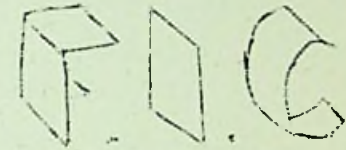

So far no trace of the thief or thieves has been found. A reward of £50 has been offered for information which will lead to the arrest of the responsible party and the returning of the stolen money.

It must be the hope of every right thinking person, that the responsible party for this affair is caught and dealt with. No words can describe our contempt for such activity.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley,
15th May 1944.

The Editor,
F.I. Weekly News.

Dear Sir, The first article in your last issue has rather an offensive flavour, and in self defence I would be grateful if you will publish my views on the same subject.

As one of your readers and, incidentally, supporters of your Paper I naturally resent the publishing of an article which calls me senseless as did your reference to the "Good Luck of London".

I was, to quote you, a wretched recipient of one of these letters, with a stamp attached, and was crazy enough to follow instructions and post five letters, all duly stamped, to friends to whom I wished luck.

Whilst realizing, without your assistance, that it was somewhat crazy I also took another line of reasoning viz:- That this unknown well-wisher, who so kindly bestowed such mysterious luck upon me, was probably of a superstitious nature and not desiring to be so mean as to break the spell I acceded to the request.

(One point I did overlook, which surely is excusable in one so senseless, and that was the extra strain my folly placed on the already much overworked Post Office Staff. This I regret and apologize for my dreadful thoughtlessness and sincerely trust they may have time to recuperate before another mail is crowded on them.

It is an unfortunate fact that it takes all kinds to make a world and also that quite a percentage of your subscribers are prone to superstition so, I ask, why is it necessary for you to make such unpleasant statements which are liable to offend half your supporters just to satisfy some miser who has had the outrageous sum of twopence extracted from him and is mist probably too stingy to even support your paper by buying an odd copy?

"SENSELESS".

Interesting Document Salvaged from Town Hall Ruins!

While clearing up the debris of the recent fire at the Town Hall, a parchment was found, and also some coins of Edward VII and George V reigns. The reading on the document was as follows:-

"The Foundation Stone of this building was laid this twentieth fifth day of January, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, being the third year of the Reign of His Majesty, George V, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas King &c., &c., by His Excellency William Lamond Allardyce, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies, in the presence of the undersigned.

By the courtesy of Captain John Luce, Royal Navy,
A Guard of Honour was furnished by His Majesty's Ship
"Glasgow", lying in Stanley Harbour.

There are likewise deposited with this document certain coins of the Realm of the Reign of His Majesty King George V., whom may God long preserve, as also of the Reign of His late Majesty King Edward VII". Immediately beneath this writing appeared the list of signatures.

This document and the coins were found under the foundation stone of the building, and are in safe custody until we have a new Museum, where they will be permanently stored.

By the Editor.

Now that we have our own special programme once a fortnight, from England, it may interest you to know how programmes actually are "Put over the air".

The B.B.C. does a certain amount of outside broadcasting, that is running commentaries on current events, relays of Church Services, Radio Newsreel Features, etc, but far the greater part of the programmes come from their studios.

London, with its famous Broadcasting House, close to Oxford Circus is the nerve centre of a system which gives a twenty four hour service to all parts of the World, and serves the population of Great Britain as well.

Broadcasting has reached such an advanced stage that one can speak from the studios far from London, in Glasgow or Belfast, and immediately after Big Ben, you are announced from London, and you speak as if from London. This is to give a unity to the broadcasting.

Let us imagine that you are taking part in a programme, perhaps in a talk, perhaps giving a few words in a feature programme.

You must prepare the script of your Talk carefully and then submit it to the Talks Director, who will arrange an interview with you. Then kindly but firmly that individual helps you to make the most of your material and as you leave the Broadcasting Station, you leave your script for typing. The B.B.C. staff do this, making several copies.

Your next visit to the Station, is to give you a rehearsal. This introduces you to the broadcasting studio. For talks a small room is used, for Feature Programmes, Bands etc, a large studio, up to the size of our local gymnasium is used.

Studios are all built on the same pattern. The doors are of the swing type, noiseless, a bulb over the entrance gleams red when broadcasting is underway, and the studio itself is equipped with coloured lights on the walls above the doors, and always a clock with a large second hand travelling round. The furniture is of the tubular variety, and the table is padded. The paper your script is on is a special type which will scarcely rustle.

In one side of every studio, is a large window, through which is a small room. This is the control room, and the officials in this room, can listen into you, and watch and hear you broadcasting, but no sound comes into the actual studio. At rehearsal times, they can test you out, under normal broadcasting conditions.

The actual Broadcasting gives you an insight into the thoroughness of the B.B.C. Everyone knows his and her job exactly. You are ushered into a waiting room, and soon you are taken up into the studio, with your script held tightly in your hand. For the moment that piece of typewritten foolscap is the most precious thing you have.

The Announcer watches the lights the clock, and from the moment the studio is "on the air" everyone does their level best to fulfill all the rules of broadcasting. You must speak clearly, and slowly, and you must slip into the seat by the table, when your turn comes, or watch for your cue if you are taking part in a programme with many artists.

It is wonderful to watch the broadcasting of a programme by experts. They too have rehearsed. The band plays, records record clapping (as if the broadcast came from an entertainment hall) the artists sing in front of the microphone, and the compere dashes to and fro up to the microphone and back again, to say his few words in between turns.

Programmes are timed to the second, and one of the rules of broadcasting, is that your programme must end on time.

Hour after hour the programmes go over the air. Programmes are arranged a considerable time ahead, and the overseas ones are entered in "London Calling" while the Home Programmes appear in advance in "Radio Times".

This is but a brief picture of a wonderful organi-

Unfortunately, and all too often so is this homely old climber growing in a state of sad neglect. The plant may be bearing many season's growths, is unsightly and probably bears few blooms. These neglected plants can, and should be brought under control without delay. Don't be afraid to cut them back; in this case, cutting back into the old wood will certainly be necessary. It should always be remembered that Honeysuckle can be kept where required, but it can gain the upperhand if permitted. Even during the season of growth, when growths tend to cover the window or encroach elsewhere, they may be removed without undue harm to the plant.

Dahlias and Arums that were placed outdoors after flowering should be brought inside, if this has not already been done. Pot roses are quite hardy, and unless they are required for forcing, should remain outdoors until the spring.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Luke Ch. 7 vv 1-10.

This commander of a hundred soldiers or the garrison at Capernaum had been influenced by the religious life of the people of the town.

He shewed his admiration and love for their sincerity by building them a synagogue or church.

He shewed so great faith that Jesus marvelled and honoured his faith by healing his servant.

In his admiration and love for sincerity, and his faith in Christ, he sets us a good example.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Replacement of Town Hall.

Everyone appreciates that it must be some time before any scheme of reconstruction can be started. It is quite impossible to obtain sufficient or any building materials, and there must inevitably be for some time after the war a long period of scarcity.

2. The inconvenience of such a delay to us all is a misfortune of war; but it also affords an excellent opportunity for consultation and careful planning to ensure that the reconstruction is carried out in accordance with the wishes of the people and in the manner likely to be of the greatest and most lasting benefit to the Colony.

3. There is no reason why preliminary consultations should not begin now and it will be of help if those members of the public who are most interested in the question and those who have been thinking it over, will kindly put their ideas into writing and forward their letters to the Colonial Secretary. Envelopes should be marked "Town Hall Reconstruction" and addressed to the Secretariat at any time up to the 30th September, which should provide a sufficiently long interval for the writers carefully to consider their plans and to discuss them with their friends before committing them to paper.

4. When the various suggestions have been co-ordinated the next step will be to lay them together with proposals by Government, before the public for comment and general discussion, with the final view of setting up a Committee of Reconstruction.

Tonight is the second night of the May Ball in Stanley.

At Toth on Thursday 25th May (tonight) in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, the Group will hold a debate on the motion "That Public Entertainment should be allowed on Sundays". Visitors are welcome.

We welcome Dr and Mrs Hopwood to the Colony, and hope that they will have a happy term in our midst.

Our Cover this month shows the Whalebone Arch on Green, to the West of the Cathedral, in Stanley.

The interior of the gymnasium has recently been painted white. Since the loss of the Town Hall, the gym is a busy place, being used for both Dances, and the Talkies.

We remind all of the Red Cross Bazaar, which takes place in the Drill Hall, opening at 3.p.m. on Saturday 27th May. The opening Ceremony will be performed by His Excellency the Governor. We wish the effort every success.

Since yesterday was Empire Day, we take the opportunity of printing a special Empire Day Message in this issue, from Lord Bledisloe, to the Youth of the Empire.

The Falkland Island Beagles meet on Saturday 27th May at 11.30.a.m. at Cortley Hill, and on Wednesday 31st May, at Charles Point also at 11.30.a.m.

Last Monday evening's broadcast to the Colony was, as previous programmes very disappointing to many; the voice of Mrs Clifton-Mogg came over very clearly, and made a change in the right direction.

FACTS ABOUT BRITAIN.

The British Post Office, by using war economy labels, has saved over 40,000,000 envelopes.

Passenger and freight trains on the London Midland and Scottish Railways, one of Britain's large main-line systems, travel over 2,500,000 miles a week.

By the collection of pennies in aid of the Red Cross Agricultural Fund, villages in England and Wales have raised $1,165,383.

Nearly 700 acres are to be cultivated in London's Royal Parks this year. This total includes 125 acres let to the public for allotments.

The Ministry of Agriculture this year hopes to organise more than 200 harvest holiday camps to accommodate 750,000 volunteers. Last year there were 80 camps and 250,000 volunteers.

Typical of the work of the Y.W.C.A. (Young Women's Christian Association) is the club in Chelmsford, Essex, where for 3d. a week women war workers and land girls can have a bath, wash their hair, do their laundry and ironing, play games, write letters and invite friends in for a light meal.

Each week, 11,000 unites of electricity, equal to 142 tons of coal a year, are saved by stopping the "down" escalators at 24 London Underground Stations during the mid-day slack period and all day on Sundays.

Since the Air Training Corps was found three years ago, 100,000 members have been accepted by the Services, and 15,000 cadets have attained proficiency in various stages of gliding during the past year. The present strength of the Corps is about 170,000.

2,153 British Restaurants now serve 565,000 meals a day. In the past year 246 have been opened in Britain and their numbers are increasing at the rate of 12 a month.

EMPIRE DAY MESSAGE.

On this notable Empire Day our hearts must be full of profound thankfulness to our fighting men, drawn from every part of the world-wide British Commonwealth, whose valour, endurance, and heroic sacrifices have brought victory in sight and saved the world from slavery and the Empire from disruption. Let us prove ourselves worthy of their great achievements by pursuing with sincerity and vision, within our own sphere of influence and endeavour - be it great or small - the cause of human welfare, contentment and happiness in days to come.

The steadfast solidarity and comradeship of British peoples throughout this War have not only saved the Empire - they have saved the world. This solidarity and mutual confidence will be more than ever needed in the task of establishing on a sure foundation an enduring Peace. Just as in 1940, all freedom-loving nations looked to us for salvation and leadership and did not look in vain, so will they look to us again in the hour of victory. Empire Day reminds us that our Empire citizenship involves responsibilities commensurate with its abounding privileges. These we must shoulder resolutely with a supreme confidence in the future greatness of the British Commonwealth and Empire and a full realisation of the immeasurable service which it can render not only to its own peoples but to all mankind.

Boys and Girls of the Empire, you are living in stirring times. Many changes will take place both in your country and in the wide world beyond. Air transport and radio communication will bring the Earth's scattered territories ever nearer to you. What concerns their inhabitants will concern you too and affect your daily life. Develop, therefore, a well-informed interest in world affairs and especially in those of the British Empire which is your own special heritage and will become one of your great responsibilities in the adventure of life upon which you are embarking.

There is opening before us all the vista of a brighter, nobler and more righteous world beyond the clouds of War - a world where selfishness, oppression, injustice and want will be buried in a new-found liberty, based upon the foundations of a living faith. Let us all earnestly strive with stout hearts and unsullied ideals, to aid in the building of that better world, firmly refusing to allow the present unparalleled unity of the British Commonwealth and its brave Allies to be shaken in putting our hands to the God sent task of perpetuating Peace upon Earth and promoting Goodwill among men.

Up top in the fresh air it seemed quite an exciting little adventure - to look back upon anyway.

If heat cannot be supplied in some form or another, brown paper might be used by placing it lightly over the plants to protect them when frost threatens; it can easily be removed when the danger is past. The placing of paper over the glass to the height of the foliage is quite a common practice, but this cannot be recommended because of its permanency, thereby depriving the plants of light, which is so essential during the winter months. EMPIRE DAY MESSAGE FROM HIS MAJESTY THE KING.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to address the following Empire Day message to the Colonial Empire:-

"Today in these eventful times we celebrate the 5th Empire Day of the war. We are in good heart for we can justly say that whatever danger may still threaten the Commonwealth and Empire we have at this moment to our hand the men the weapons resources and mastery of the situation which make the final issue certain.

Throughout this bitter and terrible conflict I have never doubted that the response of my Colonial peoples to all calls made upon them would be swift whole hearted and complete. It is a wonderful thing for me to reflect that promises of loyalty and support which so many of you sent to me in the darkest days of our history have been redeemed many times over.

My Colonial troops, side by side with their comrades from all parts of the Empire, have fought and are fighting with their traditional bravery. Success crowned their aims in Africa, as I know it will in other theatres of the war. But fighting in battle is only one part of the total war. The organisation of large and small communities and their resources on a war footing, the carrying out of urgent war measures and the planning and execution of programmes of war production have thrown a heavy burden upon my Colonial Governments and Legislatures. They have, I know, been helped in their task by the outstanding and loyal co-operation of the people.

I wish to pay especial tribute to the men and women of my Colonial Service. Many of them in the Far East are now in the hands of the enemy. They are always in our thoughts. Others have left their civil duties for military service where their expert knowledge and experiences have been of the greatest value. This with the urgent and always increasing demands of war has made still harder and more exacting the task of those who had to stay at their posts. They have sustained this heavier burden, often under difficult conditions, deprived of the companionship of their wives and families, through long periods anxious for their safety and well being.

None have spared themselves. To all I send this expression of my appreciation of their devoted work and hope with God's help we shall come through the perils and sufferings to happier times".

GIFT TO FAULKLAND ISLANDS FORCE.

The F.I.F. have received a very kind gift from Montevideo. The Patriotic Committee there, had been informed of the loss of the Army Concert Party instruments in the Town Hall fire, and within forty eight hours they had ordered a piano, drums, violin and trumpet to replace the loss, and had them shipped. These instruments are very much appreciated by the lads, who wish to thank all friends in Montevideo.

CHILDREN'S PARTY.

Last Saturday afternoon, the 20th of May, was a great occasion for the boys and girls of the town. Through the kindness of the Labour Federation, a Party was organised and all the youngsters of the town invited.

First of all there was a Cinema Show, given by Mr Les Hardy, a long film, then Terry Toons which made your sides ache with laughter.

Everybody then went from the Gymnasium, where the Cinema performance took place, to the Drill Hall which had been placed at the disposal of the organisers of the party. Here the F.I.D.F. Band rendered selections, Tea was served, and a wonderful tea it was! Among the visitors looking on was His Excellency the Governor.

After Tea the children were able to visit "Blackpool" in as much as the double length slide was as good as any show thrill; at another part of the Hall was a very long see-saw, taking large numbers of the children each time, and then for the boys there was the coin in the bucket of water, with an electric shock guaranteed to each one who put his hand in. In another corner of the Hall was a quoit game, and I nearly forgot to mention the lucky dip!

The Party was very well organised, and all concerned, not forgetting the men who looked after the amusements and the ladies who attended the tea tables deserve a hearty vote of thanks for their very successful effort to give our boys and girls a really tip-top afternoon.

The Committee of the Labour Federation wish to express their sincere thanks to His Excellency the Governor, and to all others who so generously contributed to the Party Fund, to the ladies and gentlemen who gave their assistance in helping with the tea and supervising the games, also to Mr Les Hardy and the Officer Commanding F.I.D.F. for the use of the Drill Hall, and for all assistance given by him. They wish to thank Mr. C'Sullivan and the Band under Bandmaster F.O'Sullivan.

Great praise must be given to the Post Office staff for the speedy manner in which they cleared the mails, so that the Children's Cinema could be held.

So to one and all - thanks!

This little lad's bread and fishes wouldn't have gone very far among such a crowd; but he willingly gave them to Jesus who fed five thousand people with them. The lesson from this, is, that the best way to do the greatest amount of good with little ability is by using that ability in living for God.

Britain's Largest Heroine.

There was no war on when the luxurious floating hotel - the "Queen Mary" was launched. There is not much luxury about her now. Stark and grim she is shuttling troops back and forth across the seven seas and carrying loads of Axis prisoners to America and other distant safe spots where they may be interned. Canada, America, Capetown, Sydney, Ceylon, Singapore - she seems to have been everywhere and usually just in the nick of time. It was she who saved the day when the fresh Divisions she discharged in Egypt turned Rommel back at El Alamein.

The Italians boasted that they had torpedoed her in the South Atlantic. They hadn't. The Nazis in Brazil plotted to do the same. They also failed. Her speed is so great that she once ploughed straight through a pack of twenty-five submarines before any one of them could release a missile. Another time when she was loaded down with American troops and an almost solid mass of equipment a gigantic Atlantic wave tipped her within five inches of capsizing.

Through it all she has kept her timetables almost to the hour. In the darkest days of the blitz she raced back and forth across the Nazi infested waters, - a black mountain rushing through the night. With a boldness and a pride born only of great ships she scorned the usual habit of creeping out of port under cover of darkness. After several blasts of her deep-throated whistles, she would slip her moorings and glide out to sea in broad daylight.

For a great lady born to the purple and the sheltered life the Queen Mary has carved out a career for herself that is one of danger and shining heroism.

It seems, that no matter how careful one may be, the time comes when we find a frozen plant.

A frozen plant may be saved, if dealt with promptly; delay is fatal. The first thing to do, is to give the whole plant a thorough drenching with ice-cold water. If the soil is also frozen, give that a good soaking too, and place the plant in a cool dark place until it is completely thawed out. The same treatment may be applied to plants in the cold frame, except, that the 'lights' will be covered with heavy sacking after the plants have been treated.

The outdoor fruit pruning season has now arrived, in fact the winter season may, for the gardener, be aptly termed the pruning season!

We start now, with Blackcurrents, dispensing with the old, and diseased wood, and retaining the strongest new wood of the current season's growth. All suckers should be retained, because they produce new 'base' growths, an essential feature of the blackcurrent.

Dr. Henry Townsend, Principal,
Baptist College, Manchester.

FOR THE CHILDREN Head Luke Ch. 9 vv 57-62.

Following Christ is likened in this passage to tackling a difficult task a job which requires perseverance. The Lord Himself often found the task which God had given to Him, very hard, but he never turned from it. Like Him let us have determination to continue doing the will of God, persevere in that which we know to be right.

The local branch of the British Red Cross Society held its annual bazaar in the Drill Hall, Stanley, on Saturday the 27th May.

Punctually at 3 o'clock His Excellency the Governor was introduced to the already crowded hall by the Chairman and in a short address Sir Alan declared the proceedings open.

The difficulties and worry inseparable from the organization of such undertakings were greatly heightened this year through the recent destruction of the Town Hall, and despite the ingenuity of the indefatigable Toc H. workers in making the smaller floor space of the Drill Hall available for the bazaar there were times when the room was uncomfortably crowded. Which means, in other words, that virtually everybody in Stanley not actually bed-ridden or doing "jankers" or its equivalent, was present to spend money willingly and even lavishly for about the most deserving cause that exists both in peace-time and war-time.

And particularly in war-time.

The smaller the community the more sameness there must be in affairs of this kind, and three things in Stanley always surprise me:- (1) where the goods come from to make such a brave show as was on view on Saturday; (2) where all the money comes to buy them up; (3) whence the organizers and helpers obtain their courage and enthusiasm to labour for weeks, and even months, to ensure progressively greater success each year.

The Committee were well repaid; as I have intimated, everybody was there from the Governor and his Councillors down to the smallest schoolboys, and judging from the incredible number of edibles and potables (amongst so many other things) on sale, it is permissible to wonder whether there might not have been some parental misgivings as 11 o'clock wore on.

It is not possible to mention any of our own people by name as this great result was achieved by the united effort of the whole town and quite a selection of the Camp, but we should like to add that the notable

On Monday and Tuesday evenings, 29th and 30th of May, an Army Concert was held in the Camp, a stage was fitted up at the end of a Nissen Hut, and with bright stage lighting made an ideal little theatre. The programme was produced (and inspired if I might say so) by Captain McCubbing. Right from the opening chorus to the last item "Memories" - the show went with a swing. Everyone of the Company put their best into their numbers, and as outstanding amongst these must be mentioned the singing of Sgn.H.Pynes, the comic songs of Pte.R.Egan and the sketches "I've been away", "Exchange of clothing", "Cooking Hints" and "Silent Films".

In case any of the audience thought that they could sing as well as those on the stage, they were given

The Concert was an outstanding success. We congratulate the Concert Party, those behind the scenes, who must have worked hard, and Cpl Forrester who did all that was required of him at the piano. The guests (friends of the soldiers) were all loud in their praise of the effort, and grateful for the thoughtfulness of those who thought of giving them such a jolly evening.

XCHCXCHXCHC C CHCAHCHXCHXCXCHXCXC. CXCHCXCHXCXCHXCX

Last Wednesday and Thursday (evenings, in the Gymnasium are now happy memories, for the May Ball, for years an institution in Stanley, was revived, under the direction of the local Labour Federation. The two nights dancing were well patronised; on the first evening His Excellency the Governor was present for a time, and addressed the gathering, Mr John Barnes (Chairman of the Labour Federation) thanked the Governor for being present, and in a few words summed up the aims and objects of the Federation.

The dancing went with a swing, and although the limited space was very crowded, everyone took the position as it was "without the Town Hall we must just use the next best place"- and so the evenings were successful.

Quite a number of visitors from the Camp were present and also men in uniform.

The Committee of the Labour Federation would like to thank all those who helped to make the "May Ball" the great success it was. Special mention must be made of the people who, under Mrs E.V. Summers and Mr James Watts came to the Committee's assistance by forming bands for this occasion, the music played by them and by the F.I.D.F. Band being much appreciated.

by all.

We hope that this successful revival of the May Ball will now put it on our annual Calendar of outstanding Social Events in Stanley, once more.

Declaration issued by the Empire Prime Ministers at the conclusion of their recent conference in London.

We, the King's Prime Ministers of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have now, for the first time since the outbreak of war, been able to be together to discuss common problems and future plans. The representative of India at the War Cabinet and the Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia have joined in our deliberations and are united with us.

At this memorable meeting in the fifth year of war we give thanks for deliverance from the worst perils which have menaced us in the course of this long and terrible struggle against tyranny. Though hard and bitter battles lie ahead we now see before us, in ever-growing might the forces of the United Nations, and in defeat already inflicted on the foe by land, by sea and air, the sure presage of our future victory.

To all our armed forces who in many lands are preserving our liberty with their lives, and to people of all our countries whose efforts fortitude and convictions have sustained struggles, we express our admiration and gratitude. We honour the famous deeds of the forces of the United States and of Soviet Russia and pay our tribute to the fighting tenacity of the many races and nations joined with us. We remember indeed the prolonged stubborn resistance of China, the first to be attacked by the author of world aggression, and we rejoice in the unquenchable spirit of our comrades in every country still in the grip of the enemy. We shall not turn from the conflict till they are restored to freedom. Not one who marches with us shall be abandoned.

We have examined the part which the British Empire and Commonwealth of Nations should bear against Germany and Japan, in harmony with our allies. We are in cordial agreement with the general plans which have been laid before us. As in the days when we stood all alone against Germany we affirm our inflexible and unwearying resolve to continue in general war with the utmost of our ability until the defeat and downfall of our cruel barbarous foe has been accomplished. We shall hold back nothing to reach the good and bring to the speediest and the agony of mankind.

We have also examined together the principles which determine our foreign policy, and their application to current problems. Here too we are in complete agreement. We are unitedly resolved to continue shoulder to shoulder with our allies, all needful of the exertions which will aid our fleets, armies and air-forces during the war and therefore to make sure of a lasting peace. We trust and pray that victory, which will certainly be won, will carry with it a sense of hope and freedom for all the world. It is our aim that, when the storms and passion of war have passed away, all countries now overrun by the enemy shall be free to decide for themselves their future form of democratic Government.

Mutual respect and honest conduct between nations is our chief desire. We are determined to work with all peace-loving people in order that tyranny and aggression shall be removed or, if need be, struck down whenever they raise their heads. The peoples of the British Empire and Commonwealth of Nations are willing to make their sacrifice to the common cause. We seek no advantages for ourselves at the cost of others. We desire the special welfare of all nations and that they may help each other to better and broader days.

We affirm that after the war a world organization to maintain peace and security should be set up and endow it with the necessary power and authority to pre-

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here are some sums for you to work out, they are supposed to have been set for boys and girls of 11 in England. Can you do them? Send in your effort, showing working to the Weekly News Office, with your name and age clearly marked and a friend is giving 5/- for the first correct solution opened. Let us have your effort by next Monday afternoon; remember anyone going to school can try- so down to it!

1. The ages of eleven children range from 5 to 14. and are all different except that there are two who are 9 years old. Each child is taller and heavier than any younger child. Three are over 4 feet tall, and five are under 3 feet. Five weigh more than 6 stone. Give the age of the child who weighs less than this, but is over 3 feet in height.
2. A square picture frame has an outside measurement all the way round which is 6 inches more than the inside measurement. What is the width of the frame?
3. In a street a block of houses is numbered from 23 to 92. There is a lamp post opposite the beginning of the row and another at the end. In between there are three other lamps at equal distances.
 - (a) How many houses are there in the row?
 - (b) What are the numbers of the two houses in the middle of the row?
 - (c) What is the number of the house opposite the fourth lamp?

The wedding took place at Park Chapel, Grouse End, on Friday 24th March, of Lieutenant John F. Morrish, R.A.S.C., son of Mr and Mrs Frank Morrish, of Mount View-road, Stroud Green, to Miss Joanne Macdonald Thomson, daughter of Mr and Mrs J. Macdonald Thomson of the Falkland Islands.

The bride who was given away by Mr. F. R. Morrish was attractively attired in a grey tailored costume with a powder-blue blouse and navy accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white heather. Miss Jean Morrish, sister of the bridegroom who attended the bride, wore a gown of powder blue with black accessories, and carried a bouquet of daffodils.

The hymn "O Perfect Love" was sung during the service which was conducted by the Rev. H. A. Turner Smith, the minister.

The young couple met when the bridegroom was stationed in the Falkland Islands.

Among others present at the wedding was Wren Cora Newing, and R.A.S.C. Officers who were stationed in the Colony with the bridegroom.

In a world torn by strife we have met here in unity. That unity finds its strength, not in any formal bond but in the hidden springs from which human action flows. We rejoice in our inheritance, loyalty and ideals, and proclaim our sense of kinship to one another. Our system of free association has enabled us, each and all, to claim a full share of the common burden. Although spread across the globe, we have stood together through the stress of two world wars, and have been welded the stronger thereby. We believe when victory is won and peace returns, this same free association, this inheritance, this unity of purpose, will make us able to do further services to mankind.

Company Cook in Command.

Private number 4801400, belongs to the Catering Corps. His job is to feed his comrades not to fight with them. But Private Brown appears in the Gazette as winning the D.C.M. while in command of a section. Here is the story behind this.

Private Frank Maurice Brown was feeding his company who were in a tight spot at Taungmaw in Burma. Casualties had been heavy and the company was badly under strength when Private Brown volunteered to leave his pots and pans to fight. With an officer he crawled forward and attacked a Jap post killing three of the enemy. The Japanese counter-attacked and the company suffered further casualties. Private Brown found himself in command and under heavy fire; his officer was wounded and his company were losing ground so he stood up in an exposed position and hurled grenade after grenade, finally bringing the enemy to a halt. After covering his officer while he was rescued, he returned alone to save a radio from the clutches of the Japs. He was the last man to leave the ridge.

The citation reads "His coolness, personal gallantry and determination, could not be too highly praised". A kitchen is not the only place that calls for a cook in a crisis.

Owing to our usual publication day being the King's Birthday, we are publishing the Weekly News, this week on Wednesday.

A new set of phases of the moon are to be found in this issue. Once again we hope that these will be of service, especially to people in the Camp.

It is with pleasure that we record the news that Captain Mays and his crew are now in England.

On Thursday Night (8th June) ToCH meets in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, for an evening of discussion on one of the Political Economy subjects, lead by Sgt. Whitty. The meeting commences at 8.p.m. and all interested are welcome.

Quite a number of people are in town at present from the West.

The Falkland Islands Beagles meet at 11.30.a.m. on Saturday 10th June at the Camber, and on Wednesday 14th June at Mary Hill. Civilians are welcome to support these Meets, by their presence.

We are informed that Dr. Hopwood is on a visit to the North Camp.

Local News is now broadcast to the Camp at 4.p.m. on Sundays from Stanley.

The editor is not necessarily in agreement with the opinions of contributors.

The Late Nancy Morrison.

We have had the particulars of the death of Nancy Morrison, infant daughter of Mr and Mrs R. Morrison passed on to us. The death occurred on the 14th of April at Walker Creek, the baby being two weeks old.

Mr and Mrs R. Morrison wish to thank Dr. Cowan, Mr. Goddard, Mr L. Whitney, Mrs Cartmell and Mrs Roberts. Thanks are also tendered for messages of sympathy and flowers sent.

GARDENING NOTES (continued from last week)

In the case of old, unpruned bushes, hard pruning is necessary; cut out the oldest, and overcrowded branches, cutting them right back to the base. It would be advisable to replace these old plants as soon as new stock could be produced. This can be done by cuttings or suckers. Three years will elapse before new plants will bear fruit, but it is well to remember, that old, neglected bushes are almost useless, whereas, young well-pruned bushes are valuable, and the pride of the cultivator.

Plots should be dug over and manured as they become vacant. The soil should be allowed to remain as open as possible to ensure frost penetration. Manure of course is a source of worry, but do not our shores abound in kelp, which is a valuable manure?

BRITAIN'S HOUSEWIVES HOLD THE HOME FRONT

By Elizabeth Kendall

Perhaps, more than anyone else, it is the man or woman recently returned to Britain who appreciates just how adroitly the British housewife has adapted herself to the vast changes brought about by war.

A woman, returned to England after a year's absence, has discovered that apart from being astonished at the important and responsible jobs carried out by women, she has forgotten how to cope with the simple things. At present, she confesses she is the shop-keeper's bane, and, in order to catch up on her housekeeping, she realises that she must do a good deal of homework. Points, coupons and prices - all things confuse her. In the shops she asks unknowingly for things that disappeared a long time ago. She is still not really at home with dried eggs and milk and all the up-to-date tinned products.

But she is learning - learning by seeing other people managing with no more than the amount of grumbling that would be customary in England.

Perhaps one of the biggest changes she has found is the really drastic cutting down in delivery services. Now she knows only too well that laundry, dry cleaning, shoes, irons and radios to be mended, have to be taken and fetched. Moreover, the housewife has to make plans to do without them for a substantial time.

This woman's opinion of queues is that they look worse than they actually are. Women who are engaged in war work are the worst sufferers. It means that they have to shop in their lunch hour - when a few thousand other women have the same idea - or cram it into a wild rush at the weekend. But for the ordinary housewives - those women with children under 14 who are automatically excused from war service - it is not so difficult. The queues for essentials like meat, groceries and vegetables pass along quickly, and busy women regard queuing for things like cakes and strawberries as a luxury, and one not usually to be afforded.

Another big difference that strikes this returned Englishwoman is in peoples' homes. Women who used to have domestic help are now unable to obtain it; and women who never had servants are working still harder. Most homes have cut out all "work-makers" - dust-trap ornaments, silver and brass - and these have been put away for the duration of the war. Coloured American cloth mats are used at table in the place of starched linen. At every meal a loaf is put out, and wafer bread and butter is never cut. Casserole dishes are brought to the tables with no sense of shame, even if the dishing up is not done in the kitchen. A fetish is no longer made of washing day; it is now done just when and how it is most convenient. Boiling has been cut down to a minimum, because of the shortage of starch. Towels are not ironed, but merely folded carefully - only shoulder straps and woven underwear are ironed.

In the food line, the returned Englishwoman considers that the cheerfully accepted changes are, for England, almost revolutionary. She thinks that the Ministry of Food's "Food Facts" should have much of the credit, and she herself watches for them eagerly to see the latest food news and copy out any topical recipes.

Although many English people are keeping up the custom of having their roast Sunday joint, butchers say that an increasingly large number are now asking for their ration in cheaper meat, thereby getting more for their 4s 2d. worth, and cooking it in ways that before the war could only have been called "continental". Vegetables, of course, play a large part in cooking out the meat in stews and casseroles of every description, or they are served as a main dish with puddings, pastry, or sauces with dried egg among the ingredients, to provide the protein.

Then there is the question of salvage and saving. It must be admitted that in the days of peace, British housewives were about the most extravagant in the world; but now they have mended their ways. At first,

Dear Boys and Girls, This week I have an interesting true story for you, here it is:-

Two 8 year old Indian girls, Katoo and Boulah, who were both orphaned by the recent famine in India, were brought to a British regiment, for treatment by the medical officer.

The soldiers soon became fond of them, and they were unofficially adopted, along with two small boys, Lilmia, aged 6, and Raidar Ali, aged 5. But after they had recovered their health, it was thought best to send the girls to a school, where they could be cared for by women.

So, although the men were sorry to see them go, the girls went to Mirzapore, a thousand miles away.

But Katoo and Beulah had enjoyed some of the best friendship in the world - that of the British Tommy - and were even less willing to go, than the soldiers, were to part with them, and within a week they were back with the regiment, on the Burma frontier.

Nobody understands how they managed to travel 1000 miles in six days, and the little girls will not tell. No doubt they thought it was unfair that the boys should stay with their Army friends, while they were sent away.

However, Katoo and Boulah had a great reception when they came back, and it has been decided that they shall stay for a little while longer with the regiment. So they, with Lilmia and Raider Ali, are now having a fine time, and joining in all the doings of the Camp.

The area of runways, perimeter tracks and hard standings laid out in Britain's aerodromes during the war by the Air Ministry's Works Department is equivalent to a 30 feet wide road stretching 9,000 miles. Thirty million tons of ballast and cement have been used - 7,500,000 lorry loads - and the average daily expenditure was more than 2400,000.

In 2½ years canary fanciers in Yorkshire (England's largest county) bred 2,500 birds for research workers experimenting with mepacrine, the anti-malaria drug which has replaced quinine. Canaries are the only creatures on which malaria tests can be carried out satisfactorily.

The London Midland and Scottish Railway, (one of Britain's main line systems) has run its 100,006th special train under Government orders since war began. The total includes 52,603 troop trains, 25,288 stores trains, 8,799 ammunition trains and 15,310 petrol trains. It represents the movement of 15,000,000 personnel, 1,000,000 wagons of freight and nearly 500,000 tanks of petrol. The mileage involved was 10,844,105.

During 1943 more than 7,000 members of Britain's Sea Cadet Corps have passed into the Royal and Merchant Navies, and that total will be substantially increased during 1944. Summer Training Camps in 1943 were attended by 15,000 cadets and next summer it is hoped to accommodate 20,000.

Men and women of the London Region National Fire Service, in addition to their fire fighting, worked more than 750,000 man power hours making arms and equipment for the fighting forces during 1943.

Every week the London Midland and Scottish Railway (one of Britain's main line systems) runs 2,565 special trains for war workers.

Editorial

In our Colony, we who form a part of the British Empire have a personal interest in the outcome of the great struggle that is now taking place in Northern France. Our freedom is tied up with the outcome of this War, just as much as is the freedom of our Motherland-Britain.

As we follow the news and carry on at our own duties just where we are, let us remember that our patriotism, our money invested in War Savings, our generosity to Wartime Appeals is all a part of the great offensive-to make the home we think so much of, and the freedom which is our birthright secure.

Let us pray constantly to God for our cause, at this critical time.

Weekly Notes.

We hear that among those honoured in the King's Birthday Honours list, is Col. Hynes, who receives the O.B.E.

The Government School pupils are to have a fortnight's holiday, from the 16th June to the 3rd of July.

The Falkland Islands Eagles meet at 11.30 a.m. on Saturday 17th June at Eliza Cove.

At the suggestions of the Commanding Officer, the army gave a special performance of their Concert last Saturday-night, for the benefit of people on a visit to town from the Camp. Those present enjoyed the performance very much, and at the end of the Show, were entertained to tea. The guests will return to Camp, with happy memories of their kind hosts.

TEAL INLET BID FAREWELL TO MR AND MRS M. PARRIN.

On the 15th April a dance was organised in the Cookhouse in honour of "Old Men" and Mrs Parrin who are shortly retiring after over 40 years service at Teal Inlet. There were many visitors present and no doubt there were many more who would have wished to be there had it been impossible.

For 30 of the 40 years "Old Man" has cooked in the gally, and before presenting the couple with a cheque Mr Barton pointed out that, at a conservative estimate, he had cooked 128,500 chops.

Mr Barton laid special emphasis on the help that Mrs Farrin had given, not only to her husband in his work, but to many generations of Teal Inlet employees, to whom she had been a real mother.

The Parrins are retiring to Stanley on pension, and their many friends wish them every happiness in their new home.

GAZETTED NOTICE.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
9th June, 1944.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the following appointments to the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire:-

COLONEL WILLIAM HENRY HYNES to be an Officer (Military Division).

THE REVEREND GERALD KENNETH LOWE to be a Member (Civil Division).

By Command,

Death of a Former Governor.

The death occurred recently in England of Sir Arnold Hodson K.C.M.G., who was Governor of the Falkland Islands from 1926-30, from where he went in the same capacity to Sierra Leone (1930-34), then to the Gold Coast where he served as Governor and Commander-in-Chief until 1941.

Sir Arnold was a man of many interests. He was an excellent shot and an able writer. Amongst his published works were "Trekking the Great Thirst", "Seven Years in Southern Abyssinia", "Where Lions Reign" and in his famous play so often performed in the Town Hall at Stanley- "The Downfall of Zachariah Fee".

Governor Hodson was responsible for many improvements during his term of office in our Colony, a daily paper, electric lights and the local Broadcasting system in the town, the erection of the Gymnasium and baths, the bringing to the fore of golf as a sport, and the wonderful stage shows in the Town Hall already mentioned.

It is no overstatement to say that Sir Arnold Hodson was one of the most outstanding of the Governors of our Colony.

THE WEST GOES WEST

The scenery on the West Falkland is, I think, agreed by everyone to be the most attractive in the Colony. On a recent trip round, however, it decided to be bashful, and the mountains and bluffs coyly drew a cloak of mist round their flanks and hid themselves from view. Calm Head and Rodney Bluff, it is true, thrust their stern faces out into the seas with their usual boldness, but as we rounded Cape Orford the heights of Weddell Island gave one look at us, shuddered a little with disdain and vanished.

It was like that all the way to Pebble Island. The trip became a voyage through a world of cotton wool. Every now and then something dim and dark loomed up ahead and we stopped. We got into a boat, chugged away from the ship and, marvel of marvels, found a house and people. A short stay, a meal (Oh those marvellous West Falkland meals), a chat, and then back through the cotton wool to the ship again and away to the next port. The whole trip was a succession of brief, fog-enshrouded but none the less vivid impressions. Town Point at night with its one bright gleam: the bonfire on the beach and the black shadows of the men criss-crossing in the beam of the ship's searchlight: the clouds pouring like a vast waterfall over the Roy Cove mountains: the stranded blackfish at Chartres; the school of whales spouting around us off Deaths Head, - all made a far deeper impression in this world of half lights and shadows than they would have done in normal circumstances.

I landed at West Point, the remote fastness of the north west, and found a king penguin lording it haughtily over the ducks in the farmyard. He had been found apparently suffering from a bilious attack, and had been taken up to the house for treatment. I asked him if it was really a bilious attack that had brought him there and he answered that it wasn't exactly that, but that he, like me, had often heard

FOR THE CHILDREN. Read Matthew Ch. 9 vv 18-26.

Verse twenty-four says that "they laughed Him to scorn". This mocking laughter didn't discourage Jesus nor deter Him from pursuing His mission of healing.

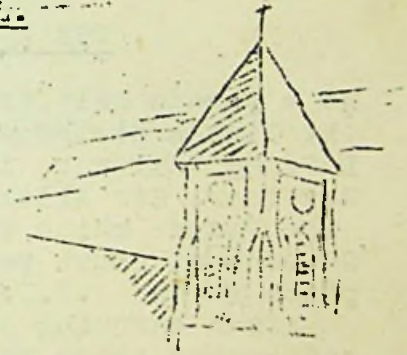

There always have been those, who ridicule Christ and those who try to follow Him. Like Him don't let us allow this spirit of ridicule to discourage us in our task, which is to live the Christian life.

In verse twenty-two Jesus tells the woman that "thy faith hath made thee whole". We learn from this that we receive God's blessings according to our faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

At a Parade held in Stanley in honour of His Majesty the King's birthday a Guard of Honour and the Civil Defence Unit were inspected by His Excellency the Governor, Sir Allan Cardinall, K.B.E., C.M.G.

The Parade which was to have taken place in the Government House paddock was much curtailed and took place in the P.I.D.F. Drill Hall owing to bad weather.

After carrying out the inspection, His Excellency addressed those present.

His Excellency pointed out that this was the fifth birthday which His Majesty had celebrated since the war and voiced the hope of all his subjects for a speedy victory. He expressed sympathy with those who wished to play a more active part in the war but whose duty held them in the Colony. He congratulated the Defence Force on the loyal and steadfast manner in which it had watched and guarded our coasts and carried on with its training for so long.

This was Total War and especially now, when the invasion of Europe had been undertaken, was it necessary for every man and woman, and even for every boy and girl in the Empire, to play their part to the utmost. No relaxation was possible yet if only because Germany was like a mad-dog at bay and it was impossible to tell what a mad-dog would do. For the time being the Defence Force must carry on. His Excellency congratulated the Civil Defence Services on the excellent work they had done at the Town Hall fire. He then referred to the fact that the Germans had not destroyed or damaged the city of Rome in their retreat. Hitler had been afraid to do so. This was the first time he had ever shown such scruples. It was a sign that he was afraid of the wrath of God and of the doom which was in store for him. Once an enemy showed fear his defeat was near. In this war the forces of good were arrayed against those of evil. His Majesty's birthday message to the Empire had been a call to prayer and that was the spirit in which we should all approach this great venture of invasion. We should all play our small parts with increased devotion and pray humbly that God would prosper our arms in this, the supreme effort of the war.

Government Notice.

Office of the Competent Authority (Supplies)
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
10th June, 1944.

Gift Parcels for Falkland Islanders Overseas.

Residents of the Falkland Islands may now send parcels of comforts etc. to their sons and daughters overseas or to other residents of the Colony overseas. Persons wishing to send such parcels should make themselves acquainted with the procedure outlined below.

1. Parcels may only be sent to persons (i) who are normally resident in the Colony, or (ii) whose parents at present reside in the Colony.
2. One parcel only may be sent to any one person each quarter.
3. Parcels must not exceed 5-lbs, gross weight, and although there is no restriction on the type of article that may be included, not more than 1-lb. of any one foodstuff may be sent at one time.
4. The name and address of any person to whom it is desired to send a parcel must be registered with the Competent Authority, who will keep a register of all parcels despatched.
5. An export permit must be obtained from the Competent Authority for each parcel to be sent. This permit must be surrendered with the parcel at the Post Office at Stanley or at Fox Bay. The post office authorities have instructions to refuse any parcel not accompanied by the proper permit.

In connection with the above procedure the Public are asked particularly to note the following points:-

(a) It will be advisable for persons wishing to send gift parcels to obtain the necessary export permit before preparing the parcel, as it may happen that another person has already sent the quarterly package authorised by this scheme. In these cases permits will be refused, and application will have to be made again during the following quarter.

(b) Arrangements have been made for parcels addressed to members of the forces to be received duty-free provided that they are properly marked with the number, rank and unit of the recipient, and are addressed

"c/o the Victoria League,
Colonial Bureau,
60, Trafalgar Square,
London, W.C.2."

(c) It is emphasised that this concession is a privilege, and that it is purely experimental. Abuse of the scheme may result in its immediate withdrawal.

Further details may be obtained from the above office.

7th June.1944.

In accordance with the provisions of para.9 of Order R.2/1 of 31st December 1942, the following alterations to schedule 1. will take effect as from today:-

The Rev. G. K. Lowe, M.B.E.

The many friends of the Rev. G. K. Lowe will be pleased to hear that His Majesty the King has conferred upon him the honour of the M.B.E. (Civil Division).

Recalling the many activities of the recipient, in our midst, we feel that it was a fitting reward for one who never sought for prominence, but only to do what appeared to him as right.

The members of Christ Church Cathedral must feel particularly pleased at this award.

HEALTH BULLETIN.

Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is a preventable disease. In a well fed community such as we have here there should not be any. What is more, if the world really wanted to eliminate it, the thing could be done.

With astonishing complacency this scourge is allowed to strike down the young people year after year. A neighbour loses his wife; a neighbour's children are left fatherless; a neighbour's daughter dies horribly in the bloom of young womanhood; a neighbour's son is crippled for life. Men see all this and content themselves with saying "something ought to be done".

Everywhere there ought to be a safe milk supply, there ought to be adequate hospital facilities, there ought to be a long term policy of economic shelter and so on. All this can be achieved in the course of time in all the countries of the world; and I have no doubt will be, but it doesn't touch the core of the problem. The core of the problem lies in "case finding". When the machinery for dealing with a case has been organised a Medical Department has to seek the case. There are ways of doing this and it is being done in other places. I stand ready to do it here if you will let me.

I know you will applaud me if I seek Tuberculosis in your neighbour's house but if I seek it in your house how shall I be received? That will be the measure of your citizenship and of the regard you have for the tragedy in your neighbour's house.

This is not a matter for the Senior Medical Officer to tackle single handed. I need your help and your encouragement, - not lip loyalty and anxious inertia. If I don't get these then my efforts are as futile as catching snow drops in a tin cup.

Perhaps to you this sounds like preaching. Well, that is what it is. Whether you are an official or an ordinary resident I put it to you: Whose side are you on?

Isla Malvina over the sea,
Home of my childhood,
How happy were we,
As we raced down the hill or played by the sea,
Isla Malvina you're dear to me.

Isla Malvina over the sea,
Home of my dreams, where I'm longing to be
Years have gone by since I last saw your shores
Oh Isla Malvina, its you I adore!

Isla Malvina over the sea,
How often I have longed to go and see Thee,
But something ever comes and bids me stay,
Isla dear Land you are so far away.

Death.

We regret to report the death of Mrs James Pitaluga at the age of 63. Mrs Pitaluga (n^{te} Helen Stanberry Lyse) lived for many years at Hill Cove. She passed away at her residence there, early last Wednesday morning - 14th June. Left to mourn their loss are her husband and one brother. We extend our sympathy to them.

Death.

Samuel Hookey.

HARRIS

The death of Mr.S.H.Hookey has removed from our midst a familiar figure. Mr Hookey who was 69 years of age served the Government devotedly for twenty nine years, retiring from the post of Chief Constable on the 12th of October 1940. Mr Hookey had been in failing health for sometime. Left to mourn are his wife and two sons and a married daughter. We extend our sympathy to them.

The funeral took place from the house on Sunday afternoon, the service in the house being conducted by the Rev.W.F.McWhan, Minister of the Tabernacle.

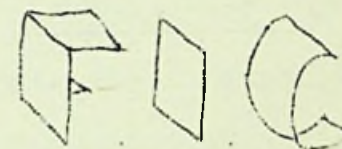

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs Hookey and family wish to thank especially Dr.Hinneard. Mr Carr, Mrs Swain, Mrs Bartram, Miss Midge Biggs and all who sent messages of sympathy.

The following telegrams were exchanged between His Excellency and the Secretary of State for the Colonies on the occasion of the official celebrations of His Majesty the King's Birthday:-

From His Excellency the Governor to the Secretary of State for the Colonies,
5th June 1944.

Grateful if you would convey to His Majesty the King on behalf of the people of the Falkland Islands and their Dependencies, members of the Imperial Forces stationed here and myself our humble duty and sincere congratulations on the occasion of the celebration of his Birthday. The series of glorious victories which have been won by His Majesty's arms during the past 12 months on land and seas and in the air culminating in the liberation of Rome have been to all of us a source of the most intense and exciting pride.

From the Secretary of State for the Colonies to His Excellency the Governor, 13th June, 1914.

Your telegram has been laid before the King who desires that an expression of his sincere thanks for the message contained therein may be conveyed to you and the people of the Falkland Islands and their dependencies and the Imperial Forces stationed in the Islands.

MRS. MINIVER

Mrs Miniver is out shopping, buying herself a lovely hat, while Mr Miniver is buying a very special new motor car. The date of these incidents is sometime in the early part of 1939, and the scene is in the south of England. The Miniver family consists of three, two small children (a boy and a girl) and a much older boy, who is at the stage in his unsettled mind, that extreme Socialism is the "only way".

The Miniver household is an extremely happy one. Mr. Miniver's elder son meets a young lady (granddaughter of a titled old lady in the neighbourhood) and falls in love with her, despite his political ideas. A dance scene is well put over, and everything seems to be set fair when the family assembled in Church for Sunday morning worship, find the service interrupted by the declaration over the radio by Mr Chamberlain, that we are at war with Germany.

Before long all is changed. Miniver senior is in the Local Defence Volunteers, while his son joins the air force and gains his wings in a remarkably short time.

Meanwhile in a near by garden, owned by the Station Master there is a lovely new rose bush growing, which has been called "Mrs. Miniver" by the Station Master-Gardener in honour of Mrs Miniver who is always so pleasant when he meets her. This new rose is a matter of concern to the airman's wife's grandmother, who has for years won the prize for the best rose bloom, at the local Flower Show.

Next Dunkirk, the father of the airman own a motor-boat, and he is away for about a week, bringing back the men of our withdrawing forces to England.

In the meantime Mrs Miniver in her own home finds life exciting enough ; she discovers a German airman in her garden with a revolver within his grasp. In the end through her watchfulness she is able to hand the man over to the police.

The young airman marries his friend and in a splendid scene his young wife tells her mother-in-law how she has married with her eyes open to the dangerous life of her flying husband, but she is determined to let no thought or worry mar the moments they are together.

The Flower Show takes place, and is a great success. The old Lady-champion rose grower for years, in a moment of good judgment awards the prize to the Railway Station Master for the Miniver rose, and gives herself the second prize.

Everybody loudly cheers the result.

Bombing and air battles continue over England. Young Miniver home on leave to a blitzed house is recalled to his squadron. He is driven by his mother, accompanied by his wife to the aerodrome. Away go the planes after the enemy, while during the return journey, in the car, the airman's wife falls a victim to the ruthless attackers, and shortly afterwards dies.

Imagine the feelings of the young airman on his return, to find his wife dead!

The final part of the picture shows the Church, also a partial victim of the War; a service is taking place, a Memorial Service, and as the Vicar speaks we find that not only the young wife but also the happy-go-lucky Station Master who grew the Miniver rose is among those killed by the enemy.

This is the outline story of Mrs Miniver. It grips you because it depicts so much that is true of wartime Britain, not least the unconquerable spirit of its people.

"Thy will be done". One of our greatest difficulties is that we always want our own way; whereas we should be much happier if we would accept God's will. This portion tells how the Lord Jesus chose His Father's way. All alone, He faced the dreadful prospect of the cross; because—even if there were no other reason—it was God's will for Him. As Christians we ought to try and do what God would have us do and not what we like to do.

Battery operated Radio Sets.

They will be rationed to people resident in the Camp.

Any Camp Residents wishing to purchase one of these sets should write and get his name put on the list, stating whether he wants with or without 6-volt battery.

The eventual allotting of these sets will be made as fairly as possible, but not necessarily on the basis of first come first served.

.22 shot do.

These will also be placed on sale as soon as we are given a price by the Competent Authority, through whose kind offices these cartridges have been received.

Talk Given by Mr. Baker, the Officer in Charge of the Education Department, last Sunday afternoon, over the local broadcasting System to the Camp.

First I should like to send my greetings and best wishes to all those who were so hospitable and who helped me so much during my tour of the Camp in the summer. Now that I know most of the children, I follow their progress with special interest; and of course I am always very pleased when the travelling teachers' reports show that the children have been doing their lessons and their homework - regularly and well.

This afternoon I want to speak about some ways in which it may be possible to improve camp education. In particular, I want to speak about a tour of the West Falklands that Mr Rice (formerly one of the Government's travelling teachers on the East) is now beginning. Mr. Rice is making this tour partly to see how the children are getting on with their work-especially those children whom I was unable to see last summer; but the main purpose of his tour is to find out how much the camp children could be helped with their education by a system of wireless broadcasts from Stanley. As things are at present the travelling can teach only a limited amount of work in the short time they have at each house, and in the long gaps between the teacher's visits it is often difficult for the children to make much progress. Wireless broadcasts might accordingly be useful, firstly in giving the children regular lessons between the teachers' visits, and secondly in giving lessons, talks, and stories on a wider range of topics than the travelling teachers have time for. I shall not go into further details now, as Mr Rice will be discussing all aspects of the scheme with parents as he travels round. I should however like to emphasise that no decision has yet been made; the support and co-operation of the parents would be essential for the success of any scheme, and I realise that there will be many difficulties.

Mr Rice will not be including the East Falklands in his tour; but parents on the East Falklands will be able to discuss the scheme with the travelling teacher, Mr. F. T. Tellman, as he goes round this time.

In considering a scheme of wireless broadcasts, we need to know the times at which reception is satisfactory. Accordingly during the next three weeks, short test broadcasts (Partly musical, partly spoken) will be given on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays-on Mondays at 10 a.m. on Wednesdays at 2.p.m. and on Fridays at 4.p.m. I should be very grateful if as many people as possible would listen to the broadcasts, and report on how well these broadcasts (and also the usual Sunday broadcasts) could be heard.

Before leaving the subject of camp education, I will mention briefly several changes about to be made in the teaching staff employed in the camp by the Government. Mr. F. T. Tellman, after a long period of valuable service on both islands, is coming in to Stanley, and his place will be taken by a new teacher, Miss Coral Pitaluga. On the West Falklands, an additional teacher, Miss Olga Newing, will shortly be working from Fox Bay. Another appointment which will come into effect later in the year, and which should be of great benefit to the camp is that of Mr. D. J. Draycott to the post of full-time Supervisor of Camp Education, for both islands. Even with these additions, however, still more teachers could with advantage be employed in the camp, and I should be glad at any time to hear from anyone who wished to be considered for a position as a travelling teacher.

Death

Richard King Prime.

We regret to report the death of Mr Richard King Prime which occurred in Buenos Aires on the 14th of June.

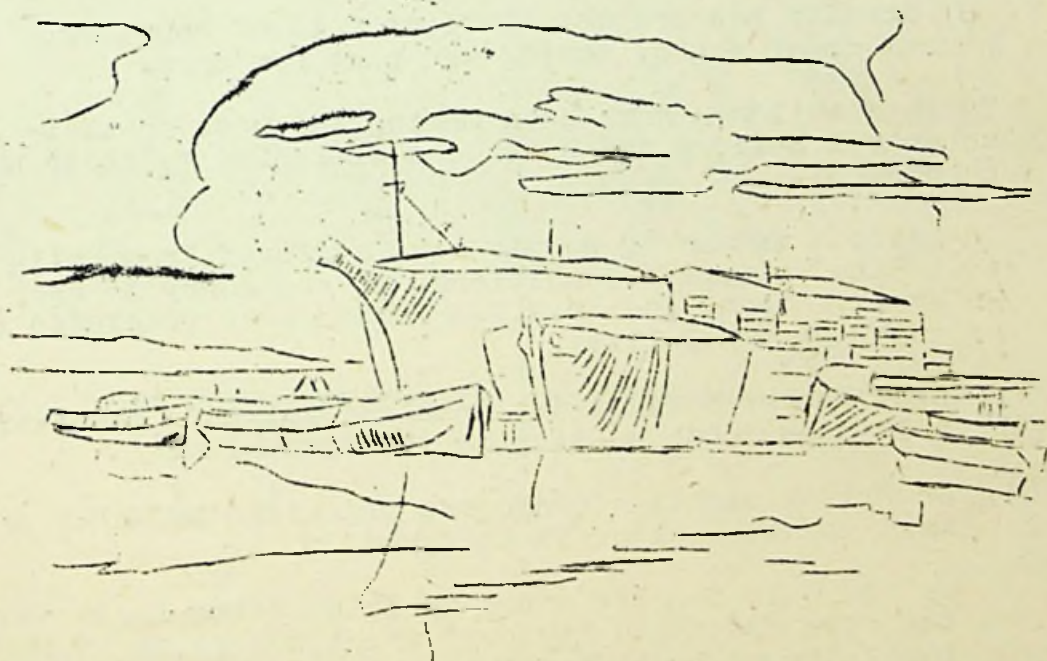

Mr King Prime came to the Colony and stayed for two years as officer in charge of the Treasury in spite of failing health, in order to fill the important gap in the service caused by the war. His patriotic and self sacrificing work will not be forgotten.

FALKLAND WEEKLY ISLANDS NEWS.

Stanley has had the heaviest fall of snow for a number of years, during the past few days.

The children have been making the most of their school holiday and have been sleighing to their hearts content.

Quite a number of people have suffered from falls due to the slippery conditions. We are sorry to hear that Mrs. M. Robson, and Mr. E. F. Bernitsen have fractured their arms through falling.

Last Thursday Night the Falkland Island's Federation held a business meeting in the Gymnasium.

On Friday night, a dance was organised by three jetty men, and took place in the gym.

We are able to give you some interesting facts about the film "Tunisian Victory" which was shown at the local Cinema last Tuesday night, in our centre article this week. We do not forget the courage and tenacity of the Cameremen who have made this film possible.

Sunday 9th July.

As in 1942 and 1943 the second Sunday in July, the 9th, is being observed in the Churches of Great Britain as a day of thankful remembrance of the officers and men of the Royal Navy, and the Merchant Navy, to whose courage we, at this time, owe more than ever.

The Churches in Stanley will hold special services on Sunday July 9th, the offering being given to the King George's Fund for Sailors.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.

No 1. PROCLAMATION 1944.

In the name of His Majesty GEORGE VI., by the Grace of God of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India &c., &c., &c.,

By His Excellency SIR ALLAN WOLSEY CARDINALL, Knight Commander of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies.

(Sgd.) A.W. CARDINALL

WHEREAS by section 44 of the Live Stock Ordinance, 1901 it is provided that the Governor in Council may from time to time by proclamation, prohibit the importation of sheep, cattle or other animals from any places that may be named in such proclamation, for such period as he may deem necessary for the purpose of preventing the introduction of any infectious disease.

AND WHEREAS information has been received that Foot and Mouth disease is now present in South America,

NOW THEREFORE, by virtue of these powers vested in the Governor in Council he it ordered and proclaimed as follows, to wit;

The importation into the Falkland Islands from South America of cattle, sheep or swine is prohibited for a period of sixteen calendar months from this date.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

Given under my hand and the public Seal of the Colony at Government House, Stanley, this 26th day of June, in the Year of Our Lord One thousand Nine hundred and Forty-four.

By His Excellency's Command,

K.G. Bradley.

Colonial Secretary.

Explanatory Note. The following is the text of a telegram received from the Senior Veterinary Inspector of the British Ministry of Agriculture who is at present in South America:-

"Owing to danger of introducing foot and mouth disease importation of cattle, sheep or swine from South American countries is not advisable. Horses may be accepted if certified by proper authorities to be free from contagious diseases at time of export. All fodder baled or otherwise should be excluded from landing".

2. The importation of hay and straw is already prohibited, except with the special permission of His Excellency, by Section 7 of the Live Stock Regulations (Consolidation) 1923.

3. It is not considered necessary at present to prohibit the importation of bagged pollard, maize, oats and wheat.

LABOUR FEDERATION.

A special meeting of the Labour Federation was held on Thursday 22nd June, the object of which was to give a brief resume of work done by the General Committee since its inception in January last.

Mr. Martin Greece, a non member and Mr. F. Coleman were unanimously elected as Trustees to manage the investment of the Federations Funds.

The Committee reported that they had been able to settle some wage disputes in a friendly manner to the satisfaction of all parties. Further more, at the request of the Executive Engineer, we had submitted a scale of wages to be paid to boys starting work which had been accepted by him provisionally as the basic rate for boys.

Members and Friends were then invited to voice their opinion on any topic of general interest to Workers. Some very interesting data was collected which the G. General Committee will find most helpful.

Amongst other things it would appear that there is a lack of uniformity in wages paid by various farms to their employees especially to boys and youths.

A very interesting and informative evening passed all too quickly and when Mr. J. S. Barnes, Chairman, invited anyone interested to join the Federation 17 new members came forward and the meeting then terminated.

TUNISIAN VICTORY

Many in town saw, and found intensely interesting the great film "Desert Victory" which showed the Allies pushing the enemy back from El Alamein; now we have had more than a sequel in our local Cinema last Tuesday night- the graphic story of the whole Tunisian campaign, under the title of "Tunisian Victory".

The official film of the Tunisian campaign, "Tunisian Victory" which has been made for the Ministry of Information and the U.S. Office of War Information jointly by British and American Service Film Units, will 'star' a galaxy of famous (and infamous) names such as has never before been seen in one film.

The film deals with the Tunisian campaign from the planning of the landings in North Africa to the day the last Axis troops in North Africa laid down their arms and gave themselves up to the victorious Allied forces.

Thousands of feet of film shot by the official photographers of the Allied forces during the campaign, together with shots from captured enemy films have been used to tell a graphic story of the whole campaign.

In telling this story the following personalities - every one of them known throughout the world - appear:-

President Roosevelt; Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill; General Eisenhower; General Montgomery; Admiral Cunningham; Air Chief Marshal Tedder; Air Marshal Coningham; General Spaatz; General Doolittle; General Clark; General Keightley; General Patton; General de Gaulle; General Giraud; Field Marshal Sir John Dill; General Sir Alan Brooke; the late Sir Dudley Pound; Admiral of the Fleet; Vice-Admiral King; Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal; Major General Arnold; Vice Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten; Hitler; Rommel; Von Arnim; and Kesselring.

Such a list of international figures in one film is without parallel. In spite of this the real star of the film is every fighting man in the Allied forces who was in the campaign, whether he appears on the screen or not. Without their efforts, their valour and their victory, the camera men on the spot would have had a different story to film. This recognition, on the part of those responsible for the production, of the fact that the real stars of the film are the ordinary soldiers is underlined by the use of two voices, which speak on behalf of the typical British Tommy and American Doughboy. For these two voices the producers have used two well-known players - Bernard Miles for the Tommy and Burgess Meredith for the Doughboy.

The film is the result of close co-operation between the U.S. Army Signal Corps and the Army and R.A.F. Film Units working together in the directing, writing and editing of the film. Major Hugh Stewart (who spent six months in North Africa superintending the actual shooting of those scenes taken by the Army Film Unit) and Captain Roy Boulting of the Army Film Unit together with Colonel Frank Capra, the famous Hollywood Director; Captain John Huston; and Captain Anthony Veiller of the U.S. Army Signal Corps were responsible for the production, with F.L. Hodson collaborating on the commentary, and William Alwyn composing the music.

Nearly the whole of the film was shot in the front line while the fighting was actually going on, though there have been a few shots added, such as scenes of night attacks which were re-enacted later under the supervision of men who were there at the time.

These front-line Service cameramen have one of the toughest assignments of the war. They go into action with the commandos, they jump with the paratroops, they advance with the infantry, they fly with the bombers but in every case the only weapons they carry are the cameras with which they shoot the war.

They must be daring if they are to get the best shots possible, but they must be cautious too, for to the Axis sniper the cameraman is just another victim. To film a tank action is one of the toughest jobs of all. The Cameraman must get as close as possible, but he must not disclose his presence, or an enemy tank will soon put paid to him.

Being a front-line cameraman is often a heart-breaking

When, during the North African landings, the commandos landed at Cap Serrat, a sergeant cameraman went with them. They had to make their way along a half-submerged sandbank. The commandos joined hands for safety, but the sergeant had his camera to carry, and had to make his way on his own. The worst happened, he and his camera went into ten feet of water. The commandos hauled man and camera out of the water and they all set out on a twelve mile march. About four o'clock they ran into an ambush, and after sharp fighting had to withdraw. The sergeant was forced to leave his camera behind; after he had got one of the commandos to put it out of action with a well-aimed bullet, in case it should fall into the hands of the enemy.

One of the great difficulties that always faces the cameraman when he is filming a battle scene is that there is usually nothing higher than the top of a truck on which he can stand to get his shot, and when he is on the top he is in a completely exposed position.

The list of cameramen, without whose intrepid work no film of any campaign would be possible, is too long, but space can be found to mention that some of the scenes were taken by Captain Harry Rignold, M.C., and Sergeant Colman, since killed in action, whilst Flt/Lt. D. Gallai-Hatchard of the R.A.F. Film Unit, who was responsible for a large proportion of the flying material also lost his life. Three members of the Army Film and Photographic Unit - Driver Taylor of Wrexham, Driver McGee of Glasgow and Private Ford of York were all killed during the filming of the Tunisian campaign. Sergeants Jordan and Wilson both received the Military Medal for their work in filming this campaign.

GARDENING NOTES, continued from last week.

Raspberries are easily controlled, they may be grown in a minimum of space, and produce an abundance of delicious fruit.

The plants should be grown in a single row, preferably along a wall or fence, and the canes should be secured to wires. If planted in this way, all unwanted suckers can be easily removed; the removal coincides with the pruning.

Pruning is a most simple operation, all old fruiting canes are cut right out. Fruit is produced on canes of the current season, so it follows, that whether or not old canes have fruited, they will be removed. New canes are distinguished by their dark brown colour; old canes by their light or faded brown colour.

F.I.D.F. MINATURE RIFLE CLUB.

Membership is still increasing and we now have over 70 members - a record for the Club. Great keenness is shown by most of these as proved by the large attendance each evening and Sunday afternoons. The outstanding performances of this week were two possible scores of 100 by L.Reive and a tie by the Reive brothers of a possible each. In the tie shoot they both scored 99 but on the application of the graduated gauges Charlie just managed to beat Len by a very small margin. The prize winners were:- Sealed score. T.Braxton 2/6. S.Newman 2/6. A.Shackel 2/6. C.R.Skilling 2/6. Highest Score:- C.Reive 2/6. L.Reive 2/6.

FIVE SONS IN THE SERVICES.

Mrs. E. Bonner of Stanley has five sons, all of whom are well known in Stanley, in the fighting forces. Jeff., the eldest of the brothers in the forces, after many years working in 'civvy street' in England went with the B.E.F. to France in the early part of the war and later experienced the fighting leading up to the evacuation from Dunkirk, in which, as a member of the R.A.S.C., he took part. He has also had service in Malta and is now a supply officer in the Merchant Navy.

Ray, who left Stanley early in the war aboard a tanker served as a firefighter in London, during the 'blitz' before joining the R.A.F. He is now a Sergt. Gunner and after over 30 bombing raids over Europe has recently had a period as ground instructor.

Owen, who left here as a boy to join the navy, had his first experience in action aboard the 'Exeter' in the now historic Battle of the Plate which was fought so near to his home. His next ship, the 'Bonaventure' was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean. He survived this adventure only to meet further misfortune when the cruiser 'Charybdis' was torpedoed and sunk in the English Channel. From this ship he has been posted as missing, possibly a prisoner of war.

More recently two other brothers have left Stanley to join up, David, with the F.I. Volunteers to join the R.A.F., he is now training as an air gunner, and Dennis to join the Royal Navy.

This is a splendid record of War Service.

GOVERNMENT INFANT SCHOOL'S PARTY.

The children of the Government Infant School had a most enjoyable afternoon on the last Thursday of the term when they had their "breaking up party". These parties have become quite a feature of the school term now and are greatly enjoyed not only by the children but also by the staff. The children's favourite records were borrowed from the Studio and the first half hour - the quietest part of the afternoon - was spent listening to the records, or more often than not, seventy voices were singing with the records. Games - the usual party ones, Oranges and Lemons, Nuts in May etc. passed away the next half hour and then came tea. Jellies and fruit drinks were supplied by members of the school staff, but thanks are due to the mothers of the children who had been busy baking and had sent along such a goodly assortment of cakes, buns and biscuits. Seventy children, even infants, can soon alter the looks of tables spread for a party but even so there were enough cakes and buns left over for the children to feel quite grown up by having smoke in school the following morning.

A modern infant school should be a happy place full of laughter and smiling faces. St. Mary's Gymnasium, then, was a model modern school that Thursday; so much so, that all concerned are already looking forward to the next party.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Dear Boys and Girls, Here are the correct answers to last week's questions:- A Beheaded word- Wheat, heat, eat, at: Boy's Names- David, Robert, Joseph, Frederick, Thomas, Douglas. Now for a story given to us by Mrs. J. Barnes of Stanley:-

This is a story about a little foal named "Barney". When Barney was only two days old, his master brought him and his mother (whose name was Bessie) home and put them in the "back yard" as we call it.

Barney proved a great attraction to the children passing by and several even opened the gate and came in to the yard to watch him.

Now Barney's master had a little girl named "Judy" who was ill in bed, and as she badly wanted to see Barney. Her daddy went and caught him while his mother was feeding and brought him into the bedroom to Judy. There were several children in the yard at the time and Judy's daddy told them to go away in case Bessie missed Barney and pranced about looking for him. However they didn't go.

While Judy was patting and fondling Barney in the bedroom, they suddenly heard terrible cries and screams from outside. Judy's daddy hurried outside taking Barney with him and there were the children huddled together in a corner and Bossie prancing round and snorting in a terrible way looking for Barney. As soon as she saw that her baby was quite safe and sound she stopped prancing about and went back to her food, but what a fright she gave those children! It was really their own fault though wasn't it?

Chapiro,

Uncle Jim.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read I Samuel Ch. 17 vv 28-37.

Saul thought that it was rather absurd to imagine that a mere lad could help them against the giant Goliath. David's brothers thought him rather forward, and Goliath was offended to see such a youngster coming against him. They all learned that day that God can help young people to do great things, to win great victories, if they will trust Him.

KITCHENS OF THE FUTURE

By "THE LONDONER"

I learn that after the war British housewives will be able to buy a kitchen complete with every modern device - and made all in one piece. It will be an all-electric unit which can be plugged into one point like a wireless set, thus having the advantage of great mobility.

This novel kitchen unit measures 41 feet by eight feet and is only twenty-inches deep. It is constructed to fit against one wall; and if an existing kitchen is too small to take it, part of the unit can be separated.

Here is some of the labour-saving equipment which the kitchen contains:-

Refrigerator with cupboard space underneath for food storage.

Collapsible ironing board with cupboards.

Twenty-gallon water heater to supply constant hot water.

Hotplate and grill unit.

Cupboard for kitchen utensils.

Plate rack.

Electric oven, at table height, with drop-down door.

Cupboard space for crockery.

Tall cupboard for brooms and vacuum cleaner.

Built-in electric clock.

This ideal kitchen comes from one of London's most blitzed areas - Poplar - and it was designed by Mr. Robert Illingworth. He has aimed at attaining the ideal cycle of working operations in the kitchen - cooking and service, washing-up, and storage for utensils.

By mass production in plastics, pressed steel or timber, the kitchen will be sold at a price which should be within the reach of every home.

Last Thursday night the usual Army Dance was held in the Gymnasium.

Last Saturday night, Captain McCubbing gave a talk over the local Broadcasting System, to the town, on "The Boy's Brigade". We publish the main part of the talk in this week's paper.

On Thursday 13th July Toth holds its monthly Meeting in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, at 8 p.m. The guest speaker will be Lieut. Colonel Woodgate, A.R.I.B.A.

In recent arrivals, given last week, we regret that we omitted the names of Mr. R. Yates, and Mr. R. Buse, from Johnsons Harbour.

Very successful dances were held last Friday and Saturday nights at North Arm, in aid of the Red Cross. We hear that the takings amounted to about $120.

Sunday is being observed as a Day of Thankful Remembrance and Prayer for the Officers and Men of the Royal and Merchant Navies. The following is a list of Casualties to Merchant Seamen on British ships during the first four years of the War:

Deaths (including deaths presumed in missing ships)	26,317
Internees	3,997

Old Pupils Association.

On Friday last we held our second dance in the Gymnasium which was a great success and very well attended in spite of the roads being so icy.

Music went with a good swing throughout the whole evening - the strains of "My Gal's a Yorkshire Gal" making a poor soldier feel very homesick.

Sandwiches and cold drinks were provided, greatly appreciated by the energetic people who danced the "Polka" followed by the "Highland Schottische" "One Present".

Sunday 9th July.

With reference to the observance of July 9th as a day of thankful remembrance of the Officers and men of the Royal Navy and Merchant Navy, the following is the text of a statement issued by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster and the Moderator of the Free Church Council:-

"All citizens of Great Britain have grounds for the deepest feelings of gratitude to the officers and men of the Royal Navy and the Merchant Navy. To their courage, endurance and vigilance we owe our preservation from want as well as the safe conduct of our forces to many parts of the world. It is fitting that on some Sunday the congregations in our churches should be asked to remember these specially in their prayers. In order that all may observe the same day except where local conditions forbid, we ask that Sunday, July 9th, may be kept in this way as a Day of Thankful Remembrance.

2. Contributions might be made to the funds existing to provide amenities and financial aid and might be sent to King George's Fund for Sailors, Trinity House, London. E.C.3, as central organization for collecting funds for nautical benevolent societies".

XX

The Old Pupils Association held a Social Evening in the Gymnasium on Tuesday evening. About 250 members and friends attended and enjoyed an evening of novelty dancing, games, some lusty community singing and a few individual turns.

A collection of jumbled local names looking remarkably like a list of recent Russian victories gave those who were not dancing plenty to think about.

The Late Mrs Lawson.

News has been received of the death in New Zealand of Malvina, youngest daughter of the late Mr & Mrs. J.J. Felton and sister of the late Mr. G.J. Felton of Malvina House, Stanley. She was the wife of Rear Admiral Lawson who had the distinction of being Captain of H.M.S. "Chester" which led the captured German Fleet into Scapa Flow in the last War.

Mrs. Lawson was born in Stanley and grew to womanhood here. She was a woman of exceptional sweetness of character and was beloved of all who knew her.

RED CROSS.

The Red Cross tea-meeting is postponed from Thursday until Tuesday of next week.

What is The Boys' Brigade?

It is the oldest boys' organisation in Britain. It was founded in Glasgow in 1883 by Sir William Smith. Several million boys have passed through this organisation.

Object The advancement of Christ's Kingdom among boys, the promotion of obedience, discipline and self respect, and all that tends towards true manliness.

Motto. Sure and Steadfast. The Boys' Brigade symbol is an anchor with these words engraved upon it, a small red cross in the centre and the letters B.B. completing this now known world wide boys' organisation emblem.

B.Bs everywhere are attached to some Church. This first Falkland Islands Boys' Brigade Company will have a connection with both Churches, namely the Church of England and the Tabernacle.

The first Falkland Islands B.B. Company will attend Church Parade once per month, alternately at either The Church of England or the Tabernacle.

President. We have been honoured by His Excellency accepting the Presidency of this first Falkland Islands B.B. Company, and I can assure you that the work of both officers and boys will be watched with a close personal interest by His Excellency.

What does the B.B.Offer? It offers a drill parade once per week, where boys will be subjected to discipline and where boys will be picked out as likely N.C.O.'s to control their sections.

It offers you Physical Training and Gymnasium work under those who have been trained in these subjects.

It offers you football; an expert trainer will be there to advise and lead you in true sportsmanship.

It offers you tuition in the art of self-defence (boxing) under expert guidance.

It offers you an ambulance class where boys can learn first-aid under a fully qualified Ambulance Instructor.

All boys interested in Stanley between the ages of 12 and 16 are invited to the Tabernacle Schoolroom, tonight (Thursday) at 7.30.p.m.

GARDENING NOTES.

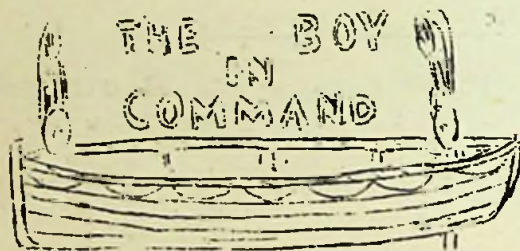

Bulbs that have been plunged outdoor, should now be examined; if an inch of growth has been made, the receptacles must be brought into the porch and be thoroughly soaked with water. Place them in a shaded position, but if a suitable spot cannot be found, a light sacking shading may be provided. The bulbs must not be placed in full light until the growths become green in colour.

At no time should the soil be allowed to become dry; bulbs require copious quantities of water.

Climbing roses may be pruned from now onwards, until the end of the month. Start by cutting out dead and worn-out wood; follow this by the removal of all weak and unwanted new growths. On strong growers, quite a number of growths must be sacrificed if overcrowding is to be avoided. Tie back all remaining new growths, shortening them by one third their present length. Finally, cut back side-shoots to two buds or 'eyes'.

Andrew Osborne went off to sea at the age of seventeen. He was only eighteen when by an order, involuntarily shouted, he took command of a desperate situation.

In December 1941, the "Pelican", 8 days out of Scotland, was labouring along in a heavy swell, the ship vibrating from stem to stern as she zig-zagged along her course towards Halifax. A storm had separated her from the convoy and all hands kept constant watch.

Andy was asleep and says that he dreamt he was falling and clutched for something to stop his downward flight when he awoke to find himself under the sky and sprawled on deck. A torpedo had struck amidships; the bridge was a wreck and not an officer was in sight. Stokers and oilers came rushing on deck and there was a moment of confusion and indecision. The ship, already beginning to settle might, at any moment, catch fire.

Andy Osborne shouted "Lower away", and without realising whence the order had come the crew jumped to the order. After making a dash into the fore-castle and collecting all the blankets he could lay his hand on Andy slid down a rope. On the way he saw a man climbing back aboard and shouted to him "Come down, you fool". But the man was the gunner and insisted on having a last shot at the sub. The boats got free and many of the crew wanted to get as far away as possible in case the sub surfaced. Andy, however, ordered them to stay at the edge of the oil slick in order to pick up the gunner whom he had instructed to swim for it when the ship sunk.

The rescue effected, Andy noticed that some of the men had their feet in the bilge water. "Get your feet out of the water men, or they'll be frozen", he ordered. "No young fellow's going to give me orders", objected one seaman. He was answered by the oldest man aboard who replied, "Watch your step, M'lady; if it hadn't been for this young fellow some of us might be with Davy Jones by now. He's done fine by us and I vote we put him in charge."

The majority agreed and Andy took command like a veteran. He had the tarpaulin torn into strips and wove these between bottom boards wedged upright around the gunwales, thus affording added protection. He had other strips made into foot coverings for the men who had lost their shoes. He made a hot meal on a fire of splintered bottom boards in a bucket of sand that happened to be in the boat.

At first there was foul weather and Andy ordered a sea-anchor made of lashed oars. Then there were clear skies and a fair wind and they set sail back for Scotland. Days passed. Andy had portioned the food carefully but the men were becoming restive and he started amusing them with songs. On the twelfth day they were becalmed and the young skipper ordered the men to the oars knowing that boredom would lead to disaster almost quicker than a hurricane. Then came a storm and in its midst a waterspout. Andy ordered them to furl sail and row back but the wind veered and they set sail again and drove along at breakneck speed.

Finally they sighted land - to find that it was the rocky coast of Cornwall! Sailing over a thousand miles in an open boat, sixteen men were brought safely home without a casualty - because an eighteen year old boy had taken command.

Shooting throughout the week took place on the 15 yards range and some excellent scores were returned. The most notable were two possibiles by L.Reive and one by L.C.Gleadell. This is Les' first full score and he has our congratulations. In the shoot off for a prize he lost to Len.

The prize winners for the week were:-

Highest scores, L.Reive (3).

Sealed scores, H.Banner Jnr. W.R.Flowers, L.Reive, J.Lehen, C.R.Skilling.

Goose. Presented by P.E.Peck. Won by J.Howing.

The prize of 7/6d for the latter part of June was won by L.Reive with an average of over 98.

During the week a return match between the "Oldsters" and "Youngsters" took place but one of the former was unable to shoot. If he had been present an impossible score was required so the "Youngsters" must be credited with another easy win.

Another friendly match took place on Sunday afternoon between teams of 20 aside representing East v West, the dividing line being Villiers St. The East Enders won by 28 points but the standard of shooting was poor. The highest score for the winners was 98, the lowest 59, the average 88.1. for the losers 97, 55, and 86.7. Gingers' timely arrival with a poor score prevented Wal from being transferred to the East End. The best efforts for the week:-

	No. of shoots.	Average.	Highest score.
L.Reive	7	98.	100
H.Bennett	7	96.4	98
A.Finlayson	7	95.5	98
D.W.Aldridge	10	95.2	98
R.I.King	5	95.2	97

Owing to the record membership and increased interest taken in shooting the range is being extended to take four more targets. This will be a great boon to all concerned. If any readers have a telescope to sell will they kindly get in touch with E.J.McAtasney.

Dear Boys and Girls,

I am sure that you have all enjoyed your holiday very much. I know that many of the boys in town will be eagerly waiting for tonight, to go along and find out more about the Boys' Brigade. I hope that many of you will join and put your whole hearts into doing your bit to make the Brigade a success here.

Now for a joke or two:

Brown "Have you heard the story of the three wells?"

Jones "No, what is it?"

Brown "Well, well, well!"

Sergeant- "What was all that noise you were making in your hut last night?"

Private: "I was only dragging Fairbairn's trousers about the room".

Sergeant "Surely that wouldn't make all that noise?"

Private "But Brown was in them Sergeant".

Angry Father- "Where are those apples I left on the table?"

Son- "I haven't touched one of them"

Angry Father "But I left five, and now there's only one".

Son- "Yes, that's the one I didn't touch".

Well, so long,

Uncle Jim.

Last Thursday was surely one of the most treacherous days — in Stanley for years. In the early morning many people had to more or less crawl across the icy sloping roads on their way to work. Some fixed devices to their boots to enable them to walk in safety on the ice. We were glad to see the ice disappear towards the end of the week.

Last Friday night the Army Concert Party supplemented by Messrs S. and F. Lee (from Port Howard) on their accordions and Mr B. Goss (accompanist on bones to the Lee brothers) gave a very enjoyable show in the Tabernacle Schoolroom, to an appreciative audience.

On Friday Night too, there was a "Wester" Dance in the Gymnasium. A very large crowd was present, and everybody enjoyed themselves very much indeed.

Sunday 9th July as previously announced, was observed in the Churches of Stanley, as a day of Thankful Remembrance of the Officers and Men of the Royal Navy, and the Merchant Navy. Appropriate hymns were sung.

The Government School has been made much more comfortable, by the improved heating which was installed recently.

If you play whist, remember to patronise the Red Cross Whist Drive, in the Government School, tomorrow (Friday Night) at 8.p.m.

The Boys' Brigade meets tomorrow Friday Night at 7.30.p.m. in the Tabernacle Schoolroom.

The Late Adam Smith.

We regret to report the sudden death in Stanley last Thursday evening, 6th July, of Mr. Adam Smith at the age of 76 years. Mr Smith lived at the residence of his daughter in town for the last year. He came to the Falkland Islands from Scotland as a boy in a sailing ship which made a record run from Liverpool to Stanley. Mr. Smith worked at Port San Carlos for many years and came to town from that station about a year ago; he enjoyed good health right up to the last. He is survived by a married daughter, two sisters and three brothers.

The funeral took place last Sunday afternoon from Christ Church Cathedral, the service being conducted by Mr. R. H. Hannaford (Lay-Reader).

The family of the late Mr Smith wish to thank all who sent messages of sympathy and floral tributes, at the time of their sudden bereavement.

In A Few Words.

In 1943 the R.A.F. Transport and Ferry Group in the Mediterranean, covering a vast area from Central Africa to Central Italy, have averaged about 3,500,000 miles monthly. There has not been a single accident involv-of the Transport and Ferry Groups were in the air for 23,000 hours and covered no less than 1,400,000 miles on ferrying duties alone. Over 2,000 army casualties were carried to base hospitals and 17,373 passengers

BRITAIN'S FOOD DETECTIVES

By A.K. Chesterton.

Among the forces which stand sentinel over Britain's security there is an army of detectives about whom little is heard. They seldom appear in police courts and still more rarely before the public notice. Yet the function they discharge is of vital importance to the national welfare. It is to maintain constant watch and ward over all food supplies, ensuring that our health is not undermined by poisonous substances.

Newcomers to a country are obliged to satisfy disembarkation officials that their credentials are in order. In the same way imported foodstuffs must pass the exacting scrutiny of Britain's food detectives before they are allowed to proceed on their journey to the consumer. No sooner are they landed at the docks than the scrutineers arrive, take swift note of their packings, open up cases, and select samples for analysis at the laboratory. Until sanction is given for their entry the supplies stay where they are, in a state of quarantine.

It is not only at the ports that the Food Inspectors - that is the official name for these detectives - carry on their ceaseless warfare against contaminated supplies. They are stationed at production and distribution centres throughout the land, usually working under the Chief Sanitary Inspector and subject to the direction of the Medical Officer of Health of the Local Authority.

Every morning they are called into conference by their officers and given orders for the day. Although highly trained men and women, they do not specialise in any one commodity, but are required to be expert in the detection of impurities over the whole range of food supplies.

One day, for instance, an inspector may be ordered to visit a factory where fruit is canned, the next day he may find himself inspecting dairies, and the day after that investigating conditions in butchers' shops. But whatever the nature of his duties the food inspector's skill is always equal to the occasion, for there is no symptom of decontamination which he does not recognise and no detail of packing or storing which will not escape his glance. Should he be inspecting a factory he will give as minute attention to each one of the processes as to the finished article. At a dairy farm the general cleanliness will interest him as much as the milk. Going into a shop his keen eye will have taken in the conditions of walls, floor, ceiling and shelves before he examines a single commodity.

Should he be dissatisfied with what he has seen he will say so in his report and consideration will then be given to the question of prosecution. But in these enlightened days it is not often necessary to prosecute. The general standard of cleanliness in food production and distribution is exceedingly high, and the food inspectors take good care to ensure that it is maintained.

At the service of the inspectors is a fully equipped laboratory where routine samples and "suspects" are alike subjected to test. If anything should be found seriously wrong the whole distribution of the consignment is traced, warnings issued, and if necessary large-scale withdrawals made.

While no safeguards in a vast field such as this can ever be absolute the work of food inspection in Britain is so thorough that the danger to the public from food poisoning is very slight, so slight that not even the most morbid hypochondriac is likely to lose any sleep at night for fear of it.

Water as well as food comes under the watchful eye of the food inspection department, since impure water is a great disseminator of disease, especially of typhoid. War has brought fresh risks to our national water supplies, not only because of the possibility of injurious chemical action caused by bombing, but because the destruction of conduits may lead to untested supplies becoming mixed up with pure drinking water. This is why inspectors are among the first to appear

It is in large part due to the exertions of these food and drink detectives that the desolating pestilences of the past no longer visit Britain. That the nation's health should be no less adequately protected at the present time bestows additional credit upon them, for it will be remembered that Pestilence is one of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse who goes riding in the train of war.

A return to "Wester's Dance" was held in the Gymnasium last Tuesday. As on the night of the Wester's Dance a large company was present, and an enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Britain's General Post Office now employs thousands of women in its sorting offices, which handle 20,000,000 letters and 700,000 parcels every week-day.

Britain now has 50,000 "make do and mend" classes where women can meet to repair and alter their clothes.

"If the majority of hardy perennial plants are permitted to grow on, year after year, they deteriorate. The roots develop at the expense of flowers, the these become few, small and short of stem. To avoid this state of affairs, it is essential to lift the plants every third year for the purpose of division and manuring of the soil.

From now onwards, until the end of August, is the best time to carry out the operation, but do not attempt, the task of lifting, or replanting, if the soil is frozen. The 'clumps' should be divided on lifting, a sharp spade is a most suitable tool for the purpose. Divided portions should be 'heeled' into a vacant plot while the bed or border is being cultivated.

About a year ago the cutter "Paloma" drifted ashore on Kidney Island, near Stanley, in a gale. The Paloma was badly damaged, but after extensive repairs by Mr. J. Davis it was successfully refloated last Saturday afternoon.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a true story about a fairly large mongrel dog, called "Peter". He lived in a Shop which sold birds and animals, and was y there; all around him were pets-other monkeys, parrots, guinea pigs, and even le in a large wooden box were a number oking coloured mice. Everyday customers t some animal or bird and newcomers took Peter thought that he was perfectly safe in considering himself a permanent resident of this interesting place. There was always so much to see going on. No one would ever want to buy him, and if they did he'd show them something!

One day a lady walked into the shop. She wanted to buy a dog, and after examining several animals, she decided that Peter was just the right type for her country house, he looked such a quiet animal. Money was paid out and Peter was lead from the shop on a brand new leash, put into a car and taken for miles and miles into the country. How he missed all his jolly chums in the shop-the country house was not too bad at first sight, and his new mistress was really quite good to him. She gave Peter a good meal, and brushed his coat, and showed him to a number of visitors who came into the house.

A Thought Those who speak by deeds are the world's greatest preachers. "It is not what I have or what I do, it is what I am, that is my Kingdom" Carlyle. What we are, speaks more loudly, than what we say.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read I Samuel Ch. 15 vv. 16-23.
"To obey is better than sacrifice". Some people say that they believe in God yet they do not obey Him. God wants, more than anything else, people to trust and obey Him, but we cannot do the first (trust) unless we also do the second (obey). Let us read God's word and try and do what it says.

F.I.D.F. MINIATURE RIFLE CLUB.

Shooting took place last week on the 25 yards range and nothing exceptional happened, in fact scores of 98 were the highest returned. One sometimes hears the remark that it must be very easy to shoot at such short distances as 15 and 25 yards with match rifles, aperture sights and slings. Well! ask some of those who take part in artificial light in battles with such a small bull. It may be of interest to readers to know the size of the ten ring at the two distances. That at 15 yards is one tenth of an inch and at 25 yards five sixteenths. You will see from this that one cannot afford to shake much to get them all in. When one hears the remark on the firing point, DASH! I put that one in the white grass, we realise he must have something worse than an eight. And he certainly has.

The prize winners for the week were:-

Highest scores, J. Bound, C. Reive, A. Finlayson.

We were glad to have more detailed information from our Volunteers by the last mail. A delightful photograph of our lads of the Royal Air Force is much admired by all who have seen it.

The final Farewell Dance to the Westers took place in the Gymnasium last Monday night.

The Government School had 237 names on its Roll at the end of last week. Then infants department is made up of 76 children. This is the highest number on the Roll, we believe, in the history of the school.

The Boys' Brigade had a very successful first week, and fifty one boys have so far enrolled - these have been divided into four squads.

Douglas Station 21st Birthday Party.

Last Friday and Saturday evening Dances took place in the Cookhouse at Douglas Station, to mark the twenty first birthday of Miss Clara Morrison. The dance commenced at 8.30.p.m. on the first night and continued until 3.a.m., on the second night the dance commenced at 8.p.m. and went on until 6 o'clock the following morning.

A large company were present, visitors being present from San Carlos, Port San Carlos, and Teal Inlet, Mr John Morrison acted as M.C. The music was supplied by Messrs Wm McKay and D.Stewart (accordians) J.Morrison, Obe Biggs, with B.Parren, George Short, and Joe Biggs playing violins.

Mr.Noble was unable to be present through suffering from a cold, but Mrs Noble was in the company. Everybody wished Miss Morrison "Many Happy Returns".

Those who had travelled to the Birthday Dance on horseback, left for their own station on the lovely Sunday morning.

Everyone present enjoyed themselves - it was a memorable twenty first birthday.

Red Cross Whist Drive.

On Friday the 14th there was an assembly of over 50 people at the School for the Red Cross Whist Drive. They were not all players however and 12 tables were made up. We played 42 hands and the keenness of the players was maintained to the last deal. Light refreshments provided by members, were enjoyed at the interval, and the raffle of the wool mat which has been on show for some time in the Falkland Store was drawn and won by Miss Bessingham.

The comfortable warmth of the School building was much appreciated and the thanks of all present were due to Mr. Baker who kindly lent the accommodation.

Private D. Muir and Mrs. Bruce Bonner won the first prizes, and the booby prizes were won by Mrs. Syd. Summers and Mr. Aubrey Summers.

BRITISH CORPORAL YUGOSLAV BRIGADIER

For two years Corporal John Denvir, red-headed New Zealander, captured by the Germans in Greece, has fought with Tito's Partisan forces in Yugoslavia.

From a "ranker" guerilla train-wrecker in the early days of Yugoslav resistance he rose to command a brigade in Tito's organised army.

At a Cairo transit camp, Corporal (Honorary Yugoslav Brigadier) Denvir told of his adventures from the time of his capture by the Germans until he was forced to cross the Adriatic to the Eighth Army lines to have an old arm wound attended.

Denvir was wounded three times while serving under Tito. After twice escaping from the Germans they broadcast that he had been killed.

Only recently was he able to get word to his wife in South Island, New Zealand, that he is alive.

Denvir, with two Australians, first jumped from a train taking prisoners from Maribor Camp, in Yugoslavia, to an unknown destination.

They were given away by Yugoslav Nazis, but Denvir, with another Australian, made a second break and this time fell in with a guerilla band 120 strong.

It was while ambushing trains, wrecking rail tracks, and blowing up bridges with this band that Denvir's Australian companion was killed.

Denvir had left with the Australian two pages of his pay-book, bearing his name and rank, and the Germans announced on the radio that it was he who had been shot. British sources picked up the news.

A report from Tito's H.Q. on Denvir's work reads: "He enjoyed the full confidence and esteem of his Partisan command, and he is recognised as a hero of the highest order".

Denvir's first brush with the enemy as a guerilla was when, as a machine-gunner in a party of 11 - with only four guns - they wrecked a train and killed 185 Italians.

The guerillas made the most of poor equipment until the Allies found it possible to send supplies.

With the arrival of some Italian anti-tank guns they were able to make much more successful attacks on trains.

The Germans became so alarmed they attacked armoured wagons to all supply trains, but Denvir's anti-tank gun groups continued to cause great havoc.

As time went on he switched his group's activities against the Germans trying to get supplies through Trieste for use against Allied Forces in Italy.

He said that the partisans had now cut all the railways from the Balkans into Italy, and the Germans were losing quite half the supplies they tried to get through.

"I've seen German columns, ambushed, panic and run like hell after losing 30 or 40 men. They were only running into a second ambush farther along, when probably twice that number would be written off," he said.

In November 1942 Denvir was officially made a company commander. In the following April he played a notable part in an action in which 400 Italians were killed, and became second in command of a battalion. Two months later he was put in complete command.

Finally, in September 1943, when the Italians were about to capitulate, the Germans endeavoured to rush a strong force into Southern Yugoslavia and Denvir's partisans fought a pitched battle for three days. Then he was made a brigadier.

F.I.D.P. MINIAURE RIFLE CLUB.

Shooting took place on the 15 yards range throughout the week and again no scores above 98 were returned. THE prize for the fortnight for the best average scores of not less than 10 shoots was won by A. Finlayson with an average of 95.47 for 17 shoots. The Goose given by Mr. P. Peck of Island Harbour was won by J. Finlayson.

The prize winners for the week were:-

Highest scores, L.W. Aldridge, J. Finlayson, L.J. McAtasney.

Sealed scores D. Lees, H.L. Bound, R. Jones.

The best average records for the week were:-

	No. of Shoots.	Average	Highest Score.
L. Reive	4	96	98
A. Finlayson	8	95.3	98
J. Bound	8	94.5	97

C. Reive	9	94.2	98
L.W. Aldridge	6	94	98
W. Clothier	6	93.8	98
S. Hannah	4	93.7	96

The boys section is well attended and under the instruction of a few enthusiastic members they are showing very good progress.

The outstanding shots among them are B. Meierhofer, C. Skilling, I. Hanneford, G. Clifton.

Meierhofer's scores for the last two weeks have been 91, 87, 86, 95, 92, 91. and some of the others have been consistently good. We hope they will all continue to improve and soon return "possible" scores.

GARDENING NOTES (continued from last week)

When dividing the plants, all dead portions - those are most often situated in the centre - should be cut out. The remainder of the plant should be cut into sections about six inches square.

On replanting, ensure that the crowns of the plants are level with the soil surface, and that the soil about them is made quite firm.

If lifting and division is not necessary, then, all the old dead stems and foliage should be cut right back to the base, afterwards lightly forking over the soil.

Annual beds and borders are also ready for clearing and digging.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is the rest of the story about Peter of which we gave you the first instalment last week:-

Next morning Peter was allowed out-and he went exploring. He did feel the country quiet. He wandered along until he came to a place which reminded him of his old home, dogs, hens, ducks, pigeons-it was a farm yard. Peter wandered up to the ducks, but they just ran away, the cats were most unfriendly, and as for a cheeky old rooster strutting about the yard, Peter took an instant dislike to him. In fact he couldn't stand him, so he gave chase. What fun! Now comes the curious part-a man appeared and he seemed in a terrible temper. He chased after Peter, and eventually caught him with a walking stick he happened to be carrying. He looked at the name on the collar, and led him away to a shed.

Soon the owner came for the dog, and he was lead away under close arrest. Now that cheeky rooster crowed, as the dog was lead out of the yard.

A conference was held, and it was decided that Peter was not quite suitable for the country, he was not the quiet dog he looked in the shop either... and soon after Peter was taken back to the city, in a car by his mistress.

He recognised the shop in the distance and simply pulled his mistress as quickly as he could down the steps and in at the door. The owner of the shop was greatly surprised at the account given of Peter's misdeeds, but the dog didn't care. He liked his old corner in the shop--but he was more than amused when his late mistress took away from the shop a tiny little puppy. "He would be quiet enough-for a time" thought Peter, as the lady went out the door-and there was a mischevius twinkle in his eyes as he looked once again at the familiar face of old Sammy the parrot.

Vol 1. No 30.

July 27th. 1944.

We must start the Notes this week, with mention of the wonderful day we all enjoyed in town last Friday. It was calm and Springlike.

Last Thursday night the usual Army Dance took place in the Gymnasium.

The Old Pupils of the Government School had a Talkie Show last Tuesday evening. The picture shown was "Salute John Citizen".

Press Photographs of our boys at the Reception given to them by the Colonial Office, London were on view last week on a notice board outside the P.W.D. temporary Office. Many people examined the photographs, which were extremely interesting.

News of the attempt on Hitler's life came through on Wireless sets last Thursday. Some of the German people seem to be beginning to realise that their idol has lead them along the wrong pathway.

Although seeking no publicity, week by week the Red Cross Canteen in the Parish Room does good service; the ladies who give their time in this work are doing a fine piece of practical work.

The Boy's Brigade is now fully under way, and the boys in the organisation enjoy the drill, gymnastics, boxing and friendship which the Brigade provides

OUR VOLUNTEERS.

Falkland Islands Volunteers serving in the armed Forces overseas are now having shoulder flashes bearing the name FALKLAND ISLANDS. These flashes were presented by the Colonial Government. Some very good photographs have come this mail showing some of our Volunteers at a reception given to them at the Colonial Office - here is a descriptive list of these photographs -

The Duke of Devonshire talks to a volunteer for the Navy from the Falkland Islands, Ordinary Seaman Edward Meierhofer from Port Stanley.

Two volunteers from the Falkland Islands look at a batch of photographs. They are Ordinary Seaman P.E. "Pat" Biggs, and A.C.2 Kenny Morrison.

Conversation over the teacups. Left to right, Miss Thompson, Government Hospitality official, Ordinary Seaman Colin McAtasney, volunteer from Port Stanley, Rear Admiral Sir Arthur Bromley. McAtasney was a gardener at home, has been backed by his Government in putting in for a 2 year course at Kew Gardens after the war.

In a room at the Colonial Office, Rear Admiral Sir Arthur Bromley shows a group of Naval volunteers from the Falklands a model of the Discovery, Scotts Antarctic ship. Group includes, Ordinary Seaman George R. Lee, Pat Biggs, Arthur Kirk, Edward Meierhofer, Colin McAtasney all of Port Stanley.

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Matthew. Ch 14. vv 1-12.

There is a familiar saying, "conscience doth make cowards of us all". Two examples of this are given in the above story, in verses five and nine. Herod's conscience was alive and active, but he silenced it. Let us be careful how we treat the small voice called conscience. Obey it at all costs.

"I have come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly".

Witchcraft.

Last Thursday evening His Excellency the Governor spoke to the Government School Old Pupils Association on the subject of "Witchcraft". The large audience of members and friends who came looking forward to an interesting and entertaining evening found their expectations more than realised, and the time passed all too quickly.

His Excellency began by explaining what witchcraft is, and by outlining the history of belief in witchcraft in England from the Middle Ages to modern times (when belief in witchcraft is still by no means entirely dead). He then went on to speak of various forms of witchcraft believed in or practised in different parts of the world. He illustrated his talk with numerous amusing stories, of which we have space to quote but two examples.

To show how readily people in England 300 years ago believed in witchcraft. His Excellency told the story of a certain Anne West, who was prosecuted for witchcraft on the following evidence. A man named Goff was returning home past Anne's cottage at 4 o'clock one morning, in bright moonlight. Seeing her door open, he peeped in, - and was horrified to see her sitting up with four black rabbits jumping round her. He went in, and tried to kill the rabbits with a stick, but without success; he caught one, and tried to beat its brains out, but with no more success; it turned into a lump of wool. Goff then thought of a nearby spring, and set off to drown the creature; after falling on the way, and having to finish the journey by crawling along on all fours, he finally reached the spring, and held the creature under the water until he thought it must surely be drowned; but when at last he let it go, it rose up into the air and vanished. To the judge this was clear evidence that Anne West was a witch - apparently he did not think of the possibility that she might have been 'spinning' by moonlight, or that Goff might have been coming home late from a spree - and accordingly, Anne was put to death.

His Excellency told a number of amusing stories, sometimes tinged with mystery, to illustrate a belief which is still strong in many parts of the world, that men can turn into animals. His first encounter with this belief was when he was making a tour in West Africa. While resting at a native village, he asked the chief, according to custom, whether he had any complaints that he wanted brought to the notice of the District Commissioner. The chief replied that he had one complaint, about a very serious matter. His Excellency expected some gruesome tale of murder or human sacrifice, but was rather taken aback when the chief solemnly informed him that every night all the people in his village turned into leopards and raided neighbouring villages for fowls; and would the District Commissioner please come and stop them from turning into leopards, because they couldn't help themselves and didn't want to get into trouble over the stolen fowls? It turned out later that no fowls had in fact disappeared, but the natives of the village certainly believed firmly in these strange nocturnal happenings. His Excellency did not say how the District Commissioner dealt with the matter.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here is a news item that I think will interest you:-

It happened last year that when the cruiser H.M.S. London was on duty in the South Atlantic, she was about to cross the Equator, and the crew decided to carry out the old ceremony of ducking the novices on board.

One sailor was dressed up as King Neptune, others as members of his court, and the fun was about to begin, when an enemy ship was sighted, and the bugle blew for "Action stations". There was no time for the men to change, and they went into action in fancy dress.

The enemy ship was challenged and tried to escape, but H.M.S. London soon overtook her, then one broadside from the cruiser's guns, manned by her fancy-dress gunners, did such damage to the blockade runner that her crew quickly scuttled her, and surrendered.

Until next week-

Uncle Jim.

LOOKING BACK.

-Items culled from "The Falkland Islands Magazine" during the editorship of the late Dean Brandon-

The Stanley Benefit Club was established in July 1859.

The Savings Bank was opened for business on April 1st 1888.

In 1839 Queen Victoria gave £30 towards the new Church (Cathedral) in Stanley.

The Schooner "Martha Gale" left San Carlos on the 26th of June, 1880 with about 1,300 ewes, for Port Galligos. This will make the third voyage which she has made this season for the above named Port shipping about 4,000 ewes.

The Falkland Islands Children's Lending Library will be opened on Sunday 5th January 1890 at 4 o'clock, in the Senior Schoolroom. After that date books can be changed on Sundays and Tuesdays at the same hour and place, Subscriptions of 2/- yearly and 1/- half yearly to be paid in advance.

On the 31st October 1890 the Barque "Amanda" of Maitland, Nova Scotia, anchored in Port William, having lost some spars and sails off Cape Horn, where she had been for 33 days. The Captain (Scott) thought the Falklands a beautiful place, and amused himself rickling, potting and prospecting for gold among the quartz rocks round Stanley. General Cargo.

On the 9th November 1890 the Stanley Social Club and Mutual Improvement Association gave their first Annual Sports, which were a success.

On Sunday 22nd January 1893 (Parade Sunday) the Falkland Islands Volunteer Corps commanded by Captain S. Rowell, mustered in full uniform (grey, with green facings and red piping, buff belts and side arms) for the first time and marched to the Church.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Editor,
Port Stanley Local Newspaper,
Port Stanley,
Falkland Isles. S. America.

Dear Sir,

For after the war, I have planned a trip round a part of the world on a combined business-pleasure basis, and one of the places I wish to visit is Falkland Isles.

I am, however, desirous of finding out a little of your country beforehand, and I am therefore writing to you to ask if, through the medium of your newspaper I might find correspondents who would be willing to acquaint me with general particulars of local conditions, climate, industries, etc. in fact any items of interest. In return, I would be pleased to write of England (particularly London) both in peace and war time, or of my travels abroad with the Army, though this latter must, of course, at the moment, be restricted somewhat to comply with censorship regulations.

I am still abroad on active service: but if you would be kind enough to publish this letter, may I suggest that any of your readers interested should write to my home address, thus:-

"Mr. J. W. Wright,
41. Hillfield Park,
Winchmore Hill,
London, N. 21,
England - (Please Forward)" and any letters will then be forwarded on to my Army address.

Thanking you in anticipation.

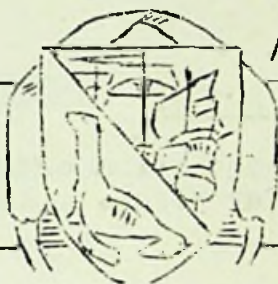

Yours Faithfully,

J. W. Wright

An army Concert took place in the Camp on Monday evening. The Show was repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. We give a report of the Concert in this issue.

ToCH holds its monthly meeting in the Tabernacle on Thursday 10th August, when Signallman J.Mastin will give a talk on "My Job in Civy Street". The Meeting commences at 8.p.m.

In connection with the article being published in three weekly instalments on our back page, under the title "London's transport goes to War", the following facts are of interest: The London Passenger Transport Board carries ten million passengers daily; they own the longest tunnel underground railway in the world, 17½ miles—from Morden in the south to Finchley in the north.

What a contrast in our weather at times-Saturday was an outstanding day, calm and pleasant; Monday, morning was wintry-wet, and windy.

There is great enthusiasm and interest amongst the members of the Miniature Rifle Club in town this winter. As our weekly score list shows there are fine shots amongst the ladies as well as the men.

South American Missionary Society.

The Centenary of the South American Missionary Society was celebrated at a thanksgiving service in St Paul's Cathedral on June 27th at which the Archbishop of Canterbury preached. Special Meetings were held during the subsequent few days in several provincial centres, at which the advertised speaker was the Rt. Rev. John R. Weller, (The Bishop was not home in time for the St. Paul's Service)

SOWINGS

GARDENING NOTES (continued from last week)

Before sowing, water the soil and allow it to drain; no further water should then be required until the seed has germinated provided the receptacle is covered. A sheet of glass, covered with paper is usually used; the glass speeds up germination but it must be removed immediately the seedlings make their appearance. The paper shading may remain for a day or two longer, more especially if the period is bright; however, if the seedlings show signs of becoming drawn, the paper should be removed without delay.

Thin sowing is essential if strong sturdy plants are to result. Very fine seeds are most difficult to distribute evenly, and thinly, but if mixed with a little fine sand, distribution is simplified.

PEAT AS A FUEL IN ENGLAND.

In Wartime Britain, coal is playing an important part in the War Effort. Coal is rationed, and the people are invited to co-operate in making the supply to the needs of the War as great as possible. Householders are encouraged to share their fire with their neighbours.

It is interesting with this great demand upon coal, to see Peat advertised in an English Weekly paper, as a means of increasing ones fuel stock. The firm tells us that a Peat Fire is still incomparable, radiating its warmth and brightness, it creates just that cosy and intimate atmosphere which means so much to the English Home. Unlike coal, the peat is unrationed.

The peat can be purchased in truck loads, carriage paid to the nearest railway station, and the suggestion is made that customers in one locality can share a truck. The prices for 8000 blocks is £28:15, for 4000 blocks £16:2:6, for 2000 blocks £8:15.

If you prefer your peat in smaller quantities then you can order it in bags, packed free and carriage paid to your home, with an allowance of 9d per bag on empty bags returned promptly. Here is the price list for smaller quantities: 1000 blocks £6:0, 500 blocks £3:5, 250 blocks £1:15; and 100 blocks 17/6.

Extract from an English paper received here recently:-

Death of Mrs John Ingham.

Mrs. John Ingham, "Falklands" Common Road, Staincliffe, died at her home on Sunday morning after a brief illness.

Mrs Ingham, who was born in London, went out to Port Stanley in the Falkland Islands as a small child. She married Mr. Charles Cole, a master mariner, who, shortly after the birth of their daughter, Miss Helen ("Nellie") Cole, died on a voyage home from Egypt.

Mrs. Ingham returned to England and became house-keeper for Mr. Edward Batley (Heckmondwike) and in 1917 married Mr John Ingham, who died in 1929. She was an ardent worker for Heckmondwike Upper Independent Chapel.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Ingham is survived by three sisters-- one in the Falkland Islands, one in Chile, and one in Buenos Ayres; and a nephew, Mr George Mosey who has resided with her for 28 years.

The Gymnasium.

For general information all parties hiring the gymnasium bind themselves in security of £5, to provide a full staff of respectable and suitable door keepers and other persons usual and necessary for the proper working of the gymnasium; to permit no smoking in the hall; to allow no intoxicated person to be admitted to the gymnasium or to remain in the gymnasium; to allow no intoxicating drink to be brought into or consumed in the gymnasium.

FORCE CONCERT.

The third presentation by the Force Concert Party was given in the Camp on Monday evening and was repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday. The programme, arranged in much the same way as previous shows, consisted of some good items. The introduction of local residents into the show proved a successful experiment and should be continued.

The outstanding piece of the evening was the welcome revival of the one-act play THE DEAR DEPARTED by Stanley Houghton, with the same 'ladies' cast. The parts of Mrs. Slater and Mrs. Jordan, two mercenary sisters haggling over oddments of furniture of their supposedly dear departed father, were again most ably played by Cecily Martin and Beatty Braxton. The somewhat 'henpecked' Mr. Slater was realistically portrayed by Sign. Cooke, while Sign. Windebank took the more bouncing part of Mr. Jordan. Victoria, the Slater's daughter, from whom no secrets of her mother's avaricious nature were hidden, was very well done by Miss Olga King. The old father, whose chattels are the cause of this family quarrel, was splendidly done by Mr. Allan Carr, who effectively settles the disagreement by accomplishing the impossible feat of returning to life and announcing his forthcoming marriage.

A comic song by Pte. R. Egan in which Camp personalities and even a few well-known people in Stanley are mentioned, was appreciated even more than the songs he has sung at previous shows. He puts them over in a masterly manner and full credit is due to Sign. Fraser who wrote the lyrics. Four short monologues were given by Cpl. Croft who provided pedestrians with several good reasons for keeping off the road while military vehicles are at large.

Among the sketches, Pte. McDermott as Old Mother Riley in the A.T.S., ably assisted by Ptes. Neill and Egan was good. L/Cpl Stanley did exceptionally well in his part of an agitated bridegroom who turns up for his wedding a week early. In this sketch he was well supported by Pte. Cornell whose miming of a housewife was accentuated by hand movements in a particularly Sidney Howard way.

Some good singing was contributed by Sgn. Fynes with Mrs. Pitt as accompanist. Sign. MacKenzie's rendering of A Hundred Pipers an 'a' sounded well as did 'Solitude' sung by Cpl. Grant.

The Band again provided some good musical selections and a new touch of colour was added as the last item by some minstrel singing.

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER.

Weekly News Office,
Stanley,
3/8/44.

Dear Boys and Girls,

This week I am going to tell you something about Princess Elizabeth.

Princess Elizabeth, heir to the throne celebrated her eighteenth birthday on the 21st of April of this year. From the date of her birthday onwards she will be, more than ever, a figure of outstanding importance at any functions which she attends. Although in her position she must always be in a prominent position, nevertheless she is in herself a young woman with the interests of any one of that age, and with a great amount of sympathy and understanding.

Here are some facts about the Princess, she stands about five feet six inches in height, and is taller than the Queen, her eyes are grey-blue set wide apart with a very direct and frank gaze. The colour of her hair is darkening brown with a few fairer lights in it. The Princess wears her hair parted at the side, combed back, and finished with a double row of big curls at the nape of the neck.

As for her features-Princess Elizabeth has a narrow nose, even white teeth, and a firm mouth. Her hands are long and her fingers slim.

The Princess has a fair complexion, with a tinge of healthy rose red on her cheeks. Actually she is much more attractive in real life than in picture or photograph.

The heir to the throne is very alert and alive in every way; as a reader she has covered much ground, while in conversation she is witty and interesting. Even in impromptu speech words come easily to her.

Out side her studies, her chief indoor interest is music. She is very fond of playing the piano, and usually practices for an hour at least each day.

Like other people too, Princess Elizabeth is thinking of the future, and after the War she hopes to travel and see for herself some of the great Dominions and other parts of the Empire. Like her parents Princess Elizabeth is devoted to the Empire and its people.

CAN WE TRUST OUR BIBLE? Yes, only be honestly willing to learn the truth, at whatever the cost, and you will find our Lord's promise, contained in the Revelation of John 7,17, is true, namely-- "If any man will-eth to do His will, he shall KNOW of the teaching whether it be of God".

A.M.W. (Ashore and Afloat)

FOR THE CHILDREN Read Luke Ch. 8 vv. 26-39.

Here was a man for whom the Lord had done great things. Jesus reminds him (and, through him, He reminds us) that the people in His own home ought to be the first to hear what Jesus had done for him. If Jesus means anything to us, if we are believers in Him, then the first place to shew it, is at home. Ask Him to help us live for Him at home.

NOTES.

SMALL POX - A WARNING.

The law requires that your baby be vaccinated within 3 months of its birth. Perhaps you do not know, or have forgotten, how important this is. Every individual should be vaccinated at birth, on commencing school and at least once as an adult. Local practice falls far short of this standard and in advocating it to those who should know better I have often gained the impression that I was regarded as a bit tiresome.

Actually vaccination against smallpox in England goes back 150 years. It is one of our oldest health measures. Nothing that we do in the field of preventive medicine rests on such a sure foundation and is supported by such a wealth of experience.

It is the very success of vaccination that is the cause of our present lack of interest. Small Pox is unheard of where vaccination is efficient but small pox is a terrible disease that has by no means disappeared. This is what happens elsewhere and it could happen here.

On February 6th 1944 a patient was admitted to Hospital in England. After a few days he had what competent medical officers regarded as measles and chicken pox. The true nature of the condition was not realized until an unvaccinated nurse and an unvaccinated visitor developed confluent haemorrhagic small pox. Both died. Subsequently 4 vaccinated nurses developed modified small pox. A 52 year old patient in an adjoining ward, vaccinated in infancy, died from a severe attack. In England, of course, they had vaccine in a matter of hours. Here we should be helpless and the unvaccinated would suffer most.

Court News.

At the Police Court in Marine House on Friday 28th July, before His Worship the Hon. Austin Cathie.

A Civil Action was heard in which Mr Joseph Cantlie Sought to have refunded the sum of £5 from the Executive Engineer, Lieut. Colonel Woodgate, which had been paid as a deposit for the hire of the gymnasium and which had been forfeited for alleged failure to comply with the terms of the agreement.

Reasons for the action on the part of the Executive Engineer were- that bottles containing rum were found on the premises, obscene language had been used by certain persons present, and smoking took place inside the hall-thus the dance was not conducted in the way it ought to have been.

Witnesses were called by both sides, and the hearing was adjourned until the afternoon. At the end of the resumed hearing His Worship found that Mr Joseph Cantlie had failed to carry out the terms of his agreement and left the amount to be forfeited to the discretion and magnanimity of the Executive Engineer.

During the Case the Magistrate pointed out the need for more than two people as supervisors in the running of any dance-two was not a sufficient number to exercise full control, run the dance, and take the money at the door.

At the conclusion of the case His Worship spoke in terms of condemnation of those who went to dances and misbehaved themselves, thus causing what should be an enjoyable evening to become a disreputable turn out. When this happened many would simply cease to patronise the dances. There was also too the fact that through such conduct the organiser or organisers of the Dance might well lose their deposit money.

LONDON'S TRANSPORT GOES TO WAR

By David Thurlow.

Of all Britain's public utility undertakings, the vast London transport system was switched over to a war basis probably more quickly than any in the country.

Britain expected and was prepared for heavy air raids to begin as soon as war was declared. The London Passenger Transport Board's first war job was to carry nearly half a million children from the capital safely into the depths of the countryside. Large fleets of omnibuses and motor coaches were detached from their regular services to be filled with boys and girls, escorted by school teachers and parents, and driven away as quickly as possible from the city danger zones.

If there were to be heavy air raids, it was almost inevitable that there would be heavy casualties. In accordance with a pre-arranged plan, all the coaches employed by the Board on its country services were, therefore, converted to ambulances and the services suspended. Later, when the raids came, many thousands of people sought shelter at Underground stations and it became necessary, at very short notice, to organise sleeping and feeding arrangements. Shelterers were accommodated at 79 London Underground stations, in perfect order, where fully organised sleeping and feeding arrangements were provided by London Transport.

Shelterers were accommodated at these stations without in any way interfering with the thousands of travellers, who continued to use those stations. Special reservation tickets were issued to shelterers, allotting them a numbered bunk or a clearly defined floor-space on the station platform, or in one of the subways. A special catering staff was given the job of providing a wide variety of light refreshments for the shelterers. At the height of the blitz, in 1940 and 1941, 11 tons of food were distributed each night.

THE WHITE STAR.

All vehicles taking part in the invasion of France had a white star painted on them. Here is the Press release which gives you the reasons for the marking. 26:5:44.

"All service vehicles, no matter of what nationality, belonging to the Allied Expeditionary Force, are to carry a large white, five-pointed star, prominently displayed. The only exceptions will be ambulances (which will continue to be marked with the International Red Cross emblem) and vehicles belonging to the Royal Air Force, which will retain the familiar red, white and blue roundel.

A number of British and Canadian vehicles, armoured and otherwise, painted with the white star in addition to their normal service registration numbers and other markings, have been seen in various parts of Britain in the past few days, and many people have been puzzled at seeing what was hitherto been regarded as a purely American emblem displayed on vehicles with British or Canadian drivers.

This uniform marking of all Allied Expeditionary Force vehicles, is one of many examples of the complete integration of the Forces to be engaged in the coming operation.*

Those who grow Tomatoes in heated greenhouses should make a sowing without delay. The end of August is the best time to make a sowing in unheated houses.

Tomato seed is best sown singly, say, about half-an-inch asunder and a quarter-of-an-inch deep, when the seedlings have reached the third-leaf-stage, they should be "pricked off" into boxes to a distance of three inches, or they may be "potted off" singly into four-inch pots.

For those who do not possess a cold frame, and were therefore unable to take the advantage of making a sowing of Cabbage during February, then a sowing may be made in the porch or greenhouse now. Early varieties are most adaptable for this purpose, because late varieties tend to bolt after planting out. Cauliflower and lettuce may also be sown indoors.

For the Children Read Mark 15 1-11.

We often read about the Lord Jesus as a Shepherd, as a Saviour, this passage speaks about Him as a King, and elsewhere He is referred to as the King of Kings. Jesus was never an earthly King--but He is the right-ful King of our lives, and we ought to be His loyal subjects, obeying, serving and pleasing Him day by day.

RED CROSS DANCE AT GOOSE GREEN.

On the evening of July 28th, a dance in aid of the Red Cross Society was held in the dance hall at Goose Green. Dancing commenced at 8.p.m. a small entrance fee being charged for admission. The hall was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and a not unusual feature was the bar, which was so efficiently managed that its privileges were in no way abused.

Many visitors were present, gentlemen being in the majority, having come in from Fitzroy, North Arm, and Walker Creek sections. Others came from San Carlos; two enthusiastic young women from there made the journey over the mountains to be in attendance. Very few shepherds wives came in, but those that did, were a welcome addition to the number of women present. Quite a number of visitors from Stanley were also noted, and as may be imagined, that little hall was filled to capacity.

The official M.C. was Mr. Victor Johnson, and except for a period when he seemed over partial to the Barn-Dance, his dynamic personality and untiring services were appreciated by one and all. His task was not an easy one, the men were rather slow to take the floor at the opening of a dance.

As elsewhere, the Paul Jones appears to be a great favourite, both young and old are eager to join in and thoroughly enjoy themselves. Another dance, apparently peculiar to camp dances is the ladies waltz, during which, the lady changes her partner each time the music ceases.

Towards midnight the happy gathering were informed that refreshments were being served in the cookhouse dining-hall, here one found an amazing assortment of cakes and sandwiches generously provided by the settlement-housewives. Dancing of course, did not cease while hungry persons were satisfying themselves; as long as there was music dancing continued.

Raffles were also a prominent feature of the evening, many and varied were the articles one was requested to try one's luck for. The cry, "It's all for a good cause" made men dig into their pockets and so swell the funds of the Red Cross, and there is little doubt that

THE WEST FALKLANDS.

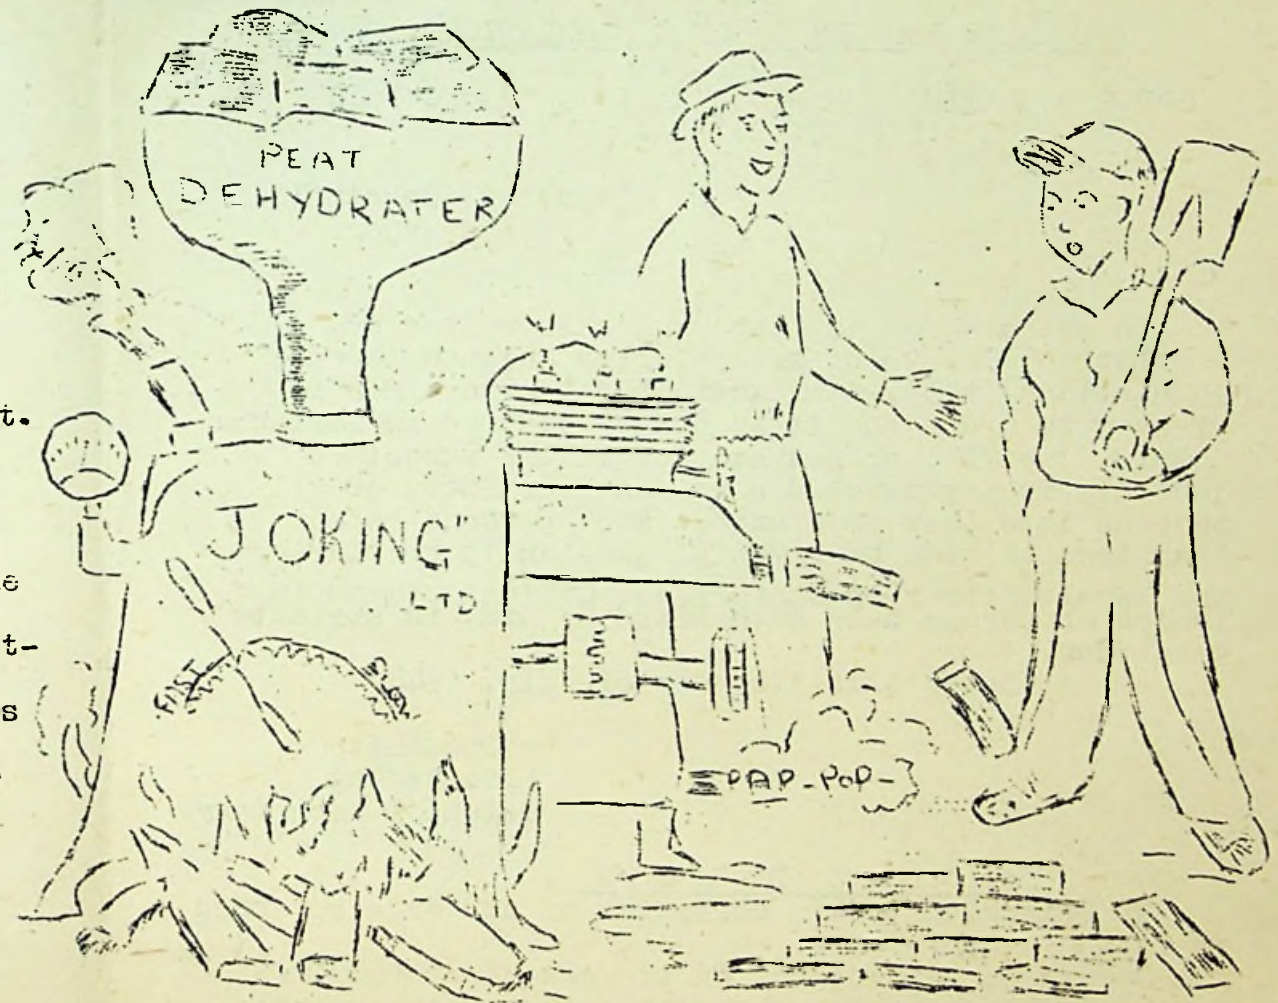

A visit to the West Falklands is a visit to about the best part of the Falkland Is. But in winter time much of its attraction is missed especially during a severe cold spell as was the case last month. Certainly riding in the snow is no pleasure, and riding on ice is definitely unpleasant. Sonja Henie may look very graceful on the skating rink, but to be on horseback with the four hoofs of the animal sliding in four different directions makes one kick loose the stirrups and prepare to jump. In many places too one had no idea of how deep the snow was, whether the ground underneath was but one foot down, or twelve feet. It was so deep that I saw where horse corrals were completely buried.

That does give a little idea of the severity of the snowfall. Of course there was some loss of life among stock, but how serious the loss was I have no idea. I know one shepherd who dug out over two hundred sheep in less than a week in the parts of his camp that he could reach.

At Chartres there were two dances during holiday week, one of which I managed to attend. Proceeds were in aid of the Red Cross, and between raffles, auctions and subscriptions approximately $130 was collected. There was not a large attendance due to the most inclement weather, but the more hardy people came from Roy Cove, Hill Cove, Port Howard and Fox Bay. The habit of 'tossing' for tickets is as prevalent as it is in Stanley, but on this special occasion tickets in the raffles were being sold five or ten at a time in one "flop". One raffle alone brought over $30.

The country on the "West" is astonishingly more

FLYING BOMBS -----

The Lord Mayor of London is collecting funds for the victims of flying bombs. It requires little imagination to picture the uses to which such money is put. A home is destroyed. The people, if they were fortunate enough to be in a shelter, emerge to find everything gone; beds, blankets, food, cups, saucepans, clothes, the baby's cot-everything.

A million people have been evacuated. Many of them needed shoes. They were bought. They needed fares, and jerseys and buns and cups of tea and cases, which were provided. Soon they will be needing woolies, as the nights draw in and the temperature drops.

There is not one of us in the Falkland Islands who would not gladly share what we have with these people. We would if we could give them our spare clothes, our time to help them get straight again, our very dinners-if we could.

The best we can do is to send the Lord Mayor some money. This should represent some sacrifice by each of us of time, energy, and cash.

A SALE of WORK, under the auspices of the Red Cross will be held at the end of September. Let us each ask ourselves how much we can collect or earn or do, and what we can make for the Flying Bomb Victims. Here are some suggestions. Others will be welcomed.

FALKLAND ISLANDS DEFENCE REGULATIONS.

ORDER DECLARING CERTAIN AREA IN THE COLONY TO BE A PROTECTED AREA.

(Sgd) A.W. Cardinall
Governor.

In exercise of the powers in him vested by Regulation, No. 28 of the Falkland Islands Defence Regulations, 1939, His Excellency the Governor is pleased to Order and it is hereby ordered as follows:

1. That the area specified in the subjoined Schedule is a protected area, and the entry of all persons into that area except such persons as may from time to time be given permission in writing by the Naval Officer-in-Charge, the Officer Commanding Troops or person duly authorised by him, is strictly forbidden.

Dated this 31st day of July, 1944.

By Command,
H.G. Bradley
Colonial Secretary.

The following is a description of the area referred to in the Order:-

Commencing at a point on the sea beach 1600 feet to the west of the Canache Jetty; thence in a southerly direction for a distance of 2300 feet; thence in a northerly direction for a distance of 1050 feet to the sea beach; thence continuing along the beach to the point of commencement.

Explanatory Note. The above Order prohibits the entry of unauthorised persons into the Protected Area, but it is not intended to interfere with common grazing rights. Should any person wish to enter the area between sunrise and sunset only in order to fetch or otherwise attend to his animals grazing therein he may obtain the necessary permission from the N.C.O. in charge of the Guard.

The following is an extract from a letter received by the Weekly News from Laurie Shaw-better remembered by many people of Stanley as "Queen Lizzie" in the pantomime "Sleeping Beauty".

"May I, through the medium of the Weekly News, thank you one and all for the very happy times I spent with most of you during my stay on the Falkland Islands.

I cannot tell you in mere words what my feelings were whilst I dwelt amongst you but I can assure you that I appreciate all that you did for our comfort.

The way you flocked round us as we tried, in our own humble and amateur way, to entertain you was a real credit to you all and we have that feeling that what we did in the entertainment side was worth while".

Letter to the Editor.

Dear Sir,

I am going to have a smack at the Weekly News. The present issue is better than its forerunner which generally ended up in the waste paper basket, but there is still room for improvement. My impression is that the people could help the Editor to make the paper better than it is by contributing a few more articles so that we can get a kick out of it.

I am,

Yours Sincerely,

Wedding.

A very pretty wedding took place in Stanley, at the Tabernacle last Tuesday afternoon (August 8th) when Mr Walter A. Felton was joined in marriage to Miss Isabella V. Smith. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. W. F. McWhan.

The bride charmingly attired in a dress of bridal figured satin with a long veil and carrying a bouquet, was given away by her father. Two small train-bearers carried the veil- Miss Rita Smith (sister of the bride) and Miss Olive Clifton. They wore dresses of pale green flowered satin.

The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Hanson and Miss Dorothy Anderson who were tastefully attired in dresses of lemon taffeta with head-dress to match.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. E. J. McAtasney as best man.

A reception followed by a supper was held at the house of the brides' parents, and in the evening a dance was held in the Gymnasium to which some five hundred guests had been invited.

The Gymnasium was crowded and a happy evenings dancing took place. The four tier wedding cake made by Mr. J. F. Summers was sampled by all.

Mr and Mrs Felton will be making their home at Spring Point on the West Falklands.

We take this opportunity of wishing them every happiness in the future.

by David Thurlow.

Two tasks faced the London Transport Board when war broke out. It had to maintain, as far as was humanly possible, the fullest and most efficient transport services no matter how heavy and how persistent the enemy's attacks from the air might be. And in maintaining those services it had to ensure the maximum safety for its passengers and its staff.

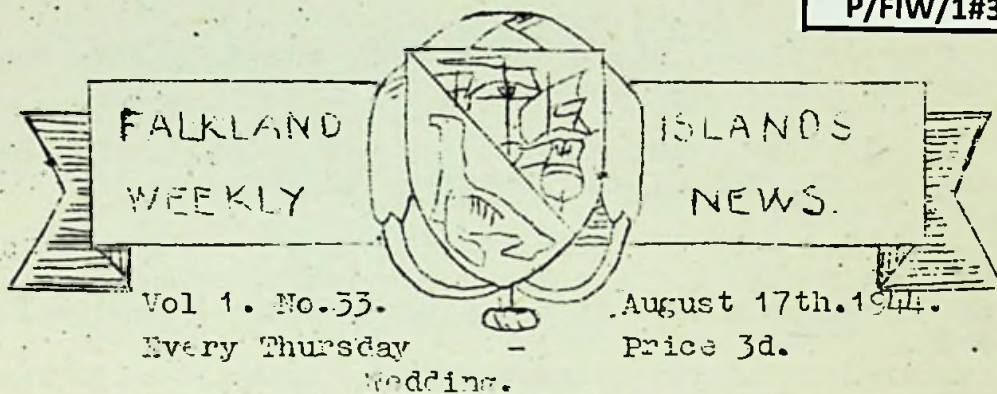

One of the greatest sources of danger during an air raid is flying glass. London Transport had to reinforce hundreds of thousands of windows in all its trains and buses and trams, to ensure that its passengers ran the minimum risk of being injured by glass shattered by the blast from some nearby bomb explosion.

During the long, dark nights of the blitz, London's trains, and buses and trams kept running.

Drivers of these vehicles cannot tell how imminent the danger from overhead may be. They can hear little of the zooming of the planes and the roaring of the guns. London Transport, therefore, organised a system of road watchers, men who were specially detailed to warn drivers of the presence of bomb craters in the road often invisible to a driver in the dark.

To black-out a house or an office building is difficult enough, but to black-out a moving vehicle where draughts are likely to blow blinds away, is ten times more difficult.

London Transport had to shade, mask and dim-out its lights rather than attempt to black-out the hundreds of thousands of windows in its vehicles. Through the years of war, both conductors and passengers have co-operated nobly under conditions that would try the eyes of a cat. As for the drivers, their patience and skill has been beyond belief - to say nothing of their courage. To drive through the London streets at the height of an air raid, knowing that the lives of 50 or 60 passengers in the bus behind you depend on your coolness and good driving, is a task nerve-wracking enough for any man.

The wedding took place on 14th July at Goose Green of Mr James Ford, third son of Mr Chas and the late Mrs. Ford, and Miss Dorothy (Dora) Phillips, third daughter of Mrs and the late Mr. A. Phillips.

The bride was dressed tastefully, in white broad-shouldered silk and carried a bouquet of artificial flowers and fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Doris Ford, sister of the groom, was in blue silk and carried artificial daffodils and fern.

The Best man was Mr Jesse Phillips, brother of the bride.

The bride was given away by her younger brother Mr. Chas Phillips.

The ceremony was performed in the Hall at Goose Green by the Registrar Mr. K.V. Lellman. A reception was held at Mr. F. Morrison's house where the many friends of the happy couple met to drink their health. That evening the hall was a scene of gaiety when a large gathering from the settlement, outlying houses and North Arm danced till 5.30 a.m.

Mr & Mrs Ford will make their home at Darwin.

The Late Sydney Goss.

We regret to announce the death of Mr Sydney Goss, which occurred in Stanley last Friday evening. The funeral - a military one took place from the Tabernacle last Monday afternoon and was conducted by the Rev. W.F. McKean.

Sydney Goss was born at the "First and Last" which was at the time an hotel, in the year 1896. He left the Colony at the age of five for Great Britain and returned to the Falklands some fourteen years later, holding posts in the F.I.O. Office and as Customs Officer at New Island.

In 1915 Mr Goss returned to Britain. He joined the "King Edward's Horse" Cavalry Regiment, and fought in France and Italy. Mr Goss was a prisoner of war for a period of ten months. He suffered from gas warfare and on discharge received a pension.

In 1919 Mr Goss married Miss Anne Mair Rickits. For four years he owned and ran a fish and chip shop business and in 1924 returned to the Falklands once again, with his wife and two children. He worked as a cook for two years on Pebble Island, then at Fitzroy for sixteen years. He returned to Stanley in 1942.

Mrs. Goss predeceased her husband about eleven months ago. Mr Goss is survived by two brothers and his sister in Belfast, and by two sons and a daughter resident in Stanley.

POULTRY CLUB MEETING.

Report on Public Meeting held in the Government Schoolroom on Monday August 14th.

At the above meeting, keen poultry keepers of Stanley turned out in good strength despite the awful weather.

On the agenda was the formation of a Poultry Club whose aims are tabulated below.

(1) To expound views and suggestions in order to find ways and means of increasing the yearly egg yield of each bird kept.

(2) As a body to extract special benefits where individual representation would fail.

(3) To draft retail prices for all classes of poultry and eggs as supply varies.

(4) To institute a club library of Poultry literature.

(5) To hold exhibitions of Poultry at intervals decided upon by the club members.

Mr. Baker, as chairman, opened the meeting with a very humorous speech, and afterwards called on Dr. Gibbs who promised every possible support such a club would be given by the Agricultural Department. Mr. Pickering then said a few words about the running orders such a club would have, and definitely refused to believe that weather conditions were responsible for the rather low egg yield most poultry-keepers suffered. Every hen is an economic unit the profit of which varies only as its owner's skill varies.

The meeting was then thrown open for questions and a general discussion, after which a proposal to start a Poultry Club was carried; to be known in future as the "Falklands Poultry Club".

Nominations were as follows:-

Chairman Dr. Gibbs.

Organiser and Secretary. Mr. G. J. Pickering.

Committee. Mrs. Hutchinson

Mrs. Rumbolds.

Mr. Pettersson.

Mr. Clathroe.

23 members were placed on the register.

It was decided to hold the first meeting proper on August 21st at 8 p.m. in the Government Schoolroom when the subject will be "Profitable and un-Profitable Birds".

New members will always be very welcome, to join the club all you need do is to come along, there are no subscriptions or obligations of any kind, but there will be plenty of good advice and a happy band of members to welcome you.

Our motto is "More Eggs and happy social club meetings".

Dear Boys and Girls,

This week I am going to tell you rather an amusing story:-

A Yorkshire woman worked in a bake-house sending out hot meals to mill workers. She never used her customers surnames, but always called them by their Christian names; also, she was rather uncertain in her use of the letter H.

One day she sent her new errand boy to a mill with a basket of hot pies. She drew the pies carefully out of the oven, and as she placed each one in the basket she explained to the lad:

"This is for Fred, this for 'Arry, this for Bill, and this is for 'Ugh"

"Very well, Mum", replied the lad. "I know them all".

Away he went at a smart pace, and safely delivered three of his pies—one for Fred, one for Bill, and one for Harry. Then the errand boy sat down and gratefully ate the fourth pie, which he thought his mistress had said: "Is for You".

Wedding.

Newton - Aldridge.

W. Garsworth Church was the scene of the wedding on Saturday, of Miss Dorothy Muriel Aldridge, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs W. Aldridge, of Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, South America, and Driver Arthur Newton, only son of Mr and Mrs. G. Newton, 43, Brown Street.

The bride, who came from the Far land Islands as a volunteer nurse, was formerly in the King Edward VII Memorial Hospital there, and during the Battle of the River Plate, tended the wounded from H.M.S. Exeter. The couple met while the bridegroom was serving in the Islands.

The bride was given away by her uncle Mr. J. W. Grider-son, and Mr. J. Johnson was the best man, Mr. .Benn being the groomsman.

Attired in a brown two-piece suit, with matching hat, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations, the bride was attended by four bridesmaids, Misses I. Newton, M. Newton, M. Barlow (who were in turquoise two-piece suits with nigger trimmings) and E. Worrall, whose dress was of shell pink satin embroidered with forget-me-nots. The first three had sprays of pink carnations whilst Miss Worrall's spray was of forget-me-nots and tea roses.

A reception was held at the Alexandra Cafe, where 40 guests were entertained.

"THE SEED IS THE WORD OF GOD". When anyone preaches or teaches from the Bible, it is like a sower sowing his seed. If Bible words really sink down into people's hearts, as the seed sinks down into the ground, they will cause all sorts of flowers and fruits of Christian behaviour to grow in their lives.

Pray that God's Word may make you a strong Christian.

By David Thurlow.

As soon as war began, petrol rationing began. London Transport was faced with the problem of making one bus do the work of two. The whole of its operating schedules were so reorganised as to give the maximum service during the morning and evening rush-hour periods. If you were to walk today along the wide sweep of the Thames Embankment, or into the quiet of Hyde Park, you would see there lined up in neat rows, between ten in the morning and four in the afternoon, hundreds of London's huge red buses. They have done their job of bringing the worker's to the city in the morning. They are ready to take them home again in the evening. In the meantime, both petrol and rubber are saved by parking the buses instead of leaving them to run through the streets with only a handful of people on board.

The many thousands of stopping-places scattered through London's streets were completely re-organised vast numbers of them being abolished altogether. To effect still further economies in petrol consumption London Transport is providing 550 gas-producer buses to replace petrol-driven vehicles.

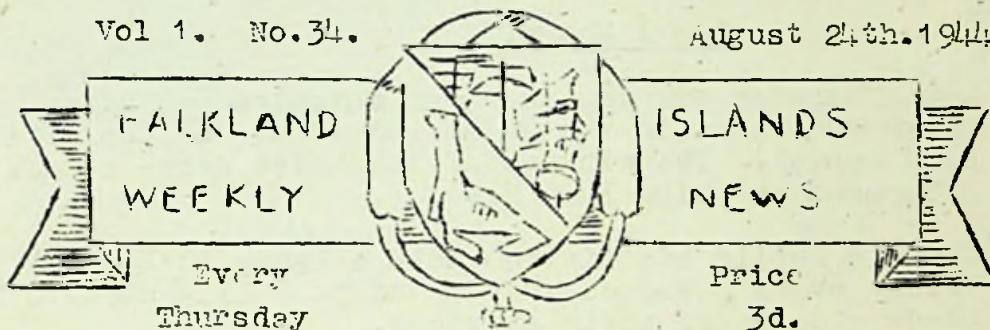

As the war has developed, many thousands of women have taken the place of men on London Transport's staff, and among the most familiar and popular figures of the war in London are now the energetic little "clippies", as they are called. Eight thousand of these girls now collect fares and issue tickets on London's trams and buses. Many more women act as guards and booking office clerks at the underground stations. All these women have replaced men called for war service.

A very important factor of war-time traffic in Britain has been the introduction of schemes to spread out the congestion of travel at the beginning and the end of the working day, so as to make it easier to move the workers between their factories, offices and homes.

Paris Under Hitler.

When the Germans entered Paris, Commissioner Frank Barrett of the Salvation Army, who was in command of the work of that body throughout France, was interned but subsequently released. He has just recently been repatriated, and has arrived safely in England.

The Commissioner described the conditions of life in the capital as "very difficult". He mentioned particularly the British people there. The great problem was food, and underfeeding has shown itself in a mental as well as a physical sense.

Inflation has created an absurd rise in the cost of things. For instance in the month of May tea, if obtainable, which it scarcely was, was offered at the equivalent of £15 per pound; coffee at £8, that too being very short. Meat cost 15/- per pound, and condensed milk came to 15/- per tin. Rice was 40/- a pound, and soap 45/- for the same weight equivalent. A suit of clothes came to £50 and a pair of shoes £30. By skilfully economising the sorely tried folk have managed to keep up a presentable appearance.

Such is the great city of Paris under Hitler!

xx

The Late Alexander Finlayson.

News has been received by relatives of the death on the 1st August at Calle Patagonas 1857, Buenos Aires of Alexander Finlayson who lived at San Julian on the Estancia "Loma Alta". Mr Finlayson has lived in Patagonia for many years and was seventy years of age at the time of his death. We extend our sympathy to his relatives in the Colony.

Local Notes.

Last Thursday evening the Army organised a Whist Drive and Dance in the Gymnasium in aid of the Flying Bomb Appeal. The winners of the whist were- Mrs. J. M. Thomson and Signelman H. Fynes.

The Old Pupils Association held a dance in town on Friday evening and on Tuesday night a film show took place also under their auspices.

The weekend turned out to be boisterous and wet. Sunday was exceptionally unpleasant as far as the weather was concerned.

Mr. R. Rice, of the Education Department read the News Bulletin in last Sunday afternoon's broadcast programme to the Camp.

This week we publish an interesting paragraph on "Paris under Hitler". Next week we hope to publish extracts from an article dealing with Russia immediately before the War.

Toch meets in the Tabernacle Schoolroom tonight, when Mr. C. Avril will speak about Toch in Montevideo. The meeting is at 8 p.m. Any men in town interested are invited to be present.

The page of drawings in place of the Children's Corner in this week's issue were drawn by Miss A. Napier of West Point Island. Each strip is meant to represent a little story.

Working Men's Social Club.

The prize winners at the Whist Drive held at the W.M.S. Club on Friday evening August 18th were:-

1st Ladies Mrs. C. Henriksen.

1st Gents. Mr. Jim Ratcliffe.

Boobies - Ladies Mrs. V. Cletheroe, Miss G. Pettersson (tie)
Gents Mr. V. A. H. Riggs.

Brains Trust.

Last Monday the Army ran a Brain's Trust in the Camp Cinema. Among questions answered were - Why is a ship called "she"? Should British Colonies govern themselves? Are married men or single men happier? Does a girl close her eyes when being kissed?

At the end the audience was asked to supply impromptu questions and Sgt Nicol asked "When is a man drunk"? Answers to this and to several other questions caused a good deal of interest and amusement.

The Brains Trust was represented by Mr. Carr, Mr Jack Barnes, C.S.M. Sanderson, Sqn. Fraser and Pte. Kelly and this gave us the views of the Navy, the Civil Service, local residents, the Regular Army, a university student and a miner.

Capt. Henderson as Question Master did a difficult job wittily and well. One or two people came up from the town but it is hoped that at future sessions more will be present from Stanley and the Navy.

Departure of Dr. Cowan.

At the beginning of this week the Colony said 'Goodbye' to Dr. and Mrs. Cowan and family who are travelling to Britain. Dr. and Mrs. Cowan came to this Colony in December 1936 and the doctor served in Stanley, at Darwin, and at Fox Bay on the West. Dr. Cowan was a Justice of Peace of the Colony and held the rank of Lieutenant in the Falkland Islands Defence Force.

Dr. Cowan held a Dental qualification as well as a Medical one, and during a period without a dentist recently, did much work in town in the Dental Department.

We appreciate the work and service of our doctors, and with our best wishes to Dr. Cowan and his wife for the future, we add our thanks to him.

"As it is written of Him". In the Old Testament there are many things written of the Lord Jesus; and it is very interesting as we go through His life in the New Testament, to see that so much of it was foretold. Isaiah chapter fifty-three and Psalm twenty-four, written hundreds of years before Christ came, are examples.

These and other examples shew us how wonderfully the Old and New Testaments fit in with one another. The reason for this is that God was with all the writers.

Down the years come the sayings of the men of yesterday to the men of today--

PLATO -- A little thing is a little thing, but faithfulness in a little thing becomes a great thing.

SOCRATES-- No a good men no evil can happen.

Anniversary of Outbreak of War.

Sunday September 3rd will be observed in the Stanley Churches as a Special Day of Prayer. Let us make every effort to be present at our place of worship on that day.

A very interesting team shoot took place on Sunday between teams of three representing various stores, offices, and departments. The result was in doubt until the last shot was fired and it was then found that a tie had resulted between the E & T Dept. and the Falkland Store. H.Qrs. set off early with a lead and despite the efforts of several other it was seen that the issue would be decided by the three Ladies who were to shoot during the evening. The position of the teams which were likely to win were H.Qrs. 283 E & T Dept., Falkland Store, Globe Store. Either of the latter three could still win, but when the final cards were shot it was found that Mrs Mills and Miss M. Lees had not given Miss M. Lees much of a chance as she would have required a possible to tie. The shoot off will take place on Wednesday evening. The range 25 yards. Several scores of 96 were returned by the men but we must hand it out to Mrs Mills who made the highest score in the match 97 and later in the evening scored another possible. The team scores were:-

E & T Dept.		Falkland Store.		H. Qrs.
Miss M. Lees	95	Mrs. Hills	977	W. J. Bowles 96
C. Reive	96	L. A. Sedgwick	95	C. F. Sheppard 91
L. C. Glendell	95	E. J. McAtasney	94	C. Menricksen 96

GARDENING NOTES.

Few people will doubt the popularity of Chrysanthemums, and because of this, we will discuss-to some length-the essential cultural points of this invaluable winter flowering plant.

The first and greatest mistake one appears to make is that the plant is treated as a perennial, remaining thus whether or not root division is practised. Successful cultivation is entirely dependant upon the annual reproduction of the plant by cuttings. Pompon varieties seem to be the only type under cultivation in this country, and therefore, it is not yet too late to produce, new stock from cuttings.

Now the art of chrysanthemum culture, consists in affording the plants a long season of growth. No sooner do one season's flowers pass out of bloom than preparations for the propagation of new plants commence. As soon as the last blooms have faded, the old stems must be cut down to within four inches of the base and the pots placed in the coolest corner of the porch or greenhouse. Here, if the soil is kept on the dry side, they will speedily begin to throw up sturdy shoots from the base of the plants. These are the shoots which will be taken for cuttings, but shoots showing signs of a bud must be discarded. White varieties show this tendency, and shoots should be carefully examined. Shoots produced on the old stems are also useless and should be ignored.

The next process is to trim the removed cutting by removing three or four of the lower leaves towards its base. The ideal cutting should not be more than four inches in length, being reduced to this size by making a horizontal cut immediately below the joint formed by the union of the leaf stalk to the stem.

A light sandy soil is the cuttings should be boxes may be used for the cuttings two inches their length in depth, each with the fingers, them in. On bright days, until the cuttings have month or so, they will be ready for potting off. If four inch pots should be used, later on of course, when the pots are becoming filled with roots, they will be potted up into their final pots which will be eight inches in diameter. Where potting off is not practicable, the young plants must either be transplanted to afford more space for development-say to a distance of six inches, or alternately, space the cuttings to six inches in the first instance.

When the plants have attained a height of six inches, they must be pinched back for the first time. Pinching back, is simply the removal of the terminal, to the first leaf union; the object is to induce the plant to throw out two new shoots from the apex of the stem. Later on, when these two shoots have made a further six inches of growth, they also will be pinched back, after which, no further stopping should be required.

Soon after the first new shoots have made their appearance, the plants may be potted up into their final pots. Chrysanthemums should never be over-potted, as already mentioned, an eight in pot is ample. Firm potting is also essential, ram the soil home with a potting stick; firming with the fingers is insufficient.

Having completed the final potting, each plant should be tied and supported by a stake and then be placed outdoors in some sheltered but sunny situation. Here they should remain until the first signs of frost warns one of approaching danger when they must be brought indoors without delay. During the outdoor period, additional ties must be provided as the plants develop, failure to observe this rule may end in disaster.

Disbudding, may or may not be performed; the question is, do, or do you not, require extra large blooms, or a mass of comparatively small blooms? In the former, remove all superfluous buds, of the latter, remove only a minimum.

Finally, chrysanthemums are gross feeders, the moment the pots are filled with roots regular applications of liquid manure should be applied three times a week until the flowers commence to open when applications must cease.

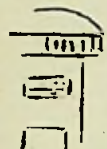

the best compost into which inserted. Pots or small receptacles, inserting the asunder and one third of firming about the base of finally, lightly watering shading must be provided become established. In a firmly rooted, and are then this practice is possible,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley
21st August 1944.

Dear Sir,

Your Paper recently published a Red Cross Leaflet advertising a Sale of Work in aid of Flying Bomb Victims and asking for suggestions. I have thought the matter over and would be obliged if you will publish a few suggestions which may be helpful.

Let us consider the urgency of the cause- these victims are bereaved, wounded, homeless and, in many cases, have lost all they possess so why wait until the end of September to collect money for a cause calling for immediate relief.

Why not make a personal appeal for cash donations to every wage earning inhabitant of Stanley asking for a real sacrifice, not merely a dinner.

You may ask what a real sacrifice is - well get a Red Cross Journal and read what splendid collections are being made in many of the Camp Stations and you will gather some idea. I am positive that the response to such a suggestion would be something beyond any effort yet accomplished and would put us on a competitive basis with our small waged Camp friends.

Now Stanley, in comparison with the Camp Stations, has a large population with a much greater percentage of high salaried people but at the recent winter drive the paltry sum of £600 approximately was realized and we know that a fair number of camp residents were present to help make that figure.

People of Stanley are you satisfied with your effort? Have you made a sacrifice, a real one yet? We know that some have, we also know, by results, that some have not. Why not pack up this dodging and feigning, let us have a really genuine sacrifice and make a bumper contribution.

This suggestion of a house to house collection would, naturally, have to be organised by the Red Cross so let us "get crackin".

Yours faithfully,

L.A. Sedgwick.

HEALTH NOTES

FORESIGHT.

A lonely heart is one thing. But there's 'cross-eyed' loneliness too.' In this condition the sufferer goes through life only half seeing the world about him. This can be a tragic loneliness and, because it is preventable, I want to tell you something about it.

The ability to fuse or melt the two visual images seen by the two eyes, into a single image, is what we call binocular vision. It is binocular vision that gives us our perception of depth - our ability to judge the position of a rapidly approaching object.

In the long course of man's development binocular vision has given him an immense advantage over the lower animals. The child who grows up without it will be inferior in many ways and will feel inferior.

The copybook says that 'cleanliness is next to Godliness' but we can all sympathize with the boy who said that he found it next to impossible! For the modern child life is a tough business. He needs all the help and advantages we can give him. The child who develops a squint is going to have only one good eye - is going to lack binocular vision - is going to be clumsy at doing many things.

Of course the child will not know what is the matter but since no one likes to be conspicuously inferior he will avoid games of skill thus missing the exercise needed for good muscular development. He will be ever studious and turned in on himself. Unconsciously it will effect and restrict his choice of work. Often too he will grow up into a cocky superior irritating individual with a thorny personality that will retard his progress and decimate his friends.

The development of a squint calls for early and urgent treatment. Under two years full vision can be

Letter to the Colonial Secretary from the Chairman of the King George's Fund for Sailors.

19th June 1944.

Dear Sir,

Thank you for your cable informing me that the Crown Agents had been authorised to pay King George's Fund for Sailors a sum of £614.4.5., of which £414 represents half proceeds of the centenary celebrations, £172 contributions from Working Men's Social Club and £28 from Church Collections.

The General Council are deeply grateful to the people of the Falkland Islands for their continued and generous support of the cause of the seaman and his dependants in need, and they have asked me to express to you and all concerned their sincere thanks and appreciation.

I am pleased to be able to tell you that the War Fund has now reached a total of £1,633,000, and that further grants have been allocated to the Nautical Societies, bringing the total amount distributed to £958,000.

Yours sincerely,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Dear Sir,

Many of your readers have listened to the B.B.C. and heard of damage and casualties caused by Germany's latest menace the "Flying Bomb". Snug in their own homes with nothing heavier than Hail-Stones to hit the roof they have pitied the homeless and blasphemed about Nazi barbarity.

To reach the point of my letter, last Thursday the army organised a Whist and Dance, Admission 2/6 or Dance only 1/6. I am very sorry to say very few attended the Drive or Dance, yet the following night the Hall was crowded.

How deep people's sympathy goes was clearly shown, or, being unable to attend have they sent their donations to the organisers?

PUBLIC LIBRARY in STANLEY REOPENS. "OBSERVER"

Last Friday night I was walking along John Street, bound for the new library in what was formerly the "Kelvin Store". As I approached the door a small boy came out of the premises with a book tucked under his arm. I said to him- "Are you glad the library is open again?" The answer came back in an emphatic "yes", as he sped away into the darkness.

The library is comfortably housed and offers a range of books varying from Wild Westers and Thrillers to serious subjects. Behind the serving counter is the lady we always think of as librarian- Miss Madge Biggs, marking the books for readers, in her usual cheery business-like way.

In the middle of the floor is a long table with chairs around. Many of the popular periodicals are inviting you to read their pages as they lie on the table.

The whole place presents the appearance of a very attractive and well stocked room. Mention must also be made of a delightful section of Children's books for our youthful readers.

Acknowledgment is due to the Force and to many local donors for the presentation of books, also to those who assisted in cataloguing the books.

Miss Madge Biggs has put in much time preparing the library for the opening date. We particularly thank her for her untiring interest in this important public service and feel sure that the public will join us in congratulating Miss Biggs.

The library is open from 6.p.m. until 3.p.m. each night except Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. It is also open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, from 2.p.m. until 4.p.m. The hours of opening for boys and girls up to the age of fifteen are- Tuesday evenings 6.p.m. to 7.p.m. and Saturday afternoon from 2.p.m.-4.p.m.

The subscription rate for adults is 5/- a year, or 2d per Volume per week. Children can become members for 1/- which cover a year's subscription. I hope that many of the residents in town will make use of our new library.

OBITUARY.

Major R.W. Jackson

His many friends, both in the Camp and Stanley, will be deeply grieved to hear that Major R.W. Jackson was killed in France on the 12th August.

The sad news was received here by Mrs. Greener with whom Major (then Captain) Jackson was billeted before the Force moved up to its camp.

"Jacko", as he was affectionately known, was a notable figure, with his red hair, his forthright manner and his boundless vitality. He was proficient at almost every form of sport; he was a hard-hitting batsman and a wicket-keeper; he played football regularly for his Company and more than once for the battalion; in the Regimental sports he entered in most of the events, winning the High Jump and carrying off one of two "seconds"; boxing enthusiasts will remember the splendid performance he put up against the much more experienced Sergt. Campbell in July last year; when he could find time he played a vigorous game of tennis, and his idea of "gentle exercise" was to go twice round the golf course.

As a soldier it is only necessary to say that his men literally worshipped him.

Major Jackson was only 29 years of age, and he leaves a wife and two small daughters, the younger of whom was born shortly after he arrived in the Falklands.

A VISIT TO RUSSIA

By

Dr. A. McWhan.

For the first few days my great difficulty was to grasp the idea that practically everyone in Russia, or at least the vast majority, were servants of the State, or of a municipality, or a Trust. There were exceptions. A man, for instance, could set up as a cobbler but if his business grew he could not employ an assistant because that was contrary to the national doctrine that no man should owe his employment to another, but apparently he could take another cobbler as a partner and so satisfy the collective as opposed to the individualistic principle. Common or collective ownership precludes personal ownership and that is the key which unlocks in the Soviet Union many conditions which are otherwise inexplicable.

The system has in at least one way definite advantages over one man business. In Leningrad, for instance, I noticed food stores were open very late at night and on enquiry I was informed the stores opened very early in the morning and did not close till very late at night, although it did not make any difference to the store employees who worked only their seven hours a day. Such a system means, of course, in practice that work people in Leningrad can always be certain of buying food no matter when they commence or leave off work.

Opportunities for observing state planning force themselves upon you. It is quite noticeable, for instance, that museum attendants are almost invariably superannuated old women or unfit men; elevator attendants and waiters are likewise generally more or less decrepit and service is accordingly slow. Street cars, which are generally driven in strings of three are nearly always driven either by an older man or woman, while the conductor is invariably a woman; train conductors, equivalent to our guards and ticket collectors, were in my experience oftener women than men.

Dear Boys and Girls,

Here are a few News Flashes for you:-

At least 10,000 men knew the invasion plans and secrets, for six months before it began.

The task of moving our invasion armies, was equal to moving the population of two of England's biggest cities, taking them overseas, and making arrangements for all their needs.

A German W.C.O. of a coastal defence unit, when captured by Allied troops, said that the first he knew of the invasion, was when he was blown out of bed by our shattering naval bombardment.

A telegraph cable has been laid under the English Channel, linking General Montgomery's headquarters in Normandy with England.

An American soldier who fell asleep while working in a troop carrying glider in England, woke up to find himself in France, so he promptly joined in the great battle.

When a famous Highland Regiment stormed a Normandy beach, the men were inspired by bagpipe music played by Piper William Millin, who learned to play as a member of the Boys Brigade.

The Boys' Brigade.

I arrived about seven o'clock last Friday night at the Tabernacle Schoolroom and watched nearly fifty boys drilling under the watchful eyes of the senior Boys' Brigade Officers, and Captain McCubbing.

It was three weeks or so since I last watched the drill and I was greatly impressed with the progress. The boys have smartened up, and will no doubt improve even more, week by week.

I feel quite sure that the Boys' Brigade training is one of the greatest assets we have ever had in our capital town. So boys- keep it up!

Russia (Contd)

If a man is young and able bodied, it is quite obvious either that some means exists to keep him out of occupations such as these, or else that he seeks more active or adventurous employment.

One other instance of state planning I noticed and asked why the police were all small men; very different from the majestic "Bobby" in this country. It was some time before I got an answer but the reason given was that the Russian people generally had such inferiority complexes from their historical background that it had been determined to give them an opportunity of acquiring confidence hence the ruling out of stalwart police. That was the explanation given, but while the police were neither tall nor imposing they seemed none the less a very alert and capable body of men. (to be continued)

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Stanley.

Aug 28th, 1946.

Dear Sir,

The letter published in your last issue by Mr. L. A. Sedgwick, on the subject of raising funds for the flying bomb victims appears to have met with the majority of the public's approval.

It is evident to us all that some have not yet made their sacrifice, otherwise the collection results would have been more stimulating.

The suggestion of the subscription list to circulate and embrace every wage earner is the answer, so let us have it.

Signed W. J. Hutchinson.

Editor's Note:- Other names of Falkland Islanders serving overseas will be gladly received at the Weekly News Office, and will be published at a later date.

We regret that the P.I.D.F. Miniature Rifle Shooting Scores could not be published this week, and that our Gardening Notes on "Lime in the garden" have been held over for a week.
