and her wishes were always as follows. To be cremated and her ashes to be sent to Port Stanley and taken to a point outside the Narrows where the three oceans meet and cast to the four winds. I have sent the ashes in care of your "Colonial secretary" to be sure they will reach her Jessie's respective brothers and sisters who are still in the Falkland, to carry out her last desire. I am enclosing a card give you further details. Thanking you for any assistance you can give to carry out the wishes.

Yours very truly
Henry Bell

P.S. 35 years ago this May when we left Port Stanley, Jessie always called the Falklands her birthplace and some and had her health been good she intended to make a visit in fact Jessie wished to die there.
