INTERFERENCE WITH THE BROADCASTING SERVICE

BY PRIVATE WIRELESS SETS.

A Letter.

Stanley, 27th June, 1930

The Editor, of the "Penguin", Stanley.

Dear Sir, - I have read your article in the "Penguin" of yesterday's date "Interference with the Broadcast Service by Private Wireless Sets".

Surely with the wireless experts the Colonial Government now have in their employ it should not be very difficult for them, with their knowledge, to locate the offender.

One of the wireless staff could inspect the layout and wiring of private sets from which inspection he could at once tell if the set is capable of radiation via the aerial. Another solution I beg to suggest which would help matters is that all owners of private sets stop working their sets for a week to allow the Broadcast station a clear field as some sets are capable of radiation whilst receiving quite clearly. I myself, have had a set for nearly two years and the only interference I get is the local wireless while I am receiving South America but never when receiving New York.

On the evening of the 25th instant, I had the pleasure of listening in to the local broadcast through the courtesy of a subscriber just previous to 9.0 p.m.. Schenectady (W.G.Y.) on the short wave, was coming in fairly strong but with distortion. At 9.0 o'clock morse signals came through the loud-speaker drowning all music from W.G.Y. The local announcer promptly said he would have to close down owing to interference. The interference on this occasion being V.P.C. (Stanley Wireless Station) working on or about 600 metres. I am at a loss to understand why the local station working on long wave should interfere with receiving sets receiving on short wave. Trusting you will find space in your paper for this letter.

Yours faithfully,
 (sgd) Les Hardy.

SCOUTS' PARENTS' NIGHT.

Character Building By Games.

On Thursday last week the Stanley Troop of Boy Scouts held a Parents' Night in the Town Hall, giving an exhibition of their usual evening work without preparing for a special display. Among the spectators was His Excellency the Governor who is the Chief Scout of the Falkland Islands, and with him were the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary and Chairman of the Local Scouts Association), Major the Hon. J.I. Moir (Commissioner) and Mrs. Moir. There were also present a large number of parents and friends for whom the parade was especially held in order to show them how the evenings were conducted and how the boys spent their time. Mr. T. Killup (Acting Cubmaster) and Miss MacKenzie (Cubmistress) attended with a parade of the Wolf Cub Pack.

Mr. E.B. Frewin, the Group Scoutmaster, was in charge of the proceedings which were carried out with a gratifying smartness reflecting not only great credit on the boys themselves for their ability and enthusiasm, but also on the Scouter whose untiring energy has brought them to so high a standard of efficiency.

On a scout sign being given, the Troop gathered in the centre of the Hall from their allotted corners and Mr. Frewin gave a short talk in the course of which he said "Before we commence, it would be as well to know what we are doing here. You see patrols each under separate leaders. These patrols are continually in competition - that is, if a boy learns how to tie a knot or put on a bandage one week, the next week he competes his efficiency and speed against boys of another patrol. This is done through the medium of games which bring in a number of tests. These tests are conducted by the patrol leaders. If a boy in the "Owl" patrol is to pass a test he has to be examined by the patrol leader of, say, the "Curlews" patrol. By this means there is no possibility of him getting through unless he can really do the job because the hardest examiner of a boy is a boy.

"It has been said," he went on to say, "that most of our time is spent in play but then, we all know the story of how England's battles are won on the playing fields of Eton and Harrow. If our boys characters are trained through games then surely we can help them to win the battles of life through the game of Scouting for Boys."

Test games as illustrated by the Scoutmaster were then carried out and were followed by patrols dispersing to their corners for the leaders to take the roll and collect subscriptions which go towards buying equipment and books for the troop. The question of the use of the scout stove was the next item on the programme and after a number of uses had been enumerated an inter-patrol stove tournament was held and won, after much excitement, by the "Seal" patrol.

Another outstanding event of the evening was the First Aid Competition. Each patrol had to deal with an "insensible" man found by the wayside, the injuries being explained by the seconds of the patrols who acted as examiners. Some amusement was caused as the boys set about their tasks with determination and a proper appreciation of important things such as sending for the doctor even though, as on this occasion, he happened to be with His Excellency on the platform. While some were applying bandages others went in search of water. The most enterprising efforts, however, were those of the boys whose imagination procured them hot water bottles in the form of dumbbells.

After games such as "Bon Hur" and "Singhi's Elephants" the evening closed with a very impressive Investiture of three boys - Keith Hutchinson, Ray Hutchinson and Basil Biggs - who were admitted into the Worldwide Brotherhood of Scouts. The troop took up its customary formation and, as each of the three boys was escorted to the Scoutmaster by his patrol leader to take the Promise, gave the Scout Sign - the Half Salute. The gathering then dispersed after the Troop cry had been given in honour of His Excellency the Governor and the parents.

The boys on parade were :- Owl Patrol - B. Berntsen (P.L.), S. Hansen (Sd), M. Biggs, B. Biggs, C. Harrison, R. Jones, and D. Middleton; Seal Patrol - E. Berntsen (P.L.), Hutchinson E. (Sd), A.S. Bowers, I. Jones, R. Hutchinson, A. Berrido, T. Hennah; Curlew Patrol - F. Howatt (P.L.), S. Berntsen (Sd), K. Hutchinson, J. Bounds, L. Bounds, L. Summers, T. Aldridge.

BYE-ELECTION RESULT.

Labour Lose Votes.

The result was announced on Friday of the Bye-election in the Shettleston Division of Glasgow caused by the death of Mr. Wheatley, the Labour member.

The returns showed that Labour still retained the seat but by a very narrow majority. The figures showed - MacGovern (Labour) 10,699; Templeton (Conservative) 10,303; McNeill (Scottish Nationalist) 2,527; Saklatvala (Communist) 1,459.

At the last election Wheatley, in a straight fight beat Moss the Conservative candidate by 6,724. The figures were Wheatley 19,594, Moss 12,870. The Labour vote thus shows a reduction of nearly nine thousand.

It has to be taken into account, however, that Mr. Wheatley was a most prominent man in the left wing of the Labour Party and was Minister of Health in the Labour Government of 1924.

REMARKABLE HOSPITAL CASE.

The Infirmary at Pontefract, Yorkshire, dealt with a remarkable case of a five-year-old girl who walked into the hospital on Friday last with an injured neck which was found to be broken after an X-ray examination had been made.

In turning somersaults in the school playground the girl "twisted" her neck and the doctor sent her to the Infirmary. She walked from the bus to the hospital. The spinal cord was not severed and the staff think the girl will recover.

He said "we are leaving for California on Wednesday

He said "we are leaving New York for California on Wednesday on a non-stop flight. I plan to dispose of the 'Southern Cross'. I am going to sell it so the September date still holds good."

According to a Melbourne message the aviator plans to return to London by steamer and afterwards fly alone to Australia in an attempt to beat Bert Hinkler's record.

BROADCAST DANCE.

Second Annual Event.

There was a large gathering at the Second Annual Dance held in the Town Hall on Monday evening and organised by the Broadcast staff. Among those present were His Excellency the Governor and the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary). The Hall was appropriately decorated with flags and excellent music was supplied by the 'Stanley Jazz' and the 'Melody Sheiks' bands interspersed with which were dance tunes relayed from the Studio through the loud-speakers into the Hall. The M.C. was Mr. W.J. Davies who carried out his duties in his usual efficient manner.

A feature of the evening was the flashlight photograph taken by the Hon. G. Roberts and great amusement was caused by the Musical Chairs competition which was won by Miss Ellen Boantsen and Mr. A.W. Beardmore.

During the course of the evening Mr. F.A. Byron, the Electrician-in-Charge made a short speech introducing His Excellency, at the same time welcoming all present to the dance. As they knew, he said, the Broadcast Service had proved a wonderful success and he thought they owed a debt of gratitude to His Excellency the Governor for having inaugurated such a service in the Colony.

He went on to thank all those ladies and gentlemen who had assisted in any way during the past year to entertain their fellow listeners-in or who had very kindly loaned gramophone records. Finally he thanked those ladies and gentlemen who had so kindly assisted the Broadcasting staff in the organisation of the dance and for the excellent refreshments, the loan of crockery, glass etcetera.

In rising to respond His Excellency the Governor was greeted with a loud ovation. He thanked all those present for the splendid way they had come forward during the past year and helped in the Studio by singing, playing or lending records or in other ways. He was glad to say that the Broadcast had been far more a success than ever he thought it would be. There were no less than ninety-seven loud-speakers in use now. As they probably knew, in 1933 the Falkland Islands would be celebrating the centenary of the Colony and he hoped by then they would have a hundred loud-speakers in use.

On one or two occasions, perhaps, the Governor went on to say, they had been worried by atmospherics. Although admitting he used not to know very much about them he had been reading a little about them lately and was becoming rather an expert on oscillations and such matters. That same evening, in an article he had seen, it pointed out that not only in the Falkland Islands but every station in the world had been worried lately by atmospherics, so much so that, in England on many occasions they had not been able to get any results at all. That was due he believed to sun-spots which should melt in a month or two and then they would be highly relieved.

He thanked Mr. Byron and Mr. Butcher and all of the other members of the Broadcasting staff for the really splendid performances they succeeded in giving over the broadcast. A great debt of gratitude was due to them for giving up their spare time to entertain listeners-in. In his own name and theirs he was sure they were all very grateful indeed. (Loud applause.)

TENNIS.

As a result of the semi-finals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis championships on Wednesday there will be an All-American final in both the men's and women's singles.

In the women's semi-finals Mistress Wills Moody, the holder, beat Madame Mathieu (France) 6 - 3, 6 - 2. Miss Ryan beat Fraulein Aussen (Germany); after each had won a set the German girl sprained her ankle, fainted and had to be carried off. She retired.

In the men's singles Tilden beat Borotra 6 - 4, 6 - 4, 4 - 6, 6 - 0, 7 - 5. Allison beat his fellow-countryman Doeg, 6 - 3, 4 - 6, 8 - 6, 3 - 6, 7 - 5.

Stanley Doust of the "Daily Mail" writes that the huge crowd that thronged the centre court witnessed the greatest match staged there since the ground opened there in 1922 in the contest between Borotra and Tilden. What a match it was with all its brilliance and court craft. Tilden, at first, bided his time and then began to get his cannon ball service going, with that weapon winning point after point. After leading 2 - 1 in sets Borotra decided to take things easily. With Tilden forcing the next game for a draw a titanic struggle ensued which was won by Tilden's untakable services.

ADMIRALS CRITICISE NAVAL TREATY.

Outspoken Words In The House Of Lords.

The "Daily Mail" Parliamentary correspondent writes that the Naval Treaty which resulted from the London Conference has been severely criticised in the House of Lords. Earl Beatty, speaking in a sailorlike way, said "I am not talking through my hat" when he spoke of the dangers Britain was exposing herself and the Empire to by the 'cuts' in the building programmes.

He described the Treaty as "a great and deplorable blunder". The Treaty tied the Country's hands and the Navy was the insurance and economic unity of the Empire but under the Treaty the Navy was totally inadequate to provide that insurance. He referred to the increasing naval strength of other powers and pointed out that a great many of Britain's cruisers would have nearly reached the end of their useful period of life in 1936 and yet the programme of cruisers had been cut down from seventy to fifty for "some inexplicable reason for which no real explanation is given.

Earl Jellicoe said he completely agreed with the grave warning uttered by Earl Beatty while Lord Parmoor replied that the Government had acted on the advice of experts from the Admiralty

In a later message Earl Beatty is reported to have said that as a result of the Treaty the United States was increasing her cruiser tonnage by two hundred and thirty-three thousand tons. Japan was increasing her cruiser tonnage by ten per cent or forty thousand tons. France and Italy were not in any way restricted. France had insisted on having twelve ten thousand-ton cruisers and Italy was not likely to be behind her. The reduction of our cruiser programme from seventy to fifty was one of the most inexplicable things of our time.

Earl Beatty criticised the arrangement whereby Britain's new ships were to have a life of twenty years whereas foreign ships would have a life of sixteen years. Referring to the Singapore Base he went on to say that it was not quite finished but without it we should be helpless to protect our Empire and trade in the East and India. By 1935 France would possess twenty-four submarines and flotilla leaders of two thousand two hundred to two thousand five hundred tons with five point five inch guns whereas Britain would have only sixteen of one thousand and fifty tons with four point seven inch guns. In destroyers we should have practical equality. What possible chance should we have of maintaining our food supplies and vital commodities against such strength possessed by a Mediterranean power.

Admiral of the Fleet Lord Jellicoe expressed the fullest possible agreement with Earl Beatty.

Lord Parmoor, replying for the Government said they had just as much care and anxiety for the security of the Country as any other government. The Treaty had received the unreserved support of the Dominions' Governments. The changed world conditions explained in themselves why fifty cruisers would give us in 1930 security for which seventy cruisers were desirable in 1927. He believed the great mass of people of Britain desired this Treaty and a policy of the fullest understanding with the United States, and they were prepared to feel secure so long as they knew no stop was taken except under the advice of expert advisers for the time being on the Board of the Admiralty.

TENNIS.

In the fifth round of the Women's Singles played at Wimbledon Tuesday Miss Ryan (United States) beat Miss Betty Nuthall, Mistress Wills-Moody (United States, holder) beat Miss Mudford, Madame Mathieu (France) beat Miss Riley, Fraulein Aussem (Germany) beat Miss Jacobs (United States). England, therefore will not be represented in the semi-finals of the singles.

---o---o---

It was a black day for England. The greatest shock was the defeat of Miss Betty Nuthall. She was her own victim, so Stanley Doust, the "Daily Mail" tennis correspondent reports, for "unless she learns to use her beautiful strokes accurately for a long three set match she will never become a champion."

WEST AND EAST STORES

EMPLOYEES ENTERTAINED.

Thursday's Concert And Dance.

Some one hundred and forty employees and friends of the Falkland Islands Company's West and East Stores who gathered in the Church Hall on Thursday evening for the concert and dance - the first of its kind - spent a most enjoyable time. The event was organised by the staffs who are to be heartily congratulated on the success of the undertaking.

Among those present were The Hon. L.W.H. Young (Manager) and M. Young, Mr. A. Vincent, M.P., and Mrs. Vincent, the Very Reverend the Dean and Mrs. Vaughan, the Rev. S.E.E. Aylward, Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. J. McM. Thomson, Miss Purdie and Miss McKenzie.

The first part of the evening was taken up with an admirable concert for which Mr. H. Thompson acted as stage manager and announcer. Altogether there were ten artistes among whom there was some notable and very refreshing talent. Miss Nancy Lellman was heartily applauded for violin solo and the audience recalled Mr. J. McMichol enthusiastically for his songs. Messrs. T. Hardy, R.H. Hannaford and W.J. Catten also came in for their share applause and as newcomers to the public platform, comparatively speaking, they received a hearty welcome while such old favourites as Mrs. Kolway, Mr. W.J. Davies and the inimitable Mr. A.W. Beardmore were to be seen at their best. A short sketch by two bloodthirsty Bolsheviks (Messrs. H. Thompson and Earl Lellman) not forgetting the remains of the cat, brought the performers pleasant notoriety. Finally the introduction of community singing lead by Mr. W.J. Davies proved an enormous success. The ladies who kindly acted as accompanists were Mrs. Vincent, Mrs. Brown, Miss M. Summers and Miss Martin.

Willing hands quickly transformed the Hall for dancing and with the music of the "Stanley Jazz" and "Melody Sheiks" bands the coldness of the night was soon forgotten in the pleasure of "tripping the light fantastic too". Then came the interval for refreshments which were under the capable charge of Mrs. Henriksen and Mr. Vere Summers whose liberal assistance was greatly appreciated. A popular diversion was the musical chairs competition which was won by Miss May Middleton and Mr. S. Atkins. The duties of M.C. were ably carried out by Mr. Albert Bonner.

During the dance Mr. Young thanked all those who had taken part in providing so excellent an evening's entertainment and called for three hearty cheers for the artistes, the bands, and those responsible for the refreshments, these being vociferously accorded. In responding Mr. Richardson expressed the hope that the evening would be the first of a series of such to be held annually. In conclusion he thanked all those who had assisted in any way to defray the expenses.

ART ROBBERY DURING GARDEN PARTY.

"Gato-Crasher's" Daring Raid.

Scotland Yard believes that an expert art thief "gato-crashed" at a garden party given by Lady Clarendon on Thursday last and in the evening, some hours later, stole a valuable painting attributed to Van Dyck, from her home at Clarendon House, Hampstead.

It was evident a master craftsman had skillfully forced back the locks of the library door after first of all covering them with oil. Only two small jenny marks were to be seen on the woodwork.

After entering he noiselessly picked his way among the furniture and took the picture from the frame while Lady Clarendon and a staff of servants were sleeping in the rooms above.

THE COTTON INDUSTRY.

Effort To Revive British Trade.

Important proposals for the rehabilitation of the Cotton industry in Lancashire are made in the report of a Government Committee of Inquiry. The report was published on Friday.

The Committee recommend the use of cheaper raw material, ring spindles and high draft spinning and high speed winding machinery. They find the cost of production in Lancashire is substantially higher than most other competitors and the importance of considering means of reducing the costs of production and the recovery of lost export trade is urged upon employers.

It is pointed out that a reduction of costs, in most cases, could only be gradual and it would require at every stage the closest and most cordial co-operation between employers and operatives for the manufacture of cheap standard lines in which British goods have been so largely ousted from eastern markets.

Short stapled Indian cotton, it is stated, has hitherto been but little used in Lancashire where the long stapled but more expensive American cotton has almost exclusively been preferred. In this way Lancashire's competitors, some of whom have acquired great skill in the mixing of Indian and other cottons with American cotton, have secured an initial advantage by using the cheaper cotton for their manufactures. The formation of larger units in the spinning and manufacturing sections of the industry would, the report states, also serve great purposes.

EARTHQUAKE IN INDIA.

Calcutta And Burma Affected.

Thousands of people, including Europeans, have fled from their homes in Calcutta where a violent earthquake has been felt stretching over a vast area of north-east India to Burma.

The first shocks, which were felt early Thursday morning, caused many casualties and did serious damage to a number of important buildings in Calcutta. The telegraph services have been disorganised so badly that the full extent of the damage done in the area will remain unknown for several days.

Terrified Indians are convinced that the earthquake is due to the anger of Bashuki, the "Serpent Goddess", and have done all they possibly could in the way of sacrifice to appease her.

A tidal wave added to the distress caused by the earthquake at Akyah on the Burmese coast.

BOOTHLEGGERS' REVENGE.

Raid On Government Warehouse.

"Rob me and I'll rob you" is the ultimatum delivered by "Scarface" A.L. Capone, to the Federal Government in one of the most daring episodes in prohibition history. After brandy and other liquors, valued at $5,000, brought by Capone's agents from Jacksonville, Florida to Chicago were seized and placed in a bonded warehouse.

Capone's gang executed their revenge by raiding the Government warehouse. Fifteen gunmen took part and the watchman mistook them for Federal agents bringing liquor into bond. After binding and gagging the unsuspecting official they worked for three hours loading three hundred cases into waiting trucks and got clear away.

Police Reporter's Illicit Fortune.

The inquiry into the murder of Hingle, the police reporter of the 'Chicago Tribune' is uncovering facts hardly less amazing than Capone's daring exploit and is revealing some interesting events in underworld affairs.

As a result of a raid on the "Tribune's" pay-roll book it was found Hingle had been earning $13 a week but his income for the last three years has been at the rate of $2,000 and he is known to have handled $30,000 during the last two and half years, half of which having gone in the stock market crash.

Mendi, who operates Capone's gambling interest lent Hingle $400 and Alderman Crensen lent him $1,000 but neither amount has been repaid. He is reported to have held a toll on beer racketeering at the rate of $1 per barrel.

THE END OF THE FROST.

After practically a month of snow and ice and temperatures ranging from one or two degrees below freezing point to as many as thirteen the severe winter weather broke over the week-end and Sunday morning saw the last of the tobogganing - for the time being at any rate, - rapid thaw set in during the evening. It continued hard through the night practically clearing the snow covered hills, turning treacherous layers of ice into slushy puddles which are forcing their way down the gutters and drains.

Golfers are beginning to rouse themselves from their hibernation and are anxiously waiting the first opportunity to pounce on to the greens without getting drowned while footballers are thinking of the practices before the arrival of H.M.S. "Dragon" :- From every side comes the query will it turn to rain or will the winds dry the ground and give sportsmen a chance ?

EXPORT OF PEDIGREE LIVESTOCK.

Grants By Empire Marketing Board.

The Empire Marketing Board have approved three grants to assist the export of British pedigree livestock to Australia, British Columbia, and the Falkland Islands.

This action follows the success of similar schemes, which came into force last year, under which the Board paid half the freight and other costs of transport on registered pedigree stock exported to Kenya Colony, Southern Rhodesia, and Northern Rhodesia, the Governments concerned contributing the other half. The objects of the schemes were to assist oversea farmers to improve their stock in order to stimulate an export trade with the United Kingdom in hides, meat wool, and dairy produce. At the same time, home trade in pedigree stock was considerably encouraged.

This new scheme estimates for the export from the United Kingdom to Australia of 130 head of cattle, 350 sheep, and 100 ewes during the coming year. The Board will contribute a maximum of £3,000 for the year towards the cost of transport, and the Commonwealth and State Governments and the purchaser will supply the rest of the money. The shipping companies have agreed to carry such stock freight free.

The British Columbian scheme provides for equal contributions from the Government of the Province and the Empire Marketing Board. In the case of the Falkland Islands only, sheep will be included, since the wool accounts for over 90 per cent, of the colony's export.

EFFECT OF NOISES.

City Dwellers Hopes Dashed.

Those who live in large cities will read with dismay the report of the Noise Abatement Commission appointed by Dr. Wynne, the New York Commissioner of Health.

City dwellers fondly hope that habit accustoms them to the din of daily life but the Commission in closing its investigations, finds that abrupt and loud noises are taking toll in the wreckage of nerves and are increasing deafness. Investigators admit that people can become used to the hum of traffic but state that prolonged exposure of such noises as motor-car horns and "cut-outs" had a disastrous effect.

The ultimate trouble, they say, is in the emotions which become actively disturbed although the first signs of distress are visible in heightened pulses, increased blood pressure, irregularities of the heart and increased pressure on the brain.

OPENING OF THE MINIATURE RIFLE CLUB.

His Excellency Scores A Bull With The First Shot.

Thoughts With The Bisley Team.

There was a good attendance at the Drill Hall on Wednesday evening when the Governor formally opened the newly formed Miniature Rifle Club. His Excellency was accompanied by the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary) and Mr. G.R.L. Brown. Major the Hon. J.I. Moir (Commanding Officer), Lieutenants W.M. Allan (Adjutant), W.B.R. Jones and J. Morten were also present.

In addressing the gathering Major Moir thanked His Excellency for being present and he wished to emphasise how much they were indebted to the Governor for his keen support in the formation of the Club. In asking His Excellency to open the Club by firing the first shot, Major Moir pointed out that the Governor had kindly accepted the office of President and the Hon. J.M. Ellis, that of Vice-President.

His Excellency before taking his shot, replied that he was indeed pleased to see the Miniature Club started because he was sure that it was very good training for real rifle shooting. In miniature rifle shooting one thing learnt was the correct method of releasing the trigger. He was quite sure Major Moir, Mr. Allan and the non-commissioned officers would make the Club a success and teach some of the younger members to follow in the foot-steps of Mr. McAtasney and some of the other crack shots.

"As you know," His Excellency went on, "our thoughts this week are with the team who started practicing at Bisley last Monday. I trust that next Monday we shall be able to broadcast that we have won the Cup. At any rate if we do not win it this year we must try to bring it back the year after." (Applause.) In conclusion the Governor expressed his pleasure at the honour done him in electing President and he stated that he would support the Club in any way he could. His Excellency then fired the first shot, hitting the target in the centre of the bull, this achievement being greeted with loud applause.

Members of the Club then took their turns for firing and though the scores were not exceptionally high the grouping of the shots, in some cases, was excellent. The absence of high scores was mainly due to the fact that the marksmen were firing on a 25-yard range at targets with a 20-yard bull.

As a result of the very generous action of Mr. Les. Hardy, the members have already a cup for which to compete. The trophy is to be awarded for the best aggregate score at the end of the season.

The best scores of the evening were :- Pte. E. McAtasney, 83, Sgt. J.J. Harries 87, Pte. R.L. Robson 86, Pte. L. Reive 86, Lt. W.M. Allan 85, and Pte. C.G. Allan 80.

GERMAN MINE DISASTER.

81 Bodies Recovered.

From Berlin comes the news that eighty-one bodies have been recovered from the Silesian mine where nearly two hundred men were entrapped early in the week after an explosion.

Sixty-nine men are still entombed and little hope is entertained for their survival since rescue work has had to be suspended, for the time being, at any rate, owing to the poisonous gases.

THE FATE OF RUSSIAN WHITE GENERAL.

Ogpu Agents

Shot For Bungling Capture.

The "Daily Mail" learns from Paris that the statement that General Koutepoff, the missing leader of the White Russians who are living in France as exiles, died in the car in which he was kidnapped from Paris is made by Russian investigators.

Hitherto, it had been believed in Paris that the general had embarked secretly in a Soviet ship for Russia to be handed over to the terrorist police of the Soviet.

M. Bourgief, the leading White Russian, now asserts that he has conclusive proof that the General died in the car from the effects of the chloroform and that the Ogpu agents who kidnapped him were shot by the Ogpu on their return to Russia for bungling the affair.

Geoffrey Simpson - the "Daily Mail" boxing correspondent writes that, after resting, Phil Scott is now ready for training. He proposes to get ready for Young Stribling this week and has set up his training quarters near Herne Bay.

Scott's chief assistant is understood to be Maurice Griselle, a pupil of Carpentier, and is likely to prove a valuable sparring partner.

Elated by his success over Van Paron, Stribling cables Jeff Dickson who is promoting the fight with at the Wimbledon Stadium, "Scott next then Schmeling".

THRILLING CHANNEL RESCUE.

Hylton M. Philipson of Stobo Castle, Peebleshire was crossing to France in an aeroplane on Saturday with his brother and a mechanic when the machine fell into the Channel. The occupants climbed out through the top cabin as the aeroplane began to sink. The mechanic was unable to swim but Hylton managed to keep him afloat.

Meanwhile John returned to the cabin to get the three men's passports and a gold cigarette case he had left behind. A French trawler raced to the scene and picked the men up and landed them at Dover. The aeroplane was lost.

WIMBLETON TENNIS.

This year's battle at Wimbloton which began yesterday has aroused greater enthusiasm than ever before judging from the demand for tickets. The atmosphere of narrow defeats and victories won only after hard struggles has caught the imagination of the British public. Most of the popular competitors coveting championships are to be seen, the most notable absentee, however, is Sonorita do Alvarez who after her practice games could scarcely put her foot to the ground because of her swollen ankle and has decided to scratch.

MAN HURLS FAMILY TO DEATH.

Mautical Father Then Dives To Doom.

From New Haven, Connecticut, comes the ghastly news of four children and their mother being hurled to death by a mautical father before he caused his own destruction.

The man, whose name was P. Spatz, escaped from a New York hospital on Friday and arrived home saying he had been released. The next day the family went out for a walk and visited a precipice. People noticed them walking along the cliffs when they were heard to see the man pick up his four little children and hurl them, one by one, over the edge.

Immediately afterwards he meted out the same treatment to his wife, who witnessed his atrocious behaviour to the children, paralysed with fright.

He then sat on a tiny ledge and threw stones and dirt at those who sought to pick up the bodies. An hour later he rose and crossed himself, and dived off his precarious perch as if it were at the side of a swimming pool. He crashed lifeless amid the pitiful and mangled remains of his family.

AVALANCHE IN SWITZERLAND.

Forests And Vine-yards Wiped Out.

A press message from Lausanne states that on Saturday, a great avalanche of rocks and mud swept down the valley from the Dent du Midi mountain some 10,690 feet high on the frontier of France and Switzerland.

It wiped out forests and vine-yards in the neighbourhood of St. Maurice and covered that part of the Rhone Valley to the extent of some hundreds of yards with a layer of rocks and mud fifteen deep.

Following the track of a similar fall in 1927, the torrent roared its way across the main road, through the pass and crashed down to the Lausanne tunnel bringing destruction in its path. All means of communication between the upper and lower valleys were cut and traffic had to be diverted many miles to the east.

Request For Alteration To Certain Duties.

Speaking on the new American tariffs, the French Minister of Commerce stated in Paris on Saturday, said that he proposed to address to the American Government a "Global" claim emphasising if they were able to obtain an alteration to certain duties there would be no need to embitter relations with America, but it was clear that normal relations between France and the United States could only be assured on a basis of absolute reciprocity of treatment.

DISAPPEARANCE OF VICE-CONSUL.

Mr. Lee Victim Of Vengeance Gang ?

Seven days have elapsed, writes the "Daily Mail" correspondent at Marseilles, since Reginald Lee, the British Vice-Consul there, has disappeared. Two Levantines have been detained in connection with the strange affair but no clue has been found to connect them with drug trafficking. (It has been suggested that Mr. Lee is the victim of a vengeance gang of drug traffickers whom he has fought for several years.)

Another theory being advance by British residents at the French port is that Lee has been done to death by liquor smugglers who are engaged in a constant war with the United States Prohibition agents who have found a firm ally in Lee. His widowed mother was expected to arrive on Sunday.

"ZACHARIAH FEE REVUE."

This Evening's Dress Rehearsal.

A Dress Rehearsal of His Excellency's play "Zachariah Fee Revue" will be given in the Town Hall this evening at 6.50 p.m. when the performance will be witnessed by Mrs. Hodson who, we deeply regret to learn, is leaving us by the "Loriga" and returning to England on account of her health, and Captain E.H. Large, the officers and men of the mail boat. Previous to the commencement of the play the audience will be entertained to music relayed from the Stanley Studio through the loud-speakers in the hall.

It is with pleasure that we welcome Captain Large among us again. He is a well-known visitor to the Islands and it will be remembered that it was when he was captain of the "Lagarto" in 1927 that he brought His Excellency the Governor to the Colony for the first time. Under the same command in the previous year the "Lagarto" towed the "Afterglow" to Magallanes for repairs.

We are sure that Captain Large and his company will thoroughly enjoy the play which, although still in the dress rehearsal stage, shows such a wealth of finished talent that we cannot help but feel it will excel any previous success achieved when it is put "on the boards" during the visit of H.M.S. "Dragon". In order to make doubly sure the shows in the near future will be as perfect as they possibly can be it is hoped that every member of the cast and orchestra will do their utmost to be present for this evening's performance.

British trains, as shown by the time-tables just come into force, are the fastest in the world.

Altogether the Great Western has fifty-three trains which do the journey at an average speed of 55 miles an hour.

The United States railways claim to have established speed records but it is pointed out by the British railways that the records achieved there are in the nature of sprints.

LONSDALE THINKS HE HAS FOUND A GIRL.

Way Barred At Southampton.

Sheer determination, writes a "Daily Mail" correspondent, has won for a pretty twenty-two-year-old London girl favour in the eyes of Frederick Lonsdale, the dramatist who is off to Hollywood and has been looking unsuccessfully for a girl to play opposite Ronald Colman in a film story he has written for the actor. The girl has never before appeared on either stage or screen.

He felt he had failed in his quest but at Southampton he found one who may turn out to be the girl of his choice. The discovery was made as he was about to board the liner and found his way barred by the girl. She made no apologies for stopping him and it is a tribute to her enthusiasm and pluck that Lonsdale cabled soon afterwards from the ship to the United States that he had, he thought, found the right girl. He declined to disclose her name and address.

THE WEATHER.

Now, for forty-eight days we have been enveloped in the throes of sleet, snow and ice with not the slightest gleam of hope that the bad weather will break. It looks very much as if the clerk of the weather, wherever his habitat might be in this quarter of the globe, is doing his utmost to break the record of 1925 when the intensity of the winter was marked by appalling mixtures of snow, ice, rain, blizzards and, we suppose, short tempers.

The rough weather set in about the middle of May and didn't abate until practically the middle of August. Drifts of snow mounted up all round and were washed away by water that had not far to go before it became ice. And after a howling wind or two our appetites were whittled with, perhaps a fall of snow eight inches deep. So far, the deepest this year has been only two inches apart from the drifts, though the barometer dropped to thirteen degrees below freezing point once this month.

For some weeks now the only pastime out of doors has been with sloughs and one tradesman we hear, obtained over thirty by a recent boat but before he had them very long they were all sold. In view of the situation of the "Cresta Runs" abounding in the town accidents and incidents have been comparatively rare. Once or twice people have been knocked over but as far as we know, no one has suffered serious injury although one little lad sustained a badly cut nose. A well-known car took up sleighing downwards but stopped abruptly whereas two occupants of an orthodox machine had rather a lighter fall when they dropped into the harbour.

Serenading The Governor.

The rejoicing was particularly marked in the Defence Force Club where many members were engaged shooting on the Miniature Rifle Range in the Drill Hall. As soon as the news was received the Range was deserted. High jinks followed and in spite of the sleet outside, jubilant voices spread the welcome story. An impromptu band was formed and, after parading the town, marched to Government House where the Governor was serenaded shortly after mid-night to the tune of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow".

His Excellency replied by flinging open the bed-room window and, we are informed on unreliable authority, in his Father Christmas pyjamas, thanked them heartily and wished them good night.

How A Minimax Took A Part.

A few peals were rung on the Cathedral bells, but since this procedure serves also as a fire signal the carillon was not long continued as otherwise undue alarm and despondency might have been occasioned to those in ignorance of its true meaning. It is softly whispered that the signal did in fact, arouse certain members of the town Fire Brigade. One prominent fireman of the Minimax Squad is said to have rushed out eagerly, bearing the instrument of his office, for the scene of the "conflagration", to have collided with the bell-ringer, and to have learned to his indignation that there was no fire.

It was most appropriate that the good news should be first learned by His Excellency the Governor who deciphered the telegram on its arrival. It has been through his indefatigable enthusiasm that the Colony's participation in this Empire-Wide Competition has been practicable.

The Fourth Man.

Not until the receipt of the actual result had we known who was the fourth man in the team and although there was complete confidence in the three men who left the Colony it was at least doubtful how their final showing would be influenced by the capacity of the fourth man. But, that Wing Commander H.M.S. Turner R.A.F. who takes the vacant place, no more competent rifle-man could have been found to represent the Colony in this remarkable achievement.

Commander Turner, it will be remembered, was appointed Assistant Colonial Surgeon on the West Falkland Island in 1909 and, on the outbreak of the war in 1914, was entrusted with the Command of the Falkland Islands Volunteers. He was in command at the time of the Naval Battle. Early in 1915 he returned to England to join His Majesty's Forces and subsequently became attached to the Royal Air Force in which he is still serving.

"Well Done Falklands".

On Tuesday morning the town was decked with flags; the staff at Government House was dressed, and the staff at the Colonial Secretary's Office flew the message "Well Done Falklands." In honour of the victory the children at the Government School were granted a whole day's holiday and His Excellency the Governor and the Manager of the Falkland Islands Company, the Hon. L.W.H. Young, have kindly agreed to grant a joint holiday to their staffs and employees as soon as weather conditions improve.

depicted in a certain film. How the offending part was deleted from the film, and how we received an apology from the producers, is now ancient history, so no good cause will be served by resurrecting the subject again, and it had best be left in the oblivion to which it rightly belongs. 'Let the dead bury their dead.' I only mention this matter now because it was one of the chief reasons why I desired so strongly to win the Junior Kolapore Cup in order that we might be re-instated in the public eye, and wipe out the idea once and for all, permanently and for ever, that there was anything in the least comic about our Defence Force. (Loud and tumultous applause which lasted for several minutos. Calm having been restored His Excellency proceeded.)

A Broader Outlook.

"The psychological aspect of this venture must not be forgotten. The mere fact of winning the Cup is not all. Surely it is a great adventure to proceed from this Outpost of the Empire to the Mecca of the shooting world, Bisley; there to shoot shoulder to shoulder with the other Colonies and Dependencies. Friendships spring up and new ties are made which, though small in themselves, all help to bind us closer together. Then in the Colony itself it gives us a broader outlook and acts as an incentive to all our young marksmen to get into the team. To me, personally, it is of absorbing interest to watch the development and training of each individual member of the team, and then when they are a team, one homogeneous whole, to follow their futures either through good times or bad times. Your enthusiasm when the good news was received proves also, if any proof was needed, that you feel the same. And more power to your elbow for letting yourselves go, for it is a poor heart that never rejoices.

The Luck Of The Moon.

"I had a feeling for some time that our team was going to win. I mentioned this to several people. Mr. Ellis, I think, was one and I am certain I did to Headford. Anyhow I am sure the former will not contradict me for it would not be etiquette for a Colonial Secretary to do so. With regard to Headford I am not so sure, for is there not a proverb which states 'no master is a hero to his valet'? (Loud laughter.) You may ask 'why did I have this feeling. I will tell you. Walking down to the Town Hall some days ago and needless to say thinking of the team I saw the new moon, and not through glass. Like all Devonshire men I am superstitious. So I took off my hat seven times, bowed seven times, turned my money, and wished, and the wish has come true! (Loud laughter and applause.)

"Yesterday will always remain in my memory. I have been in the course of my life in many strange positions but none stranger than last night. I was awakened about mid-night by strange noises which appeared to come from Government House grounds. On rising from my couch and looking out I saw lights moving and strange figures in the shrubbery playing on instruments unknown to me. However the tune I recognised and duly acknowledged the compliment in a short speech. This was cut short by my wife who implored me to return to my couch, as if I did not I should catch my death of cold, and that she was not anxious, at any rate at present, to become a widow! A rumour has gone abroad that I appeared in my pyjamas. Ladies and Gentlemen this is a cruel libel as I do not wear pyjamas but a nightshirt! (Loud laughter and applause.)

"The Press from Rugby has just come through. The following extract will interest you. 'The Junior Kolapore Cup Imperial Trophy was won yesterday by a team representing the Falkland Islands members of which travelled eight thousand miles to compete. They won with 516 points, two points more than Nigeria who were second, Gold Coast third, Straits Settlements fourth, Sudan fifth, Trinidad (holders) sixth and Federated Malay States seventh.'

17th July, 1930.

"So you will see our team had a very hard fight and how much we owe to Mr. Fleuret and Mr. Campbell for securing those invaluable few extra points.

"In our present success we must not forget the teams who tried on two previous occasions to carry off the Cup. They upheld our name honourably, and suffered their disappointments like true sportsmen. So I should like to inform Captain Watson, Mr. Grierson, Mr. Summers and his son, and last but not least that consistent shot Mr. McAtasney that they are very much in all our thoughts to-night (Loud applause.)

The MacKinnon Cup.

"On Thursday our team is faced with the further proposition of the MacKinnon Cup. This is a very important shoot open to the Colonies and on the same conditions as the Junior Kelapore except that the distances are 900 and 1,000 yards. We must not be disappointed if we do not win it. Anything may happen at those long ranges. As far as I am aware no Colony has ever won both these trophies in the same year. Shall we be the exception? Well on Thursday we shall see. Anyhow this time I shall be prepared for the band and properly clad (Loud laughter.)

"I must thank Major the Hon. J. Innes Moir and the Defence Force for the welcome they have given me to-night and also all those who contributed to the Bisley Fund. I should particularly like to mention the generous help the Hon. G. Bonner gave. Perhaps I am divulging a secret, anyhow I hope Mr. Bonner will not be angry with me, when I tell you that he even offered if there was a hitch to see the team through at his own expense. Surely this was the action of a true sportsman. (Loud applause.) Some people in the past have not seen eye to eye with us. I do most sincerely hope that next year they will look at the Bisley team from a different angle and give it their full support and co-operation. We want the whole Colony to join in and not only a part. (Loud and continuous applause.)

"I must not keep you longer to-night as you are here for dancing, and Captain Large and his men don't get such a treat very often! We are very glad to see them in this Hall and to hear that they liked the Pantomime so much.

"In conclusion I must congratulate Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Gladoll and Mrs. Melway for their courage and sense of duty. For did they not like the Spartan matrons of old cheerfully allow their sons to risk the perils of the deep by travelling on a whaler." (Loud laughter and applause.)

Too Modest.

Captain Large then spoke a few words: "His Excellency and Major Moir" he said, are too modest in their remarks. It is only the third time I understand, that you have competed for the Trophy and against Colonies whose populations are considerably larger than yours. I have been told that there were members of the so-called sporting fraternity who were taking on bets of ten to one against the Colony winning the Cup. Had I been here in time to accept the bets I should certainly have done so. (Loud applause.)

17th July, 1930.

"My ship's company the other evening, by the kindness of His Excellency the Governor, witnessed a rehearsal of the play "Zachariah Fee Revue". We came along thinking well, we must enthuse over this to some extent and we expected to see just a few candles along here (indicating the front of the platform amid laughter.) But instead we found all that there should be and a delightful orchestra playing. During the interval I had a great difficulty in keeping my party together for they were asking for introductions to the Company (Laughter and applause.) Having got them on board they were murmuring against me for not making a suitable speech. 'We know he is not eloquent', they were saying, 'but I think he might have said something'. So I take this opportunity of mentioning our appreciation of that performance and at the same time congratulate you upon gaining the shooting Trophy. I think the shooting club should have for their motto 'What I have, I hold', and hang on to it. (Loud laughter and applause.)

"Moreover I think, the Zachariah Fee Company should go still further and produce heavier plays and more children's plays and as may be, under the direction of His Excellency the Governor; and every man woman and child absolutely intent upon the show from start to finish and enjoy it as much as the dance this evening." (Loud applause.)

"I don't know what you will do next. You will soon be sending a team home to row against Oxford (Laughter.) In fact we don't know where you will stop and if you do not utilise the previous motto I mention another which perhaps you might take - "Excelsior". (Loud and continuous applause.)

DEPARTURE OF MR. F.A.W. BYRON,

A "Wellwisher's" Appreciation.

Stanley,
16th July, 1930.

To The Editor of the "Penguin".

Sir,

May I use the medium of your columns to express on behalf of the grateful subscribers to the present Broadcast Service, our warm and deep appreciation of all that Mr. Byron, with the loyal support of the electrical staff, has done for our pleasure during his stay in the Colony? His untiring labour and unfailing courtesy are well known; it is not, perhaps, so generally appreciated that night after night he has devoted his few spare hours to overcome the difficulties of reception at the Local Station and to relay to us programmes from overseas including the delightful operas from Buenos Aires.

In the name therefore of us all I wish him "bon voyage" and good leave, happiness in his marriage and a safe return with Mrs. Byron to the Colony.

I am, Sir,

Yours etc.

FAREWELL TO MRS. HODSON.

"Mrs. Hodson will be leaving us to-morrow on board the "Loriga", bound for the United Kingdom, and the staff of the Telegraph and Telephones Department wish her "bon voyage" and hope she will have an enjoyable holiday. As you all know His Excellency and Mrs. Hodson are very keen listeners-in and we feel certain that Mrs. Hodson will miss our programmes. We all hope to see her with us again shortly."

MR. F.A.W. BYRON HOMEWARD BOUND.

During the course of the Studio programme given on Wednesday Mr. F.A.W. Byron made the following announcement :-

"On the eve of my departure for England I should like to bid farewell to all our listeners. It has been a source of great pleasure to me and to my staff to have been able to entertain you by the various means at our command.

"As you know we are over a thousand miles from the nearest Broadcasting Station and we are thus entirely dependent on the vagaries of the atmosphere for our outside reception. Our listeners have been wonderfully sympathetic in this respect and have encouraged us when perhaps we have been a little down-hearted owing to bad conditions.

"Our Broadcast Service is still thriving. We are continually getting more listeners and we are only too happy to do our best for them.

"While in England I shall visit the British Broadcasting Corporation and if I discover anything that might be of use to us here I shall ask His Excellency to allow me to purchase it. As you know, His Excellency, to whom our Broadcast Service is due, is only too willing to help us in any way he can.

"I thank you for helping us so much in the past. I am now leaving the Broadcast Service in the capable hands of my two assistants, Mr. G.W. Butcher and Mr. E.E. Frewin, who have been so loyal and helpful and I feel sure they will do their utmost to carry on the traditions of our Broadcast Service. Goodnight everybody."

Mr. Butcher, later addressed listeners-in and said :- "We hope Mr. Byron will enjoy his well earned leave and that when we see him again we shall have the pleasure of welcoming Mrs. Byron. Both the Broadcasting Staff and Listeners-in will join together in wishing him an enjoyable voyage and a happy stay in the United Kingdom.

"I might mention not all of Mr. Byron's leave will be spent on pleasure bound as he is going home to work in the interests of the Colony. I am sure that everybody will be pleased when he returns with the new electric light plant which will make such an improvement to the town of Stanley.

UPROAR IN HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Emulating Cromwell.

The House of Commons was dumbfounded on Thursday when Mr. John Beckett, the Socialist member for Peckham snatched up the Mace, the symbol of Parliament's authority, when expressing his disapproval of the suspension of the Socialist member for Leyton, Mr. Fenner Brockway.

He marched up and down with the Mace on his shoulder and shouted "Mr. Speaker, it's a damn disgrace." At first the members were too aghast to do anything but eventually the Sergeant-at-Arms seized him and restored the Mace to the table after a tussle.

Mr. Brockwood's suspension was for defying the Speaker by remaining standing when the Speaker stood up. Mr. Beckett was also suspended for "gross disorderly conduct". The sentence was, in each case, for five Parliamentary days.

THE KING'S PRIZE.

Won By A Woman.

The King's Prize - Bisley's Premier Honour - was won by a woman on Saturday: this is the first time the Prize has been won by a woman since the competition was instituted in 1860.

The woman is Miss Marjorie Foster, a noted Bisley shot, who with her partner runs a chicken farm near Bisley. In winning the Prize she beat the hundred crack shots from all parts of the Empire with a score of 280 out of a possible 300. She qualified for the "King's Hundred" thereby gaining a distinction never before held by a woman with a score only three points behind the highest which was 147 out of a possible 150.

Having made 144 in the second stage, Miss Foster was not at all excited when she returned her card. She lit a cigarette, strolled across to where her motor-cycle combination was and started for home. She was wearing breeches.

Miss Foster's success is all the more remarkable because of the disagreeable scenes which occurred during her shooting when a crowd of chattering women swarmed around and commented on her shots and had to be moved away by the police.

His Majesty the King sent the following telegram: "I must heartily congratulate Miss Foster on winning my Prize. That she should have done so is a remarkable achievement in the history of rifle shooting and as such is to be universally acclaimed."

By her performance Miss Marjorie Foster has added to the laurels gained by women this year for her performance has followed the remarkable feat of Miss Amy Johnson flying to Australia and the winning of the King's Cup air race by Miss Winifred Brown and sets the seal upon what might be aptly termed a "Women's year."

---o---o---

MISS AMY JOHNSON.

Bombay went mad over Miss Amy Johnson who arrived there on Saturday. She was overwhelmed by the spontaneity of the warmth of the city's reception. Amy was whisked off to a hotel where 250 people, prominent in all walks of society, were invited to meet her at breakfast.

Huge crowds which thronged outside the hotel cheered as Amy entered. At breakfast Mr. Eastley, on behalf of the Bombay flying clubs, after re-calling the Australian's attempt to kiss Amy at Perth, presented her with a kiss-proof souvenir.

THE FOURTH TEST MATCH.

Changes In English Team.

Some interesting changes are to be made in the English team to meet the Australians in the fourth Test Match which begins at Manchester on Friday next.

Of the men who represented England in the last match Larwood, Geary and Tyldesley are dropped and Robins, Peebles and Nichols have been substituted.

Robins is the Middlesex amateur who was tried in the Second Test Match at Lords but without great success although he is useful with the bat and a capable slow bowler as well as a brilliant fielder. Peebles, the Oxford University spin bowler has shown excellent form recently and his analysis this season is at present this season 73 wickets for little over nineteen runs apiece. Both he and Robins bowled successfully in the match against the Players just concluded.

Nichols, the young Essex professional, is a fast bowler who in county matches this season has taken seventy wickets at the cost of 19.45 each and a useful batsman. He and Peebles are new-comers to Test Cricket.

The full team will be :- A.P.F. Chapman (captain), Duleepsinhji, Robins, Peebles, Hobbs, Sutcliffe, Hammond, Tate, Leyland, Duckworth and Nichols. The twelfth man is Hendren.

ROUND EUROPE AIR RACE.

Prominent British Lady Entrants.

Much interest is being taken in the "Round Europe" contest for light aeroplanes which began from Berlin on Saturday.

About eighty machines are competing and there are several women pilots including two British airwomen - Lady Bailey and Miss Spooner.

The circuit measures 4,750 miles and takes the competitors over the English Channel, the Pyrenees, and the Alps to the coasts of the Mediterranean and Baltic and across the frontiers of nine countries. This year, through the co-operation of the British, Spanish and Polish Aero Clubs the route has been extended to these countries.

The purposes of the contest is to evolve an ideal touring machine at a reasonable price. There are twenty-seven compulsory stopping places approximately 175 miles apart and the competitors are allowed eight to twelve days to complete the course, The speeds being calculated on the times taken between the hops. But only 195 out of 500 marks are being allotted for speed, the others are being awarded after various technical tests including comfort, accessibility of parts, landing capacity etc.

There are this year seven British entrants. Last year there were only two both being among this year's competitors and are Captain Broad and Miss Spooner. Both, last time, completed the course well ahead of their rivals and Captain Broad was placed second in general classification and first in the category for heavier machines. Miss Spooner was tenth.

THE POSITION IN INDIA.

Government's Circular To Home M.P.s.

The Government of India's appreciation of the situation up to the beginning of last week has been circulated to members of the House of Commons.

In the North-West Frontier Province a recrudescence of hostile activity is recorded in South Waziristan, in Upper Shaktu area beginning on July sixth when several hostile leaders joined forces in attacks on the scouts posts around Jarapogha. On the evening of the eighth a concerted attack failed and a gun belonging to Sade Khan, one of the hostile leaders, was put out of action. On the ninth the attack was repulsed with considerable loss. The retiring rebels captured certain Khassadar posts but on the advent of the Raymak column on the tenth they withdrew towards Maidan.

A notable feature of the operation has been the co-operation on the part of the friendly sections and the loyalty of the Khassadars. Continuous air action has been maintained against the Lashkars and the areas which have supplied them. The statement summarising internal incidents records that on the eighth a slight explosion occurred in Peshawar City outside the house of the Honorary Magistrate but very little damage was done.

In other parts of India the Civil Disobedience Movement pursues its course. There has been increased activity in some places and a lull in others but on the whole the recent indications of a decline have been maintained. It is reported in Bengal, as a whole, the Civil Disobedience Movement is on a decrease but a tendency towards violence is increasing and there are signs that the terrorist party may become more active.

The Madras Presidency also reports a definite slackening in the movement due, however, to the more vigorous action taken by the authorities than to the voluntary abandonment of its adherents. Similar improvement is manifest in other provinces except in Bombay and the Central Provinces.

Further clashes have taken place in Bombay Presidency between the authorities and the public the most serious of which occurred on the seventh in Bombay. Congress volunteers persisted in attempts to hold a procession and meeting in honour of the Garhwali soldiers who have been convicted of mutiny and the police had to make several charges before the intention was abandoned.

There was a collision during the week-end between the police and a crowd in Poona and owing to its aggressive attitude it had to be dispersed by force. In the Gujarat, on the other hand, there are signs of improvement and in several districts village officers are withdrawing their resignations in considerable numbers.

In the Central Provinces a movement has been started to defy the forest laws. While the movement remains in principle non-violent incidents are continually occurring to show the rank and file, particularly in village and rural areas, that the natives cannot be restrained from acts of violence which are commonly taking the form of attacks on small parties of police.

ART SALE AT CHRISTIES

£100,000 Realised.

At the great art sales at Christies last week nearly £100,000 was realised in the auction room where some famous works came under the hammer. There were several from the collections of the late Lord Curzon and Balfour and the Earl of Feversham which brought in high prices.

Sixteen thousand guineas were paid for a superb Hobbema landscape which was the property of the Earl of Feversham.

One of the most celebrated of the old masters among the thirty-two Curzon heirlooms, which in all realised forty thousand guineas, was Rembrandt's portrait of an old man which fetched nineteen thousand guineas.

Other high prices were paid for portraits by Reynolds - four thousand four hundred guineas, Gainsborough - four thousand guineas, and Hoopner - two thousand guineas.

Of the twelve pictures from the Balfour Estate the highest price paid was two thousand guineas for Jan Van Goyen's view of Dordrecht River.

REICHSTAG CLIMAX.

There was a dramatic scene in the Reichstag at the end of last week when Herr Bruening, the Chancellor, said "The Government does not consider it advisable to enter into fresh negotiations about the financial proposals".

This meant that fresh taxes which the Reichstag previously refused to sanction will now be imposed on the Nation.

There was an angry roar as the Chancellor sat down and everybody knew he had received from President Hindenburg the right to use Article 48 of the Constitution which provides that when the public safety order is seriously endangered the President can take the necessary measures, if required, to use armed forces.

This treatment of Parliament is due to the divisions of the German people and the quarrels of the innumerable parties in the Reichstag.

ECONOMIC MISSION TO S. AFRICA.

In view of the success of Lord d'Avernon's mission to South America the Government has invited Lord Kirkley to lead an economic mission to the Union of South Africa.

Lord Kirkley has accepted the invitation and the mission is due to leave England early in the autumn and visit Southern and Northern Rhodesia as well as the Union.

MELBOURNE LIGHTS LIT IN LONDON.

Another Radio Achievement.

By pressing a button in the Mansion House, London, about 6.30 last Friday morning, the Lord Mayor, Sir William Waterlow, opened the Melbourne Radio Exhibition in Australia.

Direct communication had been obtained between the Mansion House and the operator on the stage of Melbourne City Hall and at a given signal the Lord Mayor tapped the key whereupon, in the Exhibition 11,000 miles away a sign in lights was displayed announcing the show to be open.

Within a quarter of an hour a cablegram was handed into the Lord Mayor from Melbourne announcing the complete success of the demonstration.

Later in the day additional lights were switched on in Melbourne by the Mayors of Montreal Canada, Wellington, New Zealand and from the Fiji Islands.

MID-ATLANTIC RESCUE.

Burning ship's Passengers & Crew Saved.

The British ship "Rangitata" sailing under the flag of a New Zealand shipping company effected the rescue of the passengers and crew of the North German Lloyd vessel "Targis" of 5,900 tons in mid-Atlantic on Friday last.

The news of the rescue reached London in a wireless message from the "Rangitata" which is a vessel of 13,000 tons.

The "Targis" was bound for Bremen from North America and carried a crew of forty-two and a few passengers. When the "Rangitata" arrived on the scene in response to urgent messages she was badly on fire in three holds.

All the passengers and crew having been taken on board, the "Rangitata" stood by watching the "Targis" sink.

THE RUES IN AMERICA.

Creating Trouble.

The United States Congress, as a sequel to a recommendation by Senator Root that a special Police Force should be organised to watch and cope with the activities of Russian agents in the country, are conducting exhaustive investigations of Communist propoganda by means of an inquiry committee in New York.

Giving evidence the other day, Mr. C. F. Wood described the strikes in Passau, Bedford, Gastonia, all of which were started by Communists merely for the sake of creating trouble. "In Passau" It was the cruellist exhibition of leadership I have seen for the strike there damaged business to such an extent that 5,000 strikers never returned to work.

It was also decided to record in the minutes of the meeting the names of those men in the Bisley Team who had brought honour and fame to the Colony by winning the Junior Kolapere Cup.

A meeting will be held at some future convenient date when there will be a fuller attendance of members of the Committee, to settle the final details of shooting matches and other important business:

TERRIBLE AIR CRASH.

Titled Victims.

Six Killed In Kent.

A terrible air accident occurred on Monday afternoon near Gravesend, Kent to a Junker machine engaged on air taxi service between Le Touquet and Croydon as a result of which the pilot and his assistant and their four passengers, all well known members of society lost their lives.

The passengers were the Marquess of Dufferin and Ave, Sir Edward Ward, baronet, Viscountess Ednam and Mistress Loeffler. The pilot was Colonel Henderson with Mr. Shearing as assistant pilot. Both were ex-air officers.

According to an eye witness there appeared to be an explosion in mid-air as the machine was passing over the village of Mesopham near Gravesend. The engine was found in the garden of a house in the village and one wing two miles distant. The Junker machine belonged to Colonel Henderson who was using it on behalf of the Walcott air lines which operated an air taxi service from Croydon. It had earlier in the day crossed to Le Touquet and brought one party to Croydon and had then set off again for Lord Dufferin and his friends. The crash occurred on the return journey. Flying conditions had been extremely difficult throughout the day.

Lord Dufferin, who was fifty-five years of age, was the first Speaker of the Senate of Northern Ireland, having held the post since 1921. He had had a distinguished army career as had also Sir Edward Ward who during the war was a captain of the Grenadier Guards. Mistress Loeffler was the beautiful wife of Captain H. Loeffler while Viscountess Ednam was a close friend of the Prince of Wales, a sister of the Duke of Sutherland and the wife of the heir to the Earl of Dudley.

Another eye witness said the 'plane came to pieces in the air. It came down near the village green and parts of the machine were scattered over the green. One wing landed about a mile away from the green. The engine was a quarter of a mile away and the tail three hundred yards. The 'plane appeared to fall out of a cloud and one wing and the tail floated clear. The body crashed more heavily and directly to the ground.

There were dark objects in the air which turned over and over. They were apparently the passengers. Some jumped and others fell from the 'plane as it came to pieces.

Lieutenant Colonel G.L.P. Henderson was one of the best known British pilots. His assistant Mr. Shaaring was twenty-eight years of age.

SIGNALMAN SEES GHASTLY TRAGEDY.

Horrifying Spectacle.

As the mid-night express from Scotland was speeding through Wembley on Tuesday a young man left a compartment in which he was travelling to London, tied a piece of sash cord round his neck, fastened the other end to the bar of the corridor window and then jumped from the train.

His dangling body was whirled along at the rate of fifty miles an hour for nearly a mile before the cord snapped and the body fell on the lines.

The Wembley signalman was a horrified spectator of the occurrence. From his cabin he saw the man jump and the body dragged along the line. He dashed to the levers and reversed the signals and the express pulled up.

When found the body was so mutilated that it was unrecognisable.

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAD.

Lady Conan Doyle's Belief.

Lady Conan Doyle is impressed by the news that Mistress Mary Heron, a medium of Peterborough, Ontario, has received a message from the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

A "Daily Mail" reporter was told by Lady Doyle - "My husband said in a message that he saw me at 11.0 o'clock on Thursday last in a small room. He wanted me to take care of certain papers and it was in connection with these that I was in a small room on Thursday.

"This is a wonderful piece of evidence that he was in the room with me.

"My husband's reason for using Mistress Heron as a medium was obviously to show she could know nothing of what I was doing at that hour thousands of miles away. I regard this piece of evidence as a test proof enough to convince any person."

THE KENT AIR DISASTER.

The air disaster which has turned all eyes in Britain to the sleepy Kentish hamlet of Meopham, will probably go down in the history of aviation as one of the most mysterious that has ever occurred.

There are theories ranging from bombs to deep air pockets but those advancing them admit they are nothing but "bows drawn at venture".

One concrete fact though, emerged on Wednesday. The pilot, Colonel Henderson, had a few seconds warning of the impending disaster and switched off the engine. An examination of the crushed and splintered instruments on board disclosed this.

ROUND EUROPE RACE.

Progress Of Flyers.

Extremely difficult flying weather, with violent rain storms, gusts of wind and low visibility, was encountered by the competitors in the Round Europe Air Contest on Tuesday. They flew in stages from Calais to Bristol and London and back across the Channel.

All the seven British entrants, including Lady Bailey and Miss Spooner, were well up in the first flight. The competitors had been weather bound at Calais nearly all the morning. Allan Butler, in his gypsy moth, was the first to reach Bristol and said he had seldom experienced more violent bumping. After him came Thorn Carberry, Miss Spooner, Andrews Lady Bailey and Broad. The French and German machines followed.

Butler again led the departures for Heston Air Park, London, and was first away for Saint Ingelvert, being closely followed by Polk, the German, and Miss Spooner.

OGPU'S NEFARIOUS WORK.

An amazing story of the kidnapping of a Russian, aged eighteen years, by Bolshevnik agents at Hamburg again draws attention to the activities of the Ogpu, the Soviet Secret Police, in Germany.

The boy's father, named Sehornhold, was sent to Hamburg from Moscow to the office of the Soviet Commercial Delegation but was later ordered to return to Moscow to face an inquiry into his conduct. He refused and a sentence of death was passed upon him for insubordination but it is believed he is safe in Germany. The Ogpu acted and the boy was induced to go to Kiel where he was enticed into a ship which sailed for Russia. Nothing has since been heard of him but it is feared he is in the hands of the Ogpu and will be held as a hostage until his father obeys orders.

SEVERE SITUATION IN EGYPT.

Severe rioting was reported in Cairo on Monday and on a smaller scale in Port Said. The police were aided by troops in dispersing the mobs which hurled stones and bottles and other missiles.

In Cairo it was estimated that about one hundred demonstrators were injured and one killed. In Port Said it is said that about twenty rioters so far, are reported injured. It is understood no foreigners are involved. In both towns satisfactory measures are being taken to restore order.

Answering questions in the House of Commons on Tuesday, the Foreign Secretary, The Right Hon. Arthur Henderson, said that in regard to the Egyptian situation no official diplomatic representations had been made to the British Government regarding foreign nationals in Egypt though certain representatives of foreign powers had made enquiries at the Foreign Office and had intimated their anxiety regarding the situation.

Referring to last week's riot in Alexandria Mr. Henderson said the casualties were nineteen killed including one Italian. Ten police and fifty-three civilians are still in hospital while thirty-nine police and sixty-five civilians are out-patients. Four Egyptian army officers and four men were hurt. No British troops were involved in the disturbances.

Asked whether he was still prepared to negotiate with the Egyptian Government on the basis of a Draft Treaty, the Foreign Secretary said, the attitude of the Government as regards the Treaty remained as defined in his reply to a similar question on June 30th, but in view of the recent happenings in Egypt the British Government must be guided by the future course of events.

OLD NURSE'S DEATH.

The Late Mrs. M.A. McDaid.

It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mrs. Mary Ann McDaid, who passed away in Stanley early yesterday morning at the age of eighty-five years. She was the widow of Mr. William McDaid who first came to the Colony when he was shipwrecked off Speedwell Island with the late Captain Rowlands; he died in 1916.

Mrs. McDaid was brought to the Islands at the early age of thirteen in 1858 when she accompanied her father, the late Mr. William Elner who was one of the second draft of pensioners who settled in the Falkland Islands. She was born in Tasmania.

As one of the old nurses of the Colony, Mrs. McDaid was one of the most well-known figures not only in Stanley but in the camps of both Islands and very popular where-ever she went. She obtained her certificates from Dr. Hamilton. Mrs. McDaid is survived by her only son Mr. William C. McDaid and three half-sisters Mrs. J. Aldridge, Mrs. J. Summers and Mrs. A. Kiddle. The late Mrs. McDaid and her husband settled down in Stanley some thirty years ago.

The funeral will take place to-morrow.

VIOLENT ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE.

Many Killed.

The "Daily Mail" reports that some two hundred people were killed and thousands injured in an earthquake which, early Thursday morning, rocked the whole region between Naples and Bari doing extensive damage as far north as Foggia, South Potenza.

The centre of the disturbance was at Molfi where over 100 were killed and thousands were left homeless. Fifty more were killed, it is reported, in the neighbouring villages.

The complete figures of the disaster are not yet available as no news has been received from the many scattered villages and it is feared that the death roll has a tendency to increase rather than otherwise.

When the full gravity of the disaster was appreciated in Rome relief trains were sent to Molfi but it is understood that they were unable to reach the town owing to the damage done to the tracks.

All military forces available in the stricken zones have been mobilised and sent to points where help is most urgently needed.

Villanova and Montecalmo, two towns in the Province of Arellino are reported to be totally destroyed.

Thousands of people in London were watching the weather with interest keener than usual on Wednesday for two big events depended upon it - the Royal Garden Party at Buckingham Palace to have taken place yesterday afternoon and the fourth Test Match at Manchester which should have started to-day.

Six thousand invitations issued for the Garden Party were all marked "Weather permitting" and if the afternoon turned out to be dismal as others this month's cancellation was inevitable.

The pitch at Old Trafford, Manchester had suffered no damage by rain up to Thursday. The groundsman told a "Daily Mail" reporter that the wicket had had a long dry spell before rain started and in consequence was able to absorb the water immediately. Goddard, the Gloucestershire bowler, has asked to be present at the match.

"WELCOME TO THE FALKLAND ISLANDS."

H.M.S. "Dragon" Arrives.

After remaining off the Point all night H.M.S. "Dragon" steamed through the Narrows into Port Stanley Harbour about 8.50 yesterday morning, half an hour before the scheduled time, having left Monte Video on Monday for a ten days stay in the Colony. The weather was perfect and the sky was bright although there was a cold nip in the air - particularly cold to our visitors who have just come down from warmer climes.

In anticipation of the warship's arrival the flagstuffs in the town were gaily bedecked while outside the Colonial Secretary's Office flew the signal "Welcome to the Falkland Islands" to which the "Dragon" quickly replied with "Thank You" as she made her way down the Harbour. Anchors were dropped when the ship was opposite Government House, practically the same position being taken as that occupied by the "Delhi" in March last.

The cruiser was recently re-commissioned from Chatham and is 4,650 tons with six 6 inch guns, and three 4 inch guns as her chief armament.

The officers of H.M.S. "Dragon" are Captain L.E.H. Bovan; Commander P.W. Nellos R.C.N.; Lieutenant Commander M.R.T. Knight; Lieutenants R.P. Mack, C.C. Brown, H.T. Powell, C.H. Pollock and R.A.B. ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE.

Death Roll Of 1,200.

The "Daily Mail" Naples correspondent writes that in addition to the casualties it is believed that over 3,000 houses have been wrecked and an equal number rendered uninhabitable.

The Province of Avellino appears to be hardest hit for villages are almost completely destroyed and the death roll amounts to 1,200.

The situation in Ariano is terrible for there ninety people were killed and among them were many children. The Duchess Aosta, the King of Italy's cousin, visited the village and moved the inhabitants to tears when she impulsively took an ivory crucifix hanging round her neck and laid it on the body of a dead child pinned by the wreckage.

The road leading from Naples is reminiscent of the war. Long lines of loaded trucks bearing troops, doctors, food et cetera are making their way to the stricken area while in the opposite direction equally long lines of vehicles are bringing the injured to hospital.

Though the region round Naples shows no particular trace of damage evidences of distress are more apparent nearer Ariano where wrecked houses are to be seen and the inmates are to be found camping in front of them mostly, and almost completely unclothed, some merely wrapped in army blankets handed to them by passing lorries.

Phil's manager, who left immediately, said the objection is ridiculous "If 'Pa' Stribling," he went on, "had visited Scott's Camp he would have been admitted."

THE FOURTH TEST MATCH.

Bad Wicket.

In the first day's play of the Fourth Test Match which began at Manchester yesterday, Australia scored 275 for seven wickets.

The weather was dull with the wicket slow and easy.

Woodfull and Ponsford, playing very cautiously, withstood for two and a half hours the attack of the English bowlers who were constantly changed, and in that time made over 106 before Duckworth took the former at the wicket. Bradman did not stay long Duleepsinhji catching him brilliantly in the slips. Kippax was a useful help to Ponsford until the latter, who had taken nearly four hours to make eighty-three, was bowled by Hammond. A clever catch by Chapman sent back Kippax who took two hours to get his fifty-one.

The details are (as received by wireless bulletin) :-

Bradman	c. Duleepsinhji	b. ?	14.

SATURDAY'S PANTOMIME.

His Excellency's New Production.

Sailors Ask For More.

A Delightful Evening's Entertainment.

Once again the curtain rang up in the Town Hall, Stanley, on Saturday evening when a performance of His Excellency the Governor's Pantomime "The Zachariah Fee Revue" was presented to a packed auditorium of sailors from H.M.S. "Dragon" and the townspeople of Stanley. His Excellency was again to be seen conducting the production with his characteristic enthusiasm and unflinching personal interest. Among those present were Commander P.W. Nelles R.C.N. and a number of officers from H.M.S. "Dragon", The Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary), the Hon. M.C. Craigie-Halkett (Colonial Treasurer) and Mrs. Halkett, Major the Hon. J.I. Moir and Mrs. Moir, the Hon. L.W.H. Young and Mrs. Young.

From beginning to end the audience were kept constantly thrilled with an expectation which could not be satiated for even at the close of the performance sailors voices were to be heard clamouring for another Act. Finding their desire ungratified they sought consolation in giving the cast and all who had helped to produce the show, three spontaneous cheers which rang all the more true since they were prompted by an overwhelming sense of pleasure for so admirable an evening's entertainment.

"The Zachariah Fee Revue" though incorporating a number of the most popular features of previous Pantomimes, cleverly assumed an original form as a Pot Pourri in Three Acts. An outstanding feature, apart from the excellent and finished work of the cast, was the support given by the orchestra led by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Vincent; they, with the other members, and in company with the atmosphere created by the lighting effects under the charge of Messrs. G. Butcher and M. Biggs added the finishing touches to a first class presentation. A word is due here to all those who have done so much behind the scenes under the General Managership of Mr. W.J. Devies and with the Hon. G. Roberts as Stage Manager, and Mesdames G. Roberts, F. Vaughan, J. Grierson and J. Barnes as Assistant Stage Managers. Previous to the actual performance the waiting audience were treated to music broadcast to the Hall by means of loud-speakers. His Excellency the Governor also spoke a few words of welcome to the officers and company of H.M.S. "Dragon" and expressed his deep regret that Captain Bevan was indisposed and unable to be present.

After a delightful musical "Pot Pourri" Overture the Chorus created a sensation with their opening number and with the inimitable Mr. A.W. Beardmore whose popularity increased as the performance proceeded. Their striking costumes, designed by Mr. M. Robson, were admirable and they gained applause after applause in such numbers as the Cameo, the Boat Dance, Charleston and Pose Dance.

In contrast to these creators of effect and jollity a delightful touch of ethereal faintness was given by the Elves (Dorothy Brown, and Mally Sully) and the Fairies. The mood was yet again turned in antithesis, to mortal terror by the eerie ghosts of the Antarctic. The Stanley Girls, as piquant as ever, made their debut by adding to the "Pot Pourri" with a "Polka and Ice of Diamonds". Each scene obtained well merited applause. Two very delightful personages with whom the audience became acquainted and who created a deep impression were "Blue-Eyes" (Jeanne Thomson) and "Blue-Bell" the Fairy Queen's part taken by Miss R. Purdie. Quite a different picture was presented in the Darktown Nigger Minstrel scene in which the troupe were trained by Mr. W.J. Davies who, with Messrs. C.A. Parkinson and K. Lellman provided the solos, and who, with Mr. A.W. Beardmore as the "Corner man" so "quipped and quaffed" that though they might have had doubts there was never a fear of lack of attention and interest. With its medley of songs the scene conjured up a clear picture of Darky town and proved one of the most popular in the performance. Yet it did not surpass the next - an old favourite and (as the programmed facetiously notes) passed by censor; the Bedroom Scene in which Beattie Braxton is as sweet as ever and Miss B. Newing is quite at home in the part of mother will ever be a tireless feature. Mr. Robson took the sailors by storm in the "Dell Dance" with his lady partner of unknown complexion but of undoubted dancing ability. From this we were switched over to yet another of the whole gamut of sensations which characterise the Revue for Zachariah Tee and loathsome underlings play a venomous part in stifling Mrs. Kolway's pretty act though later she obtains the well-deserved applause for her jolly number.

After the interval and another vivacious selection by the Orchestra the Second Act opened with a new version of the School-room scene showing Beattie Braxton in excellent form with the birch and a clever confounder of awkward pauses while Mr. Beardmore was once more to the fore as the demoniacal and heavy-handed school-master who chastised unmercifully poor Wye (Stanford Williams) and Watt (Frank Howatt) for their scintillating wit; their topical jokes kept everyone in tucks; and we wonder what Mr. Painter had to say to the Misses Wye and Watt for their disclosures. Another exceptionally popular item was the Hornpipe Dance by Mr. S. Browell and his lassies while "La Danse Charmante" by Miss E. Atkins and Mr. Robson could not have had a more appropriate title. These two clever dancers gave as their encore their interpretation of an Apache Dance. The second scene depicting the downfall of Tee opened with a marrow freezing peroration by Blunderbore (Mr. S. Browell) followed by a happy interlude of "I don't want to play in your yard" given by the Stanley Girls and taken up with zest by all present on the invitation of Frances Whitney and Gladys Pettersson who sang the duet delightfully. It was characteristic of the malignant influence of Zachariah to caper this scene in burlesque with his second-self "Make-'em-Tremble" (Mr. H. Thomas) but we all enjoyed his final denunciation and discomfiture in the Christmas Tea scene a little later; there was no pity for him and his wizards in their chagrin. A piece of outstanding merit was the beautiful old time Pastoral Gavotte charmingly executed by Muriel Hardy and Jeanne Thomson who were deservedly rewarded with bouquets at the conclusion. The Penguins frolic by "Flip-Flop" and his brood brought with it the introduction of the Junior Kolapore Cup which the Colony's Bisley Team has won this year.

Once more loud applause greeted the old favourite "A Stanley Quartette" which opened Act Three. Williams, Howatt, E. Hutchinson and S. Hansen have spread still further the renown of "Sweet and Low". Following this came the Scotch Lassies (Ellen Lellman and Gladys Pettersson) who were happily unconcerned with the intricacies of their steps as were the Charleston Girls. Last but not least in the estimation of all was the tableau and the Sea Shanties sung by Mr. W.J. Davies.

Before the gathering broke up Commander Nelles, in a few words thanked His Excellency the Governor for the excellent show at the same time expressing on behalf of the ship's company their deepest thanks for the programme of events provided for their benefit during the ship's stay in the Islands.

From A Sailor's Note Book.

Amusing, charming, just too sweet, are the epithets which are but too weak to describe Saturday's entertainment to a mere sailor.

Snowy hills and icy roads were forgotten in a moment and so were the ten thousand odd miles we had come to call on the Islands. The spirit of enjoyment was definitely abroad, among Islanders and sailors. But most particularly was it among the many players in Zachariah Fee whose spirit we feel will pass into the fable lore of this Island.

To attempt to pick and choose among the many items would be impossible and let it be said here and now that the Island can be justly proud of its children - small and grown up.

The elves and fairies in their opening scenes set the line of the whole Revue playing with such abandon and lack of self-consciousness that one almost doubted their years. Their obvious enjoyment of the performance was shared by the Stanley Girls with their green dresses, red sashes and straw hats, and the Chorus Girls scored off the sailors' hearts with great ease. They were like the bad boys of the Falklands - they "Harries" the Navy - the Niggers were responsible for that one and for an hilarious Nigger Minstrel turn with the Principality well in evidence.

"And so to bed" - like good little children and back to childhood's days. Horrid Number Nines and a topping game of puff-puffs - and even old Fee would'n't frighten us in that nursery.

GIRL GUIDES LOCAL ASSOCIATION.

The Viscountess Leverhulme Spinning Wheel.

The Local Association have received by the mail arriving with H.M.S. "Dragon" the result of the Spinning Competition which was held at Headquarters on the 28th of April last, in which the following girls competed :- Maude Duffin, Rose Fleuret, Muriel Hardy, Edna Hirtle, Helen Lees, Ethel Martin, Alice Mills, Millicent Pettersson, and Shiela Summers.

The Viscountess Leverhulme, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Falkland Islands Girl Guides, very kindly sent out a beautiful and valuable antique spinning wheel with the object of encouraging hand spinning in this Colony and with instructions that the wheel was to be given to the girl who proved herself to be the best spinner. In order to obtain the judgment of an expert and one which would be absolutely unbiased, the skeins spun were sent to The London School of Weaving and have been judged by the Principal, Miss Katherine Grasett.

In the report Miss Grasett says in her letter to Mrs. Roberts, the Islands Secretary :- "You can tell the girls that their work is most hopeful, and compares very favourably indeed with that of our pupils here". This is most encouraging and does great credit to our Scotch friends, Mrs. McGill, Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. McPherson, who have proved such indefatigable and patient instructresses.

The Local Association would like to take this opportunity of pointing out that the prices for lessons in spinning at the London School of Weaving are as follows :-

		2.	s.	d.
Three Months	{ 4 hours daily }	15.	0.	0.
One Month	{ - do - }	6.	0.	0.
One Week	{ 2 hours daily }	1.	15.	0.
Single Lesson	( 1 hour )		5.	6.

whereas here, in Stanley, lessons have been given twice weekly from 7.0 to 9.0 p.m. approximately and have been free of charge. This is one of the advantages offered by the Local Association.

The Governor has at all times helped in every way the growth of the Girl Guide Movement in this Colony, and it is to His Excellency that the Local Association is indebted for the Spinning Wheels, he having raised the money with which to purchase the wheels by handing over to the Committee the proceeds of one of the performances of his renowned Pantomime.

All the girls who entered in the Competition are requested to be present in uniform at the "Zachariah Foo Revue" to-night, Monday, when His Excellency on behalf of the Viscountess Leverhulme, will, before the commencement of the programme, have much pleasure in presenting the Spinning Wheel to the successful candidate.

England's hopes were wonderfully bright when Hobbs and Sutcliffe remained together while gathering a century. But this fine partnership was followed by many disappointments.

POINTS TO THE JAW.

(By Fisticuffs.)

The knowledge of two boxing bouts being included in the assault-at-arms on Thursday and provided by members of the company of H.M.S. "Dragon" is creating not only considerable excitement and comment among the sailors but also with the townsmen of Stanley.

The "scraps" are all the more keenly anticipated in view of the notoriety of the combatants. Two of them have faced each other twice in the ring since the ship was recommissioned.

The one fight - a welter weight contest, between Stoker Diggles and Stoker Daniels has given rise to much speculation for in both their former battles which took place on the high seas and at Rio, the "veteran" Diggles (who can give his opponent several years) won by a narrow margin of points.

Diggles comes from Lancashire and like his ancestors of Plantagenet times sees red though not in roses, whereas Daniels, coming from Warwickshire - potent in the past for king-making - emulates the youthful Dares of Virgil fame in aspiring to overthrow his older and more doughty opponent.

But in the second contest when another Lancashire Laddie Stoker Salt meets Officer Steward III Richardson, the former has not the advantages on his side, for Richardson is an old hand at the game. He was runner up for the Amateur Championship in 1927 and before being commissioned to H.M.S. "Dragon" was the champion of his Depot.

With such fighters to entertain us we can hardly contain our excitement and we can be assured that we shall "get more for our money" than those who watched Young Stribling, the American, put "paid" to Phil. Scott's bid for the Championship of the world yesterday.

YEN CHE MISSING.

South Georgia Manslaughter Charge Recalled.

Fear Of Vendetta.

News has reached us that Yen Che, the Chinaman who was acquitted of manslaughter when charged before the Falkland Islands Supreme Court early in March, has disappeared while on his way to England to be repatriated with his two fellow countrymen who were witnesses at the trial.

The three men left the Falkland Islands for Monte Video on the 4th of April under the care of Cadet K. Pitt. On arrival at the Uruguayan Port Mr. Pitt was ordered by his employers, Messrs. Holder Bros., to proceed to England by the "Rezarina", the three Chinamen being taken on board the R.M.S.P. "Desna" a few days later.

The former boat arrived in Liverpool on or about 14th of May and the latter some three days later. The two witnesses were on board but there was no sign of Yen Che.

Whether the man, in fearing the revenge of the "Tong" of the men whose death led up to his trial, had escaped or whether he was actually the victim of a vendetta remains a mystery.

It was known however, that Yen Che feared for his own safety when he left the Islands. He was married and had several children.

TENNIS PLAYERS COLLAPSE IN DAVIS CUP.

France Win.

There were amazing scenes at Auteuil, France on Saturday when Borotra beat the United States player Lott in the Davis Cup Lawn Tennis Championship Competition.

Thirty thousand people stormed the grounds in a frantic effort to gain admittance. The match was thrilling to the extreme, Borotra winning by 5 - 7, 6 - 3, 2 - 6, 6 - 3, and 8 - 6. Both men were played to a standstill and at the end Borotra and Lott collapsed. Women struggled fiercely with the police and once a crying baby stopped the play. Parisians went in thousands to the ground whether they had tickets or not.

Gendarmes formed cordons and prevented legitimate ticket holders entering in the midst of a howling mass of people. One woman had her leg broken while a number of others fainted.

France had won the Cup before Cochet beat Tilden.

Viscount Melgund, the baby son and heir was in his oct and there were several servants in the house.

A portrait by Sir Joshua Reynolds and valued at £20,000 was cut from its frame and another picture by Romney was slashed but left behind. It is believed that the baby peeped and disturbed the burglars by the noise. The thieves took a pearl necklace and a case of jewellery as well.

Lord Minto discovered the robbery on his return home but the servants in the house did not hear anything.

FINAL PERFORMANCE

OF

"ZACHARIAH FEE REVUE."

Subsequent Presentation Of Spinning Wheel.

Lady Leverhulme's Prize.

(We are deeply indebted to a contributor for the following appreciation of the Pantomime.)

Like a fresh clean breeze, came Zachariah Fee's final performance on Monday evening in the Town Hall, and as one who was present at the first performance of His Excellency the Governor's now famous Pantomime "Zachariah Fee" compares what was then considered wonderful with the transition which may truly be termed astounding and better than ever. When one considers that the entire cast consists of amateurs, who have not had the advantages of professional training, that is to say of stage professionals, one is astounded at the excellent result.

The children who have had the benefit of this extra training will reap the advantage in years to come, and self-consciousness or precocity, is not so far one of their failings. The dancing and singing goes with rhythm and verve and the highest praise must be given to the Company whose work generally was excellent. There were some particularly exacting parts, and all the other parts, though less weighty, were not less satisfactorily done.

The ladies and gentlemen who have worked so hard training the cast, to have brought about such a high standard of efficiency, deserve great praise, and one must not forget that if it were not for the sympathetic co-operation of the excellent orchestra this could not have been achieved.

The Stage Management, both before and behind the scenes, is to be commended, and has always been carried out without a hitch. The ladies and gentlemen responsible must feel proud of the result. The designer and the maker of the chic dresses may boast a big feather in their caps; they were indeed a delight to behold.

We have now had Zachariah Fee with us for the last three years and Stanley, having a moving population, the time has come to wish him farewell and a safe return to his home at the South Pole. He came to us with the reputation of being "a liar bold and bad". But surely here is an example of good coming out of evil. We owe him much, possibly more than we at present realise, for he has proved one of the most effective links in banding us in unity together. He has scorned social barriers and, due to him, we all know each other better than before. He has brought out talent, which otherwise might have remained latent, and for this generation will his memory bring forth happy recollections and he will be the basis of many a fairy story for those to come.

Farewell, Zachariah, go whilst the going is good, leaving behind you material of such excellent quality that we may look to His Excellency the Governor to produce something still greater and entirely new, introducing us to new characters, new plots and new scenes. And however successful these may eventually prove, there will ever remain a soft spot in our hearts for "Zachariah Lee's Pantomime".

Before the commencement of the Pantomime His Excellency the Governor made a few remarks welcoming the ship's company who were present that evening to see the Revue.

After the final tableau His Excellency said that he had a very pleasant task to perform. The Stanley Girl Guides had entered for a Spinning Competition the prize for which was a spinning wheel presented by the Viscountess Leverhulme. He was sure that they would all agree with him that it was a very excellent thing indeed that the young girls should be taught to spin so that they could make socks for the sailors. (Laughter and loud applause.) Mrs. Williams had the list with her and would read out the names of the winners to whom he was to give the awards.

Mrs. Williams, the Islands Commissioner, then said :-
"Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen, We have been trying to bring about a revival of an old time industry - when I say 'we' I really mean the officers and instructresses attached to the spinning classes of the Girl Guides Local Association.

"The Falklands are a wool growing group of Islands, so we have been wool-gathering, not metaphorically but actually in fact.

"We hope in time to see the old art of spinning spread again through the Islands and with it a revival of knitting and weaving so perhaps when some of you Midshipmen I see before me to-night, are Admirals (I hope you all become Admirals) and again call at Port Stanley in your flagships, you may find here pull-overs and jumpers rivalling the famous Fair-Isle products.

"A spark has been kindled by the Girl Guide Association in Stanley and to-night we are asking His Excellency the Governor to present the first set of prizes, one of which is an antique spinning wheel presented by our Vice-President, the Viscountess Leverhulme. Her prize has been won by one of the girls who have attended our spinning classes which, we hope, will form the kernel of a happy and thriving industry for the near future.

"As you all know, we live in the most southern of the King's Dominions and although we are a small community eyes are on us from every quarter of the Empire watching the Guide Movement.

"I wish her to express public thanks to the ladies who have helped us so well and willingly in teaching the young spinners. Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Hall and others have been our instructresses and all thanks are due to them and to our Secretary, Mrs. D. Roberts, who has given so much of her time to the spinning, for the initial success of our venture. I wish also to thank Mrs. Vaughan for her work with the Brownies.

"Like many other useful projects here His Excellency the Governor is wholeheartedly behind this spinning adventure and his support is naturally most valuable and much appreciated.

"I will now ask His Excellency to distribute the prizes to Miss A. Mills (winner of Lady Leverhulme's prize) and Mrs. Rose Fleuret." Upon this the recipients were presented with their awards amid the loud applause of the audience.

Lieutenant-Commander Knight then spoke and said that before expressing on behalf of the ship's officers and company their deep appreciation to His Excellency and the cast for the marvellous show they had seen that evening he would like to mention how very much they from the "Dragon" regretted that their Captain was not able to be present. They had thoroughly enjoyed the show more especially the topping kiddies whom they hoped to see again on Saturday afternoon at the party to be given on board the "Dragon" for their benefit. It would be a great joy to hear their light footsteps even though the footsteps which some of them had heard on the decks the other day just after lunch had not then sounded quite so light. The little bit of Scotch accent in their voices gave an immediate suggestion of home. (laughter and applause.) He then asked the sailors of the ship to stand up and give three hearty cheers for His Excellency and the ladies and gentlemen of the Chorus and the Girls of whom they all hoped to see more during the remainder of their stay. The cheers were given vociferously.

The Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary) in a few words on behalf of the general public said he wished to express their sincere appreciation and thanks to His Excellency the Governor and the cast, orchestra and all those connected with the production of the Zachariah Fee Revue. Zachariah had been running for the past three years, growing from strength to strength but he was sure they had seen no performance better or equal to those on Saturday and Monday evening. Zachariah Fee owed his being to His Excellency and they had to thank the Governor very much indeed for him. But he would not have been possible without the devoted help of all those connected actively on the stage or behind the scenes. In conclusion he called for three hearty cheers for His Excellency and Zachariah which were given unstintingly.

His Excellency, in a few appropriate words thanked Lieutenant-Commander Knight and Mr. Ellis for their kind remarks.

Miniature Rifle Club's First Venture.

The first of a series of dances being held in the Town Hall particularly in view of the visit of H.M.S. "Dragon" took place on Tuesday and was arranged by the Defence Force's newly formed Miniature Rifle Club.

The event was an enormous success and incidently the club's first large social departure; if the organisation is a criterion of their future activities we can see before them a prosperous life.

His Excellency the Governor attended and there were present Commander P.W. Nelles, the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary) and officers of the ship while the Hall was packed with happy ladies brightly dressed, jolly Jack Tars and the "Young Bloods" of the Town.

Altogether there were between 350 and 400 present and the sum of £17 was realised. Upon expences being conducted the balance will be devoted to the Club's funds.

Messrs. W. and L. Aldridge were the M.Cs. while the music was supplied in turn by the Ship's Band, the Jazz Band, and the "Melody Sheiks" to whom the Committee are deeply grateful for providing their services free, while the refreshments were under the capable management of Mr. J.F. The members of the Town Badminton Club arranged a most enjoyable friendly game with the officers of H.M.S. "Dragon" on Tuesday in the Town Hall followed by tea.

Those who took part were :- Instructor Lieutenant Commander Baxter, Engineer Commander Cole, Lieutenant Mack, Paymaster Sub-Lieutenant Pickford, Lieutenant Pollock and Surgeon Lieutenant Scovell from the "Dragon"; Mr. W.J. Davies, Dr. Jones, Messrs. D.W.A. Jones, H. Thomas, L.B. White and A.V.N. Vincent.

POINTS TO THE JAW.

(By Fisticuffs.)

There is no doubt that keen rivalry has been created by the expectation of the boxing bouts to take place this evening at the Assault-at-Arms.

The stokers camps are equally divided - as they should be - for the Welter Weight contest, but rumour has it that if a verdict goes against them in the Fly-weight fight the ship is likely to have a restful time in Stanley Harbour until the jurisdiction of the Boxing Commission can put it right.

But we all know what a fickle jade Rumour is. There is no doubt though that the etiquette of professional boxing invariably seems to stand for an appeal. Thankfully it is an amateur display we are to see.

The Boxing is to be the "piece de resistance" and the final item on the programme. But there is also included a Gymnastic Display by members of the Falkland Islands Defence Force and in view of the exigencies of time this has been arranged to touch lightly upon the work being done by the class under the able instruction of Lieutenant W.M. Allan.

Captain Slater's Royal Marines are also providing a valuable turn and with such a fare placed before the public we advise those who wish to be among the audience to arrive early if they desire to obtain a seat. The Assault-at-Arms begins at 5.30 p.m.

SHOOTING MATCH.

The "Dragon's" Try Out For Friday.

Probable Teams.

On Tuesday evening a number of the "Dragon's" "dark horses" were to be seen practicing for the Miniature Rifle Match on Friday. Some good scores were put up and, on the whole, the shooting was of a commendable standard particularly when it is taken into consideration that it was the first time they had used that make of rifle - a Vickers .22 - and were quite unaccustomed to the sights.

The Probable Team representing the Ship was as follows :-
Gunnery Officer Lieutenant Brown and Mate Caldwell who ~~had~~ a score of 90 and 92 respectively. This good example was followed by Ldg S. L.S. Clement 93, Ldg Seaman Riches 92, Boy Redpath 91, A.B. Ellender 89, P.O. Dupen 88, Boy Harries 87, Cpl. Blackham 85, Mr. Manjot 81, A.B. Hutton 81, Cpl. Jones 80 and Yeo of Sigs. Zinzan 74.

The Defence Force team will consist of Lieutenant W.M. Allan, Messrs. C. Allan, T. Hardy, W. Aldridge, Dennis Lehen, J. Peck, R. Campbell, R. Robson, L. Reeve and E. Moatasney.

Although the teams consist of ten men the best eight scores will count in the match which begins at 5.30 p.m. not 8.0 p.m. as previously advertised.

TRAGIC END TO AUSTRALIA FLIGHT.

Aviator Found Dead.

Corpse Discovered In Rangoon Jungle.

For some weeks grave misgivings have been entertained concerning the fate of the aeroplane that set out from Lympne, Kent to fly to Australia with Mr. J. Matthews and Mr. E.L. Hook as its occupants early in June.

The machine was last heard of passing over the Rangoon jungles. After weeks of quietness and anxiety Matthews emerged from the jungle in a pitiful condition telling how they had crashed and, on Hook's advice, he had left his fellow in an exhausted condition by the side of a river in the jungle with clothing hanging on a tree to mark the spot. He pressed on & finally encountered some natives who brought him into civilisation with his tale of woe.

Immediately, the "Daily Mail" organised a search expedition and yesterday special couriers arrived back from the expedition yesterday announcing that Hook's body had been found.

They reported that it was being taken to Prome, three hundred miles north-west of Rangoon where it would be interred.

Apparently the mountain river, by the bank of which Hook was left, rose and washed the body away. Hook was undoubtedly dead by then according to medical opinion.

The body when found was little more than a skeleton but the identity was not to be doubted. The airman had discarded his clothing which had been placed upon a tree for a signal. The body was naked and bore signs of having been terribly mauled by a leopard or a tiger. A sure mark of identity was the airman's a hair. Photos were also taken at all angles.

Deep sympathy is to be extended to Mrs. Hook, the twenty-two year-old widow and her two little girls. Up to the last moment she refused to believe that her husband had not been rescued.

THE R.100.

The airship R. 100 left Cardington, Bedfordshire on Tuesday for a flight to Canada. Last night's wireless news reports that the airship was making steady progress and at 9.0 p.m. Standard time yesterday was reported to be 500 miles off Belle Island, Nova Scotia. Therefore nearly 2,00 miles of the 3,242 to be flown had been covered.

A depression off the mouth of the St. Lawrence may occasion adverse winds.

STRAY SHOTS. A duel was fought by Alexander Shott and John Nott. Nott was shot and Shott was not. In this case it is better to be Shott than Nott. There was a rumour that Nott was not shot and Shott avows that he shot Nott, which proves that either the shot Shott shot at Nott was not shot, or that Nott was shot. Notwithstanding that circumstantial evidence is not always good, it may be made to appear on trial that the shot Shott shot shot Nott, or, as accidents with firearms are frequent, it may be possible that the shot Shott shot shot shott himself when the whole affair would resolve itself into its original elements, and Shott would be shot and Nott would be not. We think, however, that the shot Shott shot shot not Shott but Nott. Anyway it is hard to tell who was shot and who was not. (Signal Fire.)

Friday, 1st August, 1950.

I think it is far more likely that instead of tolling our bells for the dead as we did when the 'Durban' and the 'Delhi' were here, we shall be ringing Wedding Bells before the week is out. (Loud laughter and applause.) It is only honest for me to say that I have a personal interest in this matter because I receive a fee for each Marriage Licence, and with wool so low and trade at a standstill this just enables me to make the two ends meet. (Loud Laughter.) Well, we will hope for the best, and like an up-to-date Colony be ready for any emergency.

"I cannot tell you how proud and pleased we are to welcome Commander Nellos. As you are all aware he belongs to the Canadian R.N.. I feel sure that it is the first time that an officer from the Land of the Maple has visited us and I hope it will not be the last. (Loud Applause.)

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, time is passing. You all know your Pickwick Papers and how the inimitable Mr. Pickwick when he wished to make a success of the Watonville Election, kissed or patted - my memory is not certain which he did but the point is immaterial - a small baby on the head, with the result that there was tumultous applause and the success of his candidature was assured. As there are no babies here I have done the next best thing. A short time ago I sent a message to your Captain asking him not to put in the colls any of you who return to the ship after 2.0 a.m.. He has promised not to do so. I am therefore able to prolong the dance from 1.0a.m. to 2.30, and from what I have seen to-night I feel sure you will be pleased with this news - anyhow I am certain the ladies will be - and that my speech will be a success like Mr. Pickwick's was. (Loud and continued applause.)

"In conclusion I know it will interest you to hear that the Falkland Islands with its Dependancies comprises an area of 3,500,000. square miles, nearly twice the size of India and about one fifth of the whole British Empire. Its southern boundary is New Zealand. I expect the Governor General of New Zealand claims the honour of governing the South Pole like I do. In strict equity I suppose it would be correct to say we each govern one half. (Laughter.) We have practically a monopoly of the whale oil of the whole world. Again our territory has been the scene of many great exploring feats, and as you know Shackleton, who used to belong to your Service, is buried at South Georgia. I had the honour of dedicating his grave. Our Colony is therefore a very interesting one, and full of adventure and romance. We are all very proud of it, and I know you are too. (Loud applause.)

"I trust you will carry away with you when you leave on Monday pleasant memories of your visit, and if your memories are as pleasant as ours we shall be satisfied. Of one thing I am sure we shall all look to your next visit. (Loud and prolonged applause.)

Lieutenant Commander Knight was given a great ovation. He said "Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen. After Your Excellency's comprehensive speech I am sure everyone will realise that it is a little difficult for for me to try to speak after you. However, first of all Sir, we should like to point out that in the war the Falkland Islands was a most valuable port of intelligence. Secondly we appreciate immensely your kind remarks and also we feel the unavoidable absence of our Captain and Commander. I am sure the rest of our stay here will be just as happy and especially the Children's Party on Saturday because we expect up to 500 children and 200 parents. I would like to assure you that there is no danger to be feared from H.M.S. 'Dragon'; I do not think it will do very much damage.

"We have only been in commission a very few months and we have got to do two and a half years together but we hope that later we shall return to the Falkland Islands. We should like to come in the summer. (laughter and loud applause.) In conclusion I call upon the H.M.S. 'Dragon' to give three hearty cheers for His Excellency the Governor and to the Falkland Islands." The cheers were such as only sailors can give.

THE ASSAULT-AT-ARMS.

The Marines And The Defence Force.

Fine Displays.

"Fisticuffs" On The Fights.

Not a single person who was present at the Drill Hall on Thursday evening, when an Assault-At-Arms was given by members of the Ship's Company, (Sailors and Marines,) and members of the Falkland Islands Defence Force, could have wished for a more enjoyable entertainment. It was significant of the popularity of such programmes during the visits of any of His Majesty's Ships that every available seat was filled;— and, moreover, those present on this occasion went away conscious that, no matter how good previous displays might have been, none was better than the one they had seen that night. His Excellency the Governor was present with Commander Nollis, the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary), Major the Hon. J. Innes Moir and among others were officers from H.M.S. "Dragon" and the Defence Force.

Major Moir, as Commanding Officer of the Defence Force, made a few introductory remarks and stated that as the result of a representation to the Governor by the Commandant of the "Dragon" who deputised for Captain Bevan, His Excellency had been pleased to grant the children of Government School a half-holiday the following day (Friday).— This concession was warmly endorsed by the boys present who expressed their appreciation with a resounding cheer.

The Programme was divided into three parts preceded however, by a novel turn from Stoker W.D. Campbell who entertained the audience with the bagpipes. The members of the Defence Force provided the first part of the Programme and under their able instructor, Lieutenant W.M. Allan, produced a delightfully comprehensive exhibition of physical jerks, apparatus work and an imposing pyramid in conclusion. A word of congratulation is due not only to Mr. Allan for the way he has secured such efficiency but also to the members of the Class who executed each movement with precision making the performance a delightful spectacle. Those taking part were: G.E. Browell, H. Thomas, M. Creece, L. Aldridge, E. Pettersson, J. Pettersson, C. Evans, D. Fleuret, C. Henriksen, W. Grierson and G. Peasson.

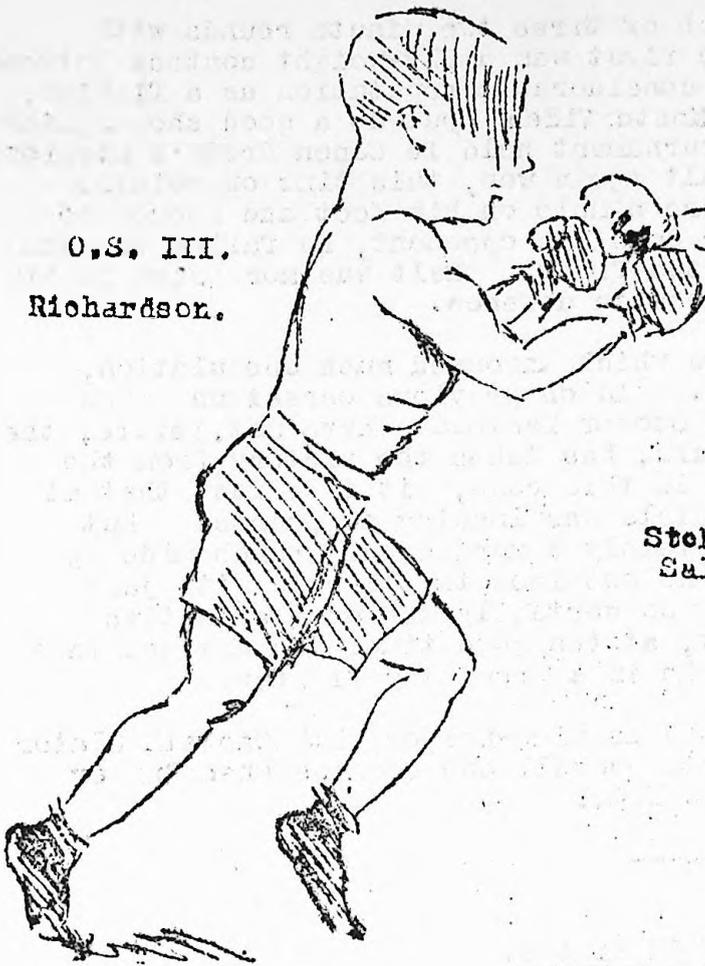

Immediately afterwards Captain McC. Slater's Marines showed how Arm Drill should be done, and with the addition of the movements being carried out by drum command, the sight of sixteen smartly dressed men going through a routine of rifle exercises, could only leave the impression of a fascinating game stimulating pleasure for what might ordinarily seem a tedious task. Those who took part in this well applauded event were Cpl. Aldous, Mns. Wright, Spener, Birch, Beeston, Larter, Lavonder, Kidd, Douse, Brazier, Burke, Harris, Brown, Murphy, Kent, Blandford, Bristow, with Bagler Durrows. Sergeant Austen was in charge of the Display.

The costumes worn by the combatants in the Bayonet Fighting, also given by the Royal Marines, are now familiar though grotesque and the demonstration of the finer points of this exercise did not suffer as a result of distracted attention and the bouts were keenly watched, the hits being warmly applauded. The results of the contests for which Captain Slater R.M. and Lieut. Allan acted as referees were: Cpl Jones beat Mn. Horton 3 - 2, Mn. Bunce beat Mn. Hambridge

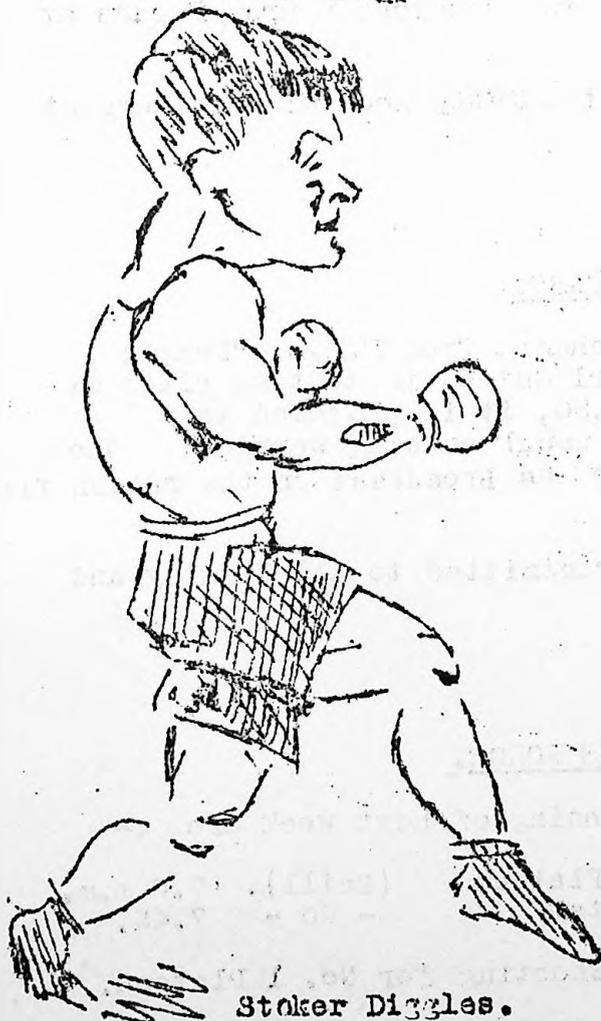

5 - 2.

The most popular part of the programme was a Boxing Display by Sailors from the Ship. An account of which has been given by "Fisticuffs" on page 41 while our artist's impressions are given on the opposite page.

O.S. III.
Richardson.

Stoker
Salt.

Stoker Diggles.

Stoker Daniels.

The Boxing.

There were two bouts, each of three two minute rounds with a minute's rest between. The first was a Fly-weight contest between O.S. III Richardson, who has a considerable reputation as a fighter, and Stoker Salt who, when in Monte-Videa put up a good show against a merchant service man at a tournament held in Canon Brady's Missions where he knocked him out. Salt again won, this time on points. Although Richardson was far more nimble on his feet and seemed to practice the policy of wearing down his opponent, he failed to make sufficient points to give him the fight. Salt was more sure in his hitting though he was not so good in defence.

The second contest and one which aroused much speculation, was between two Welter-weights. As on previous occasions when these two - Stoker Diggles and Stoker Daniels - have met, before, the first who is the older by several years, has taken the victory from the hands of the latter. Though, in this case, it is a fact that at the end of the second round Daniels was leading on points. But Diggles with a superior and certainly a more deadly punch made up the loo-way in the last round and obtained the laurels with just two points to spare. Diggles was certainly the more effective boxer and more aggressive but, at the same time, he must not take too many chances with Daniels who is a promising fighter.

Lieut. Phillimore R.N. acted as time-keeper, with Captain Slater R.M. as umpire and Surgeon Lieut. Scobell and Commissioned Gunner Law as judges and P.O. Vingoo as M.C..

H.M.S. "DRAGON'S" DEPARTURE.

We publish the following telegrams exchanged on the termination of the visit of H.M.S. "Dragon" which left Port Stanley Monday morning to continue her itinerary before returning to the squadron's base at Bermuda :-

To the Captain of H.M.S. "Dragon" :- "His Excellency has directed me to wish you all God Speed and a successful voyage. We hope you will return again before long." Secretary."

To the Captain of H.M.S. "Dragon" :- "We wish to thank the Sailors for our delightful party and hope the horse will not be very sea-sick. Children of the Falkland Islands."

To Captain Bevan :- "Please accept my sincerest wishes for a speedy and complete recovery. It has been a great sorrow to the Colony and myself that we have not been able to entertain you personally. The visit of H.M.S. "Dragon" will long remain in our minds. Good-bye. Governor."

To His Excellency the Governor :- "I am very grateful for your kind note and very glad to know that the band of which we are very proud gave such pleasure last night. May I thank Your Excellency again for all your personal interest in our visit. It has been has been so much appreciated. H.M.S. "Dragon".

To The Colonial Secretary :- "Will you please convey to His Excellency the Governor and the people of Port Stanley our warmest farewells. It has been a very happy experience for us and like a glimpse of home to have received so sincere a welcome from such kind-hearted British folk. We shall never forget our visit to this model British Colony and beg to send our best wishes for its prosperity and the happiness of all who are in it. H.M.S. "Dragon".

The proud manner in which the warship steamed out of Stanley Harbour came as a fitting climax to a most enjoyable visit. As soon as she got under weigh opposite Government House her band struck up "Auld Lang Syne" which made us all realise how sorry they were that the moment had come.

From the flag-staff of Government House His Excellency flew the signal "Good-bye, Good voyage" to which the ship promptly replied "Thank You", and himself stood on the lawn waving farewell to our gallant guests. As H.M.S. "Dragon" made her way down the Harbour she blew a blast on her steam whistle opposite the Cathedral and received a hearty response by way of cheering from those gathered on shore.

It is not an exaggeration to say that the recent visit of H.M.S. "Dragon" has been one of the most enjoyable which have been paid us in recent years by His Majesty's Ships and we very much hope that before the end of her two years' commission we shall see her again in our harbour.

SUNDAY'S CHURCH PARADE.

A more imposing ceremony could not have been witnessed than the official Church Parade held at the Cathedral on Sunday morning when a detachment of sailors and marines from H.M.S. "Dragon", the Falkland Islands Defence Force, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides attended under their respective officers. His Excellency the Governor was present accompanied Commander Nelles, the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary), officers from the ship and Mr. G.R.L. Brown (Private Secretary). Seats were retained for those on parade while a pew was reserved for the members of the Councils; and in view of the large attendance anticipated additional accommodation had been arranged for a further one hundred-and-fifty persons, a provision which proved to be ample since a number of chairs were unoccupied due undoubtedly to the bitter weather and snow squalls raging at the time.

The service was conducted by the Rev. S.E.M. Aylward assisted by Mr. T. Binnie (Lay Reader). His Excellency the Governor read the first lesson and Commander Nelles the second. The Very Reverend the Dean preached the sermon and took as his subject "Cheerfulness" instancing the words of the Cathedral Motto "Serve God and be Cheerful" - a motto, he said, they all tried to live up to in the colony in spite of the climate, the mail service and the machinations of Zachariah Fee." There were three reasons for cheerfulness - Creation, Preservation and Redemption.

After the service His Excellency the Governor took the salute at Victory Green. To the onlookers the march past was most impressive and the alacrity with which the men took the salute called for a worthy mention of praise. But even that did not out do the performance of the bands which enjoyed the unique experience of having their music picked up by microphones outside the Town Hall and relayed to listeners-in. Greatly appreciated were the sounds, faint at first but growing in volume as the parade approached. The service was also broadcast and the sick and aged who were unable to be present could not but feel a deep sense of gratitude for the convenience such an accomplishment put at their command.

THE DEFENCE FORCE WIN THE BOAT RACE.

Great excitement prevailed Sunday afternoon when a boat race took place between a crew composed of Marines from the ship and one of members of the Defence Force. Two five oar whalers from the warship were used and the course was about 2,600 yards in length stretching from Sullivan House Hulk to the Jetty.

An officer from the ship started the race with a revolver shot and both crews bent to their oars with a will and made good progress in spite of the weight of the boats. The Marines showed a great fighting determination but the Defence Force, admirably spurred on by their cox, held the lead from the beginning and as the race progressed, increased the distance between the two boats, eventually winning by a comfortable margin.

The Defence Force crew was - Sgt.-Mjr. E.J. Gleadell (cox), Sgt. J.J. Harrios (Stroke), Ptes. W. Summers, A. Bonner, L. Bonner and G. Osborne.

A MILLION MURDERED.

Heiress Involved With A Man,

Miss Susan Dora Cecilia Schintz, whose father left her over a million sterling in 1913, was said, at a meeting of creditors held yesterday in London, to have been involved with a man, acting as an agent for rubber companies, to the extent of £300,000.

Her father was Gaspard Schintz, known as the Nitrate King, and she was the owner of Ottershaw Park, Surrey's wonder house which has one of the most magnificent interiors in England.

She pressed trustees to find money to invest in shares in a tyre company, it was stated, and she also made herself liable for a number of debts of the agent or his companies.

The only free assets were household furniture valued at £7,500, motors £200, jewellery £70. A trustee was appointed.

PESHAWAR IN DANGER.

Afridi Tribesmen Gather.

6 R.A.F. Squadrons In Action.

It is estimated that between 5,000 and 10,000 Afridi tribesmen, the most powerful and warlike of the Indian frontier tribes, have gathered with the intention of making a concerted attack on Peshawar.

Six squadrons of the Royal Air Force are actively engaged in bombing operations and the Peshawar garrison have moved out into positions on the Khajuri Plain in readiness for the expected attack.

The Khyber Pass country is the nerve centre of the north-west frontier and has always been a region of smouldering unrest while Peshawar is the gate-way of British India and as the most important garrison on the frontier. It obtains its water supply from a point where the Bara River debouches into the Plain where the Afridis are gathering.

M. CALS AND THE MISSING LEE.

British Press Sarcastic.

The Paris press bristles with indignation at the sarcastic comments made by the London press on the theory advanced by the Chief of the Police at Marseilles, M. Cals, in solution of the missing British Consul at Marseilles, Mr. Lee - that Lee has been spirited away with the connivance of the British Secret Service and would re-appear at a fitting moment.

The theory has been characterised by the London "Daily Express" as "a confession of baffled impotence". In an interview M. Cals, however, reiterated the conviction that Lee is in perfect safety and has been provided with a new personality by the British Intelligence Service which, it is alleged, has employed him.

The action has caused considerable surprise as, after returning from Reno where she secured a divorce from her husband Sir James Heath early in May, she made a number of public appearances and her health seemed quite good.

It is revealed that Lady Heath entered a Sanatorium last week for treatment in respect of her nervous condition which, apparently, was the out-come of a flying accident a year ago.

They are - the Misses Davis and Oliver - who, it is alleged, have systematically spied out closely guarded secrets of the French leading dress-makers' latest fashions either by bribing the designers or, by posing as American millionairesses, copying dresses by ingenious tricks during private mannequin parades.

FIGHTING AT PESHAWAR.

British Casualties.

The situation at Peshawar on the north-west frontier of India continues to be confused and reports are conflicting. However, it appears that the Afridis attack on the city failed to materialise though there were some skirmishes with British troops rounding up the invaders.

On Saturday bombing planes attacked the strongholds of the tribesmen in the Bara Valley.

A later message states that Peshawar, the British stronghold which commands the Khyber Pass, was the scene, on Saturday, of desperate fighting with attacking Afridis and British casualties are reported.

The Afridis entered the mobilisation store-room or warehouse outside the walls and were only driven out after fighting lasting three hours. The Afridis advance appeared to be general for they were engaged in two other places. In fighting at Shandu British cavalry casualties are reported.

A message received last night stated that, the Afridis, fired with the prospect of loot, reached the outskirts of the city and penetrated to a short distance of the British Cantonment, cutting all telephone wires leading out of Peshawar and causing a stoppage of all the trains. Several casualties were inflicted on defending troops.

The tribesmen, about 10,000 strong pushed on despite the punishment received from the R.A.F. bombers. The first cavalry Brigade which includes the 15th/19th Hussars attacked the Afridis and an armoured train was despatched from Lahore yesterday.

The latest message from the district which was received in London yesterday afternoon stated that fighting was still going on.

HARRODS' HAND-WRITING COMPETITION.

Local Successes.

As has been previously announced in the "Penguin", two teams, one of eleven boys and the other of eleven girls were entered from the Colony this year for the Challenge Shields for Hand-writing, presented annually by Messrs. Harrods Limited.

The results of the competition have just been received in the Falklands and are particularly gratifying to us in so much as, although the teams did not figure amongst the prize winners the local scholars :- Jeannie Thomson and Robert F. Hannaford, have been awarded Certificates of Merit.

The Certificates are at present being engraved and will be forwarded to the Colony later when suitable arrangements will be made for a public presentation.

In his Report on the Competition, Mr. Richard Burbidge states that over 50,000 entries were received this year and that the task of adjudication was a very difficult one indeed.

Mr. Burbidge also states that he would like to take the opportunity of congratulating Stanley School upon the high standard of writing obtained.

On our part we too, have to congratulate the teams and the individual scholars concerned most heartily and at the same time we are not forgetful of their teachers who must share in the credit of this capital achievement.

We trust that the stimulus thus given to the local children will encourage them to work with renewed enthusiasm and that the teams entered next year for the Competition may either be the winners or figure high in the list of the awards.

The names of the Stanley Government School teams which were entered are :-

Girls.

Sir Percival Phillips writing from Atlantic City, United States, to the "Daily Mail" says - "Can anything more absurd be imagined than a man sitting astride a fifteen inch disc at the top of a flag-pole, 150 feet high - sitting there continuously for forty-nine days and nights?"

"Let us contemplate 'Shipwreck Kelly'. This gentleman has been a bright and particular star of Atlantic City's holiday crowd. I saw him sitting overhead and the longer I looked the more foolish he appeared.

"'Shipwreck Kelly' is a sailor who was compelled by accident at sea to adopt a cramped position until rescued. His experience incited him to try further efforts at discomfort for business reasons".

"As the liner will have a displacement of over 70,000 tons and a speed of over thirty knots, this new idea should be of great value as an armed merchant ship in war time.

"Provision is to be made in the ship for heavy armament. The hull will be built on the lines of modern warships in regard to the construction of water-tight compartments as a protection against ramming."

TARIFF ON IMPORTED MANUFACTURED GOODS.

Ten Per Cent.

"Toying With Idea".

The "Daily Mail" political correspondent announces that the Premier and the Secretary for the Dominions are said to be toying with the idea of imposing a tariff of 10% on imported manufactured goods.

The report comes from a well informed source. It will be no surprise to learn that Mr. J.H. Thomas will be prepared to take this step for among his colleagues in the Government he is regarded definitely as a Protectionist. Though it is also known that Mr. MacDonald would consider it as indicative of weakening his adherence to Free Trade which he has hitherto always supported.

That the Premier even considers such a proposition is explained by the fact that the suggested duty should be imposed "for revenue purposes." The thoughts of the Premier are turned to tariffs by fear of the Government having to raise fresh taxation in the next Budget owing to the severe drain of unemployment benefit on the resources of the country.

RETURN TO THE WEST.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Scott will regret to learn of their intention to return to New Island by the s.s. "Aleurus" which leaves to-day. It is always a pleasure to people in Stanley to welcome their Camp friends and their enjoyable company is much missed on their departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott have shown much interest in the Spinning Movement which is organised by the Girl Guides Local Association and, during her stay in the town, Mrs. Scott has had lessons in the craft. They are taking a spinning wheel out to New Island with them and hope to put it to a pleasurable and profitable use.

We wish them and their fellow passengers a pleasant voyage.

"THE HODSON PRIZE".

The final of the "Hodson Prize" Billiard Competition was played off last night at the Working Men's Club between Mr. D. Biggs and Mr. C. Thompson. His Excellency the Governor was present and "spotted off" and at the conclusion presented the prize which was given by himself to Mr. C. Thompson who easily beat his opponent by 201 as against 80 in a match of 300 up. The winner played confidently from the start; his shots, even the flukes, were beautifully clean but he could not make a break of more than 15. The loser who was also presented with the runner's-up prize by His Excellency, seemed right off his useful form and only seemed to be able to build his score up with single "in off reds". Mr. McNichol, the Chairman, introduced the Governor at the conclusion of the match in a nice speech. His Excellency responded in a few words and promised to present the Club with a book on billiards - this thoughtful and generous offer being loudly acclaimed by the members present who accorded him three hearty cheers on the proposition of their Chairman.

witness box nor again by his evident reluctance to submit to the jurisdiction of the Court.

"The unanimous finding, therefore, of the Bench is that defendant is Guilty of the charge on which he stands before it.

"The affixing or engraving of anonymous drawings or writings - known to the ancients as "grafitos" - is a cowardly and a cruel practice and one which is invariably most difficult to bring home to its author. It is despicable partly because it seeks to harm or to hurt a member or members of the community without giving the opportunity for self-defence or retaliation. A man who is guilty of such a practice bears evil in his heart and is a craven to boot. He is not fit to consort with or live among right-minded citizens. He is a menace to society.

"And such an one are you prisoner at the bar. Ponder it well and ask yourself whether you are not ashamed and whether you have not brought shame on all who love you or call themselves your friends.

"The practice of anonymous writings of this sort has, unhappily, not been uncommon in Stanley but this is the first case of its kind that has come before the Court, at any rate for some years past. - and the police are to be warmly complimented on their energy and acumen in following up the scanty clues from which they had to begin.

"In a small community such as ours the practice is all the more dangerous and insidious and for the sake of the public peace and safety it must be firmly stamped out. But in giving sentence the Bench has decided not to make an example of you, prisoner at the bar, and not to award the extreme penalty - of one month's imprisonment with hard labour - which you may well be held to have deserved. It has taken into careful account your comparatively young years and the good name which you have hitherto borne and, in the hope that you will profit in the future more by its leniency than by its severity, given sentence in a fine of twenty shillings - and let others take warning herefrom."

Another Terrible Scare.

A cyclone raged throughout Naples yesterday when houses were unroofed and many, with the earthquake fresh in their minds, leaped from their beds in panic and crowded in the streets.

Most casualties and damage were reported from Poggioreale, an agricultural market town which suffered severe damage. The market where business was just starting was filled with people, cattle, horses and carts. The beasts stampeded through the crowds and many people were injured.

Carts, and baskets of fruit, and even people and oxen were lifted bodily.

A wall ten foot high and 150 yards long collapsed, burying people who had huddled close to it for shelter.

The Duchess of Aosta, the wife of King Emanuel's cousin, drove from the Royal Palace personally to care for the injured.

The airship wirelessed that the weather was fair. Good following winds are predicted particularly over the eastern half of the Atlantic.

OVER TWO YEARS IN THE ANTARCTIC.

Research Ship's Return.

The following interesting report has been extracted from the "Daily Telegraph" of the 16th of June, 1930 :

After two and a half years in the Antarctic engaged in exploration and research work, the whaler William Scoresby arrived yesterday in the Thames to pay off.

The vessel, which berthed in St. Katherine's Dock, near the Tower, is of 800 tons, and was built in 1926 for the Government of the Falkland Islands.

In the following year she was borrowed by the Discovery Committee, and she took out experts to study the breeding seasons and the general conditions of whales in southern waters and to carry out other work, including the taking of soundings, the testing of deep sea water, and the study of ice drifts. In the course of the cruising many uncharted lengths of coast-line were found.

On one occasion in the dark months the vessel was found to be heading towards a huge mass of ice. This was afterwards measured and found to extend 160 miles in length, eleven in breadth, and 70 ft in height.

Sir Hubert Wilkins was on board the William Scoresby with his aeroplane pilot, looking for a run-away to start on the proposed flight to the South Pole in February last, when the absence of any news for a fortnight caused much anxiety for the safety of the explorer.

The "Daily Mirror" of the same date writes of the home-coming of the R.R.S. William Scoresby in the following strain :

H.M. sloop William Scoresby (port of registration, Port Stanley, Canada) arrived at Katherine's Dock, London, yesterday afternoon.

Captain Irvin, the commanding officer, stated that the ship had been on research and exploration work for two and a half years, and had returned from South Georgia to pay off.

Stanley has evidently been confused with Port Stanley on Lake Erie, Canada.

Captain Irvin took over the command of the ship from Captain Shannon when the Scoresby reached Cape Town.

Martial Law has been proclaimed in Peshawar says a message from Simla. More troops, including the Second Infantry Brigade, have been moved to the frontier.

The proclamation is the sequel to the fighting which has been going on for a week round this vital frontier stronghold. British & Indian troops of all arms have been engaged against the warlike Afridi tribes-men.

Reports yesterday showed that the situation was quieter but the official statement describes it as still one of considerable gravity and danger.

I believe this to be the best team in any circumstances and weather.

"I certainly include Parker. In my opinion he is the best left-handed bowler we possess. I omit Wysall because I do not think he is the type of batsman who would face Grimmett with real confidence."

COLD AS CRIME CURE.

Law-Abiding "Ho-Men" Of Antarctic.

Strange Life Of Whalers.

Our readers will be greatly interested in the following article which appeared in a recent issue of an Edinburgh paper :

Does cold weather prevent crime ? This question is raised by an official report of the Falkland Islands which states that no serious crime came before the Courts at Stanley or South Georgia - where men freeze when not catching whales - during the period under review.

"Despite trying conditions," the report adds, "the personnel of the whaling industry forms a peaceful and law-abiding community, calling seldom, if ever, for the intervention of the civil authorities."

The revenue of the Falkland Islands Dependencies, the report states, is derived almost entirely from the whaling industry, which has brought increasing prosperity to the Islands. No less a sum than £933,581 was raised through the sale of whaling licences, et cetera, in the five years ending December 31st 1928. The entire population of 1,500 at South Georgia is devoted to the industry.

Travelling Teachers.

Crime is not the only feature that is lacking in the Falkland Islands. There are no railways; no roads, outside Stanley; no inland telegraph system; no unemployment; no epidemics, and little illness; no lunatics; and no hotels.

The Islands possess three wireless stations, an efficient hospital travelling school teachers, a daily newspaper with a circulation of 200, and a jail which is seldom used.

SPRING.

At Home, inundations of the "first cuckoo" announce the dawn of Spring but in the Falkland Islands a less elusive though just as voluble a "bird" breaks forth into song with the first glimmer of the sun. After months of wretchedness, Saturday and yesterday giving us wonderful cloudless weather, all these harbingers sallied forth in all their glory, haunting their favourite lair, heedless of the importunities underfoot and the fear of cramping their style. But golfers can stand anything otherwise these words would not have appeared.

POLICE CONSTABLE KILLED.

Knocked Down By Car.

A search is being made for the occupants of a car which knocked down and fatally injured Police Constable Lawes on Saturday night.

Lawes was speaking to a police sergeant in Garratt Lane, Wandsworth when a car approached, without lights and at a very high speed.

The constable signalled to the driver to stop but instead of doing so the car swerved towards him; he was knocked down and run over.

For a moment the car seemed to be out of control for it mounted the pavement and narrowly missed the sergeant who ran to the help of his colleague. The driver, however, righted the car and got away.

Scotland Yard were informed and the roads in the district were searched by the Flying Squad. The fugitives' car was found abandoned a quarter of a mile away. It had been stolen from a garage a few minutes before it struck the constable.

SLAVE TRAFFICKER AS MONK.

Tries To Abscond With Nuns.

A "Daily Mail" message from Rome reports of how an alleged slave trafficker obtained an entry into a convent and nearly kidnapped three nuns at Baldissero.

The man, in the guise of a Benedictine monk came to the convent with a girl who, he said, had just arrived from Kalfi where her family had been killed by the earthquake.

The abbess agreed to receive the girl and invited the monk to remain a few days as a confessor.

One day he obtained the consent of the abbess to take a nun and two novitiates to church. But learning from the gardener that a motor-car was concealed near the convent with three monks, the abbess became suspicious and informed the police.

On their arrival they recognised in the pseudo monk a notorious white slave trafficker and arrested him.

THE FINAL TEST MATCH.

Win Or Lose !

The final Cricket Test Match between England and Australia began at the Oval on Saturday morning. Of the four matches already played England won the first by ninety-three runs, Australia the second by seven wickets, the third was drawn and the fourth was abandoned as a draw owing to bad weather,

The final match will be played to a finish so that there will be a definite result to the series of matches. When England went out to bat the weather was fine and bright and the wicket good.

The final constitution of the English team is :- Wyatt - captain, Duleepsinhji, Peebles, Hobbs, Sutcliffe, Larwood, Duckworth, Hammond, Tate, Leyland, and Whysall with Hendren as the twelfth man.

Australia's team is :- Woodfull - captain, Kippax, Ponsford, Bradman, McCabe, Oldfield, Grimmett, Wall, Hornibrook, Fairfax, Jackson.

England won the toss and, in electing to bat, sent Hobbs and Sutcliffe out to open the first innings. In just under the first hour's play the score stood at twenty runs without a loss. Hobbs had made thirteen and Sutcliffe six. There was one extra.

At the close of play England had made 316 for five wickets.

The full score was :-

Hobbs	d. Kippax	b. Wall	47.
Sutcliffe	Not	Out	138.
Whysall	l.b.w.	b. Wall	13.
Duleepsinhji	c. Fairfax	b. Grimmett	50.
Hammond		b. McCabe	13.

Total for five wickets 316.

From the fall of the fifth wicket the partnership of Sutcliffe and Wyatt yielded one hundred and nineteen runs:

THE RETURN OF THE R. 100.

Development Of British Airships.

The Airship R. 100 was sighted from Cardington Aerodrome at 9.40 Saturday morning, Greenwich Mean Time, and dropped her mooring cable at 10.30. Having left Montreal at 1.30 on Thursday last she has accomplished the three thousand mile homeward journey in fifty-seven hours.

The Airship was sighted off the south-west coast of Ireland at 2.45 Saturday morning and proceeded due east to Lundy Island. She passed up the Bristol Channel and was off Newport at 8.30 and thence shaped her course to Cardington.

Lord Thomson, the Air Minister, Sir Sefton Brancker and other representatives of the Air Ministry were at Cardington Aerodrome awaiting the Airship.

Conditions of light and wind interfered to some extent with mooring operations but the Airship was safely secured at 11.0 a.m..

As soon as the Airship was safely moored customs officers went aboard to "clear the ship". When the formality had been completed the passengers came off and were greeted at the top of the tower by Lord Thomson and Air Commodore Holt, representing Air Marshall Sir John Higgins.

Lord Thomson congratulated Wing Commander Colmore on having accomplished the first stage in the development of British airships and added :-

"I wish to convey through my heartiest congratulations to Squadron Leader Booth for his excellent handling of the Airship and to all the officers and the crew for the magnificent work they have done in circumstances which have provided a searching test not only for their efficiency but also of the sound construction of the R. 100.

"I wish also to express my high appreciation of the work of all who have been responsible for the design and the construction of the R. 100 and to pay a special tribute to the officers and staff in charge of the ground organisation which has worked perfectly throughout the flight."

PROGRESS OF THE TEST MATCH.

England "All Out" Before Lunch.

England were all out before lunch yesterday, the second day's play in the final and decisive Test Match, with a score of 405 runs.

The Australian innings opened with Ponsford and Woodfull. They gave an exhibition of confident cricket, Woodfull playing cautiously while leaving it to Ponsford to do the scoring. The latter was out when the score stood at 151 having contributed 110 while Woodfull's wicket fell at the 190 mark, the captain having made 64. At the close of play the Australian score was 215 for two wickets.

A later bulletin last night said that the attendance was 30,000. A brief shower and bad light hindered play after tea.

RUBBER CRISIS.

The question is being asked in London - Will the Government re-impose the restriction on the rubber output to save the plantation industry? Rubber has fallen to 4<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> pence per pound which means that the plantations are producing rubber at a loss.

A foremost authority commenting on the possibilities of the situation said to the "Daily Mail" yesterday "It all rests with the Dutch for without their cooperation the Government can hardly be expected to make a second experiment like the Stevenson scheme. The Dutch attitude at the present is that the supply demands that the laws should not be interfered with."

On the British side the most important interests favour restriction.

---O---O---

THE SITUATION IN INDEA.

Considerable Gravity And Danger.

Heavy Native Casualties.

In an appreciation of the situation in India, by the Indian Government, up to the 18th of August, it is stated that the focus of interest in the tribal situation during the week has been the activities of an Afridi lashkar in the Peshawar district and on the district border.

Detachments from the main lashkar which got into the district last week remained there at varying strength. Numerous and large gangs concealed themselves in the thickly wooded belt to the south and the south west of Peshawar and amongst the ravines further to the east, and were a constant source of trouble and anxiety to the authorities.

They also made several unsuccessful attempts in smaller parties to enter the city by night and the cantonments. Taking advantage of the cover afforded by the high crops they were generally able to elude the military whose efforts were directed to their expulsion. For this reason decisive military action against them is difficult at present. Moreover they have undoubtedly received shelter and food, and even active assistance from some of the villages in the neighbourhood of Peshawar. At one time they succeeded in cutting all communication with Peshawar and one party forced its way into a supply depot where it did damage before being driven out.

The Orakzai situation has remained uncertain. A number of the Orakzai undoubtedly have accompanied the main Afridi lashkar and some took part in the activities inside the Peshawar district. On the Kurram border overt action was taken against the Government by a section of the Orakzai with their neighbours, the Chamkannis, who made an attack on the militia and villages in the Kurram Valley. The Militia and village levies engaged them with good spirit.

Prompt and very successful air action was taken against hostile formations and, after due warning, against villages from which they came. Heavy casualties are believed to have been inflicted and considerable damage was done to the villages of more prominent hostile leaders. The prompt and heavy punishment undoubtedly had a sobering effect on the tribes concerned. By the end of the week the number of Afridis remaining in the Peshawar district had greatly decreased and so also had the main body of the lashkar in the vicinity of the Khajuri Plain.

Nevertheless, the situation continues to be one of considerable gravity and danger. Communal disturbances in the Sind have spread over a large area on both sides of the Indus and a serious position has developed. The population of the villages is almost entirely Muhammadan with a small section of Hindu money lenders and traders to whom many of the Muhammadans are indebted. The communal feeling is therefore aggravated by economic causes and when, as in the present instance the trouble extends into the rural areas, it takes the form of violence towards and looting of the small Hindu population. It is feared that the loss of life and property has been considerable. Outside the north-west province and the Sind there has been a comparative absence of incidents during the week.

The "Daily Mail" Clydebank correspondent writes that an army of workmen in John Brown's ship yard there is preparing the cradle for the new Gunardor which is to be the largest ship in the world.

The slipway, which is already the birthplace of the world's largest warship - H.M.S. "Hood", is being extended to accommodate the keel.

At the present rate of progress the first plates should be laid before the end of the year. It is probable that the vessel will have only two funnels.

"I am told at Brown's", the correspondent continues, "that the Americans think that the amount of power is reflected by the volume of smoke put out, but we have come to the conclusion, however, that anything savouring of unnecessary weight is likely to reduce the speed. The vessel has got to have speed."

The Clyde may have to be widened to launch the boat.

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN'S END.

The beautiful Kitty Giradi, the wife of the Viennese actor, has killed herself because she refused to live without the love of her husband whom she adored.

Her's is a tragic history. Her first marriage with a wealthy banker terminated with a divorce. Two years ago she met Giradi. She madly fell in love with him or might have hesitated to marry a man with such a stormy past. His two earlier wives both committed suicide after he had squandered their fortunes.

Recently the Giradis came to Berlin where the husband instituted divorce proceedings. Kitty declared that life without him was intolerable.

THE CENSORSHIP OF FILMS.

Education Among Primitive Peoples.

Report Of Colonial Committee.

The Report of the Colonial Films Committee is issued. The Committee, under the chairmanship of Sir William Brass, Member of Parliament, was appointed in March 1929 by Mr. Amery, the then Secretary of State for the Colonies, to "examine the existing arrangements for the supply and censorship of cinematograph films for the public, exhibited in the Colonies, Protectorates and Mandated territories and to consider in what way these arrangements could be improved".

There are also issued the findings of the Colonial Office Conference on the Committee's Report and the despatch from the Colonial Secretary to the Administrations of the Colonies, Protectorates or Mandated territories, indicating the action which it is proposed is to be taken.

The Committee's Report suggest various practical measures by which a plant can be installed and experiments begun with a view to developing the use of the film in education, especially with primitive peoples, and not only for children but also for adults.

As regards the supply of British films, the Committee points out that at present the market in the Colonial Empire is largely dominated by foreign films. Apart from the existing cinemas they call attention to the possibility that in certain directions the market may expand rapidly.

For example there are only thirty-eight cinemas in British territory in tropical Africa though the population is approximately thirty-six millions.

They call attention to the importance of taking steps now in order that British films may get a footing in the market. They accordingly suggest the creation of a small central organisation in London under the auspices of the Federation of the British Industries to act as a centre for the supply of British films.

A small Government guarantee is suggested during the initial year of operation of the Supervisory Board for the organisation.

On the question of censorship the Committee point out the danger of demoralising films. They suggest certain measures for stiffening local censorship arrangements and also suggest that the proposal for a central Censorship Board in London of all films going to tropical Africa should be carefully examined in the Colonial Office.

They point out, however, that apart from the negative aspect of censorship the positive aspect of fostering the supply of good films must also be considered.

THE AMERICA CUP.

To Race Against The Shamrock.

The eyes of Americans were focussed on Newport, Rhode Island, in the United States where the first of a ten-days series of races was staged yesterday. The races are being held to decide who is to have the honour of defending the America Cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock V".

The contest which was to have taken place yesterday was to have been between the House of Morgan and the House of Vanderbilt. The "Weltanive" is the sloop backed by the Morgan millions and the "Enterprize" is the chief rival which was being raced by Harold Vanderbilt.

Meanwhile the "Shamrock V" has been inspected by crowds of yachting experts who are most impressed. The "Shamrock" is to be launched to-day after the arrival of Sir Thomas Lipton and is to be taken for a trial spin as soon as possible. Anxieties regarding the condition of the "Shamrock's" hull are groundless for an examination has revealed it to be in as sound a condition as when launched at Gosport.

THE R. 101.

Trials Before Leaving for India.

When the airship R. 101 is taken out for her trials before leaving for India, her gross lift will be about 172 tons as compared with the 156 tons of the R. 100.

She will have gained an extra lift of fifteen tons by the insertion of an extra bay and a further six tons by various modifications. One compression ignition starting engine has also been obtained to take the place of one of the petrol engines used hitherto. If it is a success four others will be obtained for the remaining engine-cars and then the R. 101 will carry no fuel but heavy oil.

It is the aim of the Airship Department to do without petrol particularly for voyages in the tropics.

One other improvement may yet be completed before the ship sails. It is believed that the problem has been solved of making one of the engines reversible without losing any power and a special wooden propeller is now being made for fitting to this engine. Success in this respect will allow the ship to use all the other engines instead of reserving one for going astern in case of emergency.

WIRELESS ON THE FALKLANDS.

A Letter To the "Times".

Sir, - I venture to think that Sir William Allerdyce's connexion with Sturdee's victory in December, 1914, is worthy of more than ordinary mention.

The fact that the outbreak of war found the Falkland Islands in possession of a wireless station and a telephone system was entirely due to the Governor's persistence, in face of strong local objections to Colonial funds being used for such purposes. His Majesty's Navy in those waters had reason to be grateful to His Excellency the Governor. The hope of destroying the wireless station was the bait that lured von Spee to his doom. The Colonial signal station on Sapper's Hill first saw the enemy; the Colonial telephone system reported them to the "Canopus". Later, on, two gallant women, reporting by telephone, secured the destruction of the auxiliary vessels "Edden" and "Santa Isabel".

Thursday, 21st August, 1950.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
Richard F. Phillimore,
Captain of "Inflexible", December, 1914.

TROUBLES WITH CAROL.

Insuperable Problems.

There is being played out to the finish behind closed doors in the Royal Palace at Bucharest a drama which must intrigue the world.

The unexpected return of Carol as the King of Rumania has brought problems which the statesmen of the country find insuperable.

The pride of a beautiful woman, who is the idol of her countrymen, is proving a block against which state-craft shatters. While Queen Helen is willing to meet Carol on friendly terms she will not consent to an annullment of the divorce. She is the most popular woman in the country and statesmen dare not attempt to proceed with the coronation of Carol unless Helen shares the throne.

It is thought that Carol is only half-hearted in his wishes to a complete reconciliation. He regards himself as ordained to found a dynasty of many scions and it is now no secret that Helen cannot, without great danger to her health, have more children. Moreover Carol's heart has been captured by the French girl of high degree whom he is anxious to place beside him on the Rumanian throne.

THE TEST MATCH YESTERDAY.

Rain - No Play.

Australians Honour Hobbs.

There was no play in the final Test Match yesterday owing to rain.

The newspapers yesterday expressed much appreciation of the unexpected demonstration which the Australians had arranged Wednesday evening when Hobbs went out to play his last innings in Test Match cricket.

As Hobbs came to the wicket the Australian players gathered in a ring round him a few paces distant and, on a signal from their Skipper, Woodfull, took off their caps and hold them aloft. On Woodfull's lead they gave him three short staccato cheers.

An observer says - It was one of the most moving tributes he had ever seen paid on the cricket field. Hobbs' record in Test matches is a wonderful one.

He first played in Australia in 1908. He has had seventy-one innings, four times not out with a highest score of 187. His aggregate number of runs is 3,636 and an average of 54.26.

WEDDING OF MISS ROSE ROBSON AND MR. H.E. SLADE.

Wednesday's Charming Ceremony.

(Contributed.)

The wedding took place at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Wednesday, of Miss Rose Robson and Mr. Harry E. Slade. Miss Rose Robson is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Robson of Port Louis and Port Stanley. Mr. Slade is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Slade of Norton's Summit, South Australia and has been associated with the Colony for the past three years, being employed as a wireless operator. Mr. Slade is also deputising as Instructor to the Signal Section of the F.I.D.F. during the absence of Second Lieutenant F.A.W. Byron who has gone Home on leave.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked radiant and as glowing as the heart of a rose, and wore a gown of white Celanese Satin with a bodice of lace, ornamented with diamante lovers' knots, and veil and coronet. The flared skirt, dipping to the ankles, made a very charming bridal gown. She also wore silver shoes and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses, lilac, and fern presented by Mrs. George Perry. Her only ornament was a medallion in gold of the Blessed John Bosco, the founder of the Salesian Community of which St. Mary's is a branch. The beautiful medallion was the gift to the bride from The Rev. Father Migone.

In attendance on the bride were, her sister Miss Patricia Robson and her cousin Miss Norah Biggs, looking chic and attractive in beige coloured Cashmere gowns, trimmed with Radium coloured lace, giving a capo effect in Old World style. They wore exceedingly dainty caps of the same material, and carried bouquets of pink Carnations, each having as an ornament a sweet gold brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridegroom had Mr. E.W. Beardmore as his best man.

The bride's mother wore an attractive gown of Mole velvet, with a coat of Mauve and Oxydised lace.

The service was performed by the Rev. Father Migone and two special hymns were sung by a numerous congregation whilst Sister Rose played appropriate wedding music on the organ. It was a wedding as simple and sweet as could be. As the happy pair came smiling from the church, they were showered with rice by the waiting crowd.

- o -

A reception was afterwards held by the bride's mother at "Rosemont" where the large number of beautiful and costly gifts were displayed. The function proved most pleasant and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Besides the Bridal party those present were :- The Hon. M.C. and Mrs. Craigie-Halkett, Mr. and Mrs. V.A.H. Biggs, Miss Swain, and Beryl, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. A. Biggs and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pitaluga, Mr. and Mrs. Enestrom, Mr. and Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Dailie, Mr. L.B. White, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Robson, Mr. C. Halkett, Mr. T. Robson, Mrs. G. Robson, Miss Sallis, Mrs. Smith and Eileen and Miss Elaine Halkett.

In the evening a dance was given in the Town Hall where some three hundred guests assembled. Mr. J.F. Summers with his assistants was responsible for the delicious refreshments and the handsome five tier wedding cake which was an enormous attraction as it stood in the centre of the table. The dance music was supplied by the "Stanley Sheiks" and the "Stanley Jazz Band" while Mr. W.J. Davies was M.C.; Mr. Davies also rendered to the greatly appreciative throng his now well-known wedding song which was loudly applauded.

CAROL'S "RECONCILIATION".

As A Dictator.?

The "Daily Mail" Berlin correspondent announces that newspaper reports from Bucharest show that the situation at the court is becoming more strained than ever.

Apart from Carol's apparent determination to marry Madame Lupescu, his brother, Prince Nicholas, proposes to marry Madame Mitrescu, a beauty of a bourgeois family.

The Premier, M. Maniu, bitterly opposes these plans and insists on Carol's serious attempt to a reconciliation with Helen. The differences of the King and the Premier are so serious that it is expected Carol will reply with the proclamation of a dictatorship.

Helen is now at a Black Sea resort and regards the arrival of Madame Lupescu at Bucharest as a sure indication that her husband is not serious in his professed desire for a reconciliation.

ECHO OF TRAGIC ARCTIC FLIGHT.

33 Years' Mystery Solved.

The remains of Doctor Salomon August Andree, the Swedish explorer whose fate has been a mystery for the last thirty-three years, is reported to have been found on an island off North Russia by a Norwegian Scientific expedition.

Andree and two companions set out in a balloon from Danes Island, Spitzbergen on July 11th, 1897 to fly to the North Pole. They were never seen again.

A report from a Norwegian expedition says that Andree's body was found covered by a thin sheet of ice and it was well preserved. His diary and other papers were found in his pockets.

The attention of the expedition was first called to the scene by the remnants of a boat and sledge, the former containing the remains of a human body.

Near Andree's remains was discovered a third body but it was unrecognisable. The camp showed signs of having been visited by bears.

The diary, which the members of the Horn Expedition discovered indicate that Andree and his companions did not crash but had survived their descent for many months and perhaps years, because they had reached a cache apparently prepared beforehand and therefore were not lacking in provisions.

This would account and explain the legend long current among the Eskimoes that three white men came from the sky carrying firearms which have been brought back to civilisation by the explorer Knut Rasmusson who found traces of balloon silk in Eskimoes huts.

As the Horn Expedition cannot return before the end of September the press suggests the Government should send an aeroplane to bring the corpse and documents home.

MOTOR T.T. RACE IN IRELAND.

Kaye Don Breaks A Rib.

The greatest motoring struggle of the century is the R.A.C. International Tourist Trophy Race which began over the Ards circuit near Belfast on Saturday. Included among the awards are prizes to the value of £1,500 given by the "Daily Mail".

Britain, Germany and Italy are each represented by their most daring drivers. The cars are the fastest ever seen on a road course and the drivers are the best in the world. Expert opinion favours an Italian victory.

There was intense rivalry in the Italian camp since Varzi and Nuvolari, are running neck and neck together for the Italian Championship. But on Friday a committee telegram was addressed to both men from the Senior Organisation of Italy to which they both belong. The message read - "We are sure that each of you, battling in a strange land, battle only for the Italian Flag and forget all personal jealousy and pride."

A sensation developed on Friday night when it was known that Caraccioli, the famous German driver, and the winner in last year's race, refused to drive. The stewards stated that they could not accept his entry of a Mercedes owing to the alleged difference in the super-charger. They gave him till 9.0 o'clock the same evening to have a new one fitted but Caraccioli said it was impossible to accept the ruling.

The first three places in the race which was won by the Italians were: Nuvolari first with an average speed of 70.88 miles an hour, Campari second 70.82, and Varzi third 70.31. The winner drove an Alfa Romeo and there were only twenty seconds between the first and second.

Cyril Paul, on a British Alvis was fourth. Kaye Don's Alfa Romeo overturned and burst into flames. Don was thrown clear with his mechanic but broke a rib.

DEAUVILLE SENSATION.

Well-Known American Lady Found Dead.

Mrs. George Southey, a young American woman and the wife of a prominent American business man, gave a birthday party last week-end at her pretty villa on the outskirts of Deauville. Mrs. Southey is well-known in Washington, New York.

Those present at the party included John B. Grimmons, the nephew of a wealthy banker in New York, Miss Diana Harris, the sister of two well-known London dancers, born in London but married in the United States to John McGoldrick, while Brunet Baschiera, one time a motor washer in a garage but now the friend and confident of Benson Rose, a member of a wealthy New York family and a member of many exclusive clubs, was also present.

After dinner on Friday the party adjourned to a neighbouring villa belonging to a friend and returned at 4.0 a.m. the next morning. Mrs. Southey fell down three small steps and cut her head open, she was carried into the villa where the doctor stitched the wound.

Mrs. Southey was excited and was given a sedative by the doctor but the party received an awful shock when they found her, later in the day, dead in bed. The event has caused a sensation in Deauville.

REVOLUTION IN PERU.

No Bloodshed.

The New York correspondent of the "Daily Mail" announces that a revolution has broken out in Peru.

With a censorship in force news is meagre but it is stated by wireless from Callao that President Leguia has sought protection at the Venezuelan Legation at Lima and that the Chief of the Police in the Capital has disappeared.

The Naval School Cadets are reported to have joined the rebel students and are fighting against Leguia's troops. It is also understood that Arequipa is controlled by revolutionary troops who have captured the Prefect and other officials. There has been no bloodshed and the revolutionaries have issued a manifesto stating that the country's economic balance has been destroyed, placing the people at the mercy of foreign money lenders, mortgaging their independence thereby and placing the sovereignty in imminent danger.

Tuesday, 26th August, 1960.

A Government communique declares that the revolution is due to a forged Army Ordinance announcing that the Government had decided to reduce the army expenses by discharging a number of officers and men and reducing the pay.

At Buenos Aires there is a report from Lima announcing that the Government has closed the Port of Mollendo to shipping, has prohibited air traffic to Arequipa and has issued a proclamation denouncing the Arequipa rising.

THEIR MAJESTIES AT GLAMIS.

Princess Elizabeth Watches Cotside.

An Attentive Royal Nurse.

A great crowd was present when the Royal train in which the King and Queen and Prince George travelled from Sandringham, stopped at Aberdeen on Saturday en route for Ballater.

The King, accompanied by Prince George, talked for some time with the Lord Provost and the Magistrates of Aberdeen who offered the King hearty congratulations on the happy event at Glamis.

All the stations on route for Ballater were decorated and their Majesties acknowledged the salutations of the crowds.

On their arrival their Majesties paid a visit to Glamis Castle where the Little Princess Elizabeth has fallen so deeply in love with her sister that she wants to nurse her all day. No baby sister could ever have had a more attentive nurse. She doesn't dollies any more she said to the nurse because she was going to nurse her "ickle sister". She watches by the cotside whenever she can.

The baby has blue eyes, brown hair and weighed 6 lbs. 11 ozs. at birth. Everyone is agreed that she is the most perfectly formed of babies they have ever seen and quite the happiest for she hardly ever cries. The shape of her lips already bears a marked resemblance to her mother's.

When making the picture "The Engineer" Chaney rode in a locomotive in a raging snow-storm with the windows open and it is believed he never fully recovered from the attack of pneumonia he contracted then.

QUEEN HELEN RETIRES.

To Seek Refuge In Cloister.

The Berlin correspondent of the "Daily Mail" announces that Queen Helen of Rumania has made up her mind to retire for ever from the Rumanian Court and seek refuge in a Cloister.

This statement is made by the Bucharest correspondent of the newspaper "National Zeitung" who says that members of the Queen's suite declare that nothing can persuade her to alter her resolution to become a nun.

The Queen went a few days ago to a little watering place on the Black Sea so that she might be away from the atmosphere of intrigue at the Court.

She has recently devoted much time to sick nursing and religious exercises. In her present retreat she occupies herself chiefly in the study of spiritual books.

The correspondent of the "Zeitung" points out that the political consequences of such a step are incalculable because Helen held such a high position in the hearts of the Rumanian nation that her disappearance behind the walls of a nunnery will cause the greatest grief.

It is assumed that Carol will do all in his power to prevent the Queen from carrying out her resolution.

Suggested Police Check To Menace.

The "Daily Mail" understands that a memorandum has been circulated from the Home Office to the Chief Constables throughout Britain suggesting a means whereby the police might be formed to check speed fiends and deal with the growing menace of motor bandits.

It is understood one suggestion is that police who patrol lonely country areas should be mounted on swift motor-cycles. As larger forces would be needed young men with special mechanical knowledge should be recruited while there should be a great aim to secure cooperation between the London police and the County constabularies. It has also been suggested that there should be a specialist section like the New York speed police.

MISSING CONSUL MURDERED ?

Newspaper Cutting Clues.

Has Mr. R.A. Lee, the Acting British Consul General of Marseilles who has been missing since the 5th of July, been the victim of a murder gang is the question put forward by the Marseilles correspondent of the "Daily Mail".

Efforts to trace Lee have revealed that he had a love affair with a pretty Swiss girl but she is unable to furnish a clue of his whereabouts.

On Tuesday, the Barcelona police informed the Marseilles police that they had arrested a man giving the name of Lazare Scornet who has been accused of a £10,000 robbery at Marseilles railway station, and his companion, Paul Dumas.

The two suspects were found to be in possession of sets of French and Spanish newspaper cuttings reporting the disappearance of Lee.

Scornet and Dumas are being brought to Marseilles to be interrogated not only in connection with the station robbery but in connection with the disappearance of Lee as well.

SMUGGLING ON SOUTH COAST.

In Fishing Boats And Yachts.

Remarkable reports have been received by the "Daily Mail" from sea-side resorts indicating that there has been a serious increase in the amount of smuggling on the south coast.

It is declared that large quantities of brandy, liqueurs, perfumes and silks are being landed in isolated places from fishing boats and yachts while it is even said private aeroplanes are used.

A correspondent staying at Lulworth Cove stated that he was offered brandy at half the price it was sold at in hotels. When he asked how it was done he was told that there was always plenty of smuggled brandy to be had by those in the confidence of the fishermen.

One system said to be used by smugglers is that of employing local trawlers to meet French trawlers and get from them the contraband goods which they land at a point where they can be conveniently loaded in motor cars.

Yachts have been found in Southampton Pool with large stores of contraband.

MR. HENRY CLAUSEN.

Well Known Stanley Figure Passes Away.

It is with the deepest regret that we record the death of Mr. Henry Clausen who passed away in his sleep just before 10.0 o'clock Wednesday evening after a short illness and at the age of 77 years.

For many years Mr. Clausen, who was born in the German Province of Schleswig-Holstein, has been a familiar and popular figure in Stanley; his personality radiated good humour. For many years he has been Stanley's only barber and hairdressor and, established in his little saloon in Jahn Street, he has waited upon his customers always with a cheery word and a never ending fund of early reminiscences full of entertainment. He had a charming manner and will be sadly missed.

Mr. Clausen first came to the Falkland Islands fifty-three years ago in the "Star of India" which put into Stanley Harbour for repairs. At the time of his death he was the only survivor of some ten or eleven others of the crew with whom he refused to continue the passage in the wind-jammer because he considered her unseaworthy. They remained behind when the ship left the Port but they never heard whether she ever reached her destination.

He worked on the schooners plying the shores for some time and later lived for many years in the camp, being well known at Saunders Island, Shallow Bay and Hill Cove. About the year 1901 he came to Stanley and settled down to the business which he managed so well up to the day he had to take to his bed.

He is survived by his second wife and four sons - Mr. Ulrick Clausen, Mr. Rupert Clausen who are in the Argentine, Mr. Fritz Clausen who is an invalid and lives in Stanley, and Mr. Victor Clausen who is also in the Argentine.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30.

Opposite the show places of Moscow, for instance, such as the workers homes and the sanitoriums, there were queues waiting for bread and clothes yet the people seemed healthy and cheerful and there were no signs of widespread distress.

"In Petrograd I was stranded but eventually got a passage as a passenger in a ship bound for Copenhagen whence I continued the journey to London by air."

AL CAPONE'S MANOUVRES.

Searface Al Capone is well served by his legal staff at Florida, so a message from New York says. His chief counsel is Vincent Giblin, the former Circuit Judge, who appeared on Thursday before a crowded court at Jacksonville and told a thrilling copy book story of how he, acting for his employer, saved the Governor of Florida from assassination.

Giblin described how he fell in with the conspiracy alleged to assassinate the Governor while keeping the authorities appraised of the plot. While awaiting the results, the conspirators were arrested and the trial consequent upon the action is expected to last several weeks.

Both the prosecution and the defence have summoned many witnesses.

SOVIET IN A BANKRUPT CONDITION.

Evident Distress.

The Moscow correspondent of the "Daily Mail" writes that Soviet Russia's bankruptcy is now evident.

The workers are deserting the mines, railways and new construction works while the official press is sounding the alarm in the largest type available while hundreds of columns are devoted to the plight of factories.

Thousands of telegrams are addressed to the authorities in Moscow pleading for fuel as the only means of preventing a stoppage and panic is evident all over the country. The peasants refuse to deliver the grain to the granaries and speculation and profiteering are at the highest point.

The populace are hoarding silver and bronze coins and food hoarding is on the increase while labour discipline has fallen to a dangerous level.

Unrest In Argentina.

Unrest prevails throughout the South American Republics with the overthrow of the Peruvian Government and Argentina is bristling with reports of a rebellion against President Irigoyen and Government House, Buenos Aires on Thursday, was like a fortified citadel with machine guns lining the roof and mounted troops patrolling the neighbourhood.

CONGRESS COMMITTEES ARRESTED.

News from Delhi announces that all the members of the All-India Congress Working Committee were arrested on Thursday and have been sentenced to six months as Class A prisoners.

The Bombay correspondent of the "Daily Mail" writes that while the Viceroy of India is patiently considering Gandhi's peace terms in Simla, the European Association Conference at Calcutta is devising means to overcome the serious situation created by his pandering to the revolution Congress Organisation and the delegates have demanded that the Congress should be suppressed instantly throughout India and its funds and properties sequestered by the Government.

The imprisonment of the ten members of the All-India Congress Working Committee removes the last of the extremist leaders who are able to claim Nationalist reputation but the Congress newspapers assert that the Civil Disobedience Campaign will proceed with undiminished vigour.

THE SITUATION IN INDIA.

Attempt To Kill Police Commissioner.

In the weekly appreciation of the situation in India by the Government of India it is stated that the Afridi Lashkar had dispersed although a few small parties still remained in the Peshawar district.

Congress emissaries from British territory are, however, reported to have passed up the Bara Valley to urge the Afridis to renew hostilities. About three thousand Afridis were present at the usual Friday Jirga last week at Bagh and an aeroplane doing reconnaissance work there was fired upon.

On the northern border of Peshawar the Haji of Turanzai and his emissaries have remained active among the upper Mahmands and Utman Khel. A jirga of two sections of the latter tribe were interviewed by a Deputy Commissioner on the 16th and they undertook to commit no more offences against the Government and to refrain from joining any hostile Lashkar and to refuse passage to any hostile lashkar of any other tribes. In view of this undertaking their eleven prisoners captured at Pallai were released.

It is clear though that the Haji has met with a good deal of success among the Upper Mahmands and possibly some part of the Utman Khel tribe and still has great hopes of raising a lashkar to attack the Peshawar district by way of Gandao.

On the Kurran border intensive bombing of the Massozai and the Chamkannis has had a very good effect. The Massazai jirga and a jirga of one section of the Chamkannis have come into Chinar to make overtures for a settlement.

On the 19th of August the Ahmadzai Chilzai collected a lashkar in the neighbourhood of Utsar and Bergawisar. Reconnaissance aeroplanes were heavily fired upon from these two points and the Militia pickets were fired on from Utsar. But thanks to the excellent defensive measures adopted by the Kurran Militia and the village levies together with the successful measures adopted by the local Afghan authorities to restrain tribes on their side of the border the hostile forces dispersed without doing material damage.

An attempt was made on Tuesday to kill Sir Charles Togart, the Police Commissioner for Calcutta. Two bombs were flung at his car as he was motoring to his office. They exploded in the road wounding his chauffeur and damaging the car but Sir Charles himself was unhurt. Leaping from the car he drew his revolver and shot one of the assailants dead and then he chased one of the other assailants who was captured by a police sergeant. A third assailant was wounded by the explosion. Sir Charles Togart, who is forty-nine has been in the Indian Police since 1901.

In the United Provinces the chief feature of the past fortnight has been the attack on the educational institutions from which the Muhammadans however, have kept aloof. There has been a very serious interference with studies at Allahabad, Benares and Lucknow Universities but a recent report in the press states that students have revolted at the first mentioned university against this interference with the future of their careers.

In the Punjab there has been a definite and practically a universal decline in Congress activities and the movement is moribund.

LONDON TO CAPE TOWN.

Journey In Eleven Days.

Imperial Airways' New Service.

The "Daily Mail" announces exclusively that plans have been completed for the opening of an Empire Air Route to South Africa in January next.

After years spent in blazing the trail and surveying the route over thousands of miles of virgin bush, jungles, rivers and lakes the first preparations are now being made by the Imperial Airways to operate a passenger and mail service which will bring Cape Town to within eleven days of London.

By steamship, the voyage takes seventeen days.

The first section to be opened will be the span of 1,500 miles between Nairobi and Cairo which is linked with Croydon and Karachi by the Indian Air Mail. It is hoped the through service to Cape Town will be in operation by March next.

The Company has dismissed all the pilots concerned and has postponed their new service.

Statistics From London.

"The lowest birthrate on record, the highest death rate since 1919, the highest known death figures from cancer and suicide - these are the surprising features published by the Registrar-General's survey for 1929", says a message from London.

The birthrate fell from 16.7 per thousand in 1928 to 16.3 and the deathrate has increased from 11.7 in 1928 to 13.4.

Cancer deaths rose from 1,425 per million to 1,437. Deaths from road accidents have increased from 4,492 in 1927 to 5,799 in 1929.

Assassin Escapes.

Francis Lowman, acting Inspector of the Bengal Police and Eric Hodson, Police Superintendent, are lying in a serious condition resulting from bullet wounds.

They were walking across the Mitford Hospital compound on Friday at Dacca, 155 miles from Calcutta, when a young Bengali approached to within fifty feet and opened fire at them with a revolver.

Mr. Sen, the hospital contractor, who witnessed the outrage, chased and caught the assassin who however, after a fierce struggle, escaped.

Sir Charles Tagart, the Commissioner of the Calcutta Police who narrowly escaped assassination last week, told a "Daily Mail" correspondent that the outrage was undoubtedly due to a terrorist organization which had tentacles in all parts of the country, particularly in Bengal and the Punjab. He said "This is the beginning. No one knows where it will end."

Congress Invitations.

Invitations to expand their trade in India have been issued to America, so a message from New York states. The invitations came from Dr. Haridas Mazumdar, a friend of Gandhi's, who is visiting the United States on behalf of the all-India Congress.

"If America wishes to relieve her unemployment," he says, "the time is ripe because of the Anti-British boycott to make contracts in India."

In a speech broadcast last Friday, Sir John Simon presented the picture of India under British rule - "I say boldly that Britain is entitled to the sympathy and support of the American people in the effort she is making to develop self-governing institutions in India." he declared.

MINISTER CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Edinburgh Street Shooting Drama.

The Rev. Peter Carmichael Marr, a well-known Church of Scotland minister was remanded on a charge of murder at Edinburgh on Saturday.

The charge was a sequel to an amazing street shooting drama earlier in the day when Mr. James Dalgleish, a master painter, was shot dead before scores of horrified on-lookers. Marr was arrested soon afterwards and brought before the Sheriff's Court.

Dalgleish was on his way to open his shop when it is alleged he met Marr and two men and stopped to speak to them. It is alleged that during the argument Marr opened an attache case and took out a revolver. A number of shots rang out and on-lookers who rushed to the scene saw Dalgleish stagger across the road and collapse. A delivery van stopped and took Dalgleish to hospital where it was found he was dead. During the confusion Marr, it is alleged, walked away with his hands in his pockets.

Both the personalities of this extraordinary drama are well-known in Edinburgh. Saturday was the anniversary of the death of Dalgleish's son who was killed in a tramway accident eight years ago.

LOOKING FOR A GANGSTER.

A Hunt In The Atlantic.

The notorious New York gangster, Jack Diamond, is believed by the United States authorities, to be on board the "Belgenland" which is due to arrive at Plymouth.

For weeks Diamond's movements have puzzled the police in New York, London, the Irish Free State and Belgium. It was first thought he was on board the "Baltic" but the commander wirelessed on Saturday that he was unable to find anyone answering the description of the missing gangster.

Throughout the afternoon a great trans-Atlantic hunt for Diamond took place. As an outcome of this aerial search it is now practically certain that he is on board the "Belgenland".

Six of his satellites are known to be in Europe, some in England, and some in Belgium. Two detectives from Scotland Yard are awaiting the "Belgenland" with instructions that "in no case is Diamond to land". The liner goes on to Antwerp.

£20,000 JEWELLERY ROBBERY.

Watchdog Chloroformed.

Jewellery to the value of £20,000 was stolen on Sunday from the Surrey home of Miss Betty Hulton, the daughter of the late Sir Edward Hulton.

The robbery was carried out with Raffleslike skill. The police believe an expert cracksmen followed Miss Hulton home and carried out the theft while she slept and left the country by air for the continent.

The jewels were stolen from a safe in the bath-room adjoining Miss Hulton's bedroom. A borzoi hound lay at the foot of her bed all night undisturbed but a retriever watchdog in the grounds was found chloroformed.

Miss Hulton, the beautiful golden-haired girl, said "He must have known everything about my movements and the exact locality of the jewels in the safe. The jewels were in the house for the first time. I brought them myself from a hotel in London on Saturday night. I admire the nerve of the man who carried out the robbery within touching distance of me or practically so."

DETROIT TO BUDAPEST BY AIR.

A £2,000 Prize.

Captain George Andrezek and Lieutenant Alexander Magyar arrived at Detroit with their aeroplane "Justice For Hungary" in readiness for their attempt to win Viscount Rothermere's £2,000 for the first Hungarians to fly from North America to Budapest.

The flight will be the most romantic adventure of modern times for it is hoped to arouse world wide interest in the political and economic conditions of Hungary.

The airmen left California several days ago and made a record trip from St. Louis to Detroit. It is not yet decided whether they will land at Newfoundland for fuel or whether they will re-fuel in the air. The same problem confronts them in Ireland.

The distance from Detroit to Budapest is 4,500 miles. The airmen are only awaiting favourable weather before they begin on their journey.

NEED OF HEATWAVE.

The heatwave which was responsible for sixty-five deaths in England during the past few days collapsed and was washed away by a violent thunderstorm on Saturday. There are no signs of its return and the weather is now pleasantly cool. In forty-eight hours there had been a fall of twenty-two degrees.

RAMSAY HAS A STORMY TIME.

Thunder And Lightning.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the Prime Minister, who left London by air for Lossiemouth on Friday, met with a series of accidents when his plane ran into bad weather.

After trying to make his way up the coast he turned back and landed at Gatterick. Soon after landing a violent thunderstorm broke out and the house in which the Premier was staying was struck by lightning, causing a terrific explosion and fusing all the electric wires.

The Premier, uninjured, resumed his journey in a train when the weather cleared somewhat but the train broke down at Newcastle and he missed his connection, having to wait several hours.

The Premier stated that it was the worst thunderstorm he had ever known in the country.

SCOTTISH MINE DISASTER.

5 Killed. 14 Entombed.

Acts of heroism of injured miners towards more seriously injured comrades, typical of miners' traditional bravery, occurred when the worst pit disaster known in Lanarkshire within living memory stunned the town of Blantyre with its horror on Friday.

Fourteen men were entombed, five killed and nine seriously injured as the result of a terrific fire-damp explosion. Men were working a considerable distance along the shaft and during the rush injured men carried their helpless comrades though they knew another explosion was possible at any moment. Rescue parties, wearing respirators got out the bodies of the dead.

The disaster occurred, apparently, after a firing shot. Another shot ready for firing was found in the hands of one of the dead men. Many women surrounded the pit-head in a hysterical condition.

SHADOW OF GENERAL ELECTION.

Christmas Or The New Year.

Dominating every question placed before the Trades' Unions Congress which opened in London on Monday, was the problem of the 2,000,000 unemployed.

The Unions, being reduced to bankruptcy, are determined not to sit silent while spokesmen make excuses for the promises of the Premier. They are now convinced there must be more driving force behind the attempts to cope with unemployment.

Mr. MacDonald's well known dislike for a closer co-operation with the Liberals is giving rise to renewed talk of an early General Election.

Mr. H.G. Williams, the former Conservative Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade declared on Monday - That there will be a General Election before February is one of the certainties of life".

The "Daily Mail" political correspondent writes that should Mr. Lloyd George be thwarted in his efforts to take a more effective part in the programme to lessen unemployment the challenge may come immediately Parliament opens and the General Election will follow before Christmas.

COSTES TRIES THE ATLANTIC.

Long Preparation.

"Everything O.K." was the cheery message wirelessly on Monday evening by the two French airmen Captain Costes and M. Bellonte, who were making good progress over the Atlantic in an attempt to make the first non-stop flight from Paris to New York, a distance of 3,700 miles.

They left Le Bourget Monday morning and in the afternoon were reported to be flying normally and passed over the steamer "Marie Therese" 120 miles west of Loophead, Southern Ireland. Their plan thereafter was to follow the liner routes.

Costes, who is a noted long distance flyer has been preparing for this attempt for three years. Bellonte holds the world's record for a straight line flight.

When they left Le Bourget they carried so immense a supply of fuel that the machine, one specially prepared for the occasion, weighed over seven tons, and had to have a detachable tail-chariot to enable it to rise.

"Question Mark" as the 'plane is called is capable of flying to New York in thirty-five hours. If it succeeds it should have landed yesterday afternoon.

The airmen have taken with them four bottles of champagne among their supplies.

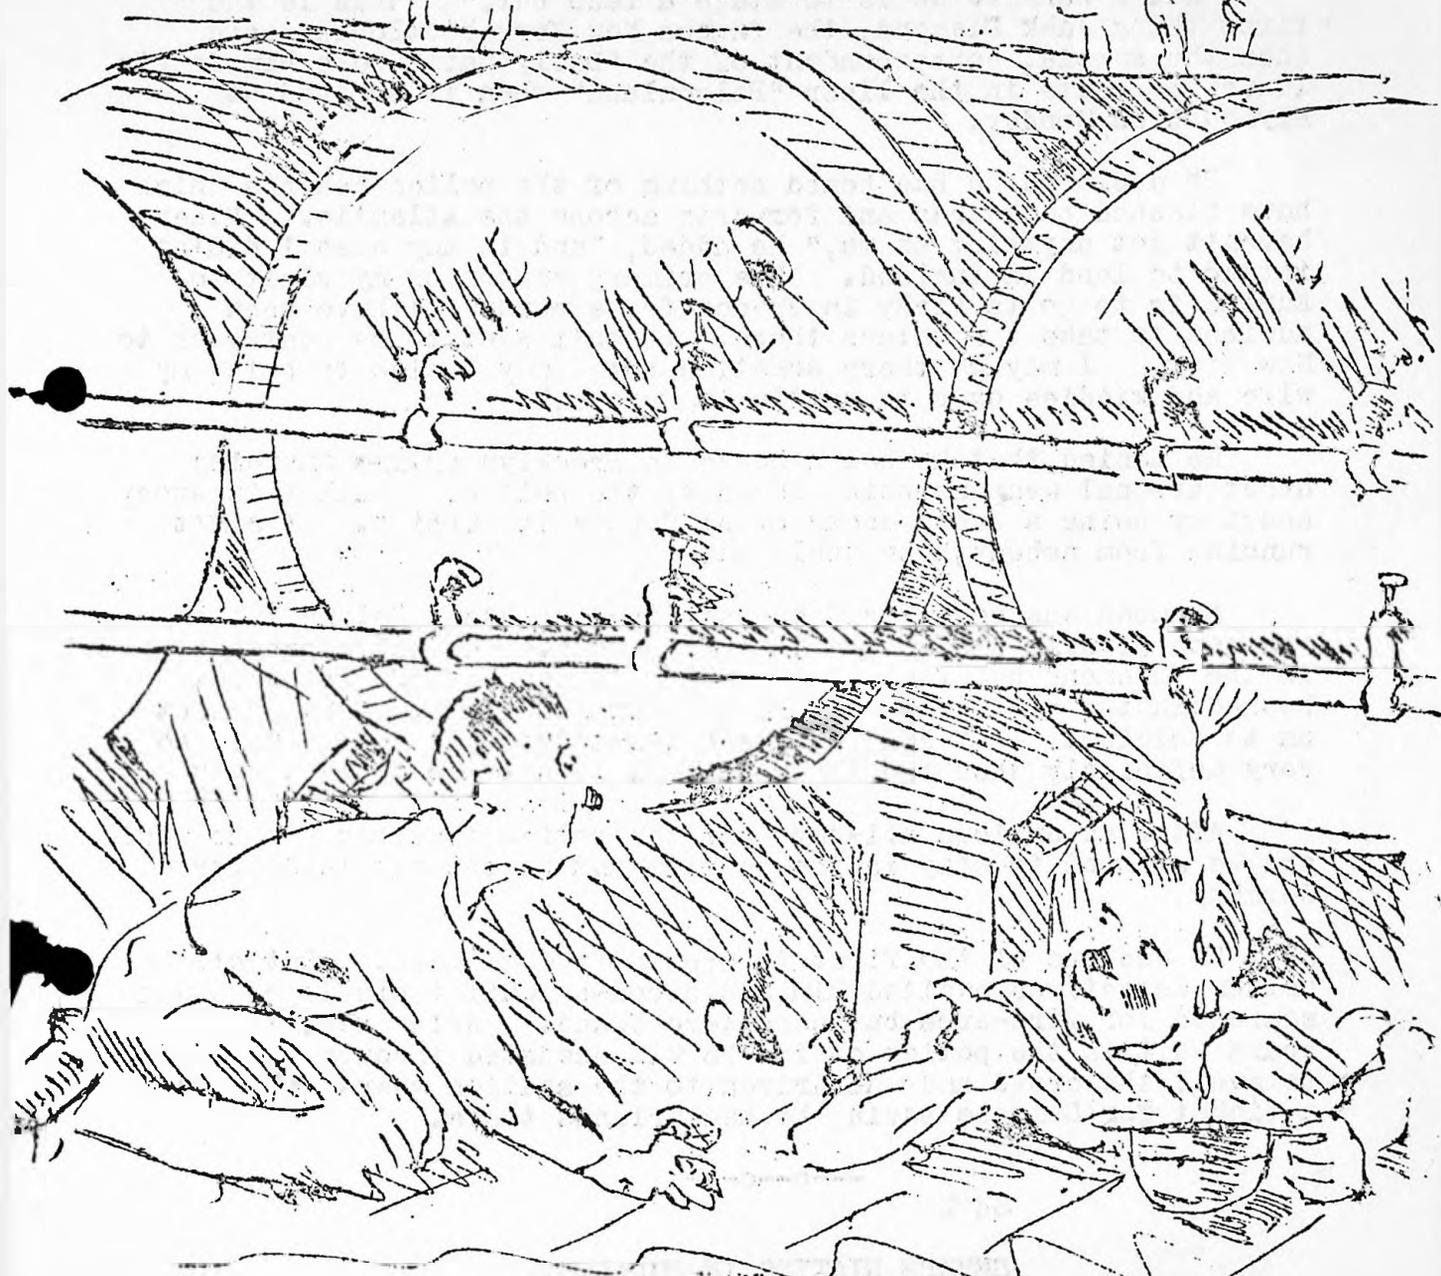

At 16.45 on Monday the 'plane was in communication with the "Berongaria".

DIAMOND DISCOVERED.

Bootlegger On The "Belgenland".

"All I wan' to do is to stage a fado out." This is the first thing Jack Diamond, the famous New York bootlegger said when the special correspondent of the "Daily Mail" woke him in his luxurious suite in the liner "Belgenland" when it arrived at Plymouth on Monday.

He declared he had heard nothing of the police reports which have flashed backwards and forwards across the Atlantic. "They haven't got anything on me," he added, "and in any case I didn't intend to land in England. The primary reason of my visit to Europe is to go to Vichy in France for a cure. I have been advised to take the waters there. I don't want to be sent back to New York. I may go there sometime but I may decide to bring my wife and kiddies over to settle in Europe."

He denied that he had a house in Brooklyn or knew anything about arsenal weapons being found by the police. "All this story about my being a sworn enemy of Al Capone is rubbish. I ain't running from nobody," he declared.

Diamond was registered on the liner as "Jack Nolan" but he was soon signing cheques as "Jack Diamond". He had a passage booked in the "Bremen" but forty police came to see him off so he re-booked in the "Belgenland". He did not land in England and went on to Belgium. But Belgium doesn't want him and he was told so very definitely when the liner arrived at Antwerp on Tuesday.

After an anxious all-day wait the police informed him he would not be allowed to stay in the country and he set out later for Germany.

He was one of the first to descend the gangway. But at the bottom detectives awaited him and stood-by whilst his luggage was searched for fire-arms but none were found. After several hours wait in the police office he was assisted through the window to avoid the crowd and was driven to the station where he booked a ticket for Cologne saying he had friends there.

SEVERE RIOTING IN BUDAPEST.

Many Injured.

Two people were killed and more than 350 injured as the result of street rioting in Budapest on Tuesday. The disturbance began during the procession of the Social Democrats' protest against unemployment and when they were joined by Communists in the Municipal Park.

The police tried to clear the streets but were stoned. Reinforcements were called and they rushed the demonstrators. They were, however so badly handled that they were compelled to open fire.

Taxi-cabs and tram-cars were overturned in attempts to erect barricades. But the rioters were eventually dispersed by mounted police with sabres and armoured cars. Police are now patrolling the city for during the rioting the demonstrators attempted to pillage shops. 127 arrests were made.

News from Buenos Aires Tuesday evening announced that Julio Bonini, the chauffeur, who has been standing his trial for the murder of his mistress in 1927, was found guilty and sentenced to twenty years penal servitude. DR. ANDREE'S REMAINS.

Lost Explorers' Return After 33 Years.

The body of Dr. Andree, the Swedish explorer, and those of his companions, who disappeared in 1897 when they attempted a balloon flight to the North Pole, are expected to arrive in Norway to-day in a small sealing vessel.

Dr. Gunner, the leader of the Horn Scientific Expedition which found the remains of Dr. Andree and his companions, in a special message, described how the discovery was made.

While they were journeying over the ice at Kvitoy, their curiosity was aroused by the discovery of an oar embedded in the frozen snow, and they began to dig. After a time skeletons and instruments were found but they had no idea that it was the remains of the Andree expedition they were bringing to light until they found the diary and Andree's body in an excellently preserved condition, leaning against a rock as if he were taking cover from the wind.

The diary consisted of only a few frozen pages believed to be a part of a larger log. It is doubtful if the pages will be readable.

Dr. Gunner is of the opinion that Andree walked southwards for several months before camping at Kvitoy.

EXPANDING FILM ENTERPRISE.

New Chain Of Theatres In Britain.

The "Daily Mail" film correspondent announces that the Paramount, Famous, Lasky Corporation, which has contracted to make films at Elstree for the next ten years, has other big British projects in view.

The Paramount Organisation proposes to build a chain of at least fifty theatres throughout the Kingdom. Thus they enter into the ordinary exhibitors' market in competition with the two big existing circuits - the Gaumont British and the Associated British Companies - which, between them, control nearly four hundred theatres.

The magnitude of this latest American challenge may be gauged from the fact that the Adolph Zukor Head Corporation, with which it is closely associated, estimates that their weekly profits will be $25,000 and more than £1,250,000 a year.

HEARST EXPELLED FROM FRANCE.

"An Enemy".

William Randolph Hearst, the American newspaper proprietor, has been expelled from France. A police Commissary visited him in his hotel at Paris on Monday and requested him to leave the country.

No official explanation of this unusual step is given either at the French Foreign Office or at the Ministry for the Interior. It is learned that a Writ of Expulsion was made out at the Ministry of the Interior on August 9th.

It is semi-officially stated that Hearst has long been recognised as an enemy of France and recent declarations favouring a treaty revision marked him as an unwelcome visitor to France.

Hearst returned to London Tuesday afternoon and issued a statement in the course of which he said :- "I have no complaint to make. The officials were extremely polite. They said I was an enemy to France. It made me feel quite important. It was a little bit foolish and extremely French. There may have been some slight irritation caused by an occasional intimation in our papers that France was now the richest nation in the world and might, with some of her German indemnity, pay her honest debts to America. Being a competent journalist and a loyal American makes a man "person non grata", France can endure the situation without loss of sleep."

LIVING IN BEGGARY.

£2. 10. A Poor Daily Wage.

Remarkable disclosures of money taken by fraudulent professional beggars were made at an inquest held in Liverpool on Tuesday on Gilbert Hanson, aged thirty-six, who poisoned himself.

It was stated that he toured England pretending he had lost a leg during the war. The coroner read a letter left by Hanson which said "I have been a professional boggar for the last ten years and am fully convinced that the bogging profession cannot be beaten."

The letter spoke of a beggar who made over a £1 daily alleging he was a broken Mons' Hero while another beggar, declared the writer boasted that £2. 10. was a poor daily wage and a third owned property at Warrington and went to Paris every year for a holiday.

The letter concluded "I am tired of living by deceit and roguery." The coroner said the writer was evidently an educated man.

Thirty People Injured.

Many notable people returning from Scotland were among the passengers of the night Scot express which crashed into the buffers at Euston on Monday morning. Thirty people were injured.

The train was pulled by two engines when the first hit the buffers on drawing into the station. The driver and fireman were buried under the coal thrown from the tender.

The second and third coaches telescoped and many women, waiting for their friends, screamed and fainted when it was seen a crash was inevitable.

Viscount Rothermere was knocked down by the impact but was uninjured. Among the passengers was Mr. Marshall Field and his wife, formerly Mrs. Dudley Coates, who were married recently. The waiting room was used as a first aid station.

One of the mob drew a revolver and fired, injuring a man who took shelter in a neighbouring building until the police could rescue him. The situation is now under control.

THE "COUTTS" CUP AND "WEBB" PRIZE.

Wednesday' Evening's Presentations.

A good gathering of members of the Defence Force assembled in the Club Rooms on Wednesday evening when the Commanding Officer, Major the Hon. J. Innes Moir, presented the "Coutts" Inter-Platoon Cup to the winning Platoon - No. 3, and the "Webb" Shield to Private C. Henriksen. The adjutant, Lieutenant W.M. Allan, presided over the proceedings which were followed by a very enjoyable smoking concert.

After the presentations the Commanding Officer remarked that he had had great difficulty in adjudicating the marks for the "Coutts" Cup because all three Platoons were very efficient.

Prior to the last few months he did not know anything about the Defence Force except that everywhere one went it had been the butt of a great deal of humour, mostly undeserved, on the part of a number of gentlemen who if they belonged to the Force, he thought, would find that it is the real thing.

He, himself, had been associated with Territorial Units, probably some of the most brilliant Territorial Units in the War, and he thought the Falkland Islands Defence Force compared very favourably, taking into consideration all the circumstances of time and place.

As the senior Non-Commissioned Officer present Corporal S. Summers received the Cup. It was also interesting to see on the Club's notice board the telegram sent by Sergeant S.E. Browell from South Georgia congratulating the Platoon on getting the Cup. Sgt. Browell was, until his recent departure for the Dependency, senior Non-Commissioned Officer of No. 3 Platoon.

Among those taking part in the smoking concert were :-
Lieut. W.M. Allan, Messrs. J. Ryan, W. Gatten, T. Hardy, S. Summers, J. & D. Peck D. Wheatley, C.M.S. E.J. Gleadell, Messrs. F. Coleman, K. Lellman, W. Grierson, J.W.G. Peck, L. Aldridge, M. Robson, H. Bonner, A. Pettersson jar., N. Berntsen, J. Watts and W. Cooper.

COSTES AND BELLONTE SUCCEED.

Paris To New York By 'Plane.

Costes and his companion, M. Bellonte, have succeeded in flying from Paris to New York, having arrived at the United States Capital on Wednesday. And while the world stood amazed at their magnificent flight the International Conference experts at Hague envisaged even greater air wonders.

Sooner than people think, writes the "Daily Mail" air correspondent, we shall be able to walk into a booking hall of a London air station and say "Air ticket round the world, please."

Two globe girdling airways are already contemplated. By one we shall fly from London to Berlin, continuing via Moscow to Tokio, across the Pacific to San Francisco. Thence a 'plane will carry us back to New York and set us down finally in London. - all, probably, in ten days.

The airmen are said to have won 400,000 sterling in prizes and contract fees.

SIR CHARLES TAGART ON THE WAR-PATH.

Pitched Battle With Anarchists.

France's only possession in India, the Bengal town of Chandernagore, was the scene of a pitched battle between the police force commanded by Sir Charles Tagart, who narrowly escaped being assassinated recently.

As the force approached Chandernagore it was joined by French officers, and a cordon was thrown round a house where anarchists were hiding. But the cordon was discovered and the terrorists rushed out and opened a rapid fire.

A fierce battle raged but the police were handicapped by the heavy undergrowth, the severe thunderstorm raging at the time and the torrential rain. Nevertheless four armed bandits and two women were arrested.

It is suspected that the anarchists were responsible for the Chittagong riots and the armoury looting outrage last April.

THE AMERICA CUP.

"Shamrock V's" Favourable Impression.

The "Shamrock V", Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht which is competing in the America Cup, is preparing to stretch her heaviest mainsail, one of three she brought across the Atlantic with her, in an attempt to wrest the America Cup from the U.S.A..

There was considerable jubilation resulting from her performance on Tuesday when she sailed one of the courses on which she will meet "Enterprise", the cup defender in the races beginning September 13th.

It was her first outing, the sea was rough and she was under full sail but in spite of the drawbacks of the weather from the figures given in on her return it is reported that she had reeled off the ton miles in record time.

Captain Heard, the "Shamrock's" commander, expressed the opinion that the yacht could not take a heavier mainsail. Though the seas were heavier in the American waters than the other side of the Atlantic Ocean, he did not think they would experience breezes that would do them any damage.

HAMPSHIRE MANSION BURNT DOWN.

Firemen's Difficulties.

Sir Thomas Troubridge's mansion at Oldways, Hampshire, was burnt to the ground on Thursday. Lady Troubridge, the well-known novelist, managed to save the manuscript on which she was working.

The firemen were hampered by the scarcity of water and had to run a mile of hose through difficult wood land before they could secure a supply from a pond. By that time the building was practically destroyed. Three firemen were standing over a well when it collapsed. They managed to clutch the hose as they fell and held on to it until they were rescued. The well was over sixty feet deep.

Sir Thomas threw off his coat and rushed to try and beat down the flames but he was forced back by the heat and left his garment behind. He had to borrow a coat and shirt from Lord Forster, the former Governor of Australia, who was his neighbour.

JACK DIAMOND'S PREDICAMENT.

"Hunted Like A Dog."

News from Aix la Chapelle on Tuesday revealed that the problem of the police was to know what to do with Jack Diamond, the New York gangster chief. He cannot be detained indefinitely and he cannot be handed over to the American police because the extradition treaty between the United States and Germany is not ratified.

In point of fact it is obvious the United States authorities do not want Diamond. Whether the U.S.A., Germany or the German police have blundered it is impossible to decide.

It is said Diamond complained bitterly at first and did not know why he was being detained. The "Daily Mail" correspondent informed him that he is legally entitled to leave Germany any way he might choose and he would be given a certain time to cross the frontier to Holland, Poland or Denmark if he could find a country willing to receive him.

Wednesday night's news from Aix announced that if the latest of the many decisions of the German police regarding Diamond proves to be the last, he would find himself within twenty-four hours in a German liner bound for the U.S.A.

The police stated that they were sending the gangster early on Thursday to Bremen or possibly through to Cherbourg whence the s.s. "Albert Ballin" was due to sail yesterday. When told of the decision Diamond is said to have replied that it didn't worry him. What he wanted to know was, why he was being hunted from pillar to post like a dog.

It is understood American banks who have given trade credits to Russia are interested and the German and French Governments have reason to see that the award is paid.

The days fly so quickly that it seems but yesterday since Mrs. Parkinson Keyes mingled among us in Stanley, holding us deeply conscious of her outstanding personality which is manifest in the portrait picture of our Colony and which takes the form of a letter.

"Dear Catherine : . . . .

If it had been possible for us to embark for our next port whenever we felt inclined, I think the boys and I would have been tempted to remain in Buenos Aires almost indefinitely but in the light of the sad discovery that boats left for the straits of Magellan via the Falkland Islands only once in six months, we had no choice but to tear ourselves away, sailing on a staunch little British steamer that had seen many years of faithful service. Our first day out was one of drifting fog and gray skies and a smooth but sullen sea; then came high-crested waves breaking with a joyous, boisterous impact against the sides of the ship, and that clean, hard blue of sky and ocean which is no less deep than the azure of tropical heavens and waters, but which is as cold and clear in its quality as the other is warm and glowing, and which betokens the approach to frigid zones. Not with the proverbial storm, but with glad, tumultuous clarity, the 'roaring forties' greeted us; and through the crisp, frosty atmosphere came another greeting as well, in the form of a wireless message from Port Stanley, the capital of the Falkland Islands.

"His Excellency will be delighted if you will stop with him at Government House during stay please reply Secretary," it ran; and not long after a grateful acceptance to this invitation from Captain Arnold Hodson, the British Governor of the Falklands, had been despatched, a second message arrived :

"His Excellency is delighted you can come. Will arrange to have you met on board and brought to Government House in time for lunch. Please telegraph number of your party Private Secretary."

Port Stanley.

"We packed our suitcases that evening; and though we were on deck early the following morning, our boat had already anchored in the land-locked harbor not far from the hulk of the 'Great Britain' - the first of the iron screw steamships and queen of the seas in her day !

"The little town of Port Stanley lay before us - a cluster of unpretentious, red-roofed houses, made of stone or corrugated iron, clinging to the bleak and stony ground. Beyond it, on every side, were rocky hillocks and pasture land, dun-colored and gray except where they were touched to rare brightness by the gold of flowering gorse. There was not a tree in sight, and a filmy fog was spread like a veil over a landscape which even under glowing sunshine would have lacked variety and verdure. But it gave an effect of solidity and strength rather than of monotony and sadness; there was something poignantly peaceful about it; and as we stood looking at it and waiting for the launch which was to come and take us ashore - for vessels cannot go along side the wharf - we all agreed that we were glad we had come and that we knew we should be sorry to leave !

"It was not long before Mr. Hugh Thomas, the editor of the 'Daily Penguin', appeared and introduced himself to us, saying that he had been sent to fetch us, and added that he hoped we would not mind walking, as there were no motors on the island - or rather, to be exact, that there was just one ! So we set off on foot down the road bordering the waterfront, past the town hall containing the museum and the library and the post office, and the trim red roofed houses, turning in, after ten minutes or so, at a white gate which led to a fenced path intersecting the golf links; and there, immediately before us, lay Government House; not a huge vice-regal palace like the one in Ottawa; not a dazzling, white-marble mansion like the one in Singapore; not a great, wide-verandahed, cool-corridorred manor-house like the one in Barbados; but a comfortable, unpretentious English home of medium size built in rambling and informal fashion partly of brick and partly of wood, short-stemmed, hardy daisies pushing their way through the green grass of the wind-swept lawn, daffodils clustering beneath the shelter of the oaves.

"Mr. Thomas flung open the front door and led us down a short corridor to the drawing-room which revealed a glowing fire of peat burning under a white mantel, deep chairs and sofas covered with bright chintz and agreeably arranged, tiger-skins scattered over a huge oriental rug, engravings of British royalty hanging on the walls, flowers, books, family photographs, and small silver ornaments everywhere; a room of infinite comfort and cheerfulness, of quiet charm, of intelligent and selective taste. Toward us came a tall slender man dressed in tweeds, with a dark vibrant face, and a beautifully modeled head; a man of infinite distinction and culture, of sensitiveness and courage; the fine type of man to which England entrusts the destinies of its Empire and thereby keeps this great; His Excellency, Captain Arnold Hodson, a famous hunter of big game, a versatile and accomplished writer, a member of the British Foreign Office, an officer in the World War, a consul for thirteen years in Abyssinia, and now Governor of the Falklands and their dependencias - South Georgia, the South Shetlands, the South Orkneys, the South Sandwich and other islands - a territory sparsely inhabited, mostly by the Scotch.

"He was sorry - the Governor told us - that his wife was not there to join him in welcoming us, but she was in Scotland. (He did not tell us that critical illness was separating her from him; we learned this afterward). He showed us our rooms. (More comfortable chairs, more gay chintzes, more bright peat fires, and on my dressing-table those yellow roses which I love better than any other flower in the world :) Luncheon would be at one, tea at four - if that was convenient - and dinner, with guests, at half-past eight. And what time would we like our baths? It was necessary to plan a little, on account of the hot-water supply; and, by the way, we must not think the water was dirty - it was dark in color because it flowed through the peat bogs, but it was soft and refreshing. Would we enjoy seeing something of the town during the afternoon, and going to the penguin rookery the next morning? Very well, that would all be arranged. And in the evening there was to be a dance at the town hall in honor of the ship's arrival.

The Penguins.

I could cover a great many sheets with a description of the delightful visit which followed; I could tell you in detail about our windy walks through the compact and self-reliant little town; about the long talks with the pleasant people we met, many of whom had come in from the great sheep ranches where one hundred thousand acres is not considered large for a single farm, and which are reached either on horseback or by small local boats, since there are no roads outside of Port Stanley; about the dinner - with 'orders and decorations,' where, for the first time in a British house, I heard a toast pledged to the President of the United States with the same solemnity that one is always proposed to the King; about the dance in the town hall, which was for all the world so like a dance in the town hall of Newberry or Haverhill that it made me homesick. But though I shall not try to enlarge upon all these agreeable experiences, I must at least tell you how we went to see the penguins, crossing the harbor to Sparrow Cove by launch, and then going on foot over rough, spongy ground and damp, fragrant peat-bogs almost to Rabbit Cove. It was hard walking and slow; but it brought us to the secluded rookery where two thousand or more of those strange, rare birds, with their futile, fin-like wings and their shell-like tails, make their home. Their nests of coarsely woven twigs lie close together on the trodden ground; and in each of these nests are two eggs, for the season is approaching when the baby penguins will be hatched, and guarded by their mothers until they have ceased to be small puffs of dove-gray down and have grown sleek, black-and-white feathers. They will join that peculiar parade that every morning marches solemnly down to the sea for fish, making a path like a sheep track as it goes, and every afternoon solemnly return, two by two, replete and satisfied. Strangely human these penguins look, all as if they had just dressed for dinner, in black broadcloth and spotless white linen; a little self-important, as if they had achieved this elegance only recently, after being more accustomed to homespun, a little proud and pompous. And they make weird sounds; they gargle and scream and hiss; they are 'parvenus' who have studied the fashions before they have studied voice culture; and yet they have a remote and inborn dignity.

The Famous Battle Shaft.

"I must tell you how we went to see the tall granite shaft, surmounted by a bronze ship, adorned on either side with medallions representing peace and war, and bearing this inscription: 'In commemoration of the battle of the Falkland Islands fought on the 8th day of December 1914. In which the British Squadron, Invincible, Inflexible, Carnarvon, Kent, Cornwall, Glasgow, Bristol, Canopus, Macedonia, under the command of Vice-Admiral Sturdee K.C.B., C.V.O., C.M.C., destroyed the German squadron under Vice-Admiral Graf Von Spee, saving this Colony from capture by the enemy.' You have probably forgotten, as I had, that this was a most significant battle - probably the most significant fought on this hemisphere during the World War. The German Pacific Fleet had been victorious over the British Pacific fleet near Coronel, off the coast of Chile, and the British Admiralty, perhaps shamed by this cruel defeat' - as Isabel Anderson graphically tells the story in her delightful book 'Circling South America' - 'sent out to the Falkland Island base, in utmost secrecy, two splendid battle cruisers - the 'Invincible' and the 'Inflexible' to join three armored cruisers already stationed there and two light cruisers. Of those last, one was the Glasgow, which had escaped at Coronel. These were to lie in wait for Von Spee as he rounded into the Atlantic. The two mighty ships of war were just in time for the following day Von Spee arrived with his fleet. Unfortunately for him he had delayed too long, coaling his own ship from the fuel in the hold of a captured collier. The German Admiral saw smoke rising in clouds over the hidden harbour of the Falklands and drew near with the serene hopes of an easy capture, attributing the smoke to the probability that the islanders were burning up their supplies before the Germans could take possession of them. Suddenly the wind veered and blew away the cloudy fumes, and a warning shot flashed from the flagship Glasgow. Von Spee recognised the tripod masts of the great cruisers and turned to flee. It was too late - the British ships came hurtling out in relentless pursuit of the scattering German fleet . . . . . By nightfall only one German warship was afloat, and a supply ship was in flight. Von Spee and his flagship went down with all hands, colors flying, and fighting gamely to the finish. Very few of the defeated were saved . . . . . These waters are the graves of heroes too little sung.'

So to the most remote parts of the world Great Britain extends her power; and in her occupation of the Falklands she proves not only her power, but her tenacity. For her right to this possession is one which Argentina hotly disputes, sending a yearly protest against it to the British Government - a protest which is politely but persistently disregarded. It is difficult, of course, for an outsider to pass judgment on the respective merits of these claims, especially as the British presentation of them and the Argentine presentation of them are as different as two arguments possibly could be. But since the occupator of the Islas Malvinas - as they are always called in Argentina - is considered on the South American continent to be of vital importance not only in fact but in principle, I shall outline it for you as well as I can.

"It is generally admitted that the Islands were discovered by an Englishman, named Davis, in 1594, that they were visited shortly afterward by another Englishman, Sir Richard Hawkins - the first described them in detail - and that in 1690 a third Englishman - Captain Strong - landed on them and gave them their present English name. Early in the eighteenth century, however, some French adventurers stopped at the Islands, calling them the 'Malouines' - the name by which, in this and its Spanish form - Malvinas - they are known to this day in France, Spain and Latin South America. The French claimed discovery, though at least one French writer - Frezier - admits that the 'islands are without doubt the same as those which Sir Richard Hawkins discovered in 1593.' Be this as it may, the Spaniards seem never to have asserted that they discovered the islands, but rather to have favored the claim of France to discovery rather than the claim of England. Both these countries subsequently established outposts there, though the first 'permanent' settlement appears to have been made by the English in 1767. This settlement was dispossessed by a Spanish force a few years later, but this act, according to a British authority, 'was disallowed by Spain and the territory restored, thereby virtually allowing the British rights to prior discovery, formal possession and occupation.' And though Great Britain 'voluntarily' withdrew her forces from the islands in 1774, she did so, according to the same authority - Admiral Kennedy - 'with the understanding that she did not relinquish her right to

THE NEW WEST STORE.

Moving In.

With the completion of the imposing building - the new West Store, situated a little to the east of the present store and on the corner of Ross Road and Dean Street, a busy time is being spent by Mr. D.E. Richardson, the chief Storekeeper and his staff and assistants in transferring the stock from one to the other in order to open the new store on Monday next. Operations were begun on Friday and it is hoped to leave the old store vacant by the beginning of next week so that renovations and alterations can be started on immediately in order to adapt it to the requirements of the Millinery Store which, it is understood, is to be transferred there in course of time.

The new West Store, which has been constructed practically entirely by local labour is a spacious building with ample accommodation for the public, with electric light and central heating. It is 100 feet by 30 feet and 15½ feet high with the main door facing Ross Road and to which access is obtained by mounting a number of stone steps. A great feature is the number of display windows fronting both Ross Road and Dean Street.

Opposite the main entrance, at the other end of the store is a well arranged gallery for the display of hardware goods. Ranged round the walls which are lined with a special water proofing cement to prevent dampness, are innumerable shelves for the display of goods while the counters are of mahogany and are placed in horse-shoe shape, leaving the centre for the public. The floor has been specially prepared with "Eolmont" which is damp proof and far more comfortable to walk on than cement.

Owing to the transference of stock the West Store is closing at 5.0 p.m. instead of 5.30 p.m. this week until Friday.

THE SITUATION IN ARGENTINA.

On Sunday afternoon Lieutenant-General Uriburu addressed the Army and the public from the balcony of Government House and emphasised the fact that the army came from the people and belonged to the people and that the army, having taken possession of the Government in order to suppress the corruption which was rampant, would guarantee fair elections to be held as soon as possible to return the Government of the Country to the people.

Thirteen Provincial Governors have resigned and the fourteenth, of La Rioja, is expected to do so at any moment. A decree has been issued by the Junta nominating the chiefs of the military regions to take charge of the Provincial Governments within their military zones. The transference for the most part has taken place without opposition. The Military Governors have been cheered and the retiring Governors severely hissed. In one case, the ex-Governor of Jujay, had to be taken in custody at Regimental headquarters, to save him from being mauled by the crowd.

Yesterday was decreed as a holiday all over the Republic and at 4.0 p.m. (so a Sunday message states), the Junta members were to take the oath from the balcony of Government House. The ex-President Irigoyen, who continues to be very seriously ill is in the custody of the Seventh Regiment of Infantry at La Plata.

NEWS FROM THE WEST.

By A Special Correspondent.

Obituary.

The sympathy of all go out to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Skilling of Fox Bay, East, who have recently lost their little boy David who passed away in the last week of August after an attack of blood poisoning.

The funeral took place on the morning of 31st August, in the cemetery at Fox Bay which the Bishop consecrated during his visit to the West Falkland in the early winter. Mr. Lanham, the late travelling school teacher, kindly consented to take the service of the last rites and the grateful thanks of the bereaved parents and of those present are due to him for the edifying manner in which it was conducted.

Caught In A Squall.

An Alarming Experience.

The evening of the same day (31st August), witnessed what came near to a terrible tragedy. Messrs. J. Johnson and I. McDonald of Fox Bay East were rowing Mr. Lanham back to the other side of the harbour in between squalls which had been occurring all day and which were becoming more frequent.

When within a distance of some hundred yards of the jetty for which they were making, they were hit very suddenly by the terrific force of a squall which all but capsized the boat. During a short lull, Johnson, an old sailor, made Mr. Lanham lie down in the bottom of the dinghy to give her ballast and he, himself, managed to change places on the thwarts with McDonald who was the heavier man.

Getting the greater weight aft and giving the bows a chance to lift to the waves which were now becoming greater and more terrifying in size, they tried again to make for their objective, but in spite of their nearness to the shore they were unable to get in and Johnson decided to allow the dinghy to drift stern first in front of the squall which had now taken on the proportion of a gale.

Meanwhile night had set in and the squall had intensified it to an inky darkness. They were taken down the harbour in this manner towards the Rock Reef which runs out some considerable distance from Fox Bay East and every endeavour was made to avoid bumping on to this for death would have been a certainty had she been holed and sank.

By the merest chance they barely touched it twice. As the end seemed inevitable they were lifted off and back by the waves. A third time they were hurtled toward it but the crest of the wave carried them clean over and they found themselves in more or less unbroken water. With such a nerve-wracking experience only a memory they managed to get behind the little tussock island near the wireless station where they went ashore for a rest and attempted to warm themselves.

When the squall ceased they pulled round to what is known as the "Government" Jetty, secured the dinghy and walked into the adjacent settlement which they had left nearly an hour and a half before.

Mr. Lanham then received, what we feel sure, he will always regard as one of the finest compliments that has ever been paid to him, when one of his recent saviours, turning his head over his shoulder remarked "Well, Schoolie, you aren't a dam coward, anyway."

FOOTBALL.

The first football match since the beginning of the Club's year was played on Saturday when weather conditions were favourable, between the Colours and Whites, the former winning by the narrow margin of 3 - 2.

Owing to the full elevens not turning out a re-arrangement of the teams had to be made but nevertheless the game was closely contested though the effect of long months of inactivity had a dilatory influence in the second half. The game was in every way enjoyable and one or two new players who were to be seen shaped very well.

The goals were scored by H. Thomas, L. Aldridge and R. Campbell, for the Colours and A.W. Beardmore and Bert Meuret for the Whites.

Argentina's Condition.

News direct from Buenos Aires states that large crowds roamed the centre of the city on Sunday and several enthusiastic processions were formed and were greatly applauded along their routes of march.

Lieutenant-General Kinkelin, the Provisionary President's secretary, has issued a manifesto that immediate steps are to be taken to reduce the public expenditure and to return to normality the currency of the country.

There is a rumour current that in one of the outlying departments of the Province of San Juan, some fighting has taken place, but this is an isolated incident, it is averred, and even if true, of no consequence whatever.

The Coup was staged at about 3.30 Saturday afternoon when the Civic procession and troops entered the large public square facing the Congress. In the surrounding houses large numbers of the followers of the Government had congregated, armed with rifles, revolvers and machine guns. They were principally ensconced in the Cafeteria del Molino, the offices of the National Postal Savings Bank, a department of the National Sanitary Board and elsewhere.

Just about the time the cadets from the Military College were entering the plaza, the column was fired upon and the machine-guns were also set going from the Congress Building. The Military immediately fired five cannon on Congress Hall, stormed and took the edifice making naught of the adherents of the Government who had endeavoured to resist the demands of the populace and their military allies.

Unfortunately twenty-one cadets were wounded and two killed as a result of the firing. The Chamberlain and the Police Inspector attached to the Chamber of Deputies have been arrested and charged with having fired upon the troops.

A further message direct from Buenos Aires states that numerous political prisoners who were arrested on Saturday were released the next afternoon. Absolute tranquillity reigns throughout the country.

The "Daily Mail's" first news of the revolution states that General Uriburu, a nephew of a former President, and an opponent of the deposed Irigoyen remains at the base of the military disaffection against Irigoyen. The Navy combined with the Army in the outbreak and the police joined the revolutionary troops. There has been street fighting and it is reported that there has been wild conflicts throughout the city, while aeroplanes have been dropping leaflets overhead. The situation is the sequel to a week's unrest and followed a massing of troops under General Uriburu near Buenos Aires. A rigid censorship has been established on all cable despatches and all public gatherings in the streets has been forbidden.

Speaking to the "Daily Mail" by wireless telephone on Monday, General Uriburu, in perfect English said that all was quiet and calm; the revolution absolutely finished, the change over complete and the public satisfied with the new ministry. Everything was continuing in a normal way and except for some slight disorders in the streets only in which only two lives were lost. Uriburu said he did not anticipate any interference with the plans for the great British Trade Exhibition to be held in Buenos Aires next Spring.

BIG HAUL OF RUM RUNNERS.

Picking Them Out With Detectors.

Rum running on a gigantic scale has been revealed in New York by the police with the aid of wireless and has led to the arrest of thirteen men who are being charged with running a bootlegging fleet of speed-boats which have been scouring supplies from ocean going vessels outside the twelve mile limit.

Among those arrested is Broadway Charlie Steinberg, the millionaire bootlegger whom the Government is suing for 253,000 income tax. It is alleged that this amount represents one year's liquor profits.

Five speed-boats, each with the capacity for carrying 1,500 cases, have been seized by the police. Using wireless detective apparatus experts discovered three unlicensed transmitting stations in and around New York using low wave length messages. These were informing ocean going vessels where to await the speed-boats. The arrests were made after the messages had been intercepted and decoded.

After arriving in a luxurious suite in an Atlantic liner, Jack Diamond, the New York gangster king, sailed from Hamburg on Monday for Philadelphia in the German cargo steamer "Hannover". No shipping company would give him a passage and he has been hustled and harried to the last. Detectives on the "Bremen" tried to put him aboard the liner but the captain would not take him even in the third class. The "Hannover" is picking up cargo at Cuxhaven and police will stay on board until she leaves, making certain Diamond stays on board.

Three-quarters of the city of San Domingo, the capital of the Domingo Republic in the West Indies has been destroyed and the devastated area has been transformed into a scene of utmost desolation as the result of a terrible hurricane which swept the city on Saturday. The latest message puts the death roll at over 4,000, practically one-eighth of the city's population. Some 2,700 were injured, 4,700 homes destroyed and practically 20,000 people homeless. One of the most tragic incidents which happened took place at the Maternity Hospital where all the mothers and infants were killed as they were in bed. The zinc roofing was torn off the building and swept through the air like a giant scythe. Fifty bodies were found decapitated in its track.

SOVIET PREDICAMENT.

On The Verge Of Collapse.

The "Daily Mail" announces that the news that three Soviet officials and three traders have been sentenced to death for speculation in forged food tickets following on numerous executions for the hoarding of silver and other "offences" shows that a serious state of affairs is prevailing in Russia.

Authentic information reaching the "Mail" correspondent from official as well as private sources indicates that Russia is on the verge of a total economic collapse and serious political upheavals.

High Soviet officials frankly admit of the existence of "unprecedented and unforeseen difficulties". The panic stricken and half-starved town populations are terrorised by the dreaded OGPU secret police whose inquisitorial activities have reached the highest point. Never before have wholesale arrests and mass executions been so indiscriminate or carried out on such flimsy pretexts.

FOR THE SAKE OF CLARITY.

It has been brought to our notice that the following circular letter has been addressed by the Very Reverend the Dean of Stanley to certain persons resident in the Camp :-

I have been informed by Mr. Butcher, who is at present in charge of the Government Electrical Department, that he has been ordered by you to make certain erections in the Cathedral.

"I must assert most emphatically that Your Excellency has no authority whatever in or over the Cathedral and that neither yourself nor any other person has any right or power to interfere with the Cathedral without the permission of the Dean.

"I am most willing to cooperate with the Government in the matter of broadcasting the Cathedral services, as well as in other matters, but I should fail utterly in my duty and in self-respect if I allowed my authority in the Cathedral to be flouted in this manner.

I have arranged to interview Mr. Butcher and the Government Foreman-Carpenter in the Cathedral this afternoon to see whether any improvements can be made in regard to the positions of the microphones.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Stanley.

Very Reverend Sir,

I am directed by the Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th of August, and to inform you that as this Government is responsible for the electric lighting and broadcasting services in the Cathedral, His Excellency instructed Mr. Butcher, with a view to improving the latter, to make certain alterations in the placing of the microphones, already installed in the Cathedral with your co-operation and consent. I am to say that it was naturally presumed that Mr. Butcher would consult you before proceeding with the work.

2. I am to add that it was not His Excellency's intention in any way "to assert authority in or over the Cathedral", and that His Excellency regrets the tone of your letter which was presumably written under a misunderstanding on your part.

I am, Very Reverend Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(sgd) J.M. Ellis,
Colonial Secretary.

The Very Reverend
The Dean of Stanley, Stanley.

The Deanery,
Stanley,
8th August, 1930

Sir,

I beg to thank you for your letter No. 121/28 of yesterday's date.

I note that His Excellency "naturally presumed that Mr. Butcher would consult" me "before proceeding with the work"; but the fact is, he did not, and, I gather from him, that he had no intention of doing so as he had no idea that it was necessary.

I do not admit that my letter was "written under a misunderstanding" on my part; His Excellency, without first asking my permission, orders a Government employee to execute certain carpentry work in the Cathedral; thereupon I protest. These are the facts and I do not see any misunderstanding on my part; if there is any misunderstanding, it lies between His Excellency and Mr. Butcher.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(sgd) Fred. S. Vaughan.
Dean of Stanley.

The Honourable
The Colonial Secretary. Stanley.

Thursday, 11th September, 1930.

The Deanery,
Stanley,
9th August, 1930.

Sir,

With further reference to your letter No. 121/28 of the 6th inst.

I have just met Mr. Butcher and I now, and for the first time, learn from him that he did intend to consult me before executing the work in the Cathedral. He explained that he intended to do this because he "had had a little trouble with me before" - (he refers to an incident concerning the Cathedral Press). My own impression until now was that it was purely an accident that Mr. Butcher and I happened to meet. I asked him two or three times in his office whether he had been told by His Excellency to get my permission first and he said 'no', and on my way to the Post Office to deliver my first letter I again saw Mr. Butcher and asked him the same question once more; even then he gave me no idea that he had intended to ask my permission first.

I am very anxious not to misinterpret anything said or done and I think you will see from the above that I have been misled unintentionally by Mr. Butcher, or perhaps it is that I have misunderstood him. If it is the latter, I am very sorry for the trouble I have caused.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(sgd) Fred. S. Vaughan.
Dean of Stanley.

The Honourable
The Colonial Secretary, Stanley.

FUSION OF RUBBER COMPANIES SUGGESTED.

Alarming Situation.

The compulsory fusion of rubber companies has been suggested as a means of combating the alarming situation produced by the low record of between 3 and 4 pence in the price.

Mr. James Fairbairn, the vice-chairman of the Serdang Rubber Plantations Limited and a director of other important companies who made the suggestion to the "Daily Mail" said "As the Dutch East Indies Company has decided not to co-operate in trying to ameliorate the position by reimposing the output restriction we should try to get the Governments of the British territories wherein rubber is grown to pass legislation giving the Companies and native owners say, until January 31st, 1931 to amalgamate voluntarily into units of not less than 20,000 acres rubber bearing.

"Vested interests must give way to the greater necessity of saving the industry for a quarter of a million European shareholders and native owners."

Assessor's Opinion.

An eccentric connoisseur, who buys works of art knowing them to be stolen and who is gloating over them like a miser, is the picture drawn by a member of a firm of assessors to account for the market apparently gained by a gang of motor bandits, experts at their job, and who specialise in large scale burglaries in country houses and London mansions, now causing Scotland Yard and the police of the home counties much concern.

The identity of the members of the gang, who have been working for the past two years, are well known to the police but they are so clever that they leave no evidence whereby guilt can possibly be brought home to them.

"I know their names," said the assessor, "All of them have been convicted. They are not men of education - not the Raffles type - but they are exceptionally skilled. A few hours after a grand scale robbery they are posing as innocent members of society. If they are challenged by the police they simply smile and say they know nothing."

CRIMES LTD.

United States Initiative Again.

A New Firm.

The "Daily Mail" New York correspondent announces that a giant merger of all the crime organisations in Chicago has been perfected under the supreme leadership of Scarface Al Capone.

A novel spectacle was witnessed several days ago when all the newspapers published the full details of the merger without exciting any counter move from the police who are responsible for the suppression of crime.

According to the newspapers Capone has invited all his former rivals to become partners in a huge co-operative association for the control of beer, vice and gambling industries. The motto of the association is said to be "All for Al".

The administration of the different crime departments at the Chicago headquarters will be superintended by Capone's cabinet officers. The cabinet is composed as follows : Secretaries of Beer, Secretaries of War, Secretaries of Gambling and Secretaries of Vice.

Among the cabinet officials are some of Capone's most efficient gunmen including Jack McBurn, Ted Newberry and Ralph Capone, the dictator's brother who is a prominent turf-man and the owner of a string of race horses.

BOMBAY DELUGE.

23 Inches In 24 Hours.

The city of Bombay has been deluged by the biggest fall of rain in its recorded history. During twenty-four hours twenty-two inches of rain fell easily beating the previous record of sixteen inches in a single day in 1886.

The bulk of the fall occurred after mid-night on Wednesday eighteen inches falling in eight hours. All the low lying parts of the city and the suburbs are under several feet of water and in some places people are wading through water as high as their waists.

One person was killed and two injured in a house which collapsed. The traffic has been completely disorganised. Residents in the outlying parts marooned. The day was devoted to polling for the Legislative Council elections but the rain washed out all attempts of voting and the elections were postponed.

FRANKLIN FINDS.

Echo Of Illfated Expedition.

Two camps of the Franklin Expedition which disappeared in the Arctic more than eighty years ago have been found on King William Island in the far north of Canada by Major Burwash, the Canadian explorer.

Major Burwash reached there while returning on an aeroplane trip from the North Magnetic Pole. Valuable data has been found concerning the Franklin Expedition has been found on the camp sites, and is being forwarded to the Government at Ottawa.

Sir John Franklin left England in 1845 in the two ships "Erebus" and "Terror" to try and find a north-west passage. For the next ten years fifty-nine expeditions searched for the missing men and ships but it was not until 1859 that a cairn was found in King William Island containing proof that Franklin died in 1847 after virtually discovering a north-west passage.

SEAPLANE FIGHTS SMUGGLERS.

A Baltic Episode.

An exciting fight took place off Libau, Latvia on Wednesday between a smugglers' ship and a seaplane belonging to the Latvian customs service.

The captain of the steamer "Anna" of Danzig was taking spirits to Finland, Esthonia and Latvia and refused to obey the order of the customs officials at Libau. Within a few minutes a seaplane was hovering over the ship and dropping hand grenades on the deck.

The "Anna" opened fire but swift motor-boats darted out from the port and peppered her with machine gun-fire until she was obliged to hoist the white flag. The ship was badly damaged but the crew were uninjured and brought into port a cargo of 3,000 gallons of spirit which were seized. The crew were imprisoned.

A BIRTHDAY ENTERTAINMENT.

St. Mary's Pupils Happy Greetings.

In honour of the Reverend Sister Director's birthday, the pupils of St. Mary's Catholic School gave an entertainment on Thursday last week when a most enjoyable programme was placed before the privileged audience who were not slow in appreciating the talent

The first item, appropriately "Many Happy Returns of the Day" gave the afternoon a delightful send off, the chorus doing exceptional well with this piece. A dialogue and address was next the latter being given by Alice Mills while the others taking part in the programmed number were Phyllis Atkins, Maud Duffin, Helen and Millie Lees - each performing her allotted task with charming manner.

"A Wish Song" by Dorothy Mills, Lily and Phyllis Peck, Joyce Gleadell and Olive Wilson provoked unstinted applause while Alice Mills recitation which followed was also greatly enjoyed.

One of the outstanding features of the whole performance was the Sketch "Perrette and her Milk Pail". This excellent effort was given with distinction and the work entailed in bringing the little artistes to the standard of perfection they attained had ample compensation in the warm tribute meted out by the lookers on. Edna Hirtle was "Perrette" a dairy maid with Phyllis Atkins as the rag-and-bone woman. Roma Smith was the farmer's daughter with Millie Lees acting the part of the farmer, and Christina Headford the part of "Martinette" a dairyman's daughter. The urchins' parts were taken by David Lees, John McPhee, Freddie Reive, Bill Cletheroo, and Clement Harrison.

The sixth item - "Star Brill" completely captured the imagination of all and was loudly applauded. Those taking part were : Joan and Gay Breshan, Lily Perry, Patricia Peck, Nan Clarke, Annie Headford, Maureen Gleadell, Nellie Hansen, Mary Porter, Betty McPhee and Thora Smith. A Recitation "Eh Bien" was rendered by Helen Lees and Alice Mills and this was followed by a dialogue "A Careful Boy" by Charlie Reive and Norman Paico. The performers in both these items shewed exceptional merit.

THE AMERICA CUP.

"Tommy" Lipton Loses Again.

After one of the most gallantly fought and thrilling contests on record for the America Cup, "Enterprise", the United States defender was the first home in the first race.

Her time was four hours, two minutes, fifty seconds and Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock V" finished two minutes forty seconds later. The American vessel's margin of victory is estimated well beyond 1,000 yards and it could have been more for with typically sportsmanlike a gesture, the Skipper, Mr. Vanderbilt, her commander, cruised up and down the line before putting the "Enterprise" across it.

Fortune favoured the "Enterprise" from the start and she was first over the line being some 500 yards in front when the "Shamrock" crossed. Bad weather, fog and calm held the race up at first. Within ten minutes the silver-hulled American sloop had drawn ten lengths ahead of the green coloured challenger.

Both yachts were travelling at about five knots in the light winds. Yard by yard the "Shamrock" reduced the lee-way but the "Enterprise" drew away again.

Eighteen miles of the world's most luxurious boats lined the course and it is estimated that they were worth five million sterling. There were at least seven hundred boats along the fifteen mile stretch of water passed over by the contestants in the race.

The "Enterprise" had a duralumin mast only eighteen inches in diameter at the thickest part. It is nearly a ton lighter than the "Shamrock's" mast of hollow wood.

Elaine Halkett and Iola Smith were very piquant in their recitation "The Little Maid's Complaint" and a touch of originality was given in the next piece - "Greeting Song" given by the senior girls, with a recitation in Italian by Rosina Headford and Helen Lees followed by an English version rendered by Doreen Moatsney.

Last but not least was the dialogue "Offering of Flowers" in which Roma Smith, Dorothy Aldridge, Bessie Clarke, Alice Dettloff, Nellie Hansen, Betty and Molly Roberts, Florence and Grace McPhee and Heather Miller took part.

HOCKEY.

Reds 3 : Yellows 0.

The honours of the game were reversed on Saturday when the ladies 'Red' and 'Yellow' teams again opposed each other, the score being 3 - 0 in the Reds favour.

Up to half time only one goal had been scored, this being obtained by Miss S. Summers about five minutes after the start from a corner hit.

Although two goals were scored by the Reds after half-time the Yellows seemed as if they were going to take the lead. But the winners' backs played a sterling game and did well to keep their opponents forwards from scoring. The Reds second goal was obtained by Miss Emily Atkins and the third by Miss F. Whitney.

There were nine players on each side.

THE NEW WEST STORE.

A Falkland Islands Building And Something

To Be Proud Of.

Yesterday's Opening Ceremony.

The opening of the new West Store yesterday morning at 11.0 o'clock was held under auspicious circumstances for the sun shone brightly and gave the proceedings a happy augury. His Excellency the Governor, who performed the ceremony, walked up the steps and through the main door just as the Cathedral clock chimed the hour, and was followed immediately by the Hon. L.W.H. Young, the Manager of the Falkland Islands Company.

Among those present were Mrs. Young, the Hon. J.M. Ellis (Colonial Secretary), The Hon. M.C. Craigie-Halkett and Mrs. Halkett, the Hon. George Roberts and Mrs. Roberts, The Very Reverend the Dean and Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs. Moir and Mr. D.E. Richardson (Chief Store-keeper to the Falkland Islands Company) and Mrs. Richardson). There was also a large gathering of the public.

A Great Advancement.

In his opening remarks Mr. Young gave a few interesting facts concerning the dimensions. The Store was about 110 feet in length and about 14 feet high from the floor to the eaves of the roof. Eleven thousand concrete blocks were required for the construction and there was approximately half a mile of shelving. He was sure they would all agree with him that these figures pointed to a great advancement over the previous store which goes back to 1870.

The material for the roof and the ceiling, and the heating and electric light came from England but apart from that, it was a Falkland Islands building and something to be very proud of. He also thought it did the Colony very good credit considering the resources available, and he was glad to take this opportunity of congratulating Messrs. Hannaford, Crawford, McTichol and Stacey on their workmanship feeling sure that when they passed by outside the Store they would feel very proud of their achievement.

The 'moving-in' had been a very great undertaking but he thought so far as the customers were concerned it had been a case of "business as usual", and he hoped that no one had been in the slightest way inconvenienced. Mr. Richardson and his staff had been working strenuously and he congratulated the former on the way he had organised the change and also Mrs Hardy and the staff for their excellent work. He then asked His Excellency to declare the Store open. (Loud applause.)

Proud Of The People In The Colony.

His Excellency the Governor said it gave him extreme pleasure to be present on the kind invitation of Mr. Young to open so magnificent a new building. He felt it was really a wonderful achievement that such a building could be put up in the Colony. As he thought they knew, he was very proud of the people of the Colony and indeed he always said that there were very few things they could not do in the Colony if they put their minds to it.

He did not think any Colony - he did not include the Dominions but the Colonies - could produce a better store than the one they were in at the moment. In Stanley, owing to the bad weather conditions any building which gave plenty of air and warmth was a great acquisition. He felt sure that all those who entered to purchase goods would stay longer and so be induced to buy more. The only objection His Excellency could raise was against the wonderful display of things before them. Because, speaking for himself, on such occasions he generally went out a poorer man than he went in.

They owed a great debt to the Falkland Islands Company for being so progressive for, as they knew, in addition to the new Store the Company had gone to the expense of a floating dock. If it is a success, as they all hoped it would be, it would open a new era for the Colony with increased trade, increased employment - all-round desirable things.

They were all very pleased and happy to see the Colony progressing as it was progressing. On their part, the Government, although they could not compete with a building like the new Store, were putting up another building which would provide a good bath and he hoped Mr. Young would come to the opening and sample the baths as they were going to sample his goods (Laughter and applause.)

In conclusion His Excellency reiterated his expressions of the Government's pleasure in seeing such advancements in this way and he hoped Mr. Young would go on and build houses and perhaps in time Stanley will be as well housed as any other Colony. The Government were putting up houses now for the poorer residents and he hoped that by the end of the year not a single family would be without proper housing accommodation. (Loud applause.)

In calling for three cheers for His Excellency the Governor which were given lustily, Mr. Richardson said they very much appreciated his very kind remarks and added that he would like to point out that what they had done was only one link in the chain His Excellency started.

FOOTBALL.

No. 1 Platoon 4; No.3. Platoon 0.

As the marksmen of the Defence Force No. 1 Platoon certainly upheld their reputation on Sunday afternoon when they beat No. 3 Platoon at football by the decisive margin of 4 - 0. The match was the first of what is to be hoped will prove a long series of games which will serve to increase the enthusiasm and improve the quality of "soccer" in the town in order that Stanley might beat the Commander-in-Chief's men on board H.M.S. "Despatch" when the warship visits the Colony in February next. It is noteworthy that the game was also the first for a long time in which the two elevens playing were composed entirely of local men - a circumstance which is highly encouraging for the development of the sport.

In the match itself the first half proved very even although No. 1. Platoon, having won the toss kicked against the wind. At half time only one goal had been scored and this proved to be a veritable surprise packet in the very first minute of the game, for from the kick off the ball went down the wing, was centred and put into the 'net' by Bert Fleuret. The goals in the second half were shot by R. Campbell, L. Sedgwick and B. Fleuret. There was only one change in the teams that being the inclusion of A. Summers in No. 3 Platoon in place of Shackel. There were several newcomers to the game but all did their share in making the match a complete success. At times play was vigorous but was never out of control. The referee was Mr. W.J. Davies.

So elated are No. 1. with their victory that rumour has it they are going into strict training and will challenge H.M.S. "Despatch" themselves.

THE AMERICA CUP.

The ownership of the America Cup trophy, the first race for which took place on Saturday and was lost by the "Shamrock V" by not too discouraging a margin, is decided by the winning of four out of seven races. If conditions permit these are to be held on following days excepting Sundays but each skipper can claim a day's rest between the races.

The starting line on Saturday was nine miles east of Brenton Reef Light-ship off Newport. This course was chosen in the hope of obtaining more constant winds than off Sandy Hook where previous contests have been held.

Each boat carries a crew of about twenty and their proportions are exceptionally close despite the differences of design. The "Shamrock's" displacement is 133 tons, her overall length 119 feet 10 inches, her mast 162 feet and her sail spread 7,524 feet. The "Enterprise" has 128½ tons displacement, she is 168 feet high and her sail spread is 7,540 feet.

In outfit and gear the "Shamrock" follows conventional lines and the sails are man-handled except for one winch for the main halyard. The "Enterprise" however, is called the clockwork boat by reason of the innumerable mechanical contrivances she contains. All the ropes and wires are taken below deck and gauges record the exact strains on all the wires.

The syndicate of millionaires owning the "Enterprise" have equipped her regardless of cost. The friendliest feeling exists between the contestants and on this occasion, for the first time in the history of the race, the designers of the two yachts have not kept secret their drawings and plans but have discussed them together.

NEW GOVERNMENT OFFICES IN WHITEHALL.

The Government has resolved to build new Government offices in Whitehall and their decision is being embodied in a measure which Parliament will be asked to approve early in the coming session.

The scheme affects the Embankment side of Whitehall and Montagu House which is now occupied by the Ministry of Labour, Pembroke House occupied by the Transport Ministry and Cabinet Offices, and all Whitehall Gardens will be involved. At present several departments such as Air, Education and Agriculture, have outlying sections while the existing accommodation of some of the Government Offices in Whitehall is inadequate and imperfect.

Although the scheme will be effected in sections it will involve a large expenditure. But it is claimed that it will eventually result in economy by the sale of leases which will become available and the saving of rents now paid for office accommodation in West London and elsewhere.

There will also be a gain in efficiency through the centralising of departmental activities.

THE AMERICA CUP.

Second Race Goes To The U.S.A.

The "Enterprise", defending the America Cup from the challenger, Sir Thomas Lipton's "Shamrock V", won the second consecutive race of the series on Tuesday.

Both yachts came to the starting line, writes the "Daily Mail" correspondent, like two greyhounds straining at their leashes. Captain Heard had removed at least a ton of lead ballast in the challenger, evidently hopeful of the boat, thus lightened, moving more freely in the breezes.

Punctually the two yachts slipped away. The "Shamrock" held the weather berth noarer the wind but the Vanderbilt's skipper with skill and courage, for which he is famous, retrieved the "Shamrock's" initial advantage and within a quarter of an hour was 200 yards ahead.

With six miles covered the "Enterprise" was one and a half minutes ahead. Each skipper was making excellent use of the wind but, in the words of an American spectator the challenger looked like plater matched by the winner.

For the last ten miles the wind favoured the challenger. The "Shamrock" lessened by one mile the distance between herself and her rival. But the defender was only about five miles from the finishing line and nothing but dead calm falling on her would would have brought the challenger home first.

Daring Raid At Geneva.

There has been a sensational development in the robbers' raid early Monday morning at a leading hotel at Geneva from the rooms occupied by Noel Baker, the Socialist M.P. for Coventry and his wife.

Mr. Noel Baker is one of the British delegates at the League of Nations Assembly, and the Parliamentary Private Secretary of the British Foreign Secretary.

The object of the burglary does not appear to be a common theft. It is believed to have highly important political significance. Although the greatest secrecy is maintained it is understood that the intruder succeeded in his mission which was to steal the keys of the despatch boxes resembling those used by the British Foreign Office for sending confidential documents to the Embassies abroad.

Soon after the theft was discovered orders were given for the locks on all the Foreign Office despatch boxes to be changed.

The other airmen mentioned as likely to make a similar flight shortly are Captain Barnard, the famous long distance flier, Mr. M.A. Murray, the well-known aerial acrobatic performer, Major Pickthorne, who flew during the war and competed in the last King's Cup Race and G.T. Dave Shado, the American Middle-weight boxer, who arrived in London on Wednesday to prepare for his fight with Len Harvey, the British Champion at the Albert Hall on Monday week, has exploded all training theories.

He smokes eight cigars daily, in training or out, and his wind is unimpaired. They are not ordinary cigars in size but otherwise they are "the real thing". Shade said to a "Daily Mail" reporter "I guess it is just a habit. I have been boxing ten years and I have smoked since I left school." Harry Goodman, his trainer, is philosophic over the matter.

THE THIRD VICTORY.

Accident To The "Shamrock".

An accident to the "Shamrock" when she was leading the "Enterprise" on Wednesday, gave the latter her third victory in the series of races for the America Cup.

There was more sea and wind and the course was set west-south-west, almost in a direct line with the wind, over a length of fifteen miles. Both yachts crossed the line abreast with the "Shamrock" in the weather berth. She gradually established a lead and twenty minutes after the start she was two lengths ahead.

After the race had proceeded forty-five minutes the "Shamrock's" mainsail was seen to fall. She had parted her halyards and the sail dropped part way to the deck enveloping the crew.

The "Enterprise" after coming about continued over the course thus securing her third victory while the disabled challenger furled her mainsail and was taken in tow by motor boats, escorted by Lipton's steam yacht "Erin".

The defeat of the "Shamrock" in three straight races is the subject of a delicate discussion in the American press regarding the rules under which the race is contested.

The discussion centres on the "Enterprise's" use of mechanical contrivances which the English yachting sportsmen attending the races state could not possibly be devised by the challenger.

There is no whimper from Sir Thomas Lipton or his associates but the English point of view is clearly made in a statement to reporters and made by Mr. Westwood, Sir Thomas Lipton's secretary. Asked whether Sir Thomas is likely to Challenge again Westwood said it was doubtful. "The fact is," he added, "we don't go about this thing the way you do. We thought it was settled that the Americans built the same kind of boat as us. Now we find the "Enterprise" has all sorts of contrivances of which we never dreamed."

Lipton told the reporters emphatically that the "Enterprise" gadgets were quite fair and one day, he prophesied, the Americans would win the race by radio.

Everyone is anxiously awaiting the result of the America Cup yacht race, in which Sir Thomas Lipton is representing England with "Shamrock V" and we all hope to hear that this tenacious old sportsman had at last succeeded in wresting the trophy from the Americans who have held it since 1861.

We can picture the veteran yachtsman of eighty summers standing on the decks of the "Shamrock V" in this great classic race with the mountain of snow white canvas towering above him, watching his beloved ship as she strains, fighting to uphold the prestige and traditions of England and the British Empire. A thrill of pride passes through us as we visualize this figure the essence of British Sportsmanship beaten again and again but undaunted returns to the contest full of confidence and perseverance. Good Luck to you Sir Thomas, it is such men who have built up the greatest empire of all time !

How can we help to sustain glory of the British Empire ? By Buying British Goods ! They are the best, and by buying them every citizen can do his share to ensure the prosperity of the Empire of which we are proud to be members.

"A Suicidal Declaration."

Sir Ernest Petter, the past President of the British Engineers' Association and a member of the Council of the Federation of British Industries besides being a large employer of labour, informs the "Daily Mail" that he has resigned his membership on the Advisory Council of the Board of Trade.

He has taken this action because he regards as suicidal the declaration of the President, Mr. Graham, that Britain should ratify the Tariff Truce.

In his letter of resignation he declares that "nothing but strong reconciliatory measures against the foreign tariffs hold any hope of the re-opening of the market at present closed to Britain. The first step of finding employment for our people must be the cessation of the importation of foreign manufactures for the making of which we have factories equipped and standing idle and skilled workers unable to find work."

Captain Carl Boy-ed, aged fifty-five years, who became notorious as the German Naval Attache at Washington at the outbreak of the war because of his assistance to spies in Britain and the United States, was killed as a result of a fall from his horse while he was riding on his estate at Groenwoldhof, near Hamburg on Tuesday.

He was the eldest of three sons of a well-known authoress, Frau Boy-ed who was known for her hatred of England.

In the Spring of 1915 stories were current among the Allies that Boy-ed used his privileges to send enormous quantities of war material from the United States to his own country. In January 1916 he was expelled from Washington and great concern was caused when he was given a free conduct home. Till the end of the war he worked at the German Navy Press Bureau.

AMERICA RETAINS THE CUP.

By winning the fourth race of the series for the America Cup the "Enterprise" has retained the trophy for the United States.

The yacht race started at 11.40 on Thursday over a triangular course with a north west wind freshening. The "Shamrock" got off on a better position and, in securing the windward berth had a slight advantage. Both boats came about on port tack says the "Daily Mail" correspondent. But at 12.25 the "Enterprise" was leading by two miles, and eventually brought to a swift close the wonderful yachting achievement, defeating the "Shamrock" by five minutes fifty seconds.

Heard, the "Shamrock" skipper and the crew put up their usual gallant fight but no amount of sea tactics and strategy was able to keep the "Shamrock" ahead of the "Enterprise" for any length of time.

After the "Shamrock" had secured an early lead Vanderbilt began to draw closer, passed her rival and maintained a lead that was always enough to ensure an easy victory. On the last two laps the "Shamrock" reduced the lead in a gallant fight which drew comments of appreciation from the broadcasters.

The heart of all America goes out to Sir Thomas Lipton in his defeat and everywhere one hears the words "We do so wish the old man had won".

Mr. H.N. Nicholson, the son of the "Shamrock's" designer, said that his father attributed the American yacht's success to the boom and rigging.

THE R. 101.

Further Developments.

Before very long the British airship R. 101 will be able to sail the skies without taking any petrol with her. Hitherto she has had to carry a certain amount of motor spirit for the starting mechanism of her heavy oil engines.

Recently, however, such satisfactory tests were made with compression ignition engines with which she has been equipped, that similar models will eventually be fitted to all five of her engines.

This development is of obvious importance in removing the danger of fire, especially during flights in hot countries. By further adaptation the airship has just been fitted with two new engines in which the reversing problem is surmounted. Hitherto one engine had to be reserved for taking the ship astern and consequently six hundred horse power forward drive was lost.

This is no longer the case and while in future the vessel will be able to reverse if required, all her engines will be at other times available and speed will thereby improve.

The R. 101's length has also been increased by fifty feet and a new envelope has been fitted with a new bay installed, increasing her lift to 166 tons. She is now the world's biggest airship. She is expected to undergo further trials next week prior to her departure for India at the end of the month.

DOPE GANG MAKING FOR ENGLAND.

Rush To Stop Them.

SALVATION ARMY CLOUDS GATHERING.

Forthcoming Conference.

Commander Evanjeline Booth, so a report from New York states, will not go to London to attend the November Conference of the Salvation Army Commissioners who are being called from all parts of the world by General Higgins.

This decision, in the opinion of those most familiar with the Army's affairs, is the first gun fired in the renewed conflict foreshadowed by the November meeting.

It is understood in New York that the six commissioners appointed by General Higgins (who is at the moment touring South Africa) to study the problem of making the Army more democratic, have differed so hopelessly that six minority reports are being presented.

Five commissioners are going to the Conference from the United States to ensure that there is an adequate expression of American views. The name of Evanjeline, who is the head of the Army in the United States, was one of those put forward last year when the late General Booth was deposed and a successor sought.

HILL 60 VANDALISM!

Sale Of Recovered Bones.

Prompt action will follow the "Daily Mail" disclosure of vandalism in the neighbourhood of Hill 60 in the Ypres Salient where thousands of British soldiers were killed and wounded.

The peddling of reputed souvenirs and the exhibition for a fee, of a supposed trench from which a charge was said to have been made by the Fifth Division, are among the things complained of beside the sale of bones recovered from the soil.

The Imperial War Graves Commission issues the statement : " Referring to public statements as to excavations of old trenches and dug-outs at Hill 60, Sir Fabian Ware, the vice-chairman of the Imperial War Graves Commission, has personally investigated the matter and is able to state that the excavations in question are not taking place in the area of Hill 60 but on the neighbouring land belonging to a Belgian farmer.

As to Hill 60 itself the site has now, through the generosity of J.J. Calder, been secured in entirety and will shortly be transferred to the Imperial War Graves Commission as a gift to the Empire.

Fated To Die.

The Wigan correspondent of the "Daily Mail" reports that while a miner lay dying, pinned under two large girders and a stone brought down by the fall of the roof in the pit of the main colliery at Bamfurlong, near Wigan, a rescue party worked feverishly to reach him.

Continuous falls of earth and stone drove them back and after hours of work they had to abandon all hope of getting him out alive.

It is feared that the man died while his comrades were still at work. Two other men were trapped by the same fall and were rescued but with severe injuries.

The robbery was committed within the times of the arrival of the last and last-but-one trains at the station. An inspector standing near the booking office knew nothing till the clerks wriggled free from their bonds and gave the alarm. Men were seen to leave with a woman in a car.

Park Lane Suicide.

A rich young man and a pretty girl of 19, who had started on their honeymoon were found shot on Friday in the bedroom of their service flat at Grosvenor House, the new luxury hotel in Park Lane West London.

The man was already dead and the girl died later in St. George's Hospital.

It is stated that the girl was Miss Jessie Guild from Newcastle-on-Tyne, and the man Samuel Lockerby, aged twenty-seven, also from Newcastle.

There are indications that the couple entered into a suicide pact.

PRINCE MARRIED IN REGISTRY OFFICE.

Prince Louis Bourbon, the lineal descendant of the dethroned kings of France, was married to the daughter of a French Millionaire sugar manufacturer, Miss Broglie, in the Little Paddington Registry Office in London on Friday. The wedding took place there after vain attempts had been made to have the ceremony performed in Spain, France and Italy.

The Prince and Princess each arrived with one companion in separate taxi-cabs and the few onlookers did not know they were watching a royal wedding.

The arrangement was carried out with the utmost secrecy. A fortnight ago Miss Marie Broglie came to London to the Bayswater Hotel. The Prince followed and stayed at the same hotel.

Some three days before the wedding Prince Louis went to the Paddington Registry Office and said he wished to get married and pledged all the officials to secrecy, saying he and the bride did not want the wedding to become known until they had left the country. The couple arranged to leave for Switzerland to-day.

NEXT SUMMER'S AMERICA CUP.

Plans To Be Discussed To-morrow.

According to the New York Times there is to be a meeting of the New York Yacht Club to-morrow at which the European and American Yachting Associations will discuss a plan for a race among the America Cup boats to take place next summer.

The yachts will be the "Enterprise", "Shamrock V", "Meeter", "Yankee", "Whirlwind" and perhaps the "Resolute" and "Vanities", the contestee of a decade ago.

The idea is to make the cup boats meet under stipulated restrictions regarding rigging. The plan would bar the 39,000 duralium mast used by the "Enterprise".

If these suggestions are ratified all the yachts named, together with others of the new class will be seen in competition in English waters in 1952.

AMERICANS IN RUSSIA.

Being Held Prisoners.

The Latvian correspondent of the "Daily Mail" writes from Riga that 450 skilled motor mechanics from Detroit in the United States, who were persuaded to sign contracts to work in Russia for one year, are being held prisoners at a Stalingrad factory.

This revelation was made to the correspondent by an electrician who had escaped from Russia for striking a Jamaican negro in a quarrel. According to this man whose name is Herbert Lewis, the Americans were promised two-thirds of their wages to be deposited to their account in the Detroit banks and one-third was being paid to them in Russia at the official rate of two roubles to a dollar.

The money had not been deposited and the Americans, in view of the inflation of the rouble, were working next to nothing.

Eighty per cent of the American Colony have presented a petition to leave Russia but have been refused. All their letters and telegrams have been censored by the Soviet.

It is stated that more than 2,000 Americans are working in Russia under similar conditions.

SOVIET SUBTERFUGE.

The "Daily Mail" announces that while the Soviet Government is executing men for forging food cards to get food, it is dumping vast quantities of grain in Britain at a figure which in the words of a member of the London Corn Exchange, "has knocked the bottom right out of the market".

No fewer than 170 steamers, mostly British, have been chartered by Moscow to dump wheat and large quantities of timber in Britain. Forty-seven of these ships belong to the British Port of Cardiff.

Some of the vessels have already arrived but the dumping will continue with growing intensity during the next six weeks.

Meanwhile the United States Government is taking steps to expose the Soviet plot to intensify the farm unrest in America by the sale of 7,500,000 bushels of wheat in the Chicago wheat pit.

The Soviet's object is believed to be the demoralisation of the wheat prices of the world.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT BLEAKER.

House Burnt To The Ground.

A disastrous fire occurred at Bleaker Island on the night of Saturday and Sunday last when Mr. A.M. Bonner, part-lessee of the Island with Mr. A.F. Cobb of Worthing, had the misfortune to see his house burnt to the ground without being able to lift a finger to save it.

Mr. Bonner, whose family is in Stanley and who was the only one in residence at the time, was awakened about mid-night by the reflection of the flames on the window pane as they were licking up the wall on the outside. He rose immediately and roused his only neighbours at Mr. Goss's house. But owing to the lack of facilities and mainly owing to the wind, it was found impossible to save the building and attention was concentrated on preserving a large peat stack nearby.

Practically everything in the house was lost, and the building, spacious and containing sixteen rooms was burnt completely before morning.

THE POWER OF THE TAKIES.

An Actor's Rosy Outlook.

The remarkable power of the takers to increase an actor's popularity and financial worth is illustrated by the announcement that Maurice Chevalier is to be paid a guaranteed minimum salary of £2,000 weekly for a fortnight's season at the Dominion Theatre, London in December.

The contract has been given him by Clifford Whitby, one of the founders of the Co-Optimists, who has taken the theatre for the first fortnight in December and will pay Chevalier half the gross takings with the above sum guaranteed.

Three years ago Chevalier played in London for the first time at a salary of £500 weekly.

It is the first time since France stabilised her credits that she has asked the country for a budget lower than the previous budgets.

THE NEW GERMANY.

A March In European History.

Writing from Munich, Viscount Rothermere states that the last ten days have seen another milestone rise beside the march of European history.

One of those immensely significant events has occurred which, from time to time, open up a new chapter in international affairs.

"The sweeping successes of the German National Socialists' party will be, it is my strong conviction," says Viscount Rothermere, "an enduring landmark of this time. It will stand out as the beginning of a new epoch in the relations of Germany and the rest of the world."

The German National Socialists' Party, that is - the Fascist Party, has increased its polling figures from 809,000 to 6,400,000 during the last two years. But striking as the figures are they stand for far more than political success. They represent the re-birth of Germany as a nation.

Every enquiry goes to show that the vast majority of these six and a half millions were between the ages of twenty and the early thirties. "They are doing for Germany what I hope the youth of Britain would do under similar circumstances," writes Viscount Rothermere.

"They have set themselves to build up a new nation.

"If we make enemies of the younger generation sooner or later there will be another and more terrible awakening in Europe."

JACK DIAMOND'S PREDICAMENT.

Jack Diamond - outlawed to Europe, is a gangster nobody wants, not even the police in his home town of Philadelphia. After his arrival there he was arrested.

He was released on bail and on Tuesday morning appeared at the police court where he promised the magistrate to leave the town within an hour or two. The magistrate thereupon discharged him.

Diamond, even for a gangster appeared to be very sly and timid a man. He crouched on the floor of the taxi-cab when the photographers tried to snap him.

He confided to a customs guard that his chief anxiety was lest his wife should believe a yarn in one of the German newspapers that he staged an expensive party while abroad for a dancer in a night club.

NEW WEEKLY SERVICE TO NEW YORK.

Cunard Prospects.

Sir Percy Bates, the chairman of the Cunard, issued a statement to shareholders on Wednesday with reference to the new giant liner.

"For the first time in the history of Naval architecture the statement read, "it is a practical proposition to run a weekly service which can pay between Southampton, Cherbourg and New York with two steamers. Hitherto the service required three.

"The conditions governing the construction of such a pair are speed and size.

"Far from attempting to construct steamers simply to compete with others in size and speed, the Company are projecting a pair of steamers which though large and fast, are, in fact, the smallest and slowest which can fulfil all the essential economic conditions."

AMERICAN WIN BRIDGE MATCH.

A Duplicate Contract Bridge match, held at the New Almack's Club, London, between a team captained by Colonel Walter Bullock and a team brought from the United States by Ely Gilbertson, finished on Wednesday. The Americans won by 4,815 points.

To Contract players the figures do not seem enormous as contract scoring is high. But it must be remembered that each hand was played in duplicate, the element of luck being eliminated, and in two equally matched teams there should be little difference in the scores.

The result therefore demonstrates the superiority of the American team. The match is likely to be the forerunner of many others.

WEST FALKLAND TRAGEDY.

Story Of Henry Hunt's Death.

In view, more particular, of the disquieting rumours which have been current in Stanley in regard to the death of Henry Hunt of Roy Cove, we have been authorised to publish the following account from an official source concerning this unfortunate occurrence.

Hunt was proceeding from Roy Cove to Fox Bay by easy stages in accordance with medical advice, in order to catch the "Falkland" so as to go into Stanley and undergo an operation in the hospital. He was accompanied by Mr. W. Clement of Roy Cove.

He was accompanied by Mr. W. Clement of Roy Cove, On the last stage of their journey from Chartres to Fox Bay, when about half-way, at a locality known as "Bull Flat", Hunt complained of faintness. He was helped from his horse by Mr. Clements who, after making him as comfortable as he could, went on to Fox Bay for the doctor.

The doctor and Mr. Clements returned immediately to Bull Flat but they were unable to rally the unfortunate man who died about twenty minutes after they had returned to him.

As we mentioned in our issue of the 24th, Henry Hunt, who was a native of Somerset, was twenty-four years of age and was generally liked by all those who knew him. In offering our condolences to his relatives and friends we can assure them that he has left a real gap in the life of the community.

HARD LUCK FOR THE "FALKLAND".

The s.s. "Falkland" which arrived from Monte Video about 10.30 p.m. on Thursday with Miss Jane Biggs as the only passenger, had very hard luck in failing to beat her record.

Had she been able to berth Thursday at noon, when she should have done if she had not encountered such bad weather, she would have beaten the time of her fastest trip by one hour.

Her record time is four days and nineteen hours. On this trip, however, she took five days five hours.

Despite the unavoidable delay which has occurred with the receipt of the mail of letters and parcels from the "Falkland" and the "Loreto", it is still hoped to despatch the "Falkland" to the Fox Bay with the West Mail on Saturday night, or shortly afterwards.

The mail from the West Falkland for England via South Georgia will be collected at Fox Bay by the "Falkland" during the end of next week. As previously announced the "Falkland" will then sail in at Stanley and collect the general mail and passengers on her way down.

She has now left Paris for Lourdes and a month hence will enter a cloister.

"Is the thief playing the part of an amateur Raffles to satisfy a craze?" is the question being raised as the result of an extraordinary burglary which took place at Putteridge Bury, the home of Sir Felix Cassel, the Judge Advocate General.

The intruder broke in without disturbing Sir Felix or Lady Cassel and fourteen others who were asleep in the house.

The decorations include many of the highest orders in various countries. The burglary is one of many made recently where only decorations have been taken.

EXPOSING STALIN.

Incriminating Dossier In German Bank.

The "Daily Mail" diplomatic correspondent in London writes that a sensational revelation about the financial operations of Stalin, the Dictator of Soviet Russia are about to be made public by his Bolshevik opponents.

A Bulky dossier, recently deposited in one of the largest banks in Berlin in the name of one of the leading Russian Bolsheviks, has been secured.

The dossier was to be opened and published on the death or the disappearance of the Bolshevik from Russia. It is said to contain full proof of Stalin's duplicity in the Communist cause and authentic evidence of large embezzlements of State funds.

Information has been received by the "Daily Mail" from a reliable authority that Stalin, for years, has been ear-marking large amounts from the sale of the Soviet's goods and jewellery abroad as an iron fund. This account is supposed to be drawn upon only to fight a successful counter-revolution in Russia.

The money has been deposited in foreign banks in the names of Stalin's most trusted lieutenants.

A WHALE OF AN IDEA.

Scheme For Fishing A Fortune

From The Sea.

£300,000 Capital.

Ambitious Man Who Wants Britain To Know.

There is a man in London to-day who has come all the way from the Falkland Islands, at his own expense, in the hope that he can interest English people in a proposition to "scoop wealth from the sea".

He is Mr. Mitchell Steel, a native of the Falklands; and he has first hand knowledge of what the Norwegians are earning from the whaling industry in the Antarctic.

He wants to interest England in the possibilities of the industry - before the American capitalists do so.

Plans Mapped Out.

Not only has Mr. Steel come armed with all the possible data to prove that the opportunities he claims are waiting; but he has facilities with which to start a whaling company next season if anyone in London shows anxiety to make the venture.

"Britain," he told an "Evening Star" reporter, "has spent thousands of pounds in scientific research into the whaling facilities in the Antarctic and British explorers have risked their lives time and time again.

Milking Our Brains.

Now, when pretty nearly everything has been discovered foreigners are reaping the financial rewards.

Put into a nutshell, Mr. Steel's proposition is this: He has an opportunity to purchase for £110,000 a 25,000-ton vessel. This would cost a further 290,000 to convert into a modern floating whaling factory.

With this vessel, he claims, it would be possible to obtain in one season 25,000 tons of whale oil. This sold at an average of £22 a ton, would produce £550,000.

£300,000 Wanted.

To float the company, Mr. Steel says, a capital of £300,000 is required. "The Antarctic is teeming with whales," which weigh anything between 100 and 150 tons each," argued Mr. Steel. "That means anything from 70 to 120 barrels of oil from each, in addition to quantities of cattle food and valuable phosphates."

"With the modern whaling equipment, the whales are shot, hauled on board in the open sea up a slip-way, cut up, and boiled down straight away.

A Trip's £250,000.

"A whaling vessel those days goes out empty, and at the end of a season returns with a cargo valued at something like a quarter of a million pounds sterling."

Mr. Steel quoted actual returns published by the Norwegian companies to press home his arguments.

"The whaling factory 'Kosmos' belongs to a company with a capital of £350,000 and in the first year its catch was valued at £200,000, and the company's shares were quoted at 45 per cent above par," he said.

"The 'Antarctic' company, started in May, 1928, quoted its shares this month (July 1930) at 75 per cent above par. The 'Liberamus' company's shares are 200 per cent above par, and the dividend for the past seven years has been thirty per cent.

Wealthy Antarctic.

"These are facts which can be verified," Mr. Steel urged. "So can the fact that last year 3,000,000 barrels of oil, valued at £15,000,000, were produced from the Antarctic Seas."

"I know Englishmen will not do the actual work, but there is every reason why English people should earn some of the handsome profits that are waiting to be collected."

ADMIRAL SIR CYRIL FULLER,

Charming Message To Falkland Friends.

We feel sure we may publish the following charming letter received from Vice-Admiral Sir Cyril Fuller, Second Lord of the Admiralty and late Commander-in-Chief of the America and West Indies Station, in order to convey adequately his sincere expressions of regard for the Falkland Islands.:

"14th July, 1930

My Dear Press Officer,

Many thanks for your kind letter of congratulations, at the same time I regret not having had another opportunity of visiting Port Stanley before I hauled my flag down.

I, however, maintain much interest for the colony of the Falkland Islands and I trust that some time in the future I may pay another visit to that part of the world, in consequence I am very glad to forward my subscription for 1930.

Please remember me to my friends in Port Stanley.

Yours truly,

(sgd) C. Fuller."

ILL-FATED ENGINEER'S FUNERAL.

Friday's Impressive Ceremony.

The interment of Otto Holm Skog, late Second Engineer of the "Fleurus" whose untimely death cast a gloom over the town during the past week, took place at the Stanley ceremony on Friday, the service being conducted by the Rev. S.E. Aylward.

The bearers were chosen from the crew of the "Fleurus" and the whole of the ship's company attended the funeral. A number of local people were also present, including the Hon. L.W.H. Young (Norwegian Consul), Mr. A. Newing (representing the local agency of the "Fleurus"), the Chief Constable, Messrs. A.P. Hardy, J.R. Carey, L. Reive and others.

Very impressive was the ceremony at the graveside, particularly so when Captain Carlsen stepped towards the grave and on looking down on the coffin, raised his hand and said : "A last farewell from your wife and children", and when later the "Fleurus's" crew joined in singing from memory two verses from a hymn by Luther :

"Hvor Gud, Han er saa fast en borg
"Han er vort skjold og Varge ...."

("Our God, He is a strong fort
"And shield to guard us.....")

There were many lovely wreaths and floral tributes, amongst them being two magnificent artificial memorial wreaths with glass shades, the one from the Captain and Officers, and the other from the Firemen, and Sailors of the s.s. "Fleurus". In addition there was a large wreath from the Norwegian Consul.

On behalf of the Tinsberg Whaling Company Ltd., the officers and ship's company of the s.s. "Fleurus", Captain Carlsen wishes to thank those ladies and gentlemen who kindly sent wreaths and flowers on the occasion of the funeral of the late Otto Holm Skog. The Captain, Officers and Crew are greatly indebted to the residents of Stanley for the many kindnesses shown them during the past week of their sad trouble.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS.

The s.s. "Flourus" arrived back from Port Stephens in the early hours of Saturday morning with Mr. Mansell Hardy for whom the steamer had been specially sent, and the patient was conveyed to hospital in a P.W.D. lorry. Later in the day he underwent a severe abdominal operation. He is, we are glad to learn, holding his own.

The same day an operation, involving the partial amputation of a finger, was performed on one of the greasers of the n.v. "Loreto". The patient is progressing satisfactorily but will not go back to his ship. It has been decided to send him home as soon as he is able to go.

With the arrival of the "Ronald" whaling factory yesterday morning it was found necessary to transport one of the crew to hospital to undergo treatment and consequently he will not proceed with the ship but will also be sent home as soon as his condition permits. When the man was brought ashore he was conveyed to the hospital in Mr. L. Hardy's new Morris van, which was passing the Government jetty at the time and kindly loaned by its owner.

An imposing spectacle was to be seen along Ross Road yesterday afternoon when the petit "Morris Minor" which has just arrived in the "Loreto" was being coached into service before the eyes of an admiring throng of interested spectators who gave willing assistance in the preliminary overtures necessary to induce it to start.

With the advent of so convenient a mod. of transport we almost expect to see a serious rivalry develop with the bicycle traffic in the town.
